Mayor Owings

Kenn Young asked me to send you some information concerning AVID.

I have included a power point that explains AVID and gives all the success we have had region wide. Our region contains, San Bernardino, Riverside, Inyo and Mono county.

Below is a website that explains elementary AVID. Keep in mind, currently Kenn is financially supporting three elementary AVID programs in MVUSD but our office does not support the school with our personnel. These schools are directly supported by the AVID Center in San Diego. http://www.avid.org/ele\_overview.html

that, when given academic rigor and support, students can be academically successful.

AVID Center's vision for the future is to provide entire feeder patterns-elementary, secondary, higher education-a comprehensive model to focus on success for all students.

AVID Elementary is based on the same learning foundation that underlies the AVID Elective. However, whereas the AVID Secondary site is a combined effort of a dedicated elective class and core content area classes to create a schoolwide impact in middle and high school. AVID Elementary is designed to be embedded into the daily instruction of all elementary classrooms across entire grade levels to impact schoolwide structures. AVID Elementary is not intended to be taught in isolation or within an elective setting.

AVID Elementary takes a systemic approach through Beginnings, Foundations and Bridges implementation resources for different levels and settings in order to support all students on their journey to college readiness.

AVID Elementary is a foundational component of the AVID College Readiness System and supports AVID Center's mission to close the achievement gap by preparing all students for college readiness and success in a global society.

Stages of AVID Elementary

AVID Elementary (AE) spans K-8 in three stages, Beginnings, Foundations and Bridges. Each stage is designed to meet the needs of students within that range of development.

- AVID Elementary Beginnings

Addresses the beginning years of education, when students are emerging as learners, students are learning to read, learning to write and learning to learn.

AE Beginnings classrooms are designed to promote learning to WICOR

(Writing Inquiry, Collaboration, Organization, Reading), or L-WICOR, throughout the academic day.

- AVID Elementary Foundations

Addresses the foundational years of education, when students are becoming independent learners, students are reading to learn, writing to learn and learning to reflect on their own learning.

AE Foundations classrooms are designed to promote WICOR throughout the academic day.

- AVID Elementary Bridges

Addresses the transitional years of education, when students are becoming independent thinkers, students are thinking about thinking and learning about their own learning.

AE Bridges classrooms are designed to promote WICOR throughout the academic day.

AVID Elementary Essentials

Essential One: Instruction

Writing to learn, Inquiry, Collaboration, Organization, Reading to Learn (WICOR) as well as Learning to WICOR (L-WICOR) are the foundation for instruction in the AVID Elementary classroom.

Essential Two: Culture

AVID Elementary sites incorporate rigorous, relevant, differentiated opportunities for all students in an environment that promotes college readiness.

Essential Three: Leadership

AVID Elementary Leaders support, guide and facilitate AVID Elementary implementation for all students.

Essential Four: Systems

AVID Elementary sites align their systems through the use of the 4 Pillars of Excellence (accountability, articulation, assessment, calibration) to ensure the fidelity of AVID Elementary implementation across the site.

AVID Elementary Certification Process

The 2013-2014 academic year, will begin the inaugural certification process for eligible AVID Elementary sites. This process will enhance the work of AE educators as they align their work to the 4 AVID Elementary Essentials and collect data to inform their instruction for all students.

Research Connections

AVID Elementary (AE) is immersed in the research of Dr. Carol Dweck, one of the world's leading researchers in the field of motivation and is the Lewis and Virginia Eaton Professor of Psychology at Stanford University. The AVID Elementary implementation resources, trainings and philosophy are all grounded in the idea that the growth mindset can be taught to students and that it is through the growth mindset that AVID students succeed in following their dreams and fulfilling their aspirations.

In the growth mindset, people believe that their talents and abilities can be developed through passion, education, and persistence. For them, it's not about looking smart or grooming their image. It's about a commitment to learning—taking informed risks and learning from the results, surrounding yourself with people who will challenge you to grow, looking frankly at your deficiencies and seeking to remedy them.”

Dr. Carol Dweck, Mindset: The New Psychology of Success

AVID Elementary also uses the “best teaching practices” and research findings of Marzano, Gaddy and Dean, What Works in Classroom Instruction (Mid-continent Research for Education and Learning), which has become critical to the entire AVID System. This research identified nine instructional strategies that have the highest probability of enhancing student achievement for all students in all subjects at all grade levels, including:

- Identifying similarities and differences
- Reinforcing effort and providing recognition
- Nonlinguistic representations
- Setting goals and providing feedback
- Activating prior knowledge
- Summarizing and note-taking
- Homework and practice
- Cooperative Learning
- Generating and testing hypothesis

AVID Elementary Certification is grounded in the work of Albert Bandura’s Social Cognitive Theory. This theory focuses on the power of individuals to influence and educate one another through imitation and reciprocal determinism. Through this lens, the academic environment, educator’s perspective and the student’s perspective merge together within the AVID Elementary grade levels and ultimately the entire site. The AVID Elementary Essentials (Instruction, culture, leadership, systems) provide a clear roadmap for AVID Elementary sites as they move through their levels of implementation.

EDGEMONT AREA REVITALIZATION STRATEGY SUMMARY

The Edgemont Area is located to the east of Old 215 Frontage Road (the westerly boundary of the City of Moreno Valley), bounded generally on the south by Alessandro Avenue and on the north by Eucalyptus Avenue (in a portion to the west of Day Street), and by Cottonwood Avenue (in a portion between Day Street and Ellsworth Street). Please refer to Attachment A for an aerial of the area.

The area consists of multiple properties currently under a number of public and private ownerships. A majority of the area currently is either vacant or generally under-developed.

Under the General Plan, the area is zoned for a wide range of land uses, including Community Commercial, Office Commercial, Industrial/Business Park and Residential (R-5, R-10 and R-15).

DESCRIPTION OF AREA	SUMMARY OF EXISTING USES
Along the south side of Eucalyptus Avenue (northern boundary of the area)	Single family homes, empty lots and a mobile home community
From Edgemont Street and Eucalyptus Avenue	Large empty lots followed by single family homes to the south along Edgemont Street
West of the intersection of Day Street and Cottonwood Avenue	Single family homes at the northwest corner and an empty lot on the southwest corner
Along Cottonwood Avenue	Mostly single family homes and empty lots on the south side, east of Day Street
West of Day Street both north and south along Cottonwood	Single family homes, empty lots, a community church and some freestanding retail buildings
Along Elsworth Street south of Cottonwood Avenue	Single family homes and retail at the northwest corner of Alessandro and Elsworth
Along Alessandro, to the north	A mix of single family homes and small freestanding restaurants and other retail
On the East along Old 215 Frontage Road	Mostly free standing commercial buildings and vacant lots, along with one church and one small motel

In addition to being governed by existing City zoning designations, a portion of the area falls into parts of the March Air Reserve Base 452d Air Mobility Wing's Air Installation Compatible Use Zone (AICUZ), an overlay that examines development intensity to take into account factors relating to the effects of aircraft noise, accident potential, and compatible land use and development. Please refer to Attachment B for Current Zoning Designations in the area.

Additionally, there are a number of foreclosed properties in default or facing trustee sale. Please refer to Attachment C for Foreclosures in the Edgemont area.

To assist in the redevelopment of Edgemont and to pursue the proper vision for a revitalized community, 5 essential goals have been recommended, including:

STRATEGY AREA GOAL #1

- Install new or replace existing public improvements, facilities and utilities in inadequately served areas

STRATEGY AREA GOAL #2

- Eliminate and prevent the spread of blight and deterioration

STRATEGY AREA GOAL #3

- Re-plan, redesign and/or redevelopment of areas that are improperly utilized

STRATEGY AREA GOAL #4

- Preserve/Improve the supply of housing, including opportunities for low and moderate-income households

STRATEGY AREA GOAL #5

- Promote new and continuing private sector investment within the area

EDGEMONT AREA REVITALIZATION STRATEGY SUMMARY

The implementation phase of the Edgemont Strategy includes a listing of new and on-going activities including:

Attachment D
City of Moreno Valley
Barbara Street Neighborhood Improvement Project

The City of Moreno Valley has established a Community Revitalization Strategy around the Western-Central portion of the City, known as the Edgemont Area Revitalization Strategy. The goals of the Edgemont Area Revitalization are to improve the condition of existing housing, create additional affordable housing opportunities, support economic development and market revitalization efforts, and improve public infrastructure and neighborhood amenities. One of the first implementation activities of the strategy is the "Barbara Street Neighborhood Improvement Project". The Barbara Street Neighborhood Improvement Project is an exterior beautification project targeted along Barbara Street north Cottonwood Avenue. Owners of the twenty-six properties on Barbara Street will be encouraged to participate in the project to receive exterior facade grants in exchange for agreeing to maintain the improvements long term.

About the street

Barbara Street is a block-long, cul-de-sac within the City's CDBG Target Area. With most of the homes built in the 1950's, this small, diverse neighborhood (over 80% minority) suffers an aging housing stock and deferred maintenance. Comprised of mostly low-income owner occupants, the resources to improve these homes are unavailable. Many of the homes have not seen any improvement since being built, and show all the classic signs of deterioration. In the past, the street has been the subject of Code Enforcement violations, such as lack of property maintenance, trash accumulation in the yards, overgrown trees, and inoperable vehicles on the street (See attached map of Barbara Street).

About the project

The owner-occupants will have the opportunity to receive one-time, exterior facade repairs at no cost, while non-owner occupied properties could also receive assistance on a grant match basis. Eligible repairs will include: painting, front yard/fence/gate, landscaping, irrigation systems, tree pruning/removal of dead trees, driveway improvements, and removal of inoperable vehicles. Interested residents would indicate their desire to participate in the program and an arranged appointment will be scheduled to discuss the improvements for their specific property.

Funding for the Project

$300,000 of FY 2013 – 2014 Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds have been budgeted for the management and construction activities for the project. The City will solicit a general contractor to perform the facade work on all the properties.

Outcome

The project goal of improving the condition of existing housing within the Edgemont Revitalization Strategy Area will be met. The City's investment into the neighborhood will directly benefit families who reside there and indirectly encourage residents to make their own improvements. The revitalized neighborhood will be a source of pride for area residents.

City Counsel Members
14177 Frederick St.
Moreno Valley, Calif.

Mayor and Members of the City Counsel:

My name is Billy L. Hall, I am President of the Board of Directors of the Sunnymead Mutual Water Co., and I represent 255 stockholders of this company of which I am one of the stockholders.

I would like to address some of our concerns, facts and possible misconceptions about our 10 acres of land on the southeast corner of Heacock and Ironwood Ave and the planned permanent flood control channel alongside this property together with the planned changes to Ironwood Ave at this location.

The Water Company was formed in 1927 to provide water to all of the properties from Graham St. to Heacock St., and from Ironwood to Sunnymead Blvd., and provided water to them until 1990. During the 1980's the nitrate levels and other undesirable chemicals in our water wells increased to a point where the water quality standards no longer met the state requirements. This increase in chemicals in our wells coincided with the influx of housing tracts built upstream during that period. The runoff of water from streets, houses, yards and driveways ran downhill to our relatively flat land and percolated into the ground near our wells. Although millions of dollars was collected from developers for housing tracts built upstream to pay for the increased waterflow, non of this money was used to correct the increased waterflow onto our property. Had a small portion of these funds been used for what it was intended, the water company could still be in operation and providing water to the homes and businesses within its district.

Late in 1989 we agreed to give the water company operation to Eastern Municipal Water District, because we could no longer provide good water quality to homes and business in our area unless we purchased most, or all of the water from EMWD. They were able to maintain water quality by mixing the well water with water from their other sources and adding it to their system. The exchange was declared an even trade since the cost of obtaining water service from EMWD was approximately the same as the value of our existing wells and distribution system.

Along with the transfer of the water system to EMWD, we agreed to sell the 10 acres of land, (our only remaining asset) to the developers of the Festival Property, but we were required to allow a temporary open earthen flood control channel across our property while they engineered and built the permanent underground flood control channel alongside Ironwood Ave. The developer had an agreement with the city and the Riverside Flood Control District to install the permanent underground channel themselves, and be reimbursed for the cost over a 10 year period. The developers requested, and was allowed a 18 month escrow of the property in order to formulate the development of the property and install the permanent flood control channel. However before the 18 months of the escrow was completed the developer had lost his major tenant, (a Walmart store) and the economy had changed for business development, and they let the escrow lapse with only the engineering completed on the planned flood control channel.

Now 20 years later we are still waiting for the city and the county Flood Control District to correct the flood control problem for which they have received money to do for the last 30 years. The city and the County Flood Control District say that they cannot maintain the temporary channel because they do not own it. The city allows the major part of the flood water and runoff water from homes and streets in the city to be dumped into this temporary earthen channel, but will not maintain it. Since it is an open channel, erosion leaves standing pools of contaminated water in the channel which allows continuous mosquito development and potential West Nile Virus. Also the contaminated water with undesirable chemicals percolate into the underground drinking water through the well water. The health department sometimes installs signs on the fence above the contaminated pools of water to warn people of the danger.

Continous erosion leaves more and more pools of contaminated water every year. Also a small portion of the sidewalk on the south side of Ironwood is suspended in mid-air due to erosion under it. It will only get worse with each heavy rain.

Since the temporary channel is not maintained by the city or County Flood Control District, (because they do not own it) then we must maintain it. If we do not, the bushes grow up in the channel because it is almost constantly fed by runoff water from homes and streets. As the willow bushes grow up, it blocks the flow of water from the rains. During dry times the homeless people move into it, (at one time they built themselves a 3 bedroom building in the channel) and then the city sends us a notice to move the homeless people out and clear the growth of weeds and debris. Since we have no income and very limited funds to pay the taxes, maintain fences and pay for weed abatement, I personally have maintained the flood control channel for the last 20 years. This seems to be okay with the city but I cannot continue to do it forever.

The planned flood control channel project, long overdue, if completed, has many desirable aspects and will eliminate the many problems created by the increased runoff from the thousands of new homes built upstream and funneled through the temporary channel. It will:

1. Stop the destruction of the parcels of land now being damaged by erosion from the temporary earth channel.
2. Stop the erosion of soil under the sidewalks and streets near the intersection of Heacock and Ironwood streets.
3. Stop the pooling of stagnated water and hatching of large amounts of mosquitos and the possibility of West Nile Virus in this area.
4. Stop the percolation of undesirable and toxic chemicals into the drinking water of residents who are served by water from this underground source.
5. Allow development of the properties along this channel which will provide additional revenue for the city.

6. It will be less expensive to build now than in the future when the economy improves and contractors who do this work will have more projects to bid.
7. It will eliminate the weakest link in the flood control system in the city north of the freeway, if not the weakest link in the entire city.
8. It will be more economical to build it now along with the changes to Ironwood Avenue rather than delaying it.
9. Funds to do this project may never be available in the near future, or in many years and the problems will only get larger and the cost to rectify them will only increase.
10. If the project is not completed now, all of the time, funds and manhours expended on the project to date will be wasted and have to be regenerated in the future.

For all of these reasons I implore you to give very serious consideration to the completion of this project and do not delay it or allocate the funds to another project.

Thank you for your consideration,

Billy L. Hall
President
Board of Directors
Sunnymead Mutual Water Company
Tel: [REDACTED]

Although it should not affect or be relevant to this project, the following information is included, with this letter, regarding a pending legal suit against the Sunnymead Mutual Water Company.

Since the transfer of the water company's operations, and the cancellation of the sale of the property to the Festival Group, we have been trying to sell the property and close out the water company, but the flood control problem, and a lack of cooperation on the part of Eastern Municipal Water District as to the wells and easements around them, have dissuaded potential buyers and developers.

In 2002 we did agree to a contract of sale with a developer whereby he was allowed a 18 month escrow in which he could withdraw at any time during that period and withdraw his deposit. When the 18 month period was up he continued to ask for extensions. He was given seven extensions over an additional period of two years and a reduction in the purchase price from 2.2 million to 1.8 million without any compensation to us for the extensions or the price reduction. After the escrow and all extensions to it had expired, and the contract and all extensions to it had expired, he asked for another extension to buy it at the same price. When we refused any more extensions he filed a law suit demanding that we extend the escrow, sell to him at the same price, or in the alternative be awarded damages.

Due to the failure of the court system in Riverside County, it took 3 years to come to trial. On the last day of trial he canceled his demand to buy the property and continued his demand for damages. Three months after the trial, the Judge issued a tentative decision in our favor, stating that he had been given adequate time to perform. Three months later, (a total of 6 months after trial) the Judge reversed his decision in favor of the plaintiff, saying that we had breached the contract by not giving him enough time to perform, and awarding him $780,000. in damages.

We are now appealing that decision because we totally complied with all aspects of the contract while he did not. We should win this appeal if there is any fair and logical conclusions in the appeals system. However nothing fair or logical can be expected from our broken, unfair and illogical Judicial system. It is expected that the appeals process will take about one year.

Water Infrastructure Analysis

- BSMWC water system is aging and deteriorated
- Recent pipeline improvements have been placed at depths requiring reconstruction
- Existing annual water demand is 500 acre-foot/year/maximum day demand is 834 gpm
- Ultimate annual water demand is 890 acre-foot/year/maximum day demand is 1500 gpm

Water Infrastructure Analysis

- The existing system is capable of less than 1,000 gpm @ 20 psi for fire suppression
- The required City fire flow ranges from a minimum of 1,500 gpm @ 20 psi to maximum of 4,000 gpm @ 20 psi
- The BSMWC has two sources of water, Well No. 17 and WMWWD
- The Well No. 17 is blended with WMWWD water supply due to elevated nitrate levels
- The existing BSMWC system consists of two (2) 0.4 MG storage tanks, a hydropneumatic booster station with three units of 600 gpm each, and Well No. 17

Water Infrastructure Analysis

- An additional 490 acre-ft/year of water supply is required to support additional development
- The existing BSMWC water system is hydraulically incapable of meeting the City's minimum fire flow requirements
- The entire water system infrastructure (pipelines, reservoir and booster station) is inadequate and will be required to be replaced

Water Infrastructure Analysis

- The long term reliability of the groundwater basin water supply and water quality is unknown
- The project cost to upgrade the entire water system is $15,000,000
- The cost component for water supply has been approximated pending final determination of the source of additional water supply

Water Quality

- The water quality of the BSMWC two (2) water sources, Well No. 17 and WMWD, meet CDPH Title 22 water standards
- The chlorine residual, heterotrophic plate count, coliform and nitrate levels measured throughout the distribution system are all within acceptable drinking water standards
- The BSMWC water quality presently meets all CDPH standards monitored

Sewer System

- The previous ECSD Sewer Master Plan was prepared in 1995 and used the City's 1980's General Plan
- The majority of recommended sewer improvements identified in the 1995 report have been replaced, except the Cottonwood Sewer (I-215 to Elsworth)
- The required treatment capacity has increased from 1.29 MGD to 1.32 MGD based upon the new General Plan
- The Cottonwood Sewer identified in 1995 still requires replacement
- The current ECSD sewer connection fee is $2,600

Sewer System

- The updated General Plan does not further impact the ECSD sewer system
- The sewer connection fee is presently $2,600 and may increase based upon the $8,250,000 worth of improvements (Range of Fee $2,600 to $3,600)

Absorption Study

- Of the 384 total acres in the BSMWC service area only 292.6 acres may be absorbed in the future
- Surrounding acres and sites adjacency to and visibility from I-215 enhance the viability of development
- The location and size of the development provides a strong opportunity for “infill” development
- The long term prospects for the area are good

Absorption Study

- The underlying strength of the market area for each of the considered uses will provide sufficient demand for the various uses
- The opportunities for development will emerge once there is sufficient water infrastructure support
- The absorption periods range from 5.8 years for residential to a maximum of 13.7 years for Community Commercial and ultimate build-out of all uses

Land Use Category	Months to Absorb	Years to Absorb
Community Commercial	165	13.7 years
Office Commercial	135	11.2 years
Business Park	102	8.5 years
Residential	70	5.8 years

Added Facility Charges

- The AFC fees are $4,900 per Multi-Family dwelling unit and $3,400 per thousand square feet of Commercial and Industrial/Business Park
- The fee should include an appropriate inflation index such as the ENR
- The AFC charges need to be implemented and legal agreements between BSMWC and the City will be required to address reimbursement and funding
- The AFC determined for water when combined with the existing $2,600 sewer connection fee for Edgemont Community Services District are very competitive with the surrounding water district's rates

Local Water and Sewer Fees Comparison

Agency	Water Fee	Sewer Fee	Total Fee
BSMWC / ECSD (Sewer)	$4,900	$2,600	$7,500
Eastern MWD	$3,090	$4,185	$7,275
Western MWD / City of Riverside (Sewer)	$5,882	$3,046	$8,928
Rancho California WD / EMWD (Sewer)	$5,287	$4,786	$10,073
Elsinore Valley MWD	$6,246	$6,690	$12,936

Financial Study

- The three (3) financing options reviewed consist of Tax Increment Financing, Assessment District Formation and Community Facilities District Formation
- Multiple financing options can be combined to form an acceptable program
- The financing options may be combined with existing or new revenue sources
- The key reimbursement mechanism are the AFC fees
- The CFD Bond Sizing estimate is a CFD Tax per acre/year of $5,600 and an assessed value per acre of $74,000

Financial Study

- The Community Facilities District provides the City the greatest flexibility on funding the project in phases and allows individual developers to annex when their projects come on line

Recommendations

- Obtain a Water Supply Assessment to ensure the long term water supply for the project. (This would include potentially a geohydrological study for the ground water basin and negotiations with Western Municipal Water District)
- Prepare an Initial Study/Mitigated Negative Declaration Environmental Document for CEQA and corresponding NEPA to establish the project and allow for potential State and Federal Grants and/or loans
- Perform a Nexus Study prior to adopting any ordinance or resolution regarding the Added Facility Charges

Recommendations

- Establish the Added Facility Charges for the Water Infrastructure Improvements (This would include reaching legal agreements with BSMWC on AFC's, funding and reimbursements in accordance with City ordinances and BSMWC By Laws)
- Prepare a TMF study to verify the technical, managerial and financial capacity of the BSMWC
- Finalize a Financing Plan and process for formation of a Community Facilities District in the Project Area
- Due to the large upfront capital investment consider phasing improvements as part of the Community Facilities District and annex additional developments and construct improvements as necessary

DETAILED SCOPE OF SERVICES

EDGEMONT WATER MASTER PLAN UPDATE

Each study will include an Executive Summary outlining findings, conclusions and recommendations.

1. Water Infrastructure Analysis

Webb Associates will evaluate the study area existing water system based upon existing and future conditions utilizing the following data:

- Proposed Land Use
- Existing and Required Water Supply
- Existing and Ultimate Water System Demand
- Existing and Required Pumping Facilities
- Existing and Required Storage Facilities
- Fire Flow Requirements by City of Moreno Valley

A computer hydraulic model will be prepared to perform simulations of the water system during maximum day demand, maximum day demand plus fire flow and tank replenishment hydraulic conditions. Upon completion of the hydraulic simulations and determination of the required system improvements, construction and project costs will be developed.

DELIVERABLES: A water master plan report will be prepared summarizing the assumptions, results of the hydraulic analysis and required system improvements for water supply, distribution piping, storage and booster station facilities. Construction and Project Costs will be indexed based upon the ENR-LA (Engineering News Record, Los Angeles) Construction Cost Index. Project cost includes: construction costs, construction contingencies, design engineering including plans and specifications; design and construction surveying and mapping; geotechnical evaluation and report; engineering contract administration; field inspection and basic environmental documentation. Costs are based on Engineering News Record (ENR) Escalation, financing, interest during construction, legal, land, R-O-W agent, and environmental impact report costs are not included. Subject: Discontinued Projects in Box Springs Mutual Water Company Territory

Dear Mr. Kreg:

This letter is issued as a follow-up to our telephone conversation on October 21, 2002. It is understood that Raymond C. Miller, P.E. Consulting Engineers is preparing an application for grant funding on behalf of the Box Springs Mutual Water Company (BSMWC), whose territory includes the Edgemont area of the City of Moreno Valley.

Private Projects

It is further understood that one of the criteria by which the grant application will be evaluated is the level of demand for development in the area. Raymond C. Miller, P.E. Consulting Engineers has requested documentation of building permits that have been denied because the BSMWC water system/flow capacity is inadequate. City leaders are aware that developers have abandoned many projects proposed for construction within BSMWC territory when the water system condition is revealed. However, our application process requires review and approval by many City offices before a developer seeks a building permit. When an applicant comes to City Hall to propose a potential project in BSMWC territory, one of the first issues discussed is the inadequacy of the water system to meet current fire flow requirements. Developers then abandon their plans. As a result, the City has not denied building permit applications because proposed projects do not advance to that stage.

Notwithstanding the lack of documentation regarding abandoned projects, demand for development in the BSMWC vicinity can be demonstrated by residential, commercial, and industrial growth in adjacent areas that are served by Eastern Municipal Water District. For example, at the northeast corner of Day Street and Cottonwood Avenue, directly across the street from BSMWC territory, Western Pacific Housing is constructing 557 residential units that range in size from 1,435 to 2,824 square feet. In addition, less than one half mile north of the northern BSMWC boundary, a commercial developer is constructing a 237,000 square foot shopping center that features a Lowe's Home Improvement Center. Finally, on Grant Street just south of Alessandro Boulevard (directly across the street from BSMWC territory), Porvene Doors has just completed construction of a 70,000 square foot commercial roll-up door manufacturing facility. These three projects proceeded in Eastern Municipal Water District territory surrounding BSMWC but could not have occurred if proposed within the boundaries of the Box Springs Mutual Water Company's service area.

Public Projects

Waterline condition is a major obstacle to City redevelopment efforts in the BSMWC territory. The Edgemont area has been formally identified as blighted since 1987. The Community Redevelopment Agency of the City of Moreno Valley (RDA) included Edgemont in the project area and the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) identified Edgemont as a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) target area (see attached RDA and CDBG maps). The Edgemont area qualified for both the RDA and the CDBG designations based on demonstrated physical blight and depressed socioeconomic conditions.

To improve our citizens' quality of life, combat blight, encourage residential/commercial redevelopment, and improve the transportation network, the City/RDA has identified several critical infrastructure projects. However, many of the projects conflict with BSMWC facilities that are so deteriorated and/or inadequate that water system improvements must precede City/RDA project construction. As a result, projects with such conflicts have been postponed indefinitely (see attached list of postponed storm drains/street improvements). These projects represent many millions of dollars that cannot now be invested into this portion of the community.

In conclusion, the City of Moreno Valley supports Box Springs Mutual Water Company's application for grant funding. Moreno Valley is experiencing explosive growth throughout the community, with the exception of the Edgemont area. Public and private projects are eagerly anticipated. However, without system-wide upgrades to critical waterline facilities, these projects cannot proceed and the blighted, depressed socioeconomic conditions in the area will persist. The applied-for grant funding provides a critical opportunity to improve the quality of life for residents in the Edgemont area of the City of Moreno Valley.

REDEVELOPMENT LOANS TO BOX SPRINGS MUTUAL WATER DISTRICT

Financed Barbara & Hildegarde:

- 11/26/96: City/RDA planned to construct street improvements near Barbara & Hildegarde. RDA agreed to loan BSMWC $60,000 to cover waterlines. Loan to be repaid at 6% interest in 4 annual payments.
- 7/8/97: First Amendment: final loan amount increased to $81,000. Changed repayment schedule to 5 annual payments, commencing 12/1/97.
- 7/13/99: Second Amendment: Storm drain Line H-H improvements completed on Sherman. Loan amended to a final value of $106,842. Interest rate reduced to 5¾%. Changed to 6 annual payments, commencing 12/1/99. Awarded grant of $72,158 to cover waterline / connection costs required by the RDA project. DOES THIS MEAN WE FORGAVE THE LOAN?

Financed Eucalyptus: Valley Springs to Day

- 5/25/93: Loan of $110,000 for waterlines on Eucalyptus between Valley Springs and Day. BSMWC to reimburse the loan as new development occurs according to the pro rata share of the total area of benefit (26 acres – $110,000 total equals a per acre share of $4,250, subject to the Engineering News Record Index).
- 4/12/94: First Amendment added 500 linear feet of waterlines along Day south of Eucalyptus and 4 waterline tie-ins at $14,000. Loan total is $141,349 ($5,437 per acre)
- 6/10/97: Second Amendment added 2,200 linear feet of waterline installed on Day. The total RDA loan is $328,245 (9,947 per acre, subject to the index).

Inadequate, sub-standard water system

BOX SPRINGS MUTUAL WATER COMPANY

Edgemont Area - Moreno Valley, CA

NEEDS ASSESSMENT SUMMARY

The City Moreno Valley contains a mutual water company that is unable to serve its current customers adequately and has no hope of future sustainability without outside financial assistance.

Box Springs Mutual Water Company (Box Springs Water) presently distributes water to a 480-acre 565 service connection territory but CANNOT CONTINUE TO OPERATE without assistance. As currently staffed and funded, Box Springs Water generates insufficient revenues to operate the water system and substantial financial assistance is needed to bring water delivery up to acceptable standards. In addition, the service area is only 50% developed and could accommodate approximately 2,600 accounts (under existing zoning) with an adequate water system. However, ANALYSTS ESTIMATE THE COST OF NECESSARY UPGRADES TO BE $15,000,000 (analysis funded through an EPA grant). With assistance, the water system could be upgraded to serve existing Moreno Valley residents and new development could occur to increase the customer base to a level that can support itself.

BOX SPRINGS MUTUAL WATER COMPANY

Inadequate fire flows

- New development or redevelopment requires 1,500 to 4,000 gallons per minute. During hydrant testing, fire flows were found to range from 335 to the best flow of about 750 gallons per minute.
- Hydrant spacing is inadequate and required hydrant testing by the Fire Department caused some hydrants to explode and some pipes to collapse.
- Significant life safety risk: OSHA requirements may restrict fire fighting personnel from entering buildings in victim rescue / fire fighting efforts.

Pipelines

- Extremely aged – some exceed 50 years in service. The company has few records that accurately identify pipeline ages.
- Corroded unlined steel pipes – inspection found 4" pipes open only 2"
- Small diameter – 4" to 6" installed pipes should be 8" to 10"
- Shallow depth – some are above ground or as little as 3" below the surface (the required depth is 36").
- Pipes under roadways are prone to damage by heavy trucks / street traffic.
- Numerous leaks. There is no leak map to identify and prioritize pipeline replacement.
- The company has no adopted pipeline / appurtenant replacement plan and no valve exerciser program to ensure proper valve operation and maintenance.

Well and Storage Tanks

- One steel cased well with no seal and no back up pump power.
- 0.8 million gallons of water storage in two tanks.
- There is no record of the material used in the internal coating.
- The tanks were last inspected 10 years ago. The current tank condition is unknown.

Administration

- Management turnover – it is unknown if the company operates under required licenses for water treatment and distribution.
- No general management or office management – Western Municipal Water District has discontinued providing administrative and financial reporting support.
- Field personnel are inadequately trained and lack proper equipment.
- The records system is virtually non-existent.

Source: Glenn M. Reiter & Associates. "Box Springs Water Company Technical, Financial and Management Report." Prepared for the City of Moreno Valley, February 26, 2009.

Box Springs Mutual Water Company was founded in 1920 and was regulated under a permit issued by the Department of Health Services in 1966. The service area of 480 acres and 565 accounts is comprised of single family homes, one mobile park and a few commercial accounts. The service area in Moreno Valley's Edgemont area is only 50% developed and could accommodate approximately 2,600 accounts (under existing zoning) with an adequate water system.

MEMORANDUM

To: Barry Foster, Economic Development Director
 From: MM Mike Myers, P.E., Consultant & Project Manager
 Date: December 3, 2009
 Subject: ARRA Recovery Zone Program Funding
 Edgemont Water System Improvements
 Project No. 08-19319310

Below are the descriptions of 3 options for water system improvements in the Edgemont area for consideration of potential ARRA funding. The options are presented at funding levels of $2,400,000, $5,600,000 and $8,000,000. Each option covers a progressively more expanded area of service for both domestic supply and fire suppression needs. All options assume a connection to WMWD as this provides the necessary water supply and pressure directly from their system without the need to construct new pressure booster pumps and water storage reservoirs. Environmental clearance for this water system master plan program is anticipated to be considered by the City Council at its January 12, 2010 meeting. ### Phased Edgemont Water System Improvements Option 1 – Project Cost: $2.4mil

Project Description: This project option would construct a portion of the master plan pipelines in the Edgemont area, including a 400-foot, 16" diameter water supply extension connecting to WMWD's existing line with a new meter and a pressure reduction valve west of Old 215 at Cottonwood Avenue. The distribution system would consist of an approximately 8,500 linear foot, 12" diameter pipeline loop in Cottonwood, Old 215 to Day Street; in Day, Cottonwood to Alessandro Boulevard; in Alessandro, Day to Old 215; and in Old 215 Alessandro to Cottonwood. This would include 5 pressure reducing (PR)/backflow prevention (BFP) installations on the new Day Street line (between Alessandro & Cottonwood) to connect existing BSMWC branch lines. This loop would operate at a higher pressure and with a greater water supply made available by connecting to WMWD. These PR/BFP installations would allow continued feed to existing BSMWC branch lines and those customers, which now are served at a reduced pressure, without the risk of higher-pressure induced failures. Connections to these new lines, including the City's Redevelopment project at Day and Alessandro, would be served at new higher pressure that provides domestic water service and fire suppression capabilities meeting City required flow rates.

Project Benefits: Construction of this phased portion of the master plan pipeline system would provide a modern water system basic network that would deliver potable water for domestic consumption and fire suppression needs for approximately 20% of the area. This basic pipeline grid would be available to serve properties immediately adjacent to the network pipelines and additionally for developers to reasonably extend (extensions would generally be within about 2,600 feet or less) in association with new development.

Planned Use of Funds: Project funds would be used for engineering design, geotechnical investigations, permits, construction and related administration, inspection and construction management.

Schedule: Improvement plans would be prepared, approved and advertisement for construction bids would take approximately 8 months from the time funding was budgeted.

Phased Edgemont Water System Improvements Option 2 – Project Cost: $5.6mil

*$3.2M for
alone*

Project Description: This project option would construct the portion of the master plan pipelines described in Option 1 and would expand the network grid of water pipelines by constructing an additional 6,200 linear feet of 12" diameter pipeline creating a second loop north of the Option 1 loop with pipelines in Old 215, Cottonwood to Eucalyptus Avenue; in Eucalyptus, Old 215 to Edgemont Street; and in Edgemont Street, Eucalyptus to Cottonwood. Additionally, approximately 1,300 feet of 12" diameter pipeline would be constructed in Dracaea Avenue from Edgemont Street to Day Street. A second water supply connection would be made to WMWD by extending a 16" diameter pipeline in Alessandro Boulevard from Old 215 to about 3,000 feet westerly with a pressure reduction valve at this connection.

Project Benefits: Construction of this phased option of the master plan pipeline system would provide a modern water system enhanced distribution network that would deliver potable water for domestic consumption and fire suppression needs for approximately 50% of area. This enhanced network of pipelines would be available to serve properties immediately adjacent to the network and additionally for developers to reasonably extend (extensions would generally be within about 1,300 feet or less) in association with new development.

Planned Use of Funds: Project funds would be used for engineering design, geotechnical investigations, permits, construction and related administration, inspection and construction management.

Schedule: Improvement plans would be prepared, approved and advertisement for construction bids would take approximately 10 months.

$ 2.4M
for pin 3

Phased Edgemont Water System Improvements Option 3 – Project cost: $8.0mil

Project Description: This project option would construct the portion of master plan pipelines described in Option 1 and 2 and would further enlarge the network grid of pipelines by constructing an additional 3,900 linear feet of 12" diameter pipeline creating a loop east of Option 1 and another 7,800 linear feet of 12" diameter pipeline creating another loop east of Option 2. The additional loop east of Option 1 would construct water lines in Cottonwood Avenue, Day to Elsworth, in Elsworth, Cottonwood to Alessandro; and in Alessandro, Elsworth to Day. The additional loop east of Option 2 would construct water lines in Eucalyptus, Edgemont to Day and in Day, Eucalyptus to Cottonwood.

Project Benefits: Construction of this phased option of the master plan pipeline system would provide a modern water system that would deliver potable water for domestic consumption and for fire suppression needs for approximately 80% of the area. This substantial network of pipelines would be available to serve properties immediately adjacent to the network and additionally for developers to reasonably extend (extensions would generally be within about 700 feet or less) in association with new development.

Planned Use of Funds: Project funds would be used for engineering design, geotechnical investigations, permits, construction and related administration, inspection and construction management.

Schedule: Improvement plans would be prepared, approved and advertisement for construction bids would take approximately 12 months.

has collectively found solutions, which have maximized benefits to the local communities and to March ARB. If the future of March ARB is to be as bright as its past, you, the citizens of the cities of Riverside, Perris, and Moreno Valley; and Riverside County need to participate in the solution of our mutual concerns. We request your careful and considered review of the recommendations contained in the 2005 March ARB AICUZ Study. In brief, these recommendations include

- (a) The AICUZ Study should be adopted as an official guideline for future planning.
- (b) Zoning ordinances for local communities should be adopted, or modified, to reflect the compatible land uses outlined in the March ARB AICUZ Study.
- (c) Final development plans should have notices identifying the potential of aircraft overflight.
- (d) Fair disclosure ordinances should be enacted to specify disclosure to the public of those AICUZ items directly related to operations at March ARB.
- (e) Height control of structures near flight paths should be regulated by incorporation into zoning ordinances.
- (f) Comprehensive plans should include the land use recommendations of the AICUZ Study.
- (g) Subdivision regulations should provide for rejection of new subdivisions or developments not compatible with AICUZ land use objectives and provide controls for continued development in existing subdivisions.

- (h) Building codes should be amended to require noise level reduction efforts for structures to be built in noise zones, where alternative locations are not an option.
- (i) Capital improvement programs should be carefully reviewed to discourage incompatible land use patterns, with particular emphasis on utility extension planning.

Who prepared the AICUZ study?

The AICUZ Study was developed by many concerned people at March ARB. The complete AICUZ Study is available through the Public Affairs Office at March ARB. Only the major points of the complete AICUZ Study are included in this pamphlet.

What are the compatibility guidelines?

The following table lists the compatibility of various land uses with accident potential zones. A more comprehensive summary of land use compatibility with respect to aircraft noise and accident potential is included in Table 3-1 of the complete 2005 March ARB AICUZ Study.

Subject: DEP Impacts to Animal Services Division - Year 2 & 3

Tom,

Here are the impacts I would anticipate if we move forward on Year 2 & 3 of the DEP. The reductions are based on the base budget of 2,287,240 in FY10-11.

DEP Year 2

A reduction of $233,000 from resulted in the following cost reductions:

Defund the following positions:

Animal Services License Inspector – 1FTE
Office Aide – 1 FTE- Temp
Animal Services Assistant – 1 FTE
Animal Control Officer – 2 FTEs

Reduction in Materials & Supplies of $20,900: (ACO vehicle maintenance and fuel allocation, uniforms, field supplies and equipment, etc.)

Year 2 Impacts:

1. Loss of Licensing Revenue – year end projection FY 12-13 estimated $50,000 reduction. The current plan to minimize this impact is effective 1/26/13 we assigned our PPT ACO to canvass for dog licenses.
2. Increase in delinquent dog licenses, lack of staff for follow up to ensure compliance.
3. Loss of office staff will require one additional day of closure to the Animal Shelter with lack of staffing to provide customer service. Reduces hours open to the public by 20% or from 38 hours to 30 hours per week
4. Provides lees flexibility for assigning ACOs to assist at the Animal Shelter during ACT leave of absences or any WC injuries.
5. Increase in animal euthanasia and reductions in pet adoptions. Impacts access for animal rescue groups with staff reductions and reducing hours of operation.
6. Off-site pet adoption events will be eliminated.
7. Increase in ACO overtime due to the inability to stagger shift hours with less ACOs in the field
8. Reduces the field coverage by 29% resulting in 2,700 service hours reduction (1 FTE – 1,800 service hours + 1 PPT ACO @ 900 hrs.)
9. Realize an increase in CRMs due to poor field response due to rolling over low priority calls in the field and increasing field response times.
10. Dead animals in the roadway will not be removed in a timely manner and may remain in roadways for several days.
11. ACO rotation for Night Truck assignments increases for remaining employees and fatigue could become a factor.
12. Low employee morale.

DEP Year 3

A reduction of $216,200.

Defund the following positions:

Animal Control Officer – 1 FTE

Animal Services Assistant – 1 FTE

Close MV Vet Clinic (at the time the DEP was first developed we identified $100K in cost reduction)

Year 3 Impacts:

1. Compounding impacts to all of the above impacts identified in Year 2 of the DEP.
2. Additional reduction of 1,800 service hours in the field. This will result in fewer ACOs per day responding to routine and priority service calls. Will also directly impact police operations while police officers will experience extended waiting periods for an ACO to respond to their location on an agency assist call.
3. Additional closure of the Animal Shelter, a reduction of 27% (8 additional service hours reduced to 22 hours per week by reducing the time opened by 2 hours per day with an attempt to remain open 4 days per week).
4. Consider eliminating specific field service requests deemed low priority (pro-active patrols, response to loose stray dogs and only respond when they become confined strays, confined cats to be brought in by citizens, no on-site responses to nuisance complaints, i.e. barking dogs).
5. Vet Clinic Closure Impacts as identified in 2/27/13 email below:

Lost opp to maximize benefits from contract

- Eliminates two full-time veterinarians, one registered veterinary technician (RVT) and a support staff consisting of one receptionist and seven animal technicians to operate a low cost spay and neuter clinic at the Moreno Valley Animal Shelter. Annual cost FY11-12 $66,300.
- Eliminates the services of a veterinarian to conduct daily rounds designed to maintain a healthy shelter environment for animals placed in the care of the Animal Shelter.
- Greatly reduces timely medical care to stray and owned animals by requiring city staff to transport stray and owned animals to an off-site veterinarian for treatment.
- Requires daily transport of adopted pets to an off-site spay/neuter clinic. This reduces staff time spent at the facility providing necessary care and upkeep of animals.
- Reduces opportunity to conduct annual low-cost rabies vaccination clinics on site.
- Eliminates our ability to purchase and use Schedule II pharmaceutical drugs for euthanasia and to tranquilize aggressive animals in field situations. We would need to retain the services of a CA licensed veterinarian or a CA licensed RVT for the purchase and use of these drugs.
- Requires use of an off-site veterinarian for cruelty/neglect case documentation which is currently performed by our on-site veterinarians.
- Eliminates our ability to vaccinate owned and stray pets upon impoundment without an on-site veterinarian available to provide medical treatment if an animal reacts adversely to a vaccine.
- Community residents who use the MV Veterinary Clinic for the routine medical needs of their pets will need to choose another veterinary facility.

We can also discuss in greater detail as I'm sure you will anticipate questions based on this information provided.

The editorial (below) appeared in the Press-Enterprise on Saturday. The newspaper's editors, who are not renowned for praising the City organization, see that our City Council members are intently focused on the importance of saving the lives of pets in our community.

Because of our Council's leadership, and strong support from the City Manager's Office, we're at a truly unique point in our Shelter's history.

I know how hard everyone is working, particularly in the current budget climate. It's essential that you know how visible your efforts are...to the Council and to our community. You are achieving great things, and for a most noble cause.

Please take a moment to reflect on what you've accomplished, and the momentum our City is building to create a community where increasingly more pets are placed in lifelong, loving homes. We've just begun!

Respectfully,

OUR VIEWS

SPARE MORE ANIMALS

A Moreno Valley Animal Services volunteer helps at the city's shelter. City officials are right to explore ways to end the killing.

Moreno Valley officials deserve support in their quest to cut the euthanasia rate at the city's animal shelter. In January, the rate, which has hovered between 55 and 61 percent for several years, dropped to 40 percent. The cause of the sudden drop isn't clear, but it's welcome.

The national shelter average euthanasia rate is about 60 percent. Moreno Valley has been killing more than 7,000 animals annually. The figure stunned new City Council member Victoria Baca, who described herself as "livid and ashamed." New council member and Mayor Tom Owings says he hopes that officials can quickly cut the rate now that the council is aware of the issue.

Considering the poor economy and a shaky city budget, making fast improvements will prove challenging. But some options under discussion, such as trimming adoption fees and recruiting more shelter volunteers, should be helpful. Increasing awareness of low-cost spaying and neutering options in the county also could help.

To make progress, Moreno Valley needs a long-term commitment to minimize the killing. The city is off to a promising start.

L.A.'s 'no-kill' December

DECEMBER MAY turn out to be the first month that the shelter system run by the Los Angeles Department of Animal Services did not euthanize any treatable or healthy animals in its care. That is an extraordinary landmark in the world of animal welfare. Achieving "no-kill" status is the moral ambition of any animal shelter obligated to accept whatever is surrendered at its door or picked up off the streets. Although no-kill almost never means every animal taken in gets out alive — the hopelessly ill and dangerously aggressive are put down — it demonstrates genuine commitment in a nation where 3 million to 4 million dogs and cats are euthanized in shelters each year.

Will L.A. now earn the distinction of being the largest U.S. city to have a no-kill shelter system for an entire year? Probably not in 2013. It required a Herculean effort and the combined work of public and private entities to produce December's results.

Though all those forces may not combine again, the Department of Animal Services is part of a coalition that includes more than 50 private organizations determined to end euthanasia of healthy animals. Launched by Best Friends Animal Society in April, "No Kill LA" aims to create a no-kill system within five years, lowering the number of animals killed each year. Even before this month, they were off to a good start. According to the department's statistics, this year by the end of November, the shelters had euthanized 18,171 cats and dogs after taking in, alive, 50,808. That is 3,500 less than the number killed last year by the end of November.

Much of this is the result of private welfare groups taking animals out of the shelters and adopting them out through their own venues. Also, Best Friends is underwriting $500,000 in subsidized spay and neuter services targeting lower-income areas.

All this is testament to dedication and cooperation, but there is still hard work ahead. In a time of cutbacks, the city shelter system must make do with less staff and still help adopters. Animal Services General Manager Brenda Barnette wants to start a pilot program to train staff to assess the personalities and quirks of animals in order to pair them with prospective owners.

As the success of this month's efforts indicate, it takes sustained effort to move animals out of city shelters. But if welfare advocates can get more spay and neuter services directly to pet owners in need, and if the shelter system and private partners can get more pets into homes, more animals will be saved. With that progress, the goal of a truly humane society will draw ever closer.

Foster Volunteers are Life Savers

Have you longed to raise puppies or kittens? would you like to help animals and raise a litter at the same time?

Each year, kittens and puppies are born with no one to take care of them. Most humane organizations cannot take care of underage puppies and kittens because they do not have the personnel to provide the special attention these little ones need. They need people who are willing to raise the puppies and kittens until they are 8 to 10 weeks old when they can be returned to the shelter to be spayed or neutered and placed in permanent homes. At LAAS, our ability to take in these abandoned animals is directly dependent on the number of reliable foster volunteers we have waiting to take these babies home to raise. The more foster volunteers we have, the more lives we can save.

Our foster volunteers are a rugged group of very caring people who do everything from bottle feeding orphaned babies around the clock, to socializing little ones to ensure that they look forward to human and animal interaction. The foster volunteers provide care, safety and love.

Foster application

As fun and rewarding as fostering is, there are sometimes heartaches. Foster volunteers must also face the hard fact that they cannot save every animal. When that happens, they are consoled with the knowledge that, without their help, their puppies or kittens would not have had a chance at all. Thousands of puppies and kittens get a new chance at life each year with the help of foster volunteers.

FOSTERING FAQS

WHAT EXACTLY DO FOSTER FAMILIES DO?

They provide love, love, love and more love. And, of course, food, water, shelter and exercise. Depending on the individual animal's needs, foster parents may also be asked to administer medication, drive him or her to vet appointments and/or adoption events, or work with the animal on basic things like walking nicely on a leash, easy commands, or improving social skills. In other words, foster families love and treat foster animals as if they were their own. Depending on the individual policies of each rescue organization, one thing you might not be asked to do is incur the cost of caring for a foster. Some groups reimburse foster homes for supplies such as food, litter and toys, and for any veterinary costs incurred in the care of the animal. Others actually provide the necessary supplies. Most foster programs will have you sign a contract that explains what they will cover by way of food and medical care, and they may request that you use a specific veterinary clinic for treatment of your foster animal. Just be sure to ask!

HOW WILL FOSTERING IMPACT MY OWN PETS?

You know your pet best. They may be your best assistant in helping socialize an animal or model good behaviors. Just like you, saying good-bye to their new friend when a permanent home is found could be tough on them. Or they may be thoroughly upset at the new arrival. Pay close attention to how your pet reacts and have their best interests at heart. For the safety of your pets and the foster animal, it's important to keep your pets up-to-date on vaccinations. In many cases, the foster pet will need to be isolated from your own pets, either temporarily or throughout the foster period. Talk with the group you're working with to determine what's best in each situation.

WHY DO PEOPLE VOLUNTEER TO FOSTER?

For starters, fostering is a clear and obvious way to save an animal's life. But that's not the only reason why people foster:

- It's a volunteer job that doesn't require you to show up at a specific time for a certain number of hours.
- For those who can't make a lifetime commitment to a pet right now, like college students or military families, it's a great way to enjoy a pet.
- Fostering is a great "test drive" to see how a permanent pet would fit into your lifestyle.

DO I QUALIFY FOR TAKING IN A FOSTER ANIMAL?

If you have a heart for animals, you probably qualify! It is easier if you've had pets before, but again, most places will help you get started if you need it.

There are some instances when a special-needs animal needs a very particular kind of foster home. He might require a well-fenced yard. Or she may need to be quarantined from other pets. Maybe it's an orphaned kitten or puppy who needs a surrogate mother to feed her. Or maybe he's an extremely shy cat who needs some special patience and care to come out of his shell. Don't worry – rescue organizations make every effort to match animals with appropriate foster homes.

HOW MUCH TIME IS INVOLVED?

That depends on the fostered animal. If you choose to surrogate a newborn, for example, be prepared to provide around-the-clock care until they are at least eight-weeks old. Some high-energy animals, like dogs, may just need plenty of room to run and burn energy. And, of course, animals needing various kinds of medical care fall anywhere in between.

HOW LONG WILL THE FOSTER ANIMAL BE WITH ME?

You could barely get your new foster in the front door before finding out someone's put in an adoption application. Or it could extend out to months. Or you may just fall head over heels in love and decide to adopt! That happens a lot, which is why shelters and rescues are always in desperate need of new foster homes.

IS IT MY JOB TO FIND HIM/HER A PERMANENT HOME?

That depends on the arrangement that you have with group or shelter for which you are providing a foster home. Rescue groups and shelters frequently participate in adoption events and fairs and ask foster families to bring their adoptable animals. You can give firsthand insight into their personality, their likes/dislikes, and all of their fun quirks. Get out there and show off your little buddy! Word of mouth about your wonderful foster is also a great way to help him/her find a home. Let all of your friends, family and anyone else in your social circle know you have an awesome pet for adoption.

AND WHEN IT'S TIME TO SAY GOOD-BYE?

Be brave! You brought this sweet, wonderful animal into your heart and home. You helped him overcome whatever obstacles he faced. And now all of that love will benefit a new, forever family. Some people like to be there when the pet goes home with the new family. Seeing your foster animal ride off into the sunset will help you remember that he has found a lovely new home. Take heart! A lot of foster families get photos and updates of their old charges enjoying their new homes. Knowing you were part of saving a life and that you helped your foster pet find a loving home is tremendously rewarding.

ISN'T THAT EMOTIONALLY HARD ON THE ANIMALS?

Living in a loving home with a warm bed, enjoying toys, quality care and friendship is not hard for an animal. He will surely be sad to say goodbye, as you are, but then he's off to an even brighter future. Remember, foster homes are a lifesaving bridge for stray or frightened pets. It gives them a chance to get used to life in a house, and an opportunity to learn that people can be kind, food is available, and there is a warm, secure place to sleep. Then, when a permanent home is found, they will adjust much easier and the odds of them staying in that home are so much higher. There's no shortage of animals who need this preparation time before finding their own family.

HOW DO I GIVE FOSTERING A TRY?

Are you ready to change the life of a homeless animal? Please visit our Foster information section.

It's a sad reality that many healthy, wonderful animals are still euthanized each year in shelters simply because there isn't enough room for them. As a foster parent, you'll be giving one very lucky animal a chance at a bright future full of love. It is important, valuable work and, best of all, it saves lives.

The Twelve Pets of Christmas highlights 12 categories of pets that are often overlooked in shelters. All of these pets would make a great addition to your family, but this isn't always obvious at first glance. Take a second look and then take home one of the Twelve Pets of Christmas - because every pet deserves a loving home.

Adult Cats

What you see is what you get! Adult cats have fully developed personalities and are less rambunctious than a kitten.

Big Dogs

Bigger can be better! And, big dogs don't always need more space and exercise. Get more fuzz to love when you adopt a Big Dog.

Black Pets

Black pets often get overlooked in our shelters. Adopt a black cat or dog and we are sure you'll agree, black goes with everything.

Pit Bull / Pit Bull Mixes

Pit bull type breeds are just like any other dog. Each one is an individual. Some may be very playful and energetic while others would make the perfect naptime buddy. One thing is for sure, these dogs make a loyal and loving companion.

Medical Needs

Are you a natural nurturer? Adopting a special needs pet can be especially rewarding and modern veterinary medicine means many medical conditions are easily managed.

Senior Pets

Senior Pets have the sweetest kind of love to give. Adopt a senior dog or cat and see that some things get better with age.

Overweight Pets

Are your hobbies diet and exercise? Adopt an overweight pet and help slim them back to health.

Shy Pets

Shy pets can be brought out of their shell with love and confidence building. Working with a shy pet forms an incredible bond.

Only Pets

Some pets prefer to be an only "child," wanting you all to themselves. If you're looking for a single cat or dog to adopt, look no further!

Bonded Pairs

Do you have room for two? Best Mates are animals that have grown together and think life is just better with their buddy.

Adult Chihuahua / Chihuahua Mixes

Chihuahuas and Chihuahua mixes come in every color of the rainbow. There are plenty of personalities to choose from if you're looking for a pint sized companion.

Exotics

Interested in becoming a pet parent to something a little more unusual? Consider adopting an exotic such as a snake, lizard or bird. 50% off exotics (up to $40).

NO-KILL DECEMBER SAMPLE SOCIAL MEDIA POSTS

Sample Facebook Posts

Let's create another reason to be merry this holiday season by helping <tag NKLA> achieve a No-Kill December! Let's achieve what we could once only dream about. How can you help? Adopt. Foster. And of course, SHARE!

Together, let's make history with a No-Kill December. That's right, zero animals killed. But we're gonna need your help. Please adopt, foster, or share!

No-Kill Los Angeles (tag NKLA) is a cause close to my heart. Their incredible work has led to reduced killing in L.A. City shelters by 3,500 animals so far this year! NKLA hopes to use this incredible momentum to achieve a No-Kill December. This means they need our help to make December the first month in history that the number of animals killed in L.A. City shelters is ZERO. Please join me in supporting their efforts by adopting or fostering a homeless pet. And SHARE!

Please join <tag NKLA> in helping homeless pets this holiday season. Already this year, the incredible work of many has led to 3,500+ more animals saved than last year in L.A. City shelters. Let's make history by supporting a No-Kill December. You can help by adopting or fostering and helping spread the word.

How great would it be if we could make history and ensure that zero animals are killed in L.A. City shelters in December?! The <tag NKLA> coalition intends to do just that, but they need your help!

Let's make history this holiday season by making December No-Kill December for homeless pets in L.A. City Shelters (and we're so close!). You can help <tag NKLA> achieve this by adopting, fostering, and spreading the word.

Last year, more than 17,000 adoptable pets were killed in Los Angeles simply because they had no homes. This year, a coalition of rescue partners behind a new movement called No-Kill Los Angeles <tag NKLA>, have reduced that number by 3,500+. But they're not stopping there. They've set their sights on making history--an entire month (this month) with no pets being killed in L.A. City shelters. You can help make No-Kill December happen by adopting, fostering, and helping spread the word.

NKLA DECEMBER: VOLUNTEER INTEREST FORM

NKLA is kicking off a campaign to make December a No-Kill month in LAAS shelters. Let's rally together and make this December the first month in history that the number of healthy and treatable animals killed in LA City shelters is ZERO. This is possible, but it will only happen if the public, volunteers and rescue organizations work together.

Below are a list of volunteer roles created by NKLA for this effort. Please spread the word – you do NOT need to be a currently-registered Best Friends or NKLA volunteer to help with any of these tasks. We will be working with our NKLA rescue partners for assignments at the shelters; Best Friends will be managing most of the at home assignments.

If you have any questions, contact info@nkla.org.

Best Friends Neighborhood Pit Bull Day is a one-day event that provides free resources, products, education and services, and free spaying/neutering vouchers to pit bull owners.

We believe that through education and community engagement, we can defuse the negative stereotype of this misunderstood breed and help communities understand what loyal members of the family pit bulls can be.

WHAT'S NEW?

About Best Friends Animal Society

Best Friends Animal Society is guided by a simple philosophy: kindness to animals builds a better world for all of us. When Best Friends was founded in the early 1980's, roughly 17 million dogs and cats were being killed in U.S. shelters every year. What's more, the conventional belief was that little could be done to lower that terrible number.

Best Friends created a new vision: A grassroots effort to place dogs and cats considered "unadoptable" into good homes, and to reduce the number of unwanted pets through effective spay and neuter programs. Since then, the number of dogs and cats being destroyed in shelters has fallen to approximately 5 million a year nationwide. There has been much progress, but there is still much more to do.

The next phase of this work - bringing the number down to essentially zero.

Our work in Los Angeles

Because the mission of a no-kill city can only be achieved when people come together, Best Friends works collaboratively with animal rescue groups, city shelters and passionate individuals to make this a reality. For many years, Best Friends' presence in Los Angeles was carried out through its many adoption events, spay-neuter campaigns and partnerships with city and county government. In early 2012, the Best Friends Pet Adoption & Spay Neuter Center in Mission Hills, California opened to the public.

Pet Adoption Tips & News!

Dog adoption and cat adoption saves lives. Adopt a dog or adopt a cat and you'll have a friend for life! What is the difference between adopting a dog or puppy versus getting dogs for sale or puppies for sale from a dog breeder? When someone is breeding puppies, they are creating new dogs who need homes. Some people are interested in a very specific breed of dog or puppy and they think the only way to find that specific breed is to buy a dog for sale from a puppy breeder. Yet animal shelters are filled with dogs who must find homes. So rather than buying a dog or puppy for sale from a dog breeder, we encourage people to adopt a dog or adopt a puppy at their local animal shelter, SPCA, humane society or pet rescue group.

Chance, the 3 legged pit bull My daughter rescued a male pitbull that was scheduled for euthanasia at the Valley Shelter because he had a damaged front leg. He ran around dragging the dead front leg with him when she brought him to me to foster. That was around 3 months ago. I immediately took him to the doctor .That leg was beyond repair and his foot was bloody from dragging on the ground. The nerves were dead. He couldn't feel it. Eventually, I have had his leg surgically removed after checking with 3 different vets to find out what I should do. Two days after his amputation surgery, Chance was running around like nothing had ... \(Read More\)

Pascha is a very high energy dog at almost one year old. We found her roaming the street, got her shots and had her spay... She is a loving but undisciplined puppy. I believe with lots of love and training, she would be an amazing dog. We do not have the time and dedication she deserves. She has been an outside dog and is not house trained. We are hoping that someone that LOVES dogs sees this post and can take her to a loving home where she will get LOTS of attention...

Please Read Before Adopting a Pit Bull in California

Pit Bull Dogs can make good pets in California if they match your lifestyle. The American Pit Bull Terrier is a powerful dog with an undeserved reputation for inherent viciousness. A Pit Bull that receives attention, firm training, and thorough socialization makes a wonderful family guardian that is trustworthy with children. Pit Bulls need committed, experienced owners that exude leadership. Pit Bulls excel at high level obedience with proper training. Pit Bulls have been bred for dog fights, and unfortunately a dog that is abused, neglected, or whose instinctive aggression is encouraged, can become hostile and dangerous. Pit Bulls can adapt to apartment life with enough exercise.

Interesting Pit Bull Trivia

Low-Cost California Spay & Neuter Clinics

Some people believe that Pit Bulls are identical to what Bulldogs were in the past. American Pit Bull Terriers are very similar, and some argue identical, to Staffordshire Bull Terriers.

L.A.'s 'no-kill' December

DECEMBER MAY turn out to be the first month that the shelter system run by the Los Angeles Department of Animal Services did not euthanize any treatable or healthy animals in its care. That is an extraordinary landmark in the world of animal welfare. Achieving "no-kill" status is the moral ambition of any animal shelter obligated to accept whatever is surrendered at its door or picked up off the streets. Although no-kill almost never means every animal taken in gets out alive — the hopelessly ill and dangerously aggressive are put down — it demonstrates genuine commitment in a nation where 3 million to 4 million dogs and cats are euthanized in shelters each year.

Will L.A. now earn the distinction of being the largest U.S. city to have a no-kill shelter system for an entire year? Probably not in 2013. It required a Herculean effort and the combined work of public and private entities to produce December's results.

Though all those forces may not combine again, the Department of Animal Services is part of a coalition that includes more than 50 private organizations determined to end euthanasia of healthy animals. Launched by Best Friends Animal Society in April, "No Kill LA" aims to create a no-kill system within five years, lowering the number of animals killed each year. Even before this month, they were off to a good start. According to the department's statistics, this year by the end of November, the shelters had euthanized 18,171 cats and dogs after taking in, alive, 50,808. That is 3,500 less than the number killed last year by the end of November.

Much of this is the result of private welfare groups taking animals out of the shelters and adopting them out through their own venues. Also, Best Friends is underwriting $500,000 in subsidized spay and neuter services targeting lower-income areas.

All this is testament to dedication and cooperation, but there is still hard work ahead. In a time of cutbacks, the city shelter system must make do with less staff and still help adopters. Animal Services General Manager Brenda Barnette wants to start a pilot program to train staff to assess the personalities and quirks of animals in order to pair them with prospective owners.

As the success of this month's efforts indicate, it takes sustained effort to move animals out of city shelters. But if welfare advocates can get more spay and neuter services directly to pet owners in need, and if the shelter system and private partners can get more pets into homes, more animals will be saved. With that progress, the goal of a truly humane society will draw ever closer.

Foster Volunteers are Life Savers

Have you longed to raise puppies or kittens? would you like to help animals and raise a litter at the same time?

Each year, kittens and puppies are born with no one to take care of them. Most humane organizations cannot take care of underage puppies and kittens because they do not have the personnel to provide the special attention these little ones need. They need people who are willing to raise the puppies and kittens until they are 8 to 10 weeks old when they can be returned to the shelter to be spayed or neutered and placed in permanent homes. At LAAS, our ability to take in these abandoned animals is directly dependent on the number of reliable foster volunteers we have waiting to take these babies home to raise. The more foster volunteers we have, the more lives we can save.

Our foster volunteers are a rugged group of very caring people who do everything from bottle feeding orphaned babies around the clock, to socializing little ones to ensure that they look forward to human and animal interaction. The foster volunteers provide care, safety and love.

Foster application

As fun and rewarding as fostering is, there are sometimes heartaches. Foster volunteers must also face the hard fact that they cannot save every animal. When that happens, they are consoled with the knowledge that, without their help, their puppies or kittens would not have had a chance at all. Thousands of puppies and kittens get a new chance at life each year with the help of foster volunteers.

FOSTERING FAQS

WHAT EXACTLY DO FOSTER FAMILIES DO?

They provide love, love, love and more love. And, of course, food, water, shelter and exercise. Depending on the individual animal's needs, foster parents may also be asked to administer medication, drive him or her to vet appointments and/or adoption events, or work with the animal on basic things like walking nicely on a leash, easy commands, or improving social skills. In other words, foster families love and treat foster animals as if they were their own. Depending on the individual policies of each rescue organization, one thing you might not be asked to do is incur the cost of caring for a foster. Some groups reimburse foster homes for supplies such as food, litter and toys, and for any veterinary costs incurred in the care of the animal. Others actually provide the necessary supplies. Most foster programs will have you sign a contract that explains what they will cover by way of food and medical care, and they may request that you use a specific veterinary clinic for treatment of your foster animal. Just be sure to ask!

HOW WILL FOSTERING IMPACT MY OWN PETS?

You know your pet best. They may be your best assistant in helping socialize an animal or model good behaviors. Just like you, saying good-bye to their new friend when a permanent home is found could be tough on them. Or they may be thoroughly upset at the new arrival. Pay close attention to how your pet reacts and have their best interests at heart. For the safety of your pets and the foster animal, it's important to keep your pets up-to-date on vaccinations. In many cases, the foster pet will need to be isolated from your own pets, either temporarily or throughout the foster period. Talk with the group you're working with to determine what's best in each situation.

WHY DO PEOPLE VOLUNTEER TO FOSTER?

For starters, fostering is a clear and obvious way to save an animal's life. But that's not the only reason why people foster:

- It's a volunteer job that doesn't require you to show up at a specific time for a certain number of hours.
- For those who can't make a lifetime commitment to a pet right now, like college students or military families, it's a great way to enjoy a pet.
- Fostering is a great "test drive" to see how a permanent pet would fit into your lifestyle.

DO I QUALIFY FOR TAKING IN A FOSTER ANIMAL?

If you have a heart for animals, you probably qualify! It is easier if you've had pets before, but again, most places will help you get started if you need it.

There are some instances when a special-needs animal needs a very particular kind of foster home. He might require a well-fenced yard. Or she may need to be quarantined from other pets. Maybe it's an orphaned kitten or puppy who needs a surrogate mother to feed her. Or maybe he's an extremely shy cat who needs some special patience and care to come out of his shell. Don't worry – rescue organizations make every effort to match animals with appropriate foster homes.

HOW MUCH TIME IS INVOLVED?

That depends on the fostered animal. If you choose to surrogate a newborn, for example, be prepared to provide around-the-clock care until they are at least eight-weeks old. Some high-energy animals, like dogs, may just need plenty of room to run and burn energy. And, of course, animals needing various kinds of medical care fall anywhere in between.

HOW LONG WILL THE FOSTER ANIMAL BE WITH ME?

You could barely get your new foster in the front door before finding out someone's put in an adoption application. Or it could extend out to months. Or you may just fall head over heels in love and decide to adopt! That happens a lot, which is why shelters and rescues are always in desperate need of new foster homes.

IS IT MY JOB TO FIND HIM/HER A PERMANENT HOME?

That depends on the arrangement that you have with group or shelter for which you are providing a foster home. Rescue groups and shelters frequently participate in adoption events and fairs and ask foster families to bring their adoptable animals. You can give firsthand insight into their personality, their likes/dislikes, and all of their fun quirks. Get out there and show off your little buddy! Word of mouth about your wonderful foster is also a great way to help him/her find a home. Let all of your friends, family and anyone else in your social circle know you have an awesome pet for adoption.

AND WHEN IT'S TIME TO SAY GOOD-BYE?

Be brave! You brought this sweet, wonderful animal into your heart and home. You helped him overcome whatever obstacles he faced. And now all of that love will benefit a new, forever family. Some people like to be there when the pet goes home with the new family. Seeing your foster animal ride off into the sunset will help you remember that he has found a lovely new home. Take heart! A lot of foster families get photos and updates of their old charges enjoying their new homes. Knowing you were part of saving a life and that you helped your foster pet find a loving home is tremendously rewarding.

ISN'T THAT EMOTIONALLY HARD ON THE ANIMALS?

Living in a loving home with a warm bed, enjoying toys, quality care and friendship is not hard for an animal. He will surely be sad to say goodbye, as you are, but then he's off to an even brighter future. Remember, foster homes are a lifesaving bridge for stray or frightened pets. It gives them a chance to get used to life in a house, and an opportunity to learn that people can be kind, food is available, and there is a warm, secure place to sleep. Then, when a permanent home is found, they will adjust much easier and the odds of them staying in that home are so much higher. There's no shortage of animals who need this preparation time before finding their own family.

HOW DO I GIVE FOSTERING A TRY?

Are you ready to change the life of a homeless animal? Please visit our Foster information section.

It's a sad reality that many healthy, wonderful animals are still euthanized each year in shelters simply because there isn't enough room for them. As a foster parent, you'll be giving one very lucky animal a chance at a bright future full of love. It is important, valuable work and, best of all, it saves lives.

All of these pets would make a great addition to your family, but this isn't always obvious at first glance. Take a second look and then take home one of the Twelve Pets of Christmas - because every pet deserves a loving home.

Adult Cats

What you see is what you get! Adult cats have fully developed personalities and are less rambunctious than a kitten.

Big Dogs

Bigger can be better! And, big dogs don't always need more space and exercise. Get more fuzz to love when you adopt a Big Dog.

Black Pets

Black pets often get overlooked in our shelters. Adopt a black cat or dog and we are sure you'll agree, black goes with everything.

Pit Bull / Pit Bull Mixes

Pit bull type breeds are just like any other dog. Each one is an individual. Some may be very playful and energetic while others would make the perfect naptime buddy. One thing is for sure, these dogs make a loyal and loving companion.

Medical Needs

Are you a natural nurturer? Adopting a special needs pet can be especially rewarding and modern veterinary medicine means many medical conditions are easily managed.

Senior Pets

Senior Pets have the sweetest kind of love to give. Adopt a senior dog or cat and see that some things get better with age.

Overweight Pets

Are your hobbies diet and exercise? Adopt an overweight pet and help slim them back to health.

Shy Pets

Shy pets can be brought out of their shell with love and confidence building. Working with a shy pet forms an incredible bond.

Bonded Pairs

Do you have room for two? Best Mates are animals that have grown together and think life is just better with their buddy.

NO-KILL DECEMBER SAMPLE SOCIAL MEDIA POSTS

Sample Facebook Posts

Let's create another reason to be merry this holiday season by helping <tag NKLA> achieve a No-Kill December! Let's achieve what we could once only dream about. How can you help? Adopt. Foster. And of course, SHARE!

Together, let's make history with a No-Kill December. That's right, zero animals killed. But we're gonna need your help. Please adopt, foster, or share!

No-Kill Los Angeles (tag NKLA) is a cause close to my heart. Their incredible work has led to reduced killing in L.A. City shelters by 3,500 animals so far this year! NKLA hopes to use this incredible momentum to achieve a No-Kill December. This means they need our help to make December the first month in history that the number of animals killed in L.A. City shelters is ZERO. Please join me in supporting their efforts by adopting or fostering a homeless pet. And SHARE!

Please join <tag NKLA> in helping homeless pets this holiday season. Already this year, the incredible work of many has led to 3,500+ more animals saved than last year in L.A. City shelters. Let's make history by supporting a No-Kill December. You can help by adopting or fostering and helping spread the word.

How great would it be if we could make history and ensure that zero animals are killed in L.A. City shelters in December?! The <tag NKLA> coalition intends to do just that, but they need your help!

Let's make history this holiday season by making December No-Kill December for homeless pets in L.A. City Shelters (and we're so close!). You can help <tag NKLA> achieve this by adopting, fostering, and spreading the word.

Last year, more than 17,000 adoptable pets were killed in Los Angeles simply because they had no homes. This year, a coalition of rescue partners behind a new movement called No-Kill Los Angeles <tag NKLA>, have reduced that number by 3,500+. But they're not stopping there. They've set their sights on making history--an entire month (this month) with no pets being killed in L.A. City shelters. You can help make No-Kill December happen by adopting, fostering, and helping spread the word.

NKLA DECEMBER: VOLUNTEER INTEREST FORM

NKLA is kicking off a campaign to make December a No-Kill month in LAAS shelters. Let's rally together and make this December the first month in history that the number of healthy and treatable animals killed in LA City shelters is ZERO. This is possible, but it will only happen if the public, volunteers and rescue organizations work together.

Below are a list of volunteer roles created by NKLA for this effort. Please spread the word – you do NOT need to be a currently-registered Best Friends or NKLA volunteer to help with any of these tasks. We will be working with our NKLA rescue partners for assignments at the shelters; Best Friends will be managing most of the at home assignments.

If you have any questions, contact info@nkla.org.

Best Friends Neighborhood Pit Bull Day is a one-day event that provides free resources, products, education and services, and free spaying/neutering vouchers to pit bull owners.

We believe that through education and community engagement, we can defuse the negative stereotype of this misunderstood breed and help communities understand what loyal members of the family pit bulls can be.

WHAT'S NEW?

About Best Friends Animal Society

Best Friends Animal Society is guided by a simple philosophy: kindness to animals builds a better world for all of us. When Best Friends was founded in the early 1980's, roughly 17 million dogs and cats were being killed in U.S. shelters every year. What's more, the conventional belief was that little could be done to lower that terrible number.

Best Friends created a new vision: A grassroots effort to place dogs and cats considered "unadoptable" into good homes, and to reduce the number of unwanted pets through effective spay and neuter programs. Since then, the number of dogs and cats being destroyed in shelters has fallen to approximately 5 million a year nationwide. There has been much progress, but there is still much more to do.

The next phase of this work - bringing the number down to essentially zero.

Our work in Los Angeles

Because the mission of a no-kill city can only be achieved when people come together, Best Friends works collaboratively with animal rescue groups, city shelters and passionate individuals to make this a reality. For many years, Best Friends' presence in Los Angeles was carried out through its many adoption events, spay-neuter campaigns and partnerships with city and county government. In early 2012, the Best Friends Pet Adoption & Spay Neuter Center in Mission Hills, California opened to the public.

Pet Adoption Tips & News!

Dog adoption and cat adoption saves lives. Adopt a dog or adopt a cat and you'll have a friend for life! What is the difference between adopting a dog or puppy versus getting dogs for sale or puppies for sale from a dog breeder? When someone is breeding puppies, they are creating new dogs who need homes. Some people are interested in a very specific breed of dog or puppy and they think the only way to find that specific breed is to buy a dog for sale from a puppy breeder. Yet animal shelters are filled with dogs who must find homes. So rather than buying a dog or puppy for sale from a dog breeder, we encourage people to adopt a dog or adopt a puppy at their local animal shelter, SPCA, humane society or pet rescue group.

Chance, the 3 legged pit bull My daughter rescued a male pitbull that was scheduled for euthanasia at the Valley Shelter because he had a damaged front leg. He ran around dragging the dead front leg with him when she brought him to me to foster. That was around 3 months ago. I immediately took him to the doctor .That leg was beyond repair and his foot was bloody from dragging on the ground. The nerves were dead. He couldn't feel it. Eventually, I have had his leg surgically removed after checking with 3 different vets to find out what I should do. Two days after his amputation surgery, Chance was running around like nothing had ... \(Read More\)

Pascha is a very high energy dog at almost one year old. We found her roaming the street, got her shots and had her spay... She is a loving but undisciplined puppy. I believe with lots of love and training, she would be an amazing dog. We do not have the time and dedication she deserves. She has been an outside dog and is not house trained. We are hoping that someone that LOVES dogs sees this post and can take her to a loving home where she will get LOTS of attention...

Please Read Before Adopting a Pit Bull in California

Pit Bull Dogs can make good pets in California if they match your lifestyle. The American Pit Bull Terrier is a powerful dog with an undeserved reputation for inherent viciousness. A Pit Bull that receives attention, firm training, and thorough socialization makes a wonderful family guardian that is trustworthy with children. Pit Bulls need committed, experienced owners that exude leadership. Pit Bulls excel at high level obedience with proper training. Pit Bulls have been bred for dog fights, and unfortunately a dog that is abused, neglected, or whose instinctive aggression is encouraged, can become hostile and dangerous. Pit Bulls can adapt to apartment life with enough exercise.

Interesting Pit Bull Trivia

Low-Cost California Spay & Neuter Clinics

Some people believe that Pit Bulls are identical to what Bulldogs were in the past. American Pit Bull Terriers are very similar, and some argue identical, to Staffordshire Bull Terriers.

Foster Volunteers are Life Savers

Have you longed to raise puppies or kittens? would you like to help animals and raise a litter at the same time?

Each year, kittens and puppies are born with no one to take care of them. Most humane organizations cannot take care of underage puppies and kittens because they do not have the personnel to provide the special attention these little ones need. They need people who are willing to raise the puppies and kittens until they are 8 to 10 weeks old when they can be returned to the shelter to be spayed or neutered and placed in permanent homes. At LAAS, our ability to take in these abandoned animals is directly dependent on the number of reliable foster volunteers we have waiting to take these babies home to raise. The more foster volunteers we have, the more lives we can save.

Our foster volunteers are a rugged group of very caring people who do everything from bottle feeding orphaned babies around the clock, to socializing little ones to ensure that they look forward to human and animal interaction. The foster volunteers provide care, safety and love.

Foster application

As fun and rewarding as fostering is, there are sometimes heartaches. Foster volunteers must also face the hard fact that they cannot save every animal. When that happens, they are consoled with the knowledge that, without their help, their puppies or kittens would not have had a chance at all. Thousands of puppies and kittens get a new chance at life each year with the help of foster volunteers.

FOSTER PARENT AGREEMENT

As a Foster Parent for the City of Los Angeles Department of Animal Services (LAAS) you are required to abide by the terms of the Foster Parent Agreement. If accepted and in consideration of becoming such, my initials and signature below, indicate that I understand and agree to the following terms and conditions:

If applicable, All potential Foster Parents must attend a Bottle Baby Foster 1 on 1 training or orientation.

Once a Foster Pet is weaned (8wks for puppies/kittens) it must be returned by the Foster Parent to the Shelter and impounded back into Chameleon.

Foster Parent agrees to provide reasonable time, proper and sufficient food, water, shelter, kind treatment, and proper veterinary medical care for the pet (s) in his/her care, at all times. Cats cannot roam free. If your Foster Pet escapes, you will need to provide us with a written statement.

As with all pets, LAAS does its best to find each Foster Pet a good home; However, LAAS cannot guarantee that all Foster Pets will be adopted nor guarantee, whatsoever, the health, temperament, mental disposition, and training of any of the Shelter/Foster Pets.

LAAS will be allowed to inspect the premises, in which the Foster Pet (s) will be/are maintained, from time to time, for the purpose of determining the suitability. Foster Pets are only temporarily in my care and remain the property of LAAS and are subject to relinquishment at anytime. Failure to return a Foster Pet will result in termination and a "do not adopt" status and legal action.

I agree that I will not relinquish custody of the Foster Pet (s) to anyone except LAAS, even temporarily, and if the Foster Pet dies in my care, the body must be returned to the Shelter for disposal and its death noted in our system.

I agree to contact LAAS immediately, if the Foster Pet (s); need medical care of any kind, and shall be brought into the Shelter for further evaluation. At that time a decision will be made by LAAS whether the Foster Pet (s) must stay at the Shelter or if they can return to the Foster home where the Foster Parent will administer medications, if provided. Note: Private Veterinary costs incurred by the Foster Parent WILL NOT be reimbursed by LAAS nor will other expenses such as food, toys, litter.

I declare under penalty of perjury that all statements on this application form and attachments are true and correct to the best of my knowledge. I understand that false, misleading or incomplete information shall be cause for disqualification and/or termination.

IDEMNITY WAIVER, RELEASE OF LIABILITY AND ASSUMPTION OF RISK

I hereby agree that I will assume full responsibility for personal injury, property damage suffered and/or death sustained as a result of, or in connection with, my participation as a volunteer with the Los Angeles Animal Services (LAAS).

I agree, for purposes of this agreement, to release all employees, agents and/or volunteers collectively from and against all liability, claims, demands, damages to my person or property suffered and/or sustained as a direct and/or indirect result of my participation as a volunteer.

In connection with my participation as a volunteer, I further agree that I will not make any claim against, sue, attach the property of, and/or prosecute the LAAS for any personal injury, property damage, death, and/or whatever the cause of the event that gave rise to a claim.

I further understand that the behavior of domestic animals is unpredictable and that domestic animals are capable of spreading disease, inflicting serious personal injury, causing extensive property damage, and/or causing death. Knowing the risk of handling domestic animals, nevertheless, I hereby agree to ASSUME THOSE RISKS and to release indemnity and hold harmless LAAS, who might otherwise be liable to me (or my heirs or assigns), for damages.

It is understood and agreed that this Indemnity Waiver/Release of Liability and Assumption of Risk form is intended to be binding on my heirs, distributes, guardians, legal representatives, and/ or assigns.

I HAVE READ THIS AGREEMENT CAREFULLY AND FULLY. I AM AWARE THAT THIS IS AN INDEMNITY WAIVER/RELEASE OF LIABILITY AND ASSUMPTION OF RISK FORM AND IS A BINDING CONTRACT BETWEEN LAAS AND MYSELF. I SIGN IT OF MY OWN FREE WILL.

Good morning Mayor. The e-mail below is the information you requested I get from Oscar re: the MV Chamber's typical efforts on behalf of their membership.

Re: your other questions, the City contributes $18,090 per the annual agreement with the MV Chamber (our contribution to the MV Hispanic Chamber is $6,030/year). I have attached a copy of the current agreement, the scope of services is on pp. 7 & 8. The agreements with the Chambers are administered by the Community & Economic Development Department. Council approved the current agreement 5-0 at their Sept. 11, 2012 mtg.

The following comprise the current Board of Directors; there may be some change in the Board at the January 25 Installation dinner, I'll check with Michele P. for that info on Monday.

Subject: RE: Chamber member assistance

Hi Michelle,

That is a tough one since each occurrence may be unique, but the first steps are common. Once it has come to my attention directly or indirectly, I will speak to an individual(s) and get a general idea of what may be occurring. I will then ask questions such as, "is this something you misunderstood" or "Were you aware of the process beforehand". I also ask if their concerns were expressed to the directed department or head of the department. Most time this will be a no. I

I am sometimes asked if I can assist with setting up a meeting or getting the correct contact or information. Sometimes I know the standard questions such as banners, Knox Boxes (now) signage. Although I may sometimes know exactly which department needs to be contacted, I get as much information I can and make the call or email myself to the designated department. Being neutral I can usually see where the communication or info has been misunderstood. Depending on each situation, and when I am not sure where to take it, I do call Barry Foster or Denise Bagley. Many times through their assistance the issue or question gets resolved and the member has an understanding on how, what and why the process or requirement is necessary. Not sure if that helps because as I said each one is different and it depends on how far if any the member wishes for us to inquire. Sometimes they just want to vent and I listen, then they say thank you and wish not to proceed (although at times I would give Barry or Denise a heads up so they are not totally shocked if they hear from someone else.)

I basically set a meeting with the individual and take it from there.

- 1) Discuss the situation
- 2) Ask questions on who they spoke to or who contacted them (code, fire, police, planning)
- 3) Call department direct and see if we can get the correct information to member
- 4) Set up meeting with concerned member and department or individual
- 5) Update member on progress or Barry and Denise will update me on progress
- 6) Set up meeting with department head and myself only, to review situation and discuss how to handle in future and get myself educated so I may inform the member on how the process works and possibly avert any negative comments or misunderstandings
- 7) Make sure they understood the process and if they reviewed all the necessary paper work before "Assuming" the city is just making it difficult for them
- 8) Follow up with member.

Hi Oscar. Can you provide me with a description of the typical effort that the Chamber makes on behalf of its members when they approach you with business issues? I know that's vague; for example, if a member has a business problem with a local agency (ie City, County, MARB), what steps does the Chamber take to assist?

Chambers of Commerce: Do they deserve taxpayer money?

The subsidy gap » Some Salt Lake Valley cities kick in lots of cash; others contribute little or none.

BY JEREMIAH STETTLER

AND ROSEMARY WINTERS

THE SALT LAKE TRIBUNE

PUBLISHED MARCH 28, 2009 4:00 PM

This is an archived article that was published on sltrib.com in 2009, and information in the article may be outdated. It is provided only for personal research purposes and may not be reprinted.

Year after year, then-South Salt Lake Mayor Wes Losser penciled a zero into his budget for the city's Chamber of Commerce.

Erasing government's contribution to the chamber was a bit extreme, Losser now concedes, but he wanted to make the point that entrepreneurs, not taxpayers, should support the business association.

Although Losser slimmed down the city's contribution for a spell -- the City Council always restored some funding -- the South Salt Lake Chamber now receives $50,000 a year from the city, plus free office space, making it one of the valley's sweetest government deals for chambers of commerce.

"Obscene is the word for it," Losser grouses.

South Salt Lake isn't alone in pumping tens of thousands of government greenbacks into a chamber, although its sum seems surprisingly steep compared with the neighboring capital city. Salt Lake City donates the same annual amount to the much-larger Salt Lake Chamber, which represents six times as many businesses and eight times as many residents.

Similar payments are made in West Jordan ($60,000), in South Jordan ($40,000) and in Draper ($35,000), where business backers insist such government payments are propping up economic development, increasing sales-tax dollars and sustaining businesses in a drooping economy.

"If we're able to help the businesses become stronger and stay here and be profitable," says former Councilwoman Stacey Liddiard, president and CEO of the South Salt Lake Chamber, "it will ultimately mean more revenue to the city."

Chambers' role debated » But some cities offer no financial handouts to their chambers. It's a policy position that Midvale staked years ago to make its business coalition self-sustaining.

So do some governments pay too much? Do others kick in too little? And what role should public entities play in supporting organizations whose purpose is to advance private-business interests?

Those questions continue to wriggle into government-finance discussions across the Wasatch Front.

In South Salt Lake, for instance, Councilman Shane Siwik is urging colleagues to cut the city's chamber contribution to $12,000 or less. But it would take an unlikely reversal for a council that not only accepted Mayor Bob Gray's budget recommendation of $25,000 last year, but also doubled it.

In Taylorsville, officials are negotiating a contract with Chamber West that would offer the business alliance more money, but require specific services. The $6,000 contract would represent a considerable increase from the $353 that Taylorsville paid last year.

And, in South Jordan, the chamber announced this month that it no longer will seek a city subsidy. Instead, the business group will work out a fee-for-service contract to assist in economic development and business promotion.

Scrapping subsidies » Before this latest funding twist, South Jordan's chamber enjoyed one of the valley's most lucrative government handouts, according to a Salt Lake Tribune analysis. In fact, taxpayers provided 44 percent of the chamber's budget.

Despite that financial footing, the chamber is struggling.

With 182 members, the South Jordan Chamber of Commerce is one of the valley's smallest business associations. Only Magna and a chamber serving Riverton, Herriman and Bluffdale are smaller. Yet the city contributed $40,000 to the group last year. That's more money than allocated by any valley city except Salt Lake City, South Salt Lake and West Jordan.

But times are changing. South Jordan no longer provides free office space and, for several years, has reduced its subsidy by $5,000 annually.

Those changes -- combined with the chamber's small membership and high overhead -- left it in a financial lurch. The association posted a $17,000 deficit last year, spurring officials to assemble an emergency task force this month to figure out how to stabilize the organization.

The result: The chamber eliminated its full-time president and CEO, temporarily suspended its scholarship program, ordered a re-evaluation of its events and determined that it should pursue a fee-for-service contract with South Jordan instead of its historic annual subsidy.

Paying for results » The goal is to make the chamber self-sustaining, according to acting President Paul Pugmire, a former County Council candidate who is shepherding the reforms as the association's unpaid executive.

"We are very willing, eager and desirous to work on behalf of the community -- and be paid for it -- with performance measures and accountability and reportability," he says. "We don't want a subsidy."

Chambers are inking contracts elsewhere in the valley, most notably in West Valley City and Taylorsville. There, Chamber West is working out agreements that will increase government funding, but also will require a laundry list of services ranging from conducting small-business workshops to arranging site visits with major employers.

The valley's highest-dollar contributor to a chamber, West Jordan, also allocates its money by contract.

So what might these chambers offer? A unified voice for the business community, for one thing. But chambers also supply training for small businesses, publish business directories and promotional materials, sponsor community events such as fireworks shows and parades to pump up foot traffic for businesses, provide policy perspectives as members of government boards and serve as welcome wagons for new businesses that desire a ribbon-cutting or a shout-out on a chamber Web site.

The South Jordan chamber's advertising arm is what lured Sheila Cramer, owner of Academy of Ballet Arts, to the business alliance early this year. With a new studio in South Jordan, she hoped to get her name out on the street.

So for a $230 membership, Cramer was offered a ribbon-cutting, an ad in the newspaper, her name on the chamber's Web site and networking opportunities through regular luncheons.

"I joined because I thought it would grow my business," she says. "It doesn't seem like it's too expensive if it helps."

An independent voice? » Still, some chambers shy away from the government dole, fearing too much taxpayer support could erode their independence.

That's the case for Chamber East, which serves business communities in Midvale, Cottonwood Heights, Sugar House and Millcreek Township. The association has survived -- and thrived -- for more than two decades with nominal government funding.

It wasn't always that way. Midvale once subsidized the organization. But the chamber became too dependent on public funding, leading officials to wipe out the contribution.

"What we found was the only money that was going into the chamber was what the city was putting in," Midvale Mayor JoAnn Seghini says. "We felt, at that time, to have an effective chamber, it certainly should be at least a shared expense with the city and not totally supported by the city."

Today, the chamber has 400 members and 2.5 full-time staffers.

"It had to be sustainable by the business owners, which gives businesses a stronger voice," Chamber President and CEO Marie Marshall says. "We're completely independent."

Blurring the public-private divide » The Utah Taxpayers Association worries that chamber independence is being sacrificed in places such as Draper and West Jordan, which rely on government funds for 35 percent and 26 percent of their budgets, respectively.

How can the business community speak out against a government-supported tax increase, Taxpayer's Association Vice President Royce Van Tassell asks, if it has to fret about losing a deep-pocketed contributor?

"We have always been an independent voice," insists Craig Dearing, president and CEO of the West Jordan Chamber. He says government funding never has factored into his chamber's policy positions. The city is like any other member, he says, "we have to agree to disagree."

So where should government draw that fuzzy line between public funds and private enterprise?

Jack Brittain, dean of the University of Utah's business school, says government's interest in promoting economic development and bolstering small business can work in tandem with chambers of commerce. But he suggests a clear delineation of duties and transparency about how taxpayer funds are spent.

"These could be highly symbiotic relationships," he says, "where the chamber benefits from the city's support and the city benefits from chamber support."

Business Councils

Spanning over 85 square miles, Riverside is a large and diverse city. Because of the size of our greater Riverside community, the Chamber realized we can better serve our community by having six Area Business Councils. Allowing members to work on issues within their own geographic area of the city.

About Area Business Councils

A Business Council is a volunteer organization, comprised of Chamber members and located in a specific geographical area, which provides a channel for its members to be involved in solving problems, discussing issues, and implementing special projects and events for the benefit of the area being served.

Benefit for Chamber members participating in a Area Business Councils

Participation can maximize the existing benefits derived from Chamber membership. It offers members the opportunity to prioritize and bring a focus to the business needs of the area, and to take community leadership roles in addressing these needs. It can increase members' business network within the geographical area, and provide stronger representation on area issues. Also, since area councils exist in smaller geographical areas, participation provides an opportunity for area-specific networking with others doing business in the same part of town. There is no additional charge to participate in an Area Business Council. This benefit is included in your Chamber membership.

Area Business Council's relationship to the Chamber

Each council operates with a board of directors whose chair serves on the Chamber's Greater Board of Directors, the policy decision-making body of the Chamber. These representatives keep the Board aware of the councils' action and progress.

The Chamber provides a staff liaison to assist the councils with the development of special events and programs, production and mailing of council correspondence and coordination of all board and committee meetings. The councils, through their liaison, can draw on Chamber resources, such as the communications staff, for the production of needed printed materials or the development of press releases. The council liaison works closely with the councils in the development of their operating guidelines, plans of action and annual budgets. The councils are fiscally responsible to the Chamber.

Chamber Supports Economic Development Rates for New Businesses

With a unanimous vote by the Riverside Public Utilities Board (RPU) and support from the Chamber, the Riverside City Council will consider expanding an economic development rate on electricity to attract new businesses to the community and create more local jobs. The Council will also consider expanding a similar incentivized rate structure to retain local businesses and keep them within the community. With the economic development/business retention rates already in place for very large businesses, this expansion will now include medium to large businesses based on their power usage. With the City's own public utility, the ability to offer attractive utility rates is an effective tool to draw new businesses and help local businesses that have remained in the community.

The Chamber has supported efforts to retain local businesses and attract new businesses to the area by backing the Temporary Economic Development (TED) Rate on electricity.

At a recent Economic Development Council meeting, RPU General Manager, Dave Wright, met with members to explain the benefits of the newly proposed Temporary Economic Development Rate (TED). Wright believes that implementing TED would help to spur economic growth and give those businesses looking to relocate even more reason to come to Riverside. The rate would be available to new businesses within RPU territory that have a projected monthly demand of at least 20 kilowatts (kW) and would offer electric rate reductions of 30 percent through December 2013, 20 percent through December 2014 and 10 percent through December 2015. Approximately 40 to 50 new businesses are expected to qualify each year.

Business, Transportation Secretary Unveils New Developments, Focus for CA Infrastructure

November 13, 2012

Discussion focused on reforming the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and funding for more infrastructure projects as Chamber members exchanged ideas and priorities with Acting Secretary Brian Kelly of the Business, Transportation and Housing Agency at the Chamber's 2012 Legislative Summit. Secretary Kelly announced several expected changes to restructure economic development and transportation that will provide better, more effective services to Californians.

In a roundtable prior to the Summit, the Chamber urged the Secretary to push for greater reforms to CEQA's environmental review process and expediting the delivery of critical infrastructure projects to the region. The discussion also centered on how to continue progress in transportation now that fewer funds exist from Proposition 1B, an approximately $20 billion bond approved by voters in 2006 that has greatly improved congestion relief, goods movement, air quality, and the safety and security of the transportation system.

After the roundtable, Chamber Chairman Brian Hawley of Luminex Software, Inc., stressed, "With Inland Southern California's explosive population growth, the region needs more infrastructure. We are not just talking about more jobs through construction, but faster transportation corridors will mean greater opportunities for businesses to move goods, expand services, and reach new markets."

Secretary Kelly stated in his address at the Summit that as of July 1, 2013, the Business, Transportation and Housing Agency will be broken down in specific agencies in order to focus the broad scope of its current objectives. In particular, the new California Transportation Agency, led by a cabinet-level secretary, has the potential to focus on and develop long-term solutions to the state's funding shortfall for its transportation system. This shift is part of Governor Jerry Brown's Reorganization Plan, which aims to streamline state governance and service delivery to California residents.

Secretary Kelly stated that the agency would refocus its activities towards the specific goals for transportation and infrastructure development rather than the myriad of responsibilities it currently has. Kelly noted, "We will focus on our areas of expertise and then be able to deliver projects faster and more efficiently."

In addition, the Reorganization Plan proposes to relocate the California Small Business Development Centers, Infrastructure and Economic Development Bank, the California Film Commission, the Office of Tourism and the Small Business Guarantee Loan Program from the Business, Transportation & Housing Agency into the Governor's Office of Business and Economic Development (GO-Biz).

Fighter Wing to Stay at March, Chamber Supports Continued RPA Deployment

tags: Advocacy, March Air Reserve Base, Military, US Congress

With greater discussion of military cuts and force downsizing in the near future, the Chamber continues to support the unit deployments and active missions at March Air Reserve Base (MARB) and the Naval Surface Warfare Center in Norco and the hundreds of millions of dollars that these facilities bring to the region.

The 144th Fighter Wing will continue its mission at MARB, soon to be equipped with F-15 Eagle fighter jets. Inset: The MQ-9 Reaper (pictured) will soon replace the MQ-1 Predator in combat and training missions.

144th Fighter Wing

The Chamber applauded the recent decision by the Department of Defense to maintain the assignment of the California Air National Guard's 144th Fighter Wing to Fresno Air National Guard Base and March Air Reserve Base. With the support from Senators Dianne Feinstein and Barbara Boxer, the decision also moves one step closer to the successful transition to the F-15 Eagle fighter jets from the F-16 Fighting Falcon aircraft that are currently stationed at both bases. The decision to keep active missions located at March ARB highlights the base's importance to national defense in possible discussions of military cuts. The 144th Fighter Wing responds to emergency and security calls, including international smuggling, from the Mexican border to Oregon. According to the Department of Defense, the F-15s' radar systems are better suited to the mission.

While the Department of Defense is beginning the transition of remotely piloted aircraft (RPA) from the General Atomics MQ-1 Predator to the General Atomics MQ-9 Reaper for training and combat missions, the Chamber supports the assignment of the MQ-9 Reaper to the 163rd Reconnaissance Wing at MARB. The Department of Defense projects to continue to use the MQ-1 Predator until 2017. The equipping of the 163rd RW with the MQ-9 Reaper will ensure that the five-year buildup of the unit's training component as well as the funds spent for the development of training and operational facilities will not be wasted.

Under its current mission, the 163rd RW executes combat patrol missions for deployments of the Air National Guard overseas, including recent operations in Iraq and Afghanistan. The 163rd RW has also trained over 160 Predator aircrews in the United States Air Force.

Chamber Supports Business Relief from Disability Access Lawsuits

April 3, 2012

tags: Disability Access, Legislation, Litigation, Sacramento

(<http://riversidechamber.files.wordpress.com/2012/04/grb-april-2012-ada-litigation-photo2.jpg>)

New Chamber-supported legislation would allow businesses to correct special access violations before heading to court.

Responding to concerns from the local business community, the Chamber supported legislation by Senator Bob Dutton that would provide businesses an opportunity to correct violations of noncompliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act before falling victim to frivolous and predatory litigation.

Businesses large and small across the state are reporting instances of receiving letters from attorneys representing disabled clients that are threatening to file litigation for alleged noncompliance violations to provide disability access. These letters often immediately demand payment to settle the dispute, without any follow-up concern for correcting the violation or whether there was even a violation. Furthermore, they require the business to sign a non-disclosure agreement to stop them from warning other establishments from being similarly victimized. Many of these small businesses are making tough decisions to stay afloat and this practice immediately and sometimes irrecoverably impacts their bottom line and their ability to stay in business.

This bill would establish notice requirements for an alleged aggrieved party to follow before bringing a lawsuit against a business for failing to provide disability access. The bill would also allow the business to respond within 30 days with a plan to fix the violation or with a rebuttal to the allegations. If the business elects to fix the alleged violation, the bill would provide 90 days for the completion for the improvements.

While the Chamber understands the necessity for equal access and appropriate accommodation for those with a disability, this practice demonstrates that in trying to protect one vulnerable party, another has unnecessarily become imperiled. Whether it is greater clarification or informational resources on disability access or a notification process to allow businesses to correct violations before being subject to litigation, the Chamber believes that a bipartisan solution is critical to protect well-intentioned businesses from falling victim to predatory actions.

Chamber Urges USPS to Keep Mail Center, Project Local Jobs

The closure USPS facilities across the country, like the San Bernardino Processing and Distribution Center, would eliminate jobs and increase delays in local postage.

The Chamber advised Congress and the United States Postal Service to keep the San Bernardino Mail Processing and Distribution Center in Redlands open amidst a series potential closures announced by the postal service in late 2011. More than 750 positions at the center employ residents across Inland Southern California and the closure of the center would result in mail from Riverside and San Bernardino Counties traveling to Los Angeles, Orange, or San Diego Counties before proceeding to their intended destinations.

With an increasing focus on tightening government budgets, the Chamber understands the need to modernize the postal system in a world of electronic communication. However, the decisions of where and how to make these reductions should be weighed against the potential economic impacts of eliminating jobs in the service as well as the effect of time delays that rerouting the distribution will have on each facility's service area.

Among the list of endangered facilities, noticeably absent were four locations in Los Angeles and two locations in Santa Ana and Anaheim that are only 18 miles apart. If the San Bernardino Center were shuttered, mail from Riverside and San Bernardino Counties would conceivably be directed to Los Angeles, Orange County or San Diego, even if the final destination is back in Inland Southern California.

As Sharon Tyrrell of Capree Escrow, Inc. notes, the impact of this redirect would immediately impact local businesses, "We are seeing a slowdown in our mail now, with some packages taking six business days to arrive in a fairly local area. Using overnight services causes the cost for me and my clients to rise, but in many cases we have no choice." Especially, in particular industries, advances in technology do not alleviate the situation as original signature documents are still required and cannot be done via e-sign.

In response to several legislative requests, the U.S. Postal Service agreed to delay the closing or consolidation of any mail processing facility until May 15, 2012, after opportunities for public input.

Chamber Insists Local Control Vital for ONT International Airport

February 3, 2012

tags: Advocacy, Air Quality, Governance, Local Control, ONT Airport, Transportation/Infrastructure

Higher rates and fewer flights have driven millions of travelers from Ontario to Los Angeles and other regional airports, resulting in large losses to the region's economy.

With a unanimous vote by its Board of Directors, the Chamber joined a broad coalition of stakeholders to urge Los Angeles World Airports (LAWA) to cede control and management of Ontario International Airport (ONT) to a local agency based in Inland Southern California. As the region's most accessible international airport and a critical asset to the region's economy, ONT has seen lower passenger traffic as airlines are forced to charge higher rates or cut flights, driving passengers to Los Angeles International Airport (LAX).

Since August 2007, the number of flights available at the Ontario International Airport has dropped 47 percent and the number of destinations available to fly into has been cut by nearly 60%. The airport has seen travel drop by a third over the past four years, to less than 5 million passengers annually – a level last seen in 1988 – but fares for flights that remain are at prices well higher at than other Southern California airports.

The reduction of flights has also resulted in an upward cost spiral for airlines serving Ontario as more of the airport's fixed-costs for operations have to be spread across fewer and fewer flights. Airline fees at Ontario last year averaged $14.50 per passenger, about seven times the fees at Burbank, twice those at Long Beach, 45% more than Orange County and 31% higher than LAX's $11 fee. Despite efforts to trim the fee, the airport remains far more expensive than others in Southern California, and it continues to be burdened by an annual administration fee from LAWA of approximately $9 million.

While both the Los Angeles and Inland economies have been struggling for these past three years, airline flights through Los Angeles International Airport have been climbing steadily, while flights through Ontario have been collapsing in a descent outpacing the struggling economy. Under current management by LAWA, it is estimated that the local regional economy has lost approximately 8,000 airport-related jobs and $400 million in yearly business activity.

Despite the tough economy, aviation industry experts estimate that 2 million passengers a year are being forced to drive to Los Angeles or other regional airports to get the flights, connections and/or fares they need but no longer have access to at ONT. It is further estimated that this diversion of business results in as many as 1 million car trips to LAX or other regional airports, which means more traffic congestion and air pollution in Southern California.

The Chamber will continue to advocate for the establishment of local control of ONT to revive the regional airport as an effective tool for business, travel, and accessibility for Inland Southern California.

Chamber to Analyze Effects of Redrawing City Wards

January 5, 2012

tags: Advocacy, Governance, Redistricting, Riverside City Council

Fresh off the recent run-off election for Ward 7 this past November, the Riverside City Council will soon begin redrawing their ward boundaries to reflect the growth in the City of Riverside and shifts in population among the seven wards. The resulting changes will likely have lasting impacts on future municipal governance in the City and ensure that representation reflects the growth of residents and businesses in the community. The Chamber will monitor the process to ensure that the business community is well-represented in any changes to the ward boundaries.

With significant growth in the City of Riverside since the 2000 Census, the City Council will soon begin reshaping ward boundaries to ensure that each ward contains a substantially equal number of residents.

The Riverside City Charter provides that the boundaries of wards shall be reviewed at least every ten years after the completion of the federal census and that the boundaries of each ward shall contain a substantially equal number of residents. The Riverside City Charter states that the boundaries of each ward shall include a substantially equal number of residents and new boundaries cannot effectively cut a Councilmember out of their ward during their elected term. According to the 2010 Census, the population of the City of Riverside is 303,864 residents, demonstrating a marked growth from the 2000 census total of 255,166. Therefore, under optimal conditions, each city ward should contain 43,409 residents.

Following the redistricting process undertaken in 2002, the City Council adopted a set of criteria for developing new boundaries including: 1) equalizing the population count in each ward within 10%; 2) achieving within 5% from optimal population per ward; 3) complying with all applicable laws; 4) avoiding disqualification of City Councilmembers during a term; 5) maintaining continuity of existing wards to the extent possible; 6) drawing wards that are compact and contiguous; 7) using natural geographic boundaries to the extent possible; 8) maintaining cohesive neighborhoods and community interests to the extent possible; 9) considering school districts and avoiding division to the extent possible; and 10) maintaining income diversity within wards to the extent possible.

The City Council's Governmental Affairs Committee will begin public meetings and deliberations of alternatives in March 2012 with the intention of introducing and adopting an ordinance to amend ward boundaries in June 2012.

Chamber Advocacy, Regional Coalition Yield $20 Million for 91 Freeway

January 3, 2012

tags: 91 Freeway, Advocacy, RCTC, TIFIA, Transportation/Infrastructure

A $20 million federal grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation will contribute towards the financing of the SR-91 Corridor Improvement Project, as part of an effort to reduce congestion on one of the most heavily traveled routes in Southern California.

The United States Department of Transportation awarded $20 million in federal funds to contribute towards the financing of corridor improvements along the 91 freeway, creating thousands of jobs in inland Southern California. This announcement is only a recent success as part of the ongoing process to ensure that the federal government provides the necessary financing the fund the entire $1.3 billion project.

With the strong support and collaboration between the Chamber, the Monday Morning Group, and several federal legislators, the Riverside County Transportation Commission (RCTC) was awarded the grant via the Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery (TIGER) program, a part of the Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act (TIFIA), for the State Route 91 Corridor Improvement Project.

The selection process was highly competitive due to an enormous need for improving infrastructure and goods movement across the nation coupled with a shortage of funding for transportation at the federal level. "This would not have been possible and this project would not have had this success to date but for the continued support of Senators Dianne Feinstein (CA) and Barbara Boxer (CA) as well as Representatives Ken Calvert (CA-44), Jerry Lewis (CA-41), Mary Bono Mack (CA-45), and Gary Miller (CA-42)," said Cindy Roth, Chamber President and CEO.

A recent study by Beacon Economics indicates that the net economic and time savings benefit of the project will exceed $3.2 billion and create as many as 16,000 jobs during the five-year time-span of construction. The overall length of construction will be considerably shortened through the use of design-build contracting, approved specifically for this project by state legislation. Other estimates, which included service jobs created by the road workers spending money, said the work could bring about 16,000 jobs between now and 2017.

The SR-91 project focuses on reducing congestion on one of the most heavily traveled freeways in Southern California by extending the 91 Express Lanes into Riverside County, adding a new lane in each direction of the SR-91, rebuilding seven interchanges, making needed street and access improvements in the city of Corona, and constructing a number of auxiliary lanes at key locations to ease access on and off the freeway. The toll lanes will also enable RCTC to work with the Riverside Transit Agency to expand express bus service along the corridor.

Nevertheless, this grant will leverage part of a $445 million TIFIA loan needed from the U.S. Treasury to finance the SR-91 project (one-third of the project's cost). Though the $20 million does not provide all the federal backing that RCTC needs for the $1.3 billion freeway widening, the grant is encouraging, said Anne Mayer, RCTC Executive Director of the Riverside County Transportation Commission. The Chamber and other community groups will continue to advocate for the necessary financing to ensure that this project begins and finishes construction on time.

Infrastructure

As Riverside seeks to redefine its economic efforts to compete effectively for the future, we must continue to improve our infrastructure, particularly in the areas of energy, water, transportation, and technology. These systems provide the foundation for accelerated business growth, increased capital, job creation, investment, and an improved quality of life. Worthy improvements require smart investment, sound management, and a creative partnership between the public and private sectors. As government budgets continue to shrink, spending priorities will become more difficult to identify. The business community must emphasize the importance of continued infrastructure investment. This emphasis should be accomplished through active participation and input from the business community to ensure rational policy-making decisions. The business community must also remain vigilant to ensure that new legislation and regulations do not hinder infrastructure development and the economic development and job creation that it brings.

Transportation

The Chamber Supports:

- Advocating for expanded regional transportation facilities, projects and funding.
- Promoting fairness and competition for transportation infrastructure funding opportunities based on largest demonstrated need and impact. While this type of criteria is needed for all kinds of projects, it is especially important in evaluating goods movement projects due to the extraordinary impact and stress that international trade places on local transportation systems.
- Engaging the Chamber membership and leadership in policy discussions with local, state and federal representatives as it pertains to options for public/private partnerships and alternate funding for infrastructure improvements.
- The development of alternative transportation solutions as well as innovative means of delivering projects including design-build contracting and expediting of required environmental review processes.
- Reauthorization of the Federal Surface Transportation Act and support our congressional delegation to ensure that California receives its fair share of federal transportation dollars. This should include expanded funding of the Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act (TIFIA) program.

- Facilitating regional support for increased funding for grade separations and additional projects that mitigate the impact of goods movement, such as securing state and federal funds and ensuring that goods movement investment is included in a new transportation reauthorization bill.
- Legislation, tax credits and incentives that promote more efficient goods movement on highways and rail lines in and out of the ports of Los Angeles and Long Beach and the Alameda Corridor East.
- Create business-friendly port policies that restore port trade volumes to previous levels and incentivize economic growth and job creation.
- Utilizing local sources of aggregate and construction materials in order to make projects more cost-effective.
- Toll roads as additional funding sources for transportation improvements.

Water

The Chamber Supports:

- Measures that increase water supply and storage facilities within the region and allow for economically feasible water transfers that benefit the region.
- Modernizing the Endangered Species Act to allow the development of water infrastructure, water supply conveyance and storage, and water quality projects while protecting the ecosystem.
- Measures to educate and encourage businesses on reducing usage and increasing efficiency and/or effectiveness of water conservation efforts, including the use of recycled water.
- Measures that mitigate emerging constituents so as not to adversely impact water quality and supply.

Energy

The Chamber Supports:

- State and federal regulations that will preserve the ratemaking authority of publicly owned utilities.
- Measures that promote additional transmission capacity and greater participation in the statewide grid improvement system.
- Support local control by allowing municipalities flexibility to proactively implement programs and policies that best suit the community.
- Development and implementation of new technologies and infrastructure that allow public utilities to advance energy efficiency, sustainable energy projects and alternative fuels programs.

Should Taxpayer Money Be Used to Fund Local Chambers?

By Raymund Flandez

Local governments' subsidies for area Chambers of Commerce, which help small businesses with various services, are getting more scrutiny from local officials, with some cutting them back, according to a report over the weekend by the Salt Lake Tribune.

The article asks whether Chambers of Commerce deserve taxpayer money, and what role should public entities play in supporting organizations whose purpose is to advance private-business interests.

In Utah, many are expressing frustration with the cushy deals Chambers of Commerce are getting from cities. The South Salt Lake Chamber, for example, receives $50,000 a year from the city, plus free office space. "Obscene is the word for it," says former Mayor Wes Losser, who points out that entrepreneurs, not taxpayers, should support the business association. In his role, he penciled in a zero in his budget for the Chamber every year. Other cities in Utah also are getting 35,000 to $60,000 per year in funding.

Chamber supporters say that these government payments help support economic development and sustain area businesses in a tight economy. Chamber initiatives encompass such efforts as supplying training for small businesses, publishing business directories, sponsoring community events and serving as the welcome mat for new businesses. "If we're able to help the businesses become stronger and stay here and be profitable, it will ultimately mean more revenue to the city," Stacey Liddiard, president and chief executive of the South Salt Lake Chamber, told the Tribune.

Other Chambers are being responsive about taxpayer funding. In South Jordan, Utah, the chamber said that it will no longer seek a city subsidy; instead, the group is offering a fee-for-service contract to help local businesses. Before the change, taxpayers provided 44% of the chamber's budget. "We don't want a subsidy," says Paul Pugmire, acting president of the South Jordan chamber, told the Tribune, as part of the chamber's plan to be self-sustaining.

No matter how small a business may seem to be, there are many things to take into consideration and the Chamber may also be able to give you their opinion about how successful your business has the potential to be. Moreno Valley's new mayor said he wants residents' help in improving the city, intends to attract more jobs and affordable housing, and hopes to increase safety and improve education in the city.

Councilman Tom Owings, who was elected in November, was sworn in as Moreno Valley's mayor on Wednesday, Jan. 2. He replaces Councilman Richard Stewart, who nominated Owings for the position. Councilman Marcelo Co is mayor pro tem.

Owings and Co were appointed by their colleagues last month. Moreno Valley does not hold mayoral elections.

Dozens of people, including elected officials, school board and county agency leaders, business owners and developers, and residents watched as Owings and Co took their oaths from City Clerk Jane Halstead. Councilman Jesse Molina was absent.

In his speech, Owings said one of his biggest priorities will be Moreno Valley's budget. The city has been under a deficit reduction plan to cut spending.

"My focus will be to bring the city budget into structural balance," Owings said.

He said city staff will be expected to give detailed reports during council meetings about budget setbacks and their implications.

Owings urged Moreno Valley residents and employees to identify ways to improve the city. He said he wants the city's factions to unite to improve its quality of life.

"We no longer can afford to be dominated by our outdated hostilities," Owings said. "If our business community and our environmental community concentrate on defeating each other instead of on restoring our economy, everyone will lose."

Stewart and Councilwoman Victoria Baca said they would support Owings and Co, vowing to work with them to bring jobs to the city.

Co said he hopes the council will work with the Val Verde and Moreno Valley Unified school districts to im-

Tom Owings Tops Fundraising In 3rd City Council District Campaign

Owings Gains Competitive Edge Early in General Election Effort

(Moreno Valley, CA) –Moreno Valley City Council Candidate Tom Owings gained the competitive edge in his race when campaign finance reports were made public last week. Owings had 4 times as much cash on hand than his opponent, Robin Hastings, as of June 30, 2012. Owings advantage over Hastings is even more impressive when you consider the fact that Hastings is still paying off $25,500 of outstanding debt left over from her 2008 campaign.

“The voters are looking for someone with real world experience who will go to City Hall, exert principled leadership and get something done. I am honored by the overwhelming support our campaign has received,” said small business owner and 3rd District candidate Tom Owings.

“The bottom line for every campaign is the ability to raise money and deliver a message to the voters,” said Dave Slawson, Tom Owings for City Council 2012 Steering Committee Chairperson. “Owings has led a successful campaign every step of the way.” Slawson went on to say, “Tom and his dog Shiloh have already visited over 5000 District homes, erected over 100 4x8 outdoor signs throughout the District, established a grassroots network of over 100 volunteers and out fundraised all of his opponents combined by a factor of four.”

Owings has over 35 years of local business experience, is a member of the American Legion and has three children and 14 grandchildren.

Lawyer wants city charter established

MORENO VALLEY: He supports a strong-mayor form of government over the current system.

10:00 PM PDT on Friday, August 11, 2006

By DAN LEE
The Press-Enterprise

A Moreno Valley lawyer is starting a campaign to create a city charter that he hopes would institute a "strong mayor" form of government.

Michael Geller said he believes Moreno Valley's current form of city government is obsolete and unresponsive. It may have worked when the city had 30,000 residents, but Moreno Valley's population is expected to reach 300,000 eventually, he said.

The lack of an adequate public library is one example Geller has for why the current system doesn't work. City officials closed Moreno Valley's only public library last fall after mold was discovered growing under the carpet, and officials have been able to offer only a small storefront library, primarily for children.

"It's intolerable. It's inexcusable that a city this size has no libraries," Geller said by phone. "There are no great cities that don't have great libraries."

California has two types of cities: general-law cities and charter cities. General-law cities operate within the parameters of California municipal law, while other cities adopt charters or constitutions that tailor their government to local needs, according to the League of California Cities.

"A charter city can do whatever is stipulated in the charter," said Steve Frates, a senior fellow at the Rose Institute for State and Local Government at Claremont McKenna College.

For example, council candidates in general-law cities must be registered to vote, be at least 18 years old and have lived in the city for 29 days, according to the provisions of state law. But charter cities can establish their own criteria for candidates as long as they do not discriminate or violate constitutional rights.

Of California's 478 cities, 108 are governed under a charter, including the Inland communities of Big Bear Lake, Desert Hot Springs, Loma

General-Law Cities vs. Charter Cities

Here are some differences between general-law cities and charter cities:

General-law cities operate within the parameters of California municipal law, which has the advantage of having been tested in court over the years. Charter cities can custom-tailor city government to meet local needs, but charter provisions may not have been tested in court.

Council members' salaries in general-law cities have a ceiling set by city population, unless voters approve a higher salary. Charter cities can set their own salaries.

General-law cities must comply with competitive bidding for contracts and pay prevailing wage on public-works projects. Charter cities do not have to comply with either.

Charter cities can provide public financing for local elections. General-law cities cannot.

Source: League of California Cities

Linda, Norco, Palm Desert, Palm Springs, Rancho Mirage, Riverside and San Bernardino, according to the League of California Cities.

Geller, who also serves on the city Planning Commission, has established a campaign finance committee to support the charter effort. He said he will need signatures from 20 percent of Moreno Valley voters to put a measure on the ballot calling for the creation of a 15-member charter commission.

The commissioners would draft a charter. Once a majority of the commissioners agree on the provisions, Moreno Valley voters would get a chance to approve or reject the proposed charter, Geller said.

Geller said he already thought of provisions he would like to include in the charter: namely, that Moreno Valley would have a "strong mayor" system where the mayor is elected and works full-time as the chief executive of city government, with hiring and firing power.

Moreno Valley has a "council-manager" form of government: the City Council establishes policies and lets the city manager, a full-time professional, carry out those policies.

The mayor is not directly elected in Moreno Valley. His job is a position that is rotated among the council members, who are elected from five districts.

Frates said the council-manager form of government grew out of the Progressive movement in the early 20th century to bring efficiency and professional expertise to city government. It was a reaction to the corruption and excesses found in city governments during the 19th century, he said.

Most California cities use the council-manager system, Frates said. A few large cities, such as Los Angeles and San Francisco, give more power to their mayors, but not to the degree of other cities like Chicago or New York City, he said.

"The council-manager form of government has been very good in California and in the United States generally," Frates said.

Efforts to create a strong-mayor system are usually driven by someone's desires for a political career, he said.

Geller is a law partner with City Councilman Richard Stewart. He has served in the past as the campaign finance treasurer for Mayor Bonnie Flickinger and Councilman Bill Batey. He also was the treasurer for the successful campaigns two years ago to save the utility tax and defeat a ballot measure for regulating the city's new utility company.

Geller applied for the job of city manager last year, after Gene Rogers announced his plans to retire, even though Geller had no professional experience in city management. The council decided not to consider Geller for the job because Stewart would not have been able to participate in interviewing applicants as long as Geller was a candidate. Otherwise, it could have created a conflict of interest.

But Geller said his interest in a charter preceded being turned down for the city manager's job. He said he has no interest in becoming mayor, nor does he have someone in mind.

"Hopefully, someone will come forward when the time is appropriate," he said.

Charter cities, such as San Francisco, have shown that they can operate with strong mayors without corruption, Geller added.

Flickinger said she thought Moreno Valley was ready to decide on whether to directly elect a mayor, but not for a strong-mayor system yet.

As far as the city efforts regarding the library, Flickinger said the council has put the issue on the front burner, but coming up with funding is the key issue.

"If Michael has a better idea," she said by phone, "I'd like to hear it."

Of California's 478 cities, 120 of them are charter cities, including Newport Beach, Irvine, and Huntington Beach.

The idea for Costa Mesa to become a charter city was first presented at a City Council meeting in November of 2011.

Per state law, the City is required to hold two public hearings and one public meeting (June 5, July 10 and July 31) on the proposed charter over a two-month period.

The draft of the charter will be the subject of the July 10 public hearing, which will be at 7 p.m. in the City Council Chambers (77 Fair Drive).

The voters. A proposed charter must appear on the ballot and be approved by the majority of participating Costa Mesa voters. Any changes to the charter must also be approved by the majority of participating Costa Mesa voters.

Cities that have not adopted a charter are general law cities. General law cities are bound by the state's general law, even with respect to municipal affairs.

Over the past 40 years, very few, if any, California cities have used an elected 15-member commission to draft a charter. The standard practice has been to draft a charter through the City Council. Sometimes this is done with the help of a council-appointed committee.

No. Unless an ordinance or policy is in conflict with a charter provision, all Costa Mesa ordinances and policies will remain in effect. As proposed, the Costa Mesa charter does not require the City to pay prevailing, or union, wages on projects that rely only on local funds. Any increase in employee pension benefits, outside of cost of living adjustments, must be approved by the majority of Costa Mesa voters.

Public employee association dues cannot be automatically deducted from city employee paychecks if that money will be used for political activities. The City Council would have to go through the same set of procedures as any general law city and as Costa Mesa has done for the past 59 years.

Many California charters contain similar language because the provisions have survived legal challenges to their validity. Costa Mesa's proposed charter uses that familiar language because it is legally tested, and has worked well for other charter cities.

These decisions include, but are not limited to, municipal election matters, land use and zoning decisions (with some exceptions), how a city spends its tax dollars, and municipal contracts (e.g. prevailing wage can be waived). Examples of matters of statewide concern that cannot be regulated by charter cities include traffic and vehicle regulations; tort claims against a governmental agency; conflict of interest requirements found under the Political Reform Act, Government Code Section 1090, and FPPC Regulations; and regulation of school systems.

Charter cities, such as Newport Beach, Huntington Beach, and Irvine, are bound by the U.S. Constitution, federal laws, the state Constitution, the city's charter, and state laws that regulate matters of statewide

If placed on the Nov. 6, 2012 ballot, there will be more than three months of discussion and debate on whether to approve the proposed Costa Mesa charter.

Without having to pay prevailing wage, the City estimated it would have saved $1.8 million on the recent $20 million expansion and renovation of the Police Department.

Candidates running for Moreno Valley School Board and City Council on Friday, Oct. 19, gathered for a forum held by a Moreno Valley residents' group.

About 50 people gathered to hear candidates discuss issues and explain why they are running. The forum was held by Concerned Citizens of Moreno Valley.

Incumbent Moreno Valley School Board member Rick Sayre, running for his fourth term, and candidate Robert Patrick Alexander, a PTA member, discussed what the district needs to do to make students more successful. Incumbent school board member Tracey Vackar and candidate Denise Fleming did not attend.

Sayre, 59, a retired Riverside County Sheriff's Department undersheriff, said Moreno Valley Unified School District students graduate, go to college and become successful. However, he said some students aren't getting basic skills that they need and parents need to become more involved in their children's education. Sayre also said he'd like to see families become more spiritually-based.

"There are a certain number of kids who are not ready to complete high school," he said, adding that those students are holding back others. "You have to have basic skills. We have to reinforce that. We need to focus on getting kids ready to go to work."

Sayre said he's running because he wants to ensure the district remains fiscally sound and see students graduate.

"We certainly have not ignored academic achievement," he said. "The benefit I get is looking in the face of parents and children and trying to make (Moreno Valley) a better place."

Alexander repeatedly said that he thinks students would be more successful if the school district partnered with businesses and community colleges to offer job experience and internships. He said the school board needs to be more engaged with schools, teachers and students.

He said he's running because he wants to see the school district thrive.

Moreno Valley City Council District 1 candidates Dan Galarza and Daryl Terrell and District 3 incumbent city councilwoman Robin Hastings and her opponent also talked about their reasons for running. Incumbent District 1 city councilman Jesse Molina and District 3 challenger and city planning commissioner Tom Owings did not participate.

Topics mirrored those discussed at another candidate forum held earlier in the week. They included the salary and benefits of City Manager Henry Garcia, job creation, warehouses, a new library and helping small business. Almost all the candidates agreed that Garcia's estimated $400,000 salary and benefits were excessive and unaffordable, including Hastings who voted against his contract.

She said Garcia has brought the city about 1,000 jobs a year since he was hired.

"I don't think that's worth $400,000," said Hastings, 59, who was elected to City Council in 2008. She is chief of staff to Riverside County Supervisor Marion Ashley. "It's indefensible."

She said she doesn't support warehousing and doesn't believe it's the best use for the land east of Redlands Boulevard.

Hastings said she wants the city to focus on Moreno Valley's medical corridor near Kaiser Permanente's Moreno Valley Medical Clinic and Riverside County Regional Medical Center. Combined, the hospitals have $2 billion in infrastructure, she said. The city is spending $75 million to improve roads to get to the hospitals.

"We need to put all of our focus on health care," Hastings said. "We've already got what a lot of communities want."

She said a new medical building being constructed near Kaiser is to bring more than 100 jobs.

Ketcham, 40, a real estate agent, disagreed with Hastings' job estimate and said residents are tired of hearing job promises.

"We were promised 2,500 that didn't come," he said in reference to the Skechers warehouse. "We need to focus on small businesses."

Terrell, 43, works at Target and Lowe's. He said he's running because he said he's tired of city officials and developers using Moreno Valley for their own interests.

"They are using this city as their personal ATM," he said as the crowd applauded. "We can't afford four more years."

He said the city can't rely on developers' jobs promises to lead to prosperity.

Galarza reiterated an idea he mentioned earlier in the week about the city creating sports tournaments that would raise sales tax revenue by filling hotels and restaurants. He also said that he thinks the city could do a better job luring business by offering credits for alternative power, such a solar.

Galarza, 50, a small businessman and electrical contractor, said the city should include all kinds of business, not just warehouses. He said Highway 60 doesn't support warehousing because it's not big enough.

After nearly $1 billion in cuts since 2008, state funding is at the same level it was in 1997, when there were 75,000 fewer students. Tuition increases have accounted for only 38 percent of the budget gap resulting from state funding cuts during the past five years. The bulk of “spending” increases you cited went to financial aid.

UC leadership has shown its support for a medical school at UCR in many ways, including a line of credit and the request that the state support the school with $15 million.

Over the past five years, the university has protected the quality of a UC education and ensured access to students from families of low and moderate income through layoffs, furloughs, hiring freezes, program cuts, increased systemwide efficiencies and, yes, tuition increases.

Protect city’s air quality

I thank the South Coast Air Quality Management District for its ongoing effort on warehouse projects to protect the health of Moreno Valley residents as well as that of others in the region. I also thank your newspaper for the editorial on AQMD’s concerns (“Restrict air pollution from Moreno Valley warehouses,” Our Views, Jan. 6).

Moreno Valley’s leadership only gives excuses for not implementing more of AQMD’s recommendations. Thus, groups such as the Sierra Club must use litigation and settlement agreements so these warehouse/logistics centers make their projects less harmful to the health of the area’s people.

In December, the Environmental Protection Agency came out with new pollution standards for deadly soot, of which truck diesel is our area's main source ("Tougher pollution standard set for deadly soot," Dec. 14). Almost 5,000 people in Southern California die prematurely because of these pollutants.

Children and the elderly are especially impacted by pollution effects, including asthma and strokes, according to the California Air Resources Board.

Metrolink extension in hands of judge

Sides debate the environmental impact of adding 24 miles of track and four stations between Riverside and Perris

BY PETER SUROWSKI
STAFF WRITER PSUROWSKI@PE.COM

The fate of a project that would extend a Metrolink line from Riverside to Perris is in a judge's hands.

Judge Sharon J. Waters heard arguments on Tuesday, Jan. 29 from both sides in a lawsuit over the environmental impact report for the proposed Perris Valley Line.

The 24-mile extension, planned since at least 2003, would add four stops to Metrolink's network of stations: one in Riverside, one near March Air Reserve Base and two in Perris.

Friends of Riverside's Hills, an environmental action group opposed to the project, filed a suit against the Riverside County Transportation Commission in August 2011 alleging its report fails to describe the noise, traffic and pollution the project would create.

"It just didn't adequately mitigate for the impacts of the project," said Ray W. Johnson, an attorney for the group.

The report underestimates the number of truck trips that will be needed to haul away the soil removed while building the path for the rail, according to Kimberly Foy, an attorney for the group.

Both sides agreed the project will generate 290,685 cubic yards of soil. The report states it will take 30 truck trips running no more than six days a week for fewer than 18 months to haul the dirt to the Badlands Landfill.

Foy said the project will either take more daily truck trips, or it will take more than 18 months.

RCTC's attorneys argued the numbers in the report are "worst-case scenario" approximations, and the project would likely take only 12 months.

"The analysis was very, very, very conservative in that regard," said Charity Schiller, an attorney for the commission.

Friends also argued that the report fails to mitigate for a trail commonly used by pedestrians that runs from Islander Park near UC Riverside to the "Big C" in Box Spring Mountain Reserve park.

The new line would run across the trail, which has been used for decades and is heavily used by college students, said Kevin Dawson, a member of Friends.

"It's a long-time tradition to run from UCR up the mountain to the Big C," he said.

The report does not need to mitigate for the trail because it runs across RCTC property illegally, according to Schiller.

"It would be legitimizing illegal trespassing to say we need to analyze and mitigate this," she said.

Among its other objections, the group said the report inadequately mitigates three types of noise: the squealing noise the wheels make when taking sharp turns, the train's "operational" noise when it comes close to houses and the noise of construction, Foy said.

Friends attorneys also argued the project would destroy habitat of the western spadefoot toads, which is listed as a “sensitive” species in the county.

The judge has 90 days to make a ruling on the case, though she will probably announce a decision within a month, Foy said.

MORENO VALLEY: Police to apply for DUI checkpoint grant

Moreno Valley City Councilwoman Victoria Baca says she thinks sobriety checkpoints violate drivers' constitutional rights.

The Moreno Valley City Council on Tuesday, Jan. 8, agreed to allow the city police department to apply for a sobriety checkpoint grant.

Council members voted 4-1 to approve the grant application. Councilwoman Victoria Baca cast the dissenting vote.

Police Chief Joel Ontiveros urged council members to allow for the application of the estimated $218,000 grant because he said checkpoints curtail drunken driving. He said new laws prevent police from towing and impounding as many drivers' vehicles, which was a reason for checkpoint opposition.

Ontiveros also said checkpoints are being held at later hours to prevent people from being stopped on their way home from work. He also said drivers can avoid checkpoints without being chased if they don't violate the law in doing so.

Council member Victoria Baca said she opposed the grant application because she said she thinks checkpoints violate drivers' constitutional rights.

"The community knows how I feel about checkpoints," Baca said.

In 2010, Baca was convicted of a misdemeanor charge of obstructing police at a drivers' checkpoint.

She said she's not opposed to preventing people from drinking and driving. But she doesn't think it's fair to ask motorists for their "papers" while stopped at checkpoints.

Councilman Richard Stewart said he agreed with Baca's concerns. However, he agreed that checkpoints are useful in preventing drunken driving. He also said that he believes most people in Moreno Valley are licensed and responsible motorists who don't drive impaired.

Mayor Tom Owings said he appreciated the debate on the issue and public comments expressed, but he disagreed with Baca's opinion.

Resident Elena Santa Cruz, who is related to Baca, urged council members to oppose the grant application. She said the police department misuses sobriety checkpoint money because officers look for other violations when they stop motorists.

Santa Cruz said council members should instruct the police department to use sobriety checkpoint money solely to look drunken drivers.

"That's what it's supposed to be used for," she said.

In other business, the council began discussing an east side development strategy that would determine and document the "highest and best use" for undeveloped and underdeveloped land on the city's east side. The city would spend $50,000 to hire a consultant for the project, said Economic and Community development Director Barry Foster.

The proposed area would stretch between Nason and Theodore streets from approximately Hemlock Avenue to around Fir and Eucalyptus avenues. The plan would not include properties that already have been approved and entitled for development, Foster has said.

Officials have said the report would be a detailed guide to future development in that area and would state council-preferred land uses. Residents would get at least one opportunity to comment on the document before it would be brought to the council for approval, they said.

Residents said they think such a plan, if approved, would be developed at city expense and used to circumvent the city's general plan and public input.

ELECTION: 3 for Moreno Valley

A Text Size

THE PRESS-ENTERPRISE | October 24, 2012; 04:02 PM | Comments 0

Moreno Valley needs a City Council that can restore credibility and confidence in the city's government. That task requires candidates who can bring fair, independent decision-making to the council. So Moreno Valley voters should choose Robin Hastings, Dwayne Lewis and Daryl Terrell.

Hastings, in District 3, is a one-term incumbent who has shown a willingness to think independently of a council majority dominated by special-interest influence. Lewis, in District 5, and Terrell, in District 1, lack council experience, but they do understand the need for unbiased city government.

That approach should hold a strong attraction for voters in this city of more than 196,000 residents, with a general fund budget of $77 million. The council in the past term has often seemed to operate as an adjunct of developer Iddo Benzeevi instead of as a panel representing citizens' interests. The developer and his business allies are also large political donors to compliant council candidates.

The council in 2010, for example, gave Benzeevi $85,000 to help pay for street signs renaming the eastern half of the city Rancho Belago — even as the city faced a shortfall amounting to about 20 percent of the general fund budget. The council that year also allowed Benzeevi to take procedural shortcuts to speed up a warehouse project that eventually offered 600 jobs — transferred from within the region — instead of creating 2,500 jobs in Moreno Valley as the developer had promised.

Last year, the council kicked in $75 million to upgrade streets around another Benzeevi project — by redirecting money away from street repairs in other parts of the city. And city officials have been hyping the developer's latest massive warehouse proposal as if it were already approved, before the city has even reviewed any of the potential effects of that development.

Hastings, who works for Riverside County Supervisor Marion Ashley, is a solid choice in District 3. She realizes the city's catering to one interest creates a negative image, and is a strong proponent of impartiality and transparency in council decisions. She favors a more balanced approach to development than just building more warehouses. Hastings also grasps the city's fiscal challenges, and points to spending cuts and employee concessions that have helped bridge the city's budget shortfalls.

Lewis, an aeronautics instructor and retired Marine, brings a focus on creating a better business climate to the open seat in District 5. He is financing his own campaign, and shows a willingness to think and act for himself — qualities now mostly lacking on the council. He supports a broader

MORENO VALLEY: Fees cuts designed to fill vacant stores on agenda

The Moreno Valley City Council on Tuesday, Dec. 11, will consider a proposal to fast-track projects and drop city fees to lure businesses to fill large vacant storefronts left empty by big retailers such as Circuit City and Best Buy.

The proposal, the Retail Anchor Reuse Incentive Program, would cut in half fees charged for planning, plan checks and inspection services to encourage reuse of buildings larger than 20,000 square feet.

The program could save businesses between $10,000 and $12,000, depending on the upgrades required, according to a staff report.

Community and Economic Development Director Barry Foster recommends that council members approve a $50,000 budget appropriation to fund four projects, the staff report states. The report does not list the projects.

The city has large vacant buildings in Towngate Center, Moreno Valley Mall, Pigeon Pass Plaza, Stoneridge Towne Center, Moreno Beach Plaza II and Sunnymead Town Center.

Politi

“While there are prospects potentially in play for four of these buildings, everything should be pursued to help a potential user pull the trigger on making a deal and reusing one of these vacant buildings,” Foster said in his report.

The incentive program would encourage investment in shopping centers with buildings once filled by big retailers, known as anchor stores. Foster is hopeful that new businesses will fill these storefronts and produce more sales tax revenue and jobs for the city.

“Creating this new incentive program could be key in the decision-making process for a new business looking for an opportunity in this marketplace and doing business in Moreno Valley,” Foster said in his report.

Daryl Terrell, a Moreno Valley resident who unsuccessfully ran for City Council on Nov. 6, said he submitted a similar proposal to city officials earlier this year. His proposal, submitted in April, includes cutting in half building and grading permits, plan checks and inspection fees for expansion, remodeling and building code upgrades.

Terrell said he came up with the idea by researching other cities, including Lancaster.

“If one city does something, another can make it even better,” he said. “I want to try to help the city and show the city that I have ideas, too.”

WAREHOUSE EXPANSION

In other business, the council is expected to decide whether to approve a proposed project that includes expansion of the Harbor Freight Warehouse near March Air Reserve Base. If approved, the project would add more than 500,000 square feet to Harbor Freight's 779,016-square-foot warehouse near Cactus Avenue and Graham Street.

The developer, Ridge Property Trust, also wants to construct a 607,920-square-foot warehouse near Graham Street and Brodiaea Avenue, plus a 164,720-square-foot building near Cactus Avenue and Frederick Street.

Financial Services Director Rick Teichert also is expected to present a first-quarter budget update that shows Moreno Valley's economy might be improving.

Teichert's report indicates about $400,000 more into the general fund than expected, while Moreno Valley spent $2.8 million less than expected. Officials used about $1.2 million less in reserves to make up for an anticipated shortfall.

Man pleads guilty to slaying

Kevin S. Mansfield, of Riverside, is charged with the throat-slash murder of Josh Sebald

BY RICHARD K. De ATLEY
STAFF WRITER

A Riverside man pleaded guilty to second-degree murder Friday, Feb. 22, in the throat-slashing slaying of a man who was his friend since middle school. Court records show Kevin S. Mansfield, 31, entered the plea on the day jury selection was scheduled to begin for his trial in the first-degree murder of Josh Sebald, who was 31 when he died.

Courtroom docket entries indicate Mansfield also admitted deadly weapon enhancements and a prior "strike" — a previous conviction for a serious or violent crime.

Judge Michele Levine set April 26 as the sentencing date. The likely sentence will be 30 years to life, District Attorney spokesman John Hall said Friday.

Family members of both men said after the March 27 slaying that Mansfield and Sebald had similar histories of run-ins with the law, drug abuse and troubled childhoods.

Sebald's death followed an afternoon and evening of drinking and drug use by the two friends, according to accounts by Mansfield's mother.

Mansfield was living in a bedroom converted from a garage space, and Sebald had come over, dirty and disheveled, after days of living on the streets.

Red-light camera vote delayed

A pending court case over Murrieta's cameras could delay a promised ballot measure in Riverside

BY ALICIA ROBINSON

Riverside residents who have been waiting to vote on the city's red-light camera program may have to wait a bit longer.

The City Council will decide Tuesday, Feb. 26, whether to postpone a proposed ballot measure on red-light cameras until a court rules on a related case in Murrieta. City officials say the outcome of the Murrieta case could make a Riverside vote pointless.

Riverside has had the cameras since 2006. City officials credit the program with reducing accidents not only at intersections with cameras, but citywide.

In 2012, council members were set to vote on whether to cancel the camera program because of a projected $611,000 deficit. They chose to keep the program, remove some cameras to save money, and place a measure on the June ballot so voters could weigh in.

deadline to get the issue on the ballot, the council will discuss the camera program Tuesday. A city report suggests the council delay a ballot measure "until the courts can rule on the validity of such measures."

The main court case in question stems from a lawsuit filed in November, after Murrieta voters approved a ban on red-light cameras. The suit, filed by a citizens group funded in part by camera company American Traffic Systems, contends that the City Council has the power to decide how to enforce traffic rules and voters do not.

Murrieta Assistant City Attorney Jeff Morris said the case is scheduled to be heard in early April.

Judges often issue a tentative ruling before hearing arguments, and a final decision could come that day or later, he said.

Former Riverside Mayor Ron Loveridge, who teaches political science at UC Riverside, said California courts "tend to give a bias to the vote of the electorate," but he noted that they also often defer to state law.

"It's not infrequent that ballot measures or portions of them are overturned because they clash with the constitution of the state," Loveridge said.

In an earlier lawsuit that sought to block the Murrieta measure from appearing on the ballot, the court agreed with the plaintiff, ruling that "traffic regulation is a matter of statewide concern," and that the legislature gave city councils the power to decide on enforcement measures.

It's hard to predict how the Riverside council will vote on whether to go ahead with a ballot measure.

The council was split 4-3 in favor of the cameras in 2012, and though William "Rusty" Bailey is now the mayor rather than a voting councilman, his veto power makes it likely the city will continue its pro-camera stance.

MORENO VALLEY Skechers receives 'green' certification

The U.S. Green Building Council on Friday, Feb. 22, presented Moreno Valley's Skechers distribution center with gold certification for design and construction of an environmentally conscious and energy-efficient structure.

The 1.82 million-square-foot warehouse is the largest U.S. building of its kind to achieve such a rating, according to the council, a nonprofit organization that advocates sustainable building design and construction. The organization certifies construction based on categories such as sustainable sites, water efficiency, energy and atmosphere, materials and resources and indoor environmental quality.

The Skechers warehouse, built by developer Highland Fairview and its president and CEO Iddo Benzeevi, includes solar power, motion sensor lighting, energy-efficient heating and cooling systems and water efficient and drought tolerant landscaping.

A leading opponent of the government says holding a vote during the current turmoil is "a recipe for disaster"

BY AYA BATRAWY AND SARAH EL DEEB

CAIRO — Egypt's president set parliamentary elections to begin in April — a decision that an opposition leader denounced Friday as "a recipe for disaster" because of the ongoing political turmoil in the country.

About 15,000 people took to the streets in the Suez Canal city of Port Said to demonstrate against President Mohammed Morsi, hanging effigies of him in the main square. Residents have been on a general strike for six days, demanding punishment for what they considered a heavy-handed police crackdown during unrest in the city.

Egyptians fear elections

Protesters chant anti-government slogans as they demonstrate in front of Egypt's high court building in downtown Cairo on Friday.

Morsi scheduled the staggered, four-stage voting process to begin April 27 and end in June. The newly elected parliament would convene on July 6, according to a decree issued late Thursday night.

He hopes the election will end the political turmoil that has beset Egypt for the past two years, since the ouster of longtime ruler Hosni Mubarak. The upheaval has scared away foreign investors and dried up tourism, both crucial foreign currency earners that helped the government pay for subsidized goods needed by the poor for survival.

But Mohamed ElBaradei, who leads one of the main opposition groups, the National Salvation Front, wrote on his Twitter account Friday that Morsi's "decision to go for parliamentary elections amidst severe societal polarization and eroding state authority is a recipe for disaster."

The NSF accuses Morsi and his Muslim Brotherhood supporters of monopolizing power and renegeing on campaign promises to set up an inclusive government that introduces far-reaching reforms.

The opposition has called for amending articles in a new constitution that passed in a nationwide referendum. It also demands the resignation of the current technocrat Cabinet appointed by Morsi that includes eight Brotherhood ministers and other Islamists.

Morsi took over as president in June 2012 with the help of some opposition groups and Islamists who voted against his rival, a former Mubarak-era prime minister. Morsi's popularity has since eroded due to power-grabbing decrees temporarily issued last year that allowed his supporters to rush the constitution to a nationwide vote before a high court packed with Mubarak appointees could disband the process.

The vote took place during massive street protests against Morsi and the Islamist-led body that drafted the charter. It passed by 64 percent of votes amid low turnout and a boycott by thousands of over-seeing judges.

JOHANNESBURG — Although South African athlete Oscar Pistorius was released from custody on bail Friday, analysts say he faces significant hurdles in trying to beat murder charges for his girlfriend's shooting death.

Chief Magistrate Desmond Nair, who ruled Pistorius was not a flight risk and could be released on $115,000 bail, said he had difficulties with "improbabilities" in Pistorius' account of what happened at his Pretoria home in the early hours of Valentine's Day.

Pistorius, the double amputee runner who used carbon-fiber legs to compete in last year's London Olympics, is accused of premeditated murder in the fatal shooting of Reeva Steenkamp, 29. The 26-year-old Pistorius insists he mistook Steenkamp for a burglar, shooting her through a wooden toilet door in the bathroom. Authorities said she suffered wounds to the head and arm.

Nair said Friday that he found it difficult to understand why Pistorius, believing there was an intruder, didn't take steps to make sure he knew where his girlfriend was before opening fire. The chief magistrate also said he had difficulties understanding why Pistorius, who said in an affidavit that he'd felt "vulnerable" without his prosthetic legs, would have immediately walked into a dangerous situation.

As he waited for Nair's ruling, Pistorius trembled and sobbed, his body shaking. He has appeared gaunt, pale and thin during the four-day hearing, often weeping.

Defense attorney Barry Roux argued that prosecutors should have charged Pistorius with a less serious offense of culpable homicide, not premeditated murder, which carries a life sentence. Nair, however, did not downgrade the charge.

Prosecutor Gerrie Nel strongly opposed bail, accusing Pistorius of showing no remorse for killing someone and just wanting to go back to his life as a world-famous athlete.

"The degree of violence present in this case is horrific," Nel said. "He must realize that long-term imprisonment is almost guaranteed. He might think he'll be acquitted. A lot of people think that."

Any tears he shed, Nel suggested, were for himself and the damage he'd done to his career.

Roux, however, argued that it would be difficult for Pistorius to flee, given his fame, and his prosthetic legs.

"Every time he goes through security at airport, there's commotion. He cannot go unnoticed through airport security, Roux said.

In announcing his decision, Nair said that while the athlete had an undisputed history of aggressive behavior, the state failed to show that he was likely to commit violence or interfere with state witnesses if released.

Soldiers stole children during El Salvador's war

BY MARCOS ALEMAN

SAN SALVADOR, EL SALVADOR — One of Gregoria Contreras' first childhood memories was the moment she last saw her parents.

Fighting between government troops and guerrillas had broken out around the 4-year-old girl's family home in the countryside of this Central American country. The soldiers took advantage of the confusion and seized Contreras and her two siblings, who were under the age of 2.

"We all fled the house and suddenly it all ended because they captured us and our parents disappeared," said Contreras, now 35 and living in neighboring Guatemala.

Contreras was just one of hundreds of children who disappeared under a variety of circumstances during El Salvador's brutal, 13-year civil war, which left some 75,000 people dead and thousands more missing. In most cases, the parents have yet to find out what happened to their children, while a few hundred of the missing have been identified after giving investigators DNA samples and other evidence.

Now, a human rights group, Probusqueda, is uncovering another macabre, and mostly unknown twist to the tragedy. In Contreras' and at least nine other cases, low-to-mid-ranking soldiers abducted children in what an international court says was a "systematic pattern of forced disappearances." Some of the soldiers raised the children as their own, while others gave them away or sold them to lucrative illegal adoption networks. In Contreras' case, an army private spirited her away, raped her and gave her his own surname.

The crimes make El Salvador the second Latin American country proven to engage in such child abductions during internal Cold War-era conflicts. Argentina's military kidnapped hundreds of children of political opponents, and the prosecution of those responsible three decades later led to the indictment of top officers, including army Gen. Jorge Rafael Videla, then-head of Argentina's military junta.

No one has revealed the full scope of the child abductions in El Salvador.

Contreras and the families of five other victims of military abductions successfully sued their government in the Inter-American Court of Human Rights, demanding the military release more information. Three years later, the military hasn't turned over the files.

Defense Secretary Leon Panetta and British Defense Secretary Philip Hammond lead their delegations during a bilateral meeting at the North Atlantic Treaty Ministers Meetings, Friday in Brussels, Belgium. Three hundred people lined Hemet's Florida Avenue at noon Friday, Feb. 22, to show support for local control over the city's police and fire departments.

The social-media driven rally came four days before the City Council will consider the future of the local fire department and amid fears that the police department could be on the chopping block as well.

Contracting for those services is being considered as a

Banning police arrest a man said to threaten his neighbor; he taunted police and threw mirrors

A four-hour standoff in Banning on Thursday, Feb. 21, ended with the arrest of a man police say threatened his neighbor and then hurled mirrors inside and outside his house.

Banning police were called to the home in the 400 block of 41st Street at 2:25 p.m. to investigate a report that a man with a knife had threatened to kill one of his neighbors. When they arrived, a Banning Police Department news release said, the man had gone inside his home.

The man refused to surrender, the release said, and taunted police to bring their SWAT team. He also threw mirrors and other glass items both inside and out of the house.

Police called in members of the department's Emergency Tactical Unit, a local gang task force and the Riverside County Sheriff's Department to surround the house. At one point, Banning Police Chief Leonard Purvis said in an email, 18 officers were involved.

The chief said he is not sure why the man wanted to kill his neighbor.

Tactical Unit officers spoke to the man on a loudspeaker and his cellphone. When he would not surrender, police fired tear gas into the house and the man came out with his hands in the air and surrendered without incident, the release said.

At one point, officers thought they heard another person's voice coming from the house, the release said, but no one else was inside.

Jeremiah Joseph Gerky, 24, was arrested at 6:43 p.m., according to jail booking records, on suspicion of misdemeanor weapon brandishing and a felony of making terrorist threats. He was booked into the Larry D. Smith Correctional Facility in Banning.

His bail was set at $5,000.

Patience with the 11-year-old war has grown thin in the U.S. and Europe, yet Washington and its allies feel they cannot pick up and leave without risking a repeat of what happened in Afghanistan after Soviet troops withdrew in 1989: Attention turned elsewhere, the Taliban grabbed power and al-Qaida found refuge.

In disclosing that he and his NATO counterparts were discussing a residual force of between 8,000 and 12,000 troops in Afghanistan beyond, Defense Secretary Leon Panetta said most allied defense ministers assured him they are committed to remaining part of a U.S.-led coalition.

In addition to targeting terrorists, the post-2014 missions are expected to be defined as training and advising a still-developing Afghan army and police force and providing security for the U.S. and allied civilian and military presence, officials said.

The largely unspoken assumption on which the post-2014 plan is built is that Afghanistan's own forces will be strong enough to hold off the Taliban on their own starting in 2015. The worry is that if the Taliban regained power they would allow al-Qaida to return in large numbers, defeating the original purpose of the U.S. military action in 2001.

It's a touchy topic at this stage of the war, with Afghans fearful of being abandoned by their foreign partners and Washington and its NATO allies wary of committing too heavily to a corrupt Kabul government facing an uncertain future.

Budget pressures in the U.S. and Europe also complicate the outlook.

"There's no question in the current budget environment, with deep cuts in European defense spending and the kind of political gridlock that we see in the United States now with regards to our own budget, is putting at risk our ability to effectively act together," Panetta said. "As I prepare to step down as secretary of defense, I do fear that the alliance will soon be, if it is not already, stretched too thin."

Panetta is expected to retire as soon as his successor is confirmed. The Senate could vote on the confirmation of former Sen. Chuck Hagel as the next Pentagon chief as early as Wednesday. Panetta is leaving just as Gen. Joseph Dunford is settling in as the successor to Gen. John Allen as commander of U.S. and allied forces in Afghanistan.

Drone strikes up sharply in Afgl

More of the aircraft are flying and the military is using them in place of troops

BY SHASHANK BENGALI AND DAVID S. CLOUD TRIBUNE WASHINGTON BUREAU

KABUL, AFGHANISTAN—The U.S. military launched 506 strikes from unmanned aircraft in Afghanistan last year, according to Pentagon data, a 72 percent increase from 2011 and a sign that American commanders may begin to rely more heavily on remote-controlled air power to kill Taliban insurgents as they reduce the number of troops on the ground.

Though drone strikes represented a fraction of all U.S. air attacks in Afghanistan last year, their use is on the rise even as American troops have pulled back from ground and air operations and pushed Afghan soldiers and police into the lead. In 2011, drone strikes accounted for 5 percent of U.S. air attacks in Afghanistan; in 2012, the figure rose to 12 percent.

Military spokesmen in Kabul and at the Pentagon declined to explain the increase. But officers familiar with the operation said it was due in part to the growing number of armed Reaper and Predator drones in Afghanistan and better availability of live video feeds beamed directly to troops on the ground.

In 2011, drone strikes accounted for 5 percent of U.S. air attacks in Afghanistan; in 2012, the figure rose to 12 percent. Their use is on the rise even as American troops have pushed Afghan soldiers and police into the lead

The increase has coincided with a shift by the Obama administration toward a new strategy in Afghanistan that relies on a smaller military footprint to go after the Taliban and remaining al-Qaida fighters.

The use of armed drones is likely to accelerate as most of the 66,000 U.S. troops in the country are due to withdraw by the end of 2014. The remotely piloted long-range aircraft, which kill targets with virtually no risk to American lives, carry an unmistakable attraction for military commanders.

The strategy isn't without risk: Drone strikes can kill civilians.

After Marine Gen. John R. Allen, the former coalition commander, issued an order limiting airstrikes in populated areas last year, U.S. and NATO forces reduced civilian casualties in air attacks by 42 percent in 2012, according to U.N. figures.

But after an airstrike this month that reportedly killed 10 civilians in addition to four Taliban leaders, Afghan President Hamid Karzai banned his forces from requesting coalition airstrikes in resident areas, a decree that also would apply to drones.

Defenders of drones say they are more accurate and less prone to causing civilian casualties than manned aircraft, because they can watch a potential target longer and often use smaller munitions.

When civilians are inadvertently killed, it is sometimes because they are close to a location where an airstrike is carried out, one U.S. official said. But there also are instar

Defense Minister Thomas de Maiziere caused an initial stir by telling reporters that Panetta had said the U.S. would keep 8,000 to 10,000 troops in Afghanistan after 2014. Panetta denied that, saying he was talking about a combined U.S. and NATO force of 8,000 to 12,000, and de Maiziere later said his own comments to reporters were "misleading."

Panetta said officials are planning to leave troops in all sectors of the country as well as in Kabul. Currently, Italy is leading the allied security presence in western Afghanistan, Germany in the north and the U.S. in the east and the south.

when troops on the ground mistakenly call for an airstrike against a target where only civilians are present.

The U.S. military has acknowledged multiple times that it has accidentally killed civilians in drone strikes, including in 2010 when 24 Afghans were killed in Oruzgan province after being mistaken for insurgents, based on drone camera images. They were later determined to be noncombatants.

Last year, five coalition drone strikes killed 16 civilians and injured three, according to the U.N. mission in Afghanistan, which documented just one such incident in 2011. It wasn't immediately clear whether those were strikes from U.S. drones; Britain's Royal Air Force also flies armed Reaper drones in Afghanistan, although the vast majority of the coalition's unmanned aircraft belong to the U.S.

Many of the recent strikes have hit eastern Afghanistan, where Taliban insurgents retain control of many villages.

The Obama administration has come under increasing pressure this month from Congress to disclose details and legal underpinnings for drone strikes, especially a 2011 attack that killed Anwar al-Awlaki, an American citizen and a leader of the group al-Qaida in the Arabian Peninsula.

County Board of Supervisors awarded an almost $10.4 million contract to Skanska USA, which has a Riverside office. The project will widen the highway, also called Winchester Road, from two to four lanes.

The work will be done in three stages. In this one, K-rail will be installed on both sides of the current travel lanes so the contractor can construct the new lanes on the outside.

SEMA Construction Inc. of Lake Forest is expected to finish the $14.4 million first phase of the highway widening from Domenigoni Parkway to Scott this summer.

Hemet foothill crash still being investigated

The California Highway Patrol is looking into whether to seek a manslaughter charge

BY DARRELL R. SANTSCI

dsantschi@pe.com

The California Highway Patrol has not yet decided whether to seek charges against the driver whose Jeep Cherokee plunged 100 feet off a dirt road in the foothills east of Hemet on Thursday, Feb. 21, resulting in the death of his passenger.

Robert Domenigoni, a 74-year-old member of a prominent Winchester area farming family, was killed in the crash, according to the Riverside County coroner's office.

CHP spokesman Darren Meyer said Friday the 9:20 a.m. accident is still being investigated and the driver, William Rohrbacher, 80, has not yet been cited.

Routinely, Meyer said, the Highway Patrol seeks vehicular manslaughter charges against drivers who violate the law, causing an accident with fatalities.

He said a preliminary report indicated that Rohrbacher's Jeep had been driving at an unsafe speed on a narrow, muddy U.S. Forest Service road in the foothills east of Valle Vista when he lost control on a curve. The Cherokee plunged 100 feet down an embankment into a ravine.

A Highway Patrol news release said drugs and alcohol were not a factor in the single-vehicle crash.

Rohrbacher was airlifted by helicopter to Riverside County Regional Medical Center in Moreno Valley with moderate injuries.

Robert Domenigoni was a contractor who managed his family's properties and was known for his community service, including as district manager for the Lions Club.

Domenigoni was a great-grandson of Angelo Domenigoni who came from Switzerland. Winchester-Domenigoni Park is named for Angelo. Robert Domenigoni's family farmed in the central part of the unincorporated community of Winchester.

Other Angelo Domenigoni descendants farmed mostly south of Winchester. Part of their land, in what was known as Domenigoni Valley, was purchased by Metropolitan Water District to build a huge reservoir, Diamond Valley Lake.

trash that other people had discarded, because he took pride in the community that he lived in," Cowdery said.

Mr. Domenigoni, a member of a pioneer farming family, died Thursday, Feb. 21, in a vehicle accident in the foothills east of Hemet. He was 74.

"His frugality was almost epic," said his daughter, Angela Little. His wife of 55 years, Evelyn, said that meant he sometimes brought home items to reuse. He was a great-grandson of Angelo Domenigoni, who built homes and developed lots with utilities for mobile home setups. He maintained the landscaping at the historic Patterson House and museum in honor of his aunt, Julia Young.

His parents, Angelo and Marie Domenigoni, donated 5 acres for the Winchester-Domenigoni Park site and sold another 10 acres for the playing fields.

He was a Hemet Breakfast Lions Club member and past governor for Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

HIGH DEBT A BAD SIGN

San Bernardino's new city manager bought his Banning home in 2001 for $100,000.

Over the next five years, the home was refinanced five times, and a second mortgage issued, until Allen J. Parker and his wife, Sara, owed $415,000 on the 1,378-square-foot house on the Banning Bench.

The Parkers filed for bankruptcy in February 2011, and the house went back to the mortgage lender.

When a new owner bought it in December 2011, the modest-sized home at 8710 Bluff St. sold for $157,500.

Parker was hired by San Bernardino on Feb. 15 to help the bankrupt city regain its financial footing.

City officials said they knew about Parker's bankruptcy when they hired him. They weren't troubled by it.

They accepted his explanation that he and his wife were underwater on their mortgage — a not unusual circumstance for people who bought at the peak of the housing bubble in 2006-07.

But public records indicate that wasn't the case for Allen and Sara Parker.

When they bought the home, it was modestly priced. They encumbered it with new loans until they owed far more than it was ultimately worth.

When I spoke to him Thursday, Parker declined to discuss the reasons for his and his wife's bankruptcy.

Best Buy fined for overcharges

Pay up, Best Buy. That was the order that Riverside County Superior Court Judge Daniel Ottolia gave Friday, Feb. 22, in a civil complaint against Best Buy alleging false advertising practices in their California stores.

Best Buy Stores, a Virginia-based limited partnership, was ordered to pay $875,370 in fines and costs for advertising one price on an item, but charging more to its customers.

The company, with 126 Best Buy stores in California — five in Riverside County — must also put in place a new "Pricing Accuracy" program for five years to settle the consumer protection case.

Best Buy consumers in California who find they have been overcharged at the check-out counter will be entitled to get $3 off the lowest advertised price of an item. If the lowest advertised price is $3 or less, the customer will get the item for free.

Riverside County District Attorney Paul Zellerbach said the negotiated settlement capped an investigation that has been going on for a little more than a year.

The mislabeling and mispricing case, filed in conjunction with the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office and San Diego City Attorney's Office, was based on 206 inspections by weights and measures officials at 82 Best Buy stores in 16 counties.

"These were predominately low-cost items — CDs, DVDs and food items," Zellerbach said, of violations he said went back to 2008. "Even though the individual prices were somewhat low, the quantity of items purchased, I'm sure, was staggering."

Best Buy spokesman Jeffrey Shelman, in a statement Friday, said the company strives for 100 percent pricing accuracy.

"During this period of time more than 99.8 percent of prices on the specific products reviewed were accurate," the statement said. "Unfortunately there were also a small number of mistakes among the hundreds of price changes that occur in stores on a weekly basis."

Best Buy concluded by saying, "We apologize for any pricing errors, constantly strive for greater accuracy and we agreed to implement the $3.00 off program in those rare cases where a mistake is made."

The judge's order imposed $600,000 in penalties, plus costs totaling $175,370 and restitution of $100,000.

The Los Angeles and San Diego prosecutor's offices will each get $200,000. The Riverside County District Attorney's office will get an additional $10,000 to cover costs; the Riverside County Weights and Measures Department will be reimbursed $8,732.

The case was handled by Deputy District Attorney Elise Farrell.

Injured mother and daughter sue the bus company, the bus operator and the driver

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN BERNARDINO — A mother and daughter injured in Southern California tour bus crash that killed eight people filed a lawsuit Friday against the tour bus operator and the charter company that organized the fatal trip.

The lawsuit filed in San Bernardino County Superior Court named as defendant the National City, Calif.-based Scapadas Magicas and Tijuana, Mexico-based Interbus Tours and Charters. The lawsuit also named the bus driver, Norberto B. Perez.

Guillermina Morales said she suffered two broken legs and a broken pelvis in the Feb. 3 accident near Yucaipa and lost the use of one arm. Her daughter, Pamela Morales, also broke her arm, according to the lawsuit.

The two are from Tijuana, Mexico, and are Mexican citizens.

Perez told investigators his brakes failed as he descended a steep mountain road while returning a busload of tourists to Tijuana after a day trip to see the snow in the San Bernardino Mountains.

No one answered the phone at Scapadas Magicas' offices in Tijuana and National City on Friday.

Jordi Garcia, marketing director for Interbus, said his company had not received the lawsuit and could not comment. Perez could not be reached for comment.

The Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration earlier this month ordered Scapadas Magicas to immediately stop operating because its buses weren't properly maintained or inspected, and its drivers weren't properly vetted for qualifications.

The 1996 bus involved in the crash was carrying 38 people when it smashed into a sedan, flipped, slammed into a pickup and crashed on the way home from Big Bear.

Cars cruise during Route 66 Rendezvous in San Bernardino in 2012. Organizers should revive the event, which stalled this year.

RENDEZVOUS WITH FUTURE

The organizers and sponsors of the Stater Bros. Route 66 Rendezvous are right to get an early start on efforts to restore San Bernardino's longtime signature event.

For the first time in more than two decades, the Rendezvous will not roll through San Bernardino this year. Organizers have scratched the 2013 event for lack of funding.

It would be lamentable to see the tradition end with this year's cancellation, but it won't be easy to get the showcase back on its wheels. Last year, fans and donors provided $54,000 to fund policing, traffic control and trash removal when the city, now in bankruptcy, had to step aside. That grass-roots initiative paid dividends: Organizers say 400,000 people turned out for the 2012 event.

apples and oranges, he called it.

When I interviewed him for the first time, on the day the City Council confirmed his appointment as city manager, I didn't know about the personal bankruptcy.

Parker told me then that the city was going to have to learn to live within its means.

His personal track record, as reflected in the Chapter 7 bankruptcy filing, does not appear to be that of someone living within his means.

Parker and his wife left their creditors holding the bag for more than $600,000 when their debts were discharged in May 2011.

In addition to the home loans, they owed $55,731 in credit card debt, and a $62,000 court judgment, apparently related to a lawsuit against Allen Parker and other ousted members of the Banning Heights Mutual Water Company in 2010.

Outwardly, it doesn't seem the Parker's debts were due to extravagance.

According to bankruptcy documents, the couple owned three vehicles: a 2003 Nissan Murano with 104,000 miles on it, a 2002 Ford Ranger with 189,000 miles on it, and a 2000 Honda Civic with 162,000 miles on it.

A photo on real estate website Zillow suggests the home may have been remodeled. But Parker wouldn't comment on the reasons for the bankruptcy when I asked him Thursday what had caused him and his wife to go so deeply into debt.

Why the mayor and City Council are not concerned about Parker's bankruptcy justifies me.

You'd think someone who had a 25-year career as a city manager, and later worked as chief administrative officer for a gaming tribe for five years, could have a tidy nest to retire on. That late in life he racked up such an enormous debt, to me is genuine cause for worry.

UC Riverside will host a summit in March, aimed at forging a consensus on how to overhaul the nation's immigration system.

Legislators in Washington, D.C., have been meeting for weeks to negotiate an immigration-reform proposal. UCR professor Armando Navarro said the all-day conference March 16 will be a grassroots discussion of what the elements of an immigration overhaul should be.

"This is a momentous historical moment we're in, and we have to move," Navarro said at a news conference held Friday, Feb. 22, to announce the summit.

Navarro, a longtime immigration-rights activist, and his Chicano contemporary issues class are among those organizing the summit.

Immigration surged to near the top of the national political agenda after the November elections, in which Latinos and Asian-Americans turned out in record numbers and voted by lopsided margins for candidates who support a path to citizenship for undocumented immigrants.

"All of a sudden they are paying attention to us," Danny Morales, executive director of Libreria del Pueblo, a San Bernardino immigrant-assistance organization, said during Friday's news conference.

But legislators and activists disagree on the components of an immigration-system overhaul, and opponents of eventual citizenship for illegal immigrants are fighting against legalization.

Among those listed as confirmed for the summit are U.S. Reps. Mark Takano, D-Riverside, and Linda Sánchez, D-Cerritos, former U.S. Rep. Joe Baca, D-Rialto, and Assemblyman Jose Medina, D-Riverside, along with academics from several universities.

After making presentations at the summit, immigration-rights activists and students from across the country are scheduled to discuss various immigration-policy options. Summit participants will then vote on specific recommendations to try to come to a consensus in an effort to influence the national debate on the issue,

Unexpected revenues a boon for Redlands

BY ERIN WALDNER

ewaldner@pe.com

The city of Redlands plans to spend $200,000 to buy as many as four police vehicles, thanks to unanticipated revenues.

A structure to house police information technology equipment and security gates will be purchased as well, for $270,000.

At the Wednesday, Feb. 20, Redlands City Council meeting, Finance Director Tina Kundig shared the good news that after crunching the numbers for the fiscal year that ended June 30, 2012, the city's fund balance exceeded estimates by about $955,755.

That was largely because tax revenues were higher than expected, she said.

The council was presented with a list of five items on which the city could spend the $955,755. They were the building to house the police information technology equipment and security gates for $270,000, four police vehicles for $200,000, successor agency obligations for $192,891, storm drain maintenance for $100,000 and a fire engine for $100,000.

The five items total $862,891.

City Manager N. Enrique Martinez recommended that the council authorize the first two expenses now and consider the other three in April. The remaining $92,864 of the surplus will go into the city's reserves. The council approved the first two items on a 4-0 vote. Mayor Pete Aguilar was absent.

Martinez said the police department's IT equipment is housed in the now-closed Safety Hall, where it is at risk from flooding.

Redlands has received a $350,000 grant to pay for the move and will use the $270,000 for the structure and accoutrements, Martinez said.

He said the police department needs new patrol cars because some of the 16 that it has have logged 140,000 miles, Martinez said.

Redlands received four donated police vehicles from Beaumont "because ours are so bad," Martinez said. The Beaumont vehicles have racked up 80,000 to 90,000 miles.

Councilman Jon Harrison said that when the $392,891 comes back for consideration in April, the city should think about spending some of it on tree trimming. Councilman Bob Gardner said the community center should be a priority.

Earlier in the meeting, several adults and children in the audience called on the city to keep the community

Kundig said the city's current budget is out of balance by about $94,000 and staff will be working to ensure it's in balance by the fiscal year's end in June.

"I can tell you now we're going to be balanced," Martinez said.

He said he was not asking the council to immediately spend the entire surplus so the city can have money on hand if necessary. City officials should know by April whether they can safely spend the money or if it will be needed for something else.

The legislation, SB 240, not only would encroach on county prerogatives and likely inflate costs, but it would also play favorites among voters.

Yee, who is running for secretary of state in 2014, is overreaching in an effort to ramp up the youth vote, which Democrats see as leaning their way.

But the state already allows on-line registration, and absentee voting is readily available. If Yee wants to boost Democratic turnout, he should do it the old-fashioned way: by putting party activists, and not taxpayers, to work.

ENOUGH HYSTERIA; SEQUESTER

Prepare for the end of food safety as we have known it. For a breakdown in public order. For little children languishing in ignorance. If only Edward Gibbon were here to chronicle the devastation. On March 1, the fabric of our civilization begins to unwind.

That's when the economy begins to stall and we turn our back on our values, all because the federal government will have to begin to cut a few tens of billions of dollars from the largest budget the world has ever known.

This is the lurid fairy tale spun by President Barack Obama. In the fight over the sequester, he is resorting to the tried-and-true (and tiresome) strategy of every official confronted with unwelcome budget cuts, from the commander in chief to a lowly bureaucrat toiling at some school district: maximize the scaremongering and pain.

In Hans Christian Andersen terms, Obama is the princess and the sequester is the pea. Over the next 10 years, the sequester amounts to a $1.16 trillion cut, or roughly 3 cents on every federal dollar. If we can't squeeze a couple of pennies out of every dollar, we might as well begin our great national bankruptcy proceedings right now.

This year we are supposed to cut $85 billion from a $3.5 trillion budget. And it won't even be that much. According to the Congressional Budget Office, the federal government won't be able to cut the full $85 billion. It will manage to cut only about half that in 2013.

RICH LOWRY

As Yuval Levin of the journal National Affairs points out, even with the sequester, the federal government will spend a little more in 2013 than in 2012, $3.553 trillion compared with $3.538 trillion.

Welcome to the Age of Austerity.

Even with the sequester, nondefense discretionary spending will still be up almost 10 percent since 2008.

As Yuval Levin of the journal National Affairs points out, even with the sequester, the federal government will spend a little more in 2013 than in 2012, $3.553 trillion compared with $3.538 trillion.

Welcome to the Age of Austerity.

Even with the sequester, nondefense discretionary spending will still be up almost 10 percent since 2008.

Even with the sequester, federal spending is projected to be a robust 22.8 percent of gross domestic product in 2023.

Even with the sequester, the debt will hit 100 percent of GDP just two years later than it would otherwise, according to the Bipartisan Policy Center.

It's hard to see how a cut of a little more than $40 billion this year can possibly tank a $16 trillion economy. Or why keeping the deficit the same as it is projected to be this year, at about $845 billion with the sequester cuts already accounted for, will be a shock too severe for the economy to take.

None of this should be taken as a brief for the sequester as policy. It is a classic instance of Washington coming up with a stupid kick-the-can compromise and then proceeding to have an even stupider debate over what to do next. The bastard spawn of the debt-ceiling fight, the sequester is designed to be crude and unappealing to all sides. It disproportionately and thoughtlessly hits defense spending and domestic discretionary spending. There is very little to recommend it — except that it is actually a spending cut in a Washington where that is the rarest of creatures.

Ideally, Congress and the president would agree on more targeted and intelligently crafted savings.

But the president insists on more tax increases. The other day he said a cuts-only replacement for the sequester would be as absurd as a taxes-only agreement on overall deficit reduction. Yet he exacted a taxes-only agreement from Republicans over the fiscal cliff, with nary a concern about making the deal more "balanced."

Since Republicans rightfully aren't budging on tax increases so soon after giving the president a tax hike that hit 77 percent of households (thanks to the expiration of the payroll-tax cuts), the sequester seems certain to happen.

Presumably, its cuts will be more rationally allocated at some later date.

For now, to paraphrase Phil Gramm talking about Gramm-Rudman-Hollings, his own budgetary blunderbuss from the 1980s, the sequester is a bad idea whose time has come.

Corona police Cpl. Margaret Bell was convicted Friday, Feb. 22, of failing to report the suspected child abuse of a boy who officials say was kidnapped, forced to dig his own mock grave and then was subjected to corporal injury by members of Bell's church.

Bell is a member of Heart of Worship Community Church. She faces a possible six-month maximum jail sentence on the misdemeanor conviction. Judge Bernard J. Schwartz set April 12 for sentencing.

"It's disappointing that with all of her years of experience, she allowed her judgment to be clouded by her loyalty to the church," Deputy District Attorney Will Robinson said outside court.

A small company in Corona hopes to launch in California a machine it helped design to keep food waste out of landfills — a total of 5.6 million tons a year that can produce toxic groundwater and polluting gas.

Corona wants to find takers in the western U.S. for his Biogreen 360, which fires up food waste and expects could be used as a pet food additive or a fertilizer. The machine is in use elsewhere in the nation.

sity Law School, MIT, The Fairmont Copley Plaza in Boston and the New Hampshire arm of the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Currently, most spoiled and leftover food is hauled to landfills or organic composting facilities, according to Bennett. "By doing this, we have not fixed the organic problem; we have moved it to another location and it's someone else's problem."

BENNETT'S SOLUTION

His solution is to reduce the volume of food waste at the source and use the machine's final output as an animal feed supplement and/or develop it into compost product. "The ultimate goal would be to have someone pick up the discharge from every customer that uses the Biogreen 360 machine to reduce his total cost to zero," Bennett said.

As an authorized distributor of the Biogreen 360, Bennett launched Biogreen Organic Solutions three months ago to hustle the product closer to home. To crank up West Coast interest — where he's sold no machines yet — Bennett and some of his seven-member staff demonstrate to school districts, hotels and amusement venues how the ma-

Pollution shrug?

Moreno Valley needs to take a more stringent approach to air pollution from warehouse traffic than the city now proposes. A city contemplating a vast expansion of warehouse space should take every possible step to curb diesel emissions — for the good of city residents and the region.

The South Coast Air Quality Management District says that Moreno Valley is pushing ahead with warehouse projects without doing enough to protect air quality. The district last month urged the city to put stronger restrictions on the proposed 1.5 million-square-foot March Business Center, slated for land east of Heacock Street near March Air Reserve Base, which is still moving through the city's approval process. The district wrote the city after the project's environmental report in November rejected the agency's suggestions for cutting pollution from truck traffic as impractical.

Air quality should be a fundamental concern for any city proposing to become a warehouse center, as Moreno Valley is. Warehouses are at best a mixed proposition for a city already grappling with heavy traffic congestion in a region with some of the dirtiest air in the nation. Exhaust from diesel engines is a primary source of pollutants, particularly the tiny particle pollution linked to a variety of heart and lung ailments, including cancer and early death. Not surprisingly, fears of deteriorating air quality are one of the biggest reasons for public opposition to city warehouse projects.

So Moreno Valley should address that issue aggressively, especially given the city's plans for millions more square feet of warehouse space — including one proposal for a massive warehouse complex equal in size to more than 700 football fields. If the projects advance, strict air quality requirements from the start could help the city avoid becoming an object lesson in pollution-spewing planning.

Yet the city's response to the air quality regulators' concerns hardly builds public confidence that the city is carefully considering its rush to build warehouses. The air agency said the city could, for example, require trucks serving the warehouse to meet 2010 emissions standards, or create a plan to phase in newer, cleaner trucks as quickly as possible. The city could also require warehouse tenants to apply for government grants to retrofit or replace older trucks, among other steps. The city's reaction: Moreno Valley has no control over truck emissions, which fall under state and federal law. The city also called the air quality agency's proposed solutions infeasible.

Other local governments do not share that view, however. The air district points to projects in San Bernardino and Mira Loma, where planners imposed such conditions on warehouse proposals. Those examples suggest that the issue is not legality and feasibility, but political will.

And council members' complaints that the air quality district is unfairly picking on Moreno Valley miss the point. The real issue is whether the city is acting responsibly in pursuing warehouse development. The city envisions a massive logistics hub, and yet wonders why anyone would complain when officials wave off concerns about pollution from truck traffic?

Moreno Valley should not have to sacrifice air quality for the city's future. Southern California has managed to greatly improve its air even as the region's economy expanded, but not by scrimping on pollution control measures. Moreno Valley can grow and still do everything possible to protect residents' health and the region's air — but not if the city takes a hands-off approach to diesel pollution.

Moreno Valley officials say the Skechers warehouse on the city's east side has not yet applied for an environmental certification, despite past city claims that the distribution center already had earned national designation as a green building.

The discrepancy has raised skepticism among residents about the Skechers facility and the 41.6 million square-foot warehouse complex planned in the same area.

Barry Foster, the city's community and economic development director, said in an email that a city-produced DVD incorrectly states that the 1.8 million-square-foot Skechers warehouse is the nation's largest LEED-certified building, achieving Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design as defined by the U.S. Green Building Council.

The council, a Washington, D.C.-based nonprofit organization, certifies that a building, home or community was designed and built using strategies to promote sustainable site development, water savings, energy efficiency, materials selection and indoor environmental quality.

However, Skechers can't apply to the U.S. Green Building Council for certification until fall because it has to be operational for a year before it can be considered. Skechers started operations in October 2011, Foster said.

Skechers developer Highland Fairview states on its website that the warehouse will be the country's largest LEED-certified building.

It would have been better to say it will be the largest LEED-certified building, Foster said in his email. "It will easily be certified — just a matter of time."

The misstatement is on a DVD the city produced to tout Highland Fairview's next proposed project — the 41.6 million-square-foot World Logistics Center, which will include Skechers. The City Council has not yet approved the plan.

Residents say the error raises more doubts regarding promises the city and developer made about Skechers and the proposed World Logistics Center.

Moreno Valley City Attorney Robert Hansen will retire, the City Council announced on Thursday, Dec. 27.

Council members discussed Hansen's employment almost two hours in closed session before announcing the terms of his retirement, which they unanimously accepted. Councilman Jesse Molina was out of town but called into the meeting. Council members were joined by City Manager Henry Garcia, Assistant City Manager Michelle Dawson, Acting City Attorney Suzanne Bryant and Human Resources Director Tom DeSantis.

Following closed session, Mayor Richard Stewart said Hansen will receive a lump sum $161,000. Hansen's retirement will become effective six months after council members vote at their Jan. 8 meeting to accept his retirement.

Meanwhile, Hansen will remain on paid administrative leave. Bryant will remain acting city attorney at least through July. He will still receive pay and benefits while on administrative leave.

Hansen did not attend the session. He was placed on administrative leave Dec. 11 after the new City Council was seated.

"This was not a termination," Stewart said.

Earlier this month, Councilmen Marcelo Co, Molina and Tom Owings voted to place Hansen on administrative leave. Council members Victoria Baca and Stewart abstained.

Residents Deanna Reeder and Kenny Bell also attended the closed session. Reeder told council members before closed session that they were "pathetic" for what she believed would be Hansen's termination. She said the council politically sacrificed Hansen for developer Iddo Benzeevi.

Current and former city officials have said they believe Hansen's job was in jeopardy because of legal opinions that Hansen has recommended regarding the Skechers warehouse project and city code enforcement policy.

Benzeevi, president and CEO of Highland Fairview, developed the Skechers warehouse. He plans to develop a 41.6 million square-foot warehouse distribution center that will surround Skechers.

"You apparently are going to fire the city attorney for doing his job," Reeder said. "He's done an outstanding job for the city. You're firing him for telling Benzeevi no."

She said she believes council members took action against Hansen because of campaign contributions she thinks were funneled to them from Benzeevi.

"It'll be interesting to see who you replace (Hansen) with," Reeder said.

Before the Skechers building was approved, Highland Fairview sent mailers to Moreno Valley residents stating that the project would create 2,500 permanent jobs. That number dropped to 1,000 at Skechers' groundbreaking. The company brought about 600 workers to the warehouse while closing other operations in Ontario that employed 900 to 1,000 people.

Officials have said the World Logistics center would create an estimated 20,000 permanent jobs and some $2.6 billion in annual payroll and contracts. The development is projected to create $4.2 billion in economic benefits for the Inland area.

"It makes people question every little thing you do," resident Aja Smith said. "You have to be honest if you want to win the public's approval."

She said city officials were irresponsible in overstating Skechers' LEED certification because it was too easy to check. The U.S. Green Building Council's website indicates which buildings have received LEED certification, including at least seven in Moreno Valley.

"It's to the point where you can make the phone calls and look up the information," Smith said. "It's not LEED certified."

Trammell Crow Co. Interstate 215 Logistics Center — buildings 1 and 2

You're going to be deciding as the days, as the years unfold what you will do in life — what your life's work will be. Set out to do it well.

And I say to you, my young friends, doors are opening to you--doors of opportunities that were not open to your mothers and your fathers — and the great challenge facing you is to be ready to face these doors as they open.

I would urge you to study hard, to burn the midnight oil; I would say to you, don't drop out of school. I understand all the sociological reasons, but I urge you that in spite of your economic plight, in spite of the situation that you're forced to live in — stay in school.

And when you discover what you will be in your life, set out to do it as if God Almighty called you at this particular moment in history to do it. don't just set out to do a good job. Set out to do such a good job that the living, the dead or the unborn couldn't do it any better.

So I say to you as Dr. King might say, I thank God I stayed in school...

Black History Month
My I was asked to speak to you tonight about
Why - you

Black History Month is an annual celebration of achievements by black Americans and a time for recognizing the central role of African Americans in U.S. history.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. was an American clergyman, activist, and leader in the African-American Civil Rights Movement. He is best known for his role in the advancement of civil rights.

Dr. King was assassinated on April 4, 1968 but if Dr. King were alive today he would say to you Stay in School because:

1. High school dropouts are four times as likely to be unemployed as those who have completed four or more years of college;
2. Graduating from high school will determine how well you live for the next 50 years of your life.
3. Dropouts are more likely to apply for and receive public assistance than graduates of high school;
4. Dropouts comprise a disproportionate percentage of the nation's prison and death-row inmates. 82% of prisoners in America are high school dropouts;
5. School districts all over the country provide alternative programs for students who are not successful in the usual school setting. My own Grandson Andre who is 21 will be graduating this June from Orangewood continuation high school in Corona.

How do I know that Dr. King would say these things to you? Because Six months before he was assassinated, King spoke to a group of students at Barratt Junior High School in Philadelphia on October 26, 1967. This is what he said to the students:

Just like you

I want to suggest some of the things that should begin your life's blueprint. Number one in your life's blueprint, should be a deep belief in your own dignity, your worth and your own somebodiness. Don't allow anybody to make you feel that you're nobody. Always feel that you count. Always feel that you have worth, and always feel that your life has ultimate significance.

As students from the Social Work Bachelor of Arts program at CSUSB, we were required to do an advocacy project within a community to identify and address a need experienced by residents:

1. First we called local contacts within the community to get an idea of what needs the community is currently facing. We spoke to churches, the public library, the Moreno Valley senior center and local charities.
2. From the information gathered, we developed a survey to determine what services and resources the community felt was available, as well as their satisfaction with those services and resources.
3. While conducting surveys at the senior center, we spoke to a senior named Victor DeLeon who informed us that he had been trying to advocate to get a shelter cover over the bus stop located directly outside the center. He mentioned that he had spoken to Councilmember Jesse Molina about his concerns and had also contacted the RTA.
4. We contacted the RTA to further advocate on behalf of the project, and spoke to Mr. Sam Wattana, the Stop and Zones Supervisor, and Mr. Tom Franklin, the Chief Operating Officer, who both expressed an interest in working with the community to address the need.
5. We went back to the senior center with petitions and 32 individuals signed their signatures. The seniors were enthusiastic in voicing their need for a bus cover, citing Moreno Valley's characteristically hot summers and concerns about being exposed to rain.
6. We contacted Mr. Molina's office and attended the City Council meeting on February 12th. We spoke briefly with Mayor Owings and Mr. Molina, who informed us that the city had approved the project.
6. Currently the RTA is looking into the cost of installing a shelter and doing everything they can to address this issue.

We thank you for your continued support of this project and your interest in helping the community!

The NAACP was founded on February 12, 1909, the centennial anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

Origins of Black History Month

The story of Black History Month begins in 1915, half a century after the Thirteenth Amendment abolished slavery in the United States. That September, the Harvard-trained historian Carter G. Woodson and the prominent minister Jesse E. Moorland founded the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History (ASNLH), an organization dedicated to researching and promoting achievements by black Americans and other peoples of African descent. Known today as the Association for the Study of African American Life and History (ASALH), the group sponsored a national Negro History week in 1926, choosing the second week of February to coincide with the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and Frederick Douglass. The event inspired schools and communities nationwide to organize local celebrations, establish history clubs and host performances and lectures.

In the decades that followed, mayors of cities across the country began issuing yearly proclamations recognizing Negro History Week. By the late 1960s, thanks in part to the Civil Rights Movement and a growing awareness of black identity, Negro History Week had evolved into Black History Month on many college campuses. President Gerald R. Ford officially recognized Black History Month in 1976, calling upon the public to "seize the opportunity to honor the too-often neglected accomplishments of black Americans in every area of endeavor throughout our history."

Since then, every American president has designated February as Black History Month and endorsed a specific theme. The 2013 theme, At the Crossroads of Freedom and Equality: The Emancipation Proclamation and the March on Washington, marks the 150th and 50th anniversaries of two pivotal events in African-American history.

Former City Councilman Bill Batey said this week he has an appointment with the Riverside County District Attorney's office to discuss alleged corruption at City Hall.

Batey didn't say when the meeting is scheduled. He said he'll also go to the state Attorney General's office in Sacramento if needed.

Batey started becoming more vocal about corruption allegations as his City Council term came to an end last month. He vacated his seat for an unsuccessful state Assembly run.

One of the last straws was city attorney Robert Hansen's performance evaluation. Batey and councilman Richard Stewart have said they believe legal opinions that Hansen recommended regarding the Skechers warehouse project and city code enforcement policy might be reasons why council members, Marcelo Co and Jesse Molina, took issue with Hansen's employment.

The new City Council, seated Dec. 11, placed Hansen on administrative leave. It recently approved terms for Hansen's retirement, which is to become effective in July.

— Oral comments —

Batey said he believes Hansen was forced to resign because Co and Molina are supporters of Highland Fairview President and CEO Iddo Benzeevi, and as a result of the prosecution of Co, who owns several properties and has been charged with several city code violations.

Benzeevi said he is "perplexed" by Batey's comments, adding that they don't make sense.

Co, who the district attorney's office is prosecuting, has a court date later this month, according to records.

Next week, the City Council's study session will include discussion about code enforcement violations and remedies.

Following this week's council meeting, Batey said he's concerned about the March LifeCare project to be developed at the former March Air Force Base. The council at the meeting approved the appointments of Mayor Tom Owings and Co to the March Joint Powers Authority Commission. The appointments resulted in a clash between Owings and Stewart, who was the JPA's last original member since its creation in the 1990s.

Stewart said he believes he was removed from the JPA because he voted for the March LifeCare project, which he said would compete with Benzeevi's plans to develop a health care corridor in Moreno Valley.

{ Benzeevi and Don Ecker, March LifeCare's developer, said they don't believe they are competing and wished each other well in their projects. }

However, Ecker's development agreement, approved in April 2010, will be up for discussion this year. Last year, he paid $400,000 for more time in his development agreement, through April 2013, to sell his first piece of property to develop. If he needs another year, it'll cost him $412,000.

Batey, who also approved March LifeCare, said he thinks the JPA could "submarine the whole march health care project," adding that the appointments of Owings and Co to the JPA "absolutely put projects in jeopardy.

"It's going to be to Moreno Valley's detriment," he said.

Batey said he wasn't surprised that Stewart was removed from the JPA and, like some residents, had little sympathy for him. He said Stewart considered removing him from the JPA when Stewart was mayor and he was on the council.

"This is almost poetic justice," Batey said of Stewart's removal. "Obviously, he doesn't have a very good memory."

Measure F eco-board breaks ground

Riverside voters will decide if a sustainability advisory commission should be established

BY ALICIA ROBINSON STAFF WRITER arobinson@pe.com

Riverside voters will decide June 5 on seven proposed changes to the city charter, including Measure F.

THE MEASURE would create a sustainability commission to focus on environmental and economic development issues THE COMMISSION would be advisory and would not have legislative power OFFICIALS DON'T expect the commission to create new costs THE CITY CHARTER now includes five boards and commissions: planning, human resources, library, parks and recreation and police review THE IMPARTIAL analyses and ballot arguments on all seven measures are at www.riversideca.gov/city\_clerk/

Riverside voters will be asked to make a long-term commitment to environmental sustainability when they decide on Measure F, an initiative that would change the city charter to create a new commission.

The measure to form a sustainability commission is one of seven proposals on the June 5 ballot that would add to or rewrite parts of the charter, the city's governing document.

The charter gets reviewed every eight years. The latest measures were recommended by a council-appointed committee that met regularly for most of 2011. Voters must approve any changes to the charter.

The sustainability commission would not be the first such group in the country, but proponents say they couldn't find another U.S. city that includes such a commission in its charter.

It's envisioned as a think tank that would bring together the many Riverside organizations and businesses with an interest in environmental issues.

As an advisory panel, the commission would not have the power to make regulations, charge new fees or supersede decisions of the City Council or other city boards such as the Planning Commission.

The council would set the sustainability commission's duties through an ordinance. Officials expect that current employees would work with the panel, and no new costs would be added to the budget.

More than 100 organizations and businesses in town have a stake in environmental issues, but many don't know about the others, said Bob Stockton, who co-wrote the ballot argument in favor of Measure F.

No argument against creating the commission was filed.

The commission would be a hub to put out information and gather community input, Stockton said. It would focus on economic development as well as eco-friendliness. For example, Stockton said, the group might create guidelines to help new businesses comply with state legislation to reduce greenhouse gases.

In Huntington Beach, the city's environmental board has created programs to give awards to environmentally friendly businesses and grants to help schools pay for environmental projects, said Sue Gordon, the board's chairwoman.

The board has existed for 40 years but recently changed its focus because its original goal of preserving the Bolsa Chica wetlands has been achieved, she said. It has no budget and uses grants and sponsorships to fund its programs.

The board reviews planned developments and makes recommendations to the Planning Commission and City Council. It also hosts regular speakers on topics such as permeable pavement and ocean-friendly gardens.

Charter city idea continues its trek

The Moreno Valley Council is following through with a possible change in status from a general law city

BY LORA HINES

STAFF WRITER lhines@pe.com

The Moreno Valley City Council on Tuesday, Feb. 26, is set to follow through on plans to determine whether to become a charter city.

The council is scheduled to vote on whether to establish a charter exploratory subcommittee and appoint two council members to it. Mayor Tom Owings and Councilman Richard Stewart have expressed interest in serving on such a subcommittee.

Charter cities have "home rule" over municipal affairs, which trumps state rules governing the same topics. There are about 120 charter cities among California's 480 municipalities, including 14 in Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

The rest, including Moreno Valley, are general law cities.

An elected charter commission or the City Council would draft a charter, according to the League of California Cities, which is made up of city officials throughout the state. A majority of voters would then have to ratify a charter before it could be adopted.

Residents critical of Moreno Valley becoming a charter city say they believe officials would create a charter that would allow for gifts of public funds to developers and business owners, plus make zoning and land-use provisions more favorable to development.

Owings announced plans in January for Moreno Valley to consider becoming a charter city. The council then discussed the issue at a daylong study session earlier this month.

The council Tuesday is also set to consider extending a 45-day moratorium to prevent a rush by developers to get projects entitled before a proposed east side development strategy, known as the Highway 60 overlay, is approved. However, the city has yet to hire a consultant to prepare an overlay study, according to a staff report.

Last month, council members approved $50,000 to hire a consultant to prepare an overlay study. So far, the city has not received any proposals from 18 firms contacted to possibly provide the service.

The moratorium could be extended as long as 10 months and 15 days, a city report states.

In other business, the council will consider establishing a committee to increase Moreno Valley Unified School District's graduation rate, which is 69 percent, according to a city report. Council members repeatedly have discussed working with the school district to better prepare students for employment after graduation.

If approved, the four-year committee would mentor students and provide work and life skills. Schools Superintendent Judy White would be the committee chairwoman. She and Owings would select at least

RIVERSIDE: Charter care

THE PRESS-ENTERPRISE | April 29, 2012; 01:00 AM | Comments (0)

The June 5 election presents Riverside voters with a grab bag of proposed amendments to the city's charter. Some of the measures suggest minor changes to outdated language, while other measures would make more substantive alterations to city government.

The charter acts as a constitution for Riverside, and the city reviews potential changes to the document every eight years. For voters trying to understand the issues at stake, here are ~~The Press-Enterprise's~~ recommendations:

Measure E: Yes. This measure gives the office equal standing with the city attorney. The main effect is to place the city attorney on the City Council instead of the city manager. This amendment would give the city manager independence from city management, a crucial step for an office that evaluates city departments and spending. This amendment would bolster public confidence in city operations and finances, at no additional cost to taxpayers.

Measure F. No. This measure would write a Commission on Sustainability into the city charter. The panel's vague premise and duties — it would advise the city on "matters of sustainability" — suggests an emphasis on trendy buzzwords rather than civic need. Yes, ensuring prosperity and a pleasant living environment should be part of any city's long-term planning. But the city can address those issues without amending the charter. The council already has the authority to create advisory panels as needs arise. Putting this commission in the charter would also create a permanent cost for staff time Moreno Valley City Council members need to offer the public a clearer rationale for the push to become a charter city.

A Text Size [up] [down]

THE PRESS-ENTERPRISE | March 02, 2013; 06:00 PM | Comments (0)

Becoming a charter city is not a cure for Moreno Valley's ills, nor would such a change, on its own, improve city government. So the City Council needs to offer a skeptical public a far more compelling rationale for creating a charter than some vague promise of a better city. The council should provide specifics about the goals that would benefit residents.

Moreno Valley council members explore becoming a charter city. Councilman Richard Stewart sort of local constitution to govern city operations, which can give cities more control over municipal decisions such as election rules, contracting, land use and spending. Voters would have to approve a charter before it could take effect.

Most California cities are general law cities, meaning that state law dictates the rules for city government operations. Some 121 of California's 482 incorporated cities are charter cities, including 14 in Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

But changing the structure of city government hardly seems to be a pressing priority for a city wrestling with a weak economy, unstable budgets and a lack of public trust in the City Council. As Stewart pointed out last week, there has been no public groundswell for a city charter. Residents will struggle to understand the council's sudden desire for a charter, without a clearer explanation of what benefits that change might bring to Moreno Valley.

The council discussion last week did not offer that clarity. Council members suggested the need for a directly elected mayor and council term limits, but voters can make both of those changes without any need for a charter. Calls for stricter residency requirements for council candidates and talk of the need for a full-time mayor with greater powers hinted as much at political self-interest as at civic betterment. Talk of a full-time mayor also highlights the fact that charter cities can set compensation for elected officials outside the strict legal limits on general law cities.

Owings mentioned the need for action on the city's "critical fiscal situation." Would a charter offer the city new ways to boost tax receipts? Or is the

The council recommended no changes to Barber's proposal and set June 26 as the date they'll formally adopt the budget.

But before Barber got into an explanation of next year's budget and how it differs from this year's, he and three department heads went point by point, listing council critics' concerns and responding to them. The previous city manager, Brad Hudson, rarely responded to public criticisms; Barber laid out his answers with a Powerpoint presentation.

As one example, blogger Mary Shelton has chastised the council for putting city facilities such as fire stations and libraries at risk by using them as collateral for debt. City Chief Finance Officer Brent Mason said those assets make good collateral because lenders assume the city would be more motivated to avoid defaulting on the debt.

However, he said, even if the city defaulted, the lender may only use the facilities until the debt is resolved but may not foreclose and take them from the city.

The discussion objectivity should not focus on objectivity of result but on objectivity of method. Deciding what's news involves choices.

When we discuss objectivity of method we mean that a journalist's reporting should be an open-minded search for truth. What's published should be fair, accurate and reasonably complete. All those who are stakeholders in the story should be given a reasonable opportunity to state their case. In addition to making sure what's published meets these requirements, reporters should also ask themselves if anything important is missing from their story.

They also might ask themselves if they've demonstrated sufficient skepticism about what is told to them especially when using unnamed sources.

Bias through selection and omission: An editor can express bias by choosing whether or not to use a specific news story. Within a story, some details can be ignored, others can be included to give readers or viewers a different opinion about the events reported. Only by comparing news reports from a wide variety of sources can this type of bias be observed.

The City Council this week unanimously approved establishing a committee to increase Moreno Valley Unified School District's graduation rate, which is said to be 69 percent.

Council members repeatedly have discussed working with the school district to better prepare students for employment after graduation.

The four-year committee is to mentor students and provide work and life skills. School superintendent Judy White is to be the committee chairwoman. She and Mayor Tom Owings are to select at least four committee members. Moreno Valley residency would not be required for participation.

Resident Alicia Espinoza in an email stated that she believes that the committee could be the city's attempt to profit from the school district, using it to apply for grants that could be used for other needs.

"Will the (Moreno Valley Unified School District) be the leasing agent for these grants or will the (district) receive 50 percent of the grants applied (for) by the City of Moreno Valley or will you continue allowing these clowns to give the (district) bread crumbs?" Espinoza asked district officials.

2013: THE YEAR IN PREVIEW

A LOOK AT WHAT'S TO COME IN THE AREA'S COMMUNITIES

The fate of the Mount Rubidoux cross and red-light cameras are among the issues to watch in 2013
FROM STAFF REPORTS

RED-LIGHT CAMERAS VOTE

Riverside voters will decide the future of the city's red-light cameras in 2013.

A split City Council voted in October to put a measure on the June ballot after listening to more than 20 speakers, most of whom opposed the cameras.

The program was hotly debated in 2012. Opponents argued that the $500 tickets are basically a moneymaker for the red-light camera company and hurt the local economy. Supporters argued that scofflaws should be punished and that the cameras improve safety.

In June, Public Works Director Tom Boyd had recommended ending the program because the city faced a $611,000 deficit from its red-light cameras. Then he had 11 of the 29 cameras removed and Caltrans reversed a decision to forbid cameras in intersections it controls, so the city program will about break even.

Riverside has had red-light cameras since 2006, and the council voted in 2011 to extend the program for five more years.

However, the June election might not end the debate. Murrieta voters banned red-light cameras in November, but the issue is still pending on a court appeal, financed by the operator of that city's redlight cameras, which have been turned off for now.

DECISION DUE ON CROSS

The fate of the iconic cross atop Mount Rubidoux could be decided as early as Jan. 15.

Americans United for Separation of Church and State has threatened to sue Riverside if the religious symbol is not removed from public land.

In November, the Riverside City Council postponed a decision on whether to sell 0.43 acres where the cross sits to avoid the lawsuit.

Some supporters of keeping the cross, which they say reflects the city's history as much or more than religion, are wary of a land swap or the city's selling the land under the cross. They say such a sale or swap may not stop legal challenges and that the city could win a suit.

The symbol has been perched atop Mount Rubidoux and beloved by the Riverside community since 1907. The mountain has been a public park since 1955, when Mission Inn owner Frank Miller's family donated the land to the city. A condition in the deed requiring the city to maintain the cross expired in 1985.

It is also the site of Easter sunrise worship services since 1909 and other Christian observances.

*WAREHOUSE DEBATE

The Moreno Valley City Council in 2013 is expected to approve a 41.6 million-square-foot distribution center that Highland Fairview President and CEO Iddo Benzeevi wants to construct on the city's east side.

The five council members have worked for Benzeevi, supported his projects or received campaign contributions from him or Skechers. Benzeevi developed the 1.8 million square-foot Skechers warehouse, which will be surrounded by the proposed project, known as the World Logistics Center.

City manager Henry Garcia said in a recent report that the council will receive the project environmental impact report in 2013. Once the draft environmental report is released, the public will have 45 days to submit concerns.

Project consultants then will review and respond to the comments and submit the environmental report and project to the city planning commission. The City Council will have final approval.

The proposed project would be the nation's largest masterplanned warehouse complex — equivalent to more than 700 regulation football fields, city officials have said.

Moreno Valley residents and area environmental groups concerned about pollution, traffic, wildlife, housing and creation of low-paying jobs oppose the proposed development.

JURUPA VALLEY'S FUTURE

The new year will likely determine the fate of the young city of Jurupa Valley, which is struggling financially after losing vehicle-license fee revenue.

A small group called Save Jurupa Valley hopes to help the former unincorporated Riverside County area that became a city on July 1, 2011. Cityhood came at an inopportune time, just a few days before the state legislature shifted millions of dollars in vehicle-license fee revenue to law enforcement grants.

That state revenue helps municipalities balance budgets during their initial years. Over the past two fiscal years, Jurupa Valley has lost more than $13 million in state revenue.

City officials expect to run out of money by June 30.

They are waiting for the Legislature to convene in January for its new session before renewing efforts to get the city's money restored. They also are asking the county to eliminate Jurupa Valley's financial obligations to the county for five years, and to provide a credit toward its contract with the Riverside County Sheriff's Department.

If the city disincorporates, it would revert to an unincorporated community of the county.

CORONA-NORCO CHANGES

✓ The Corona-Norco area could see a proposed annexation, a regional equestrian and sports park and preparations for a major freeway expansion project in 2013.

Corona's demographics would change if it successfully annexes about 15 miles of property south of its border known as the Temescal Valley. The city is applying to annex the mostly residential and partly rural area along Interstate 15. Many residents in the area oppose the move and could block the city's plans.

After repeated delays, a 122-acre equestrian and sports park in Norco known as Silverlakes is expected to formally open in spring. That date was pushed back from late January. The project has faced setbacks, from the approval process to flooding that interrupted construction.

The Hamner Avenue project would host soccer tournaments, equestrian events and attract tourists to patronize city businesses and increase city sales tax revenue.

Preparation for the $1.3 billion widening of Highway 91 through Corona would require at least 75 residents and business owners in that city to sell their property. The project will extend toll lanes from Orange County.

Construction is estimated to begin in early 2014, with new lanes opening in 2017.

Vehicles pass a "Photo Enforced" sign along Mission Inn Avenue, eastbound at Lime Street in downtown Riverside. City voters will be asked in June to decide if Riverside's 18 red-light cameras stay or go.

The fate of the Mount Rubidoux cross will likely be known in early 2013. City officials are pondering whether to sell the land under the cross.

Charter City

By the turn of the century, Riverside had become an incorporated city of 8,000. In 1907, by a vote of the people, it became a charter city instituting a Mayor-Council form of government. This charter was modified in 1929 and further amended in 1934 and 1949.

In 1950, prompted by growth in population and operating problems, a community-wide effort developed to establish a new City Charter. A City Board of Freeholders was elected in August 1951 to address the problems. A new Charter implementing the Council-Manager form of government was adopted in 1952 and ratified by the State Legislature in 1953.

In 1981, 1986, 1996 and 2007, the Charter was clarified and updated, but still maintains the 1952 governmental framework. The Mayor and 7-member elected City Council formulate City policy and the City Manager executes the policy.

Jurupa Valley street workers pick up debris in September, shortly after the governor vetoed a bill that would have restored vehicle license-fee revenue to the young city. Because of the loss of funding, Jurupa Valley could run out of money in 2013.

Lauren Roughton, Jurupa Valley's then-mayor, and Councilman Verne Lauritzen talk about the city's financial situation in September. The young city faces disincorporation after a loss of vehicle-license fee revenues.

Highland Fairview's Logistic Facility Honored as Largest Building of its kind to Earn 'LEED-Gold' in the U.S.

1.8 Million Square-Foot Facility, home of Sketchers North American Distribution Center, Sets Record for Green Building sustainable development

PR Newswire

United Business Media

RANCHO BELAGIO, Calif., Feb. 19, 2013 /PRNewswire via COMTEX/ -- The U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC), the leading authority in green building will present the Highland Fairview-Skechers next generation Logistics Facility the Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Gold Certification at a ceremony next Friday, February 22 at 9 a.m. at 29800 Eucalyptus Ave. , in Rancho Belago, CA (eastern portion of Moreno Valley).

The 1.8 million square-foot facility is the largest building of its kind in the United States to receive this honor.

The USGBC, LEED Gold Certification ceremony will be held Friday, February 22 at 9:00 a.m. at the building and will be attended by representatives of the Office of the Governor of California, County of Riverside and City of Moreno Valley, along with VIPs and community leaders.

"We are honored to receive this unique recognition. A LEED Gold designation is a tremendous achievement for any project. To be recognized as the largest, most advanced sustainable development of its kind in the United States is especially rewarding," said Highland Fairview President & Chief Executive Officer Iddo Benzeevi. "To achieve this level of sustainability at this scale required new and innovative approaches to design, the integration of state-of-the-art technologies and advanced construction systems. I'm proud to have been a part of bringing this national recognition to our region."

"SKECHERS is committed to growing its business in a way that conserves natural resources, protects the environment and reduces waste," said David Weinberg, SKECHERS Chief Operating Officer and Chief Financial Officer. "In addition to efficiently distributing our product across North America, the SKECHERS Rancho Belago facility is an outstanding example of how large corporations can grow their business while also promoting earth-friendly practices. We're proud of the design innovation and 'green' features that can be found throughout the facility."

The global logistics center, which serves as the North American distribution headquarters for SKECHERS USA, incorporates Highland Fairview's Complete Life Cycle approach to sustainable development which includes extensive use of recycled construction building materials, the latest technology in irrigation and water utilization, storm water treatment, advanced solar power generation systems, and advanced environmentally-friendly materials to name a few. The facility also makes extensive use of parabolic skylights to increase natural lighting in all areas, low water-use fixtures, and recycled water repurposed for irrigation.

LEED, administered by the United States Green Building Council, is a comprehensive system to define, measure and designate "green buildings." Certification in the national recognition program is based on strict standards in five key areas: site planning, water management, energy, material use and indoor environmental quality.

The Highland Fairview-Skechers Logistics Center has become a landmark in the area and is known for its design. With 1.8 million square feet of space, the global logistics center is the first building in a planned eco-friendly logistics campus that will add thousands of new

Moreno Valley City Hall. (Lora Hines/Staff writer)

Mayor Tom Owings at the Monday, Feb. 26, City Council meeting questioned why I didn't attend a ceremony held last week at the Skechers warehouse. My editor and I weren't sent invitations to the event. If Skechers officials had wanted me or my boss there, we probably would have been invited. Other editors and reporters received invitations to the event and decided whether to attend or write about it. My editor, Mark Acosta, or editor John Bender answer questions about The Press-Enterprise's content decisions. They can be reached at macosta@pe.com or jbender@pe.com. MURRIETA VALLEY UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT | February 22, 2013; 10:40 AM | Comments (0)

Five students were honored recently in the Murrieta Valley Chamber of Commerce High School Student of the Month Recognition Program.

Students share personal stories of their most important life lesson, how they plan to "pay it forward" when they return from college and stories of victory through challenging life circumstances.

The honorees are:

Vista Murrieta High School senior Desiree Johnson has served on her school's Principal's Advisory Council for four years, and her contributions on the council and student senate have helped shape the school's culture. Desiree maintains a 4.0 GPA, and she is a member of California Scholarship Federation.

Desiree has participated in track and field and varsity basketball. Her first choice college is Pepperdine, where she plans to major in biology and obtain a medical degree. Her goal is become an oncology surgeon.

Ryan Van Dyke attended three high schools before starting at Creekside High this year. Although he was not on track to graduate when he entered Creekside, Ryan has gone above and beyond to not only catch up, but move ahead so he can graduate early. Ryan applies himself in class and is polite and respectful. Ryan plans to attend a culinary arts program and pursue a career in the culinary arts.

Murrieta Mesa High School senior Chase Chambers is a leader in the classroom and in athletics. He is a three-sport varsity athlete in football, basketball and baseball. As quarterback of the Rams football team, he finished the season as second-best in area history for career completions and attempts before a season-ending knee injury.

Chase's injury and recovery efforts have inspired him to become a physical therapist, and he plans to pursue a degree in kinesiology. Chase is a member of the AVID program, and he has been accepted to Arizona State, Northern Arizona University, Boise State and UC Davis.

Oak Grove Center senior Isamar Zambrano aspires to a career in the juvenile justice system, either as an attorney, a judge or a child psychologist. Although she has overcome obstacles in her life, Isamar made the decision to be the best person she can be and let nothing stand in the way of achieving her dreams. Academics are a top priority for her, and she plans to attend RCC and then UCR, where she will major in criminal justice and child psychology. Isamar has been involved in the Interact Club at her school and she values helping people.

Murrieta Valley High School senior Jordan Niell is at the top of his class academically with a 4.3 GPA and he also has the highest SAT score in his class. He has been involved in Science Olympiad, the Solar Cup Challenge and the school's Robotics team, and he was instrumental in helping the team win the World Robotics Championship last year.

He challenges himself with International Baccalaureate and AP classes, and he is interested in pursuing the field of artificial intelligence at Stanford or UC Berkeley.

Economist John Husing speaks during a Moreno Valley economic forum in January 2012.

Moreno Valley city officials say the economic promise of 41.6 million square feet of warehouses envisioned for the east side of the city includes paychecks for "tens of thousands" of workers.

The enticing projection, trumpeted amid some of the highest unemployment rates in the nation — 13.7 percent in Moreno Valley and 11.7 in the Inland region — grew out of an analysis by Inland economist John Husing. He calculated that the proposed World Logistics Center would put one person to work for every 2,000 square feet of warehouse space, creating about 20,000 "direct jobs."

Another 8,000 people would find work in and around Moreno Valley at restaurants, dry cleaners and other services needed by these workers and their employers.

Husing predicts the warehouse complex will pump more than $4 billion a year into Riverside County's economy.

But public records, surveys of existing Inland warehouses and interviews with other experts show that Husing's jobs projection might be overly optimistic and did not reflect trends in warehousing. Husing based his projection partially on 9-year-old national jobs data that didn't look specifically at the large, modern warehouses proposed for Moreno Valley.

Many large warehouses — some covering more than 1 million square feet — are highly automated with computers, conveyors and robotic machinery. They employ significantly fewer people per unit of space than Husing's estimate for the World Logistics Center, according to a Press-Enterprise survey of large warehouses. For example, Target, Lowe's, Toys R Us and UPS distribution centers in the Inland area employ about half of the 1-per-2,000 estimate for the Moreno Valley complex.

Getting it right is important, experts say.

"The public deserves and should receive accurate information from the agencies, and anything different should not be," said Hasan Ikhata, executive director of the Southern California Association of Governments, the regional planning agency.

Accurate information allows citizens and policymakers to better evaluate a project's costs and benefits and gives the public confidence in the decision making, said Ikhata and Bob Stern of the Center for Government Studies.

Conversely, inaccurate information can thwart an agency's own ambitions, said Ikhata, who has not reviewed Husing's analysis.

On Jan. 5, the Ramona AVID program celebrated 25 years of sending underrepresented students to college through a guided program that prepared students academically and knowledgeably for the college level.

The celebration attracted over 60 former Ramona AVID students, as well as former Ramona principals Bill Vaughn, Lorie Reitz, Gladys Walker, Susan Mills, and current Riverside Unified School District Superintendent Rick Miller.

In 1988, Ramona was the first AVID program to begin outside of the San Diego area. Mary Catherine Swanson, who started AVID at Clairemont High School in San Diego in 1980, was the keynote speaker for the 25-year celebration, along with former Ramona coordinators Wanda Schneider and Sally Griffin, and current coordinator Scott Lockman.

"It was a personal satisfaction of being a part of an educational team of leaders who have maintained a level of excellence for 25 years," Lockman said. "It was great to see the real superstars of our program, the alum

"This, in turn, pushed us to adopt smart time management skills. Swanson, now retired, talked about how Maxine Frost, former RUSD board member, was instrumental in persuading her to help Ramona establish an AVID program in 1988, bringing it outside of San Diego, and eventually throughout the country and the world.

"AVID helped me in so many ways," said Ramona AVID graduate Alan Silva, a senior at Harvard who was on winter break and enjoying the celebration, "The Ramona AVID teachers prepared me for what to expect."

LAKE ELSINORE UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT | February 21, 2013; 10:18 AM | Comments (0)

Seven high school seniors from the Lake Elsinore Unified School District were recently honored by the Student of the Month program under the auspices of the Lake Elsinore Valley Chamber of Commerce and BMW Management, which owns and manages Sizzler restaurants.

Students are selected by teachers and school staff for their character, love of learning, leadership, community service and their ability to persevere through challenges.

The honorees are:

Lyle Brewer, Elsinore High School. He has applied to Brigham Young University Provo, but won't start until after he's ventured into the world on a two-year mission assignment through his church. School life includes band, serving as ASB president, and leading the student cheer section at pep rallies and games. Teachers describe Lyle as a servant leader. He is also a talented musician and piano teacher.

Heather Zermeno, Elsinore High School. She is a soft-spoken student-athlete with a big heart. Basketball has helped to center her school life, and her integrity has helped to steady her teammates, playing better as a result. She plans to attend Pepperdine University, where she will study pre-law and international relations. Adversities in life have taught her to be nonjudgmental.

Diego Aguilar, Lakeside High School. He has been accepted at San Diego State University, where he will study aerospace engineering. School life includes varsity basketball and dual enrollment, which enables him to earn college credit through college coursework at Lakeside. Outside activities include service to his church.

Deja Stockdale, Lakeside High School. She has strength of character to endure the burden of terminal illness in her own family, while finding hope and renewal as the co-founder of a campus club that supports students when cancer strikes a loved one. She has applied to UCLA, UCR and UC San Diego, among others, so she can study bio-psychology, a field of interest inspired by her Stanford-educated aunt. Deja's school life includes Calculus club and band.

Jeffrey Ibarra, Temescal Canyon High School. This is his first year in the AVID program, which has taught him the value of being true to his discerning, insightful self. He has been accepted at CSU San Marcos but has also applied to UCR, UC Irvine and UCLA. School life includes academics and being a dance member of the hip hop crew.

Anaielly Velasco, Temescal Canyon High School. She has a passion for broadcast journalism and public speaking. She has applied to Cal State Long Beach, Fullerton, UCR, and USC. She founded the Rotary Interact Club at her school and edits the sports news for the school newspaper. She is president of AVID, which has helped her maintain high grades and high aspirations. She has played volleyball all four years at Temescal Canyon but still finds time to volunteer with the elderly and shut-ins.

Alyssa De Moraes, Southern California Online Academy. She has applied to Cal State San Marcos and plans to major in liberal studies, with the goal of becoming a fifth-grade teacher. She especially enjoys language and social studies but feels she will be an effective instructor because of her love of learning. The Southern California Online Academy has enabled her to take electives at Elsinore High, where she's been cast in the spring production of "Beauty and the Beast."

have the largest, most technically sophisticated types of warehouses. They are known in the industry as "high cube" warehouses, named for their high ceilings. The buildings capitalize on robotics and other advances in automation technologies that reduce the number of workers needed to operate them.

At a public meeting earlier this year, Benzeevi said the World Logistics Center would have warehouses much like his 1.8 million-square-foot Skechers building that opened last year south of Highway 60 in eastern Moreno Valley.

"These are considered high-cube logistics warehouse buildings that essentially will be not just the majority but the core and definition of this project," he said at the March 12 meeting.

In Riverside County, developers of high-cube buildings pay lower road impact fees because having fewer workers translates to less wear and tear on the roads, according to the Western Riverside Council of Governments.

Similarly, the city of Perris gave developers of high-cube warehouses a break on parking requirements.

"They are extremely highly automated and have a rather low employment count, therefore we are finding that these facilities ... are over-parked," Associate Planner Diane Sbardellati told Perris City Council in 2009. "Over half of this parking can be eliminated."

The change in parking requirements allowed developers of the 1.3 million-square-foot Ridge Commerce Center in Perris to reduce the number of parking spaces from 826 to 472.

Even since 2003, when the data Husing used was collected, warehousing has become more efficient.

"The technology has made the difference," said B.J. Patterson, CEO of Pacific Mountain Logistics in Ontario. He oversees 200,000 square feet of warehouses filled with sporting goods and grocery products. "Now you have mobile technologies that are much less expensive and easy to obtain and to integrate. We have made the workers more efficient."

Because of such efficiencies, ratios of one job per 4,000 square feet or more are becoming commonplace, Patterson said. That's half as many workers as Husing's formula.

Husing said he stands by his numbers. He said he did not intend to include only large warehouses in his calculations.

The marketplace that demands high-cube warehouses now may want other types of industrial buildings in the future. It will take some 20 years to build out the center, he said.

"I don't think you end up with the space only used for huge logistics operations," said .

For example, a proposed California high-speed rail system is gaining opposition because proponents underestimated its cost and overestimated ridership.

"If you over- or understate, you will lose people even when you have a good case," Ikhata said.

Moreno Valley stands by Husing's figures.

The city's community and economic development director, Barry Foster, said a city jobs survey found that many warehouses there employ significantly more people than would be expected based on Husing's formula. The Press-Enterprise was unable to verify most of the city's information because the companies that own or lease the warehouses would not divulge employment numbers or did not return telephone calls.

A 1.5 million-square-foot Ross Stores distribution center and a neighboring 715,000-square-foot Walgreen center collectively employ about 2,200 people, which is about double the rate predicted by Husing's formula, according to the city survey.

"They are all different types of operations," Foster said, so the number of employees varies widely.

Foster said the projections are "just an estimate" included in a broader Husing report that also identified economic opportunities for a city dealing with nearly 14 percent unemployment. The city paid Husing $15,000 for the report.

Even if the jobs fall short of projections, Moreno Valley stands to gain thousands of jobs if the logistics center comes to fruition, Foster said. "We need the jobs."

He said he expects the city to attract distribution centers for discount retailers, such as Ross and Harbor Freight — companies that have beat Husing's numbers because their warehouses are so busy. He also hopes to see more online retailers, such as the existing iHerb, which employs about 400 people in a 360,000-square-foot building that includes the company's offices as well as warehousing operations.

Experts on warehousing, however, say the trend is toward more automation and fewer employees. For that reason, some local governments have cut parking space requirements and road impact fees for distribution centers.

DATED DATA

Husing analyzed national data for all sizes and ages of warehouses/distribution centers that had been gathered in 2003 by the U.S. Energy Information Administration as part of a larger survey of commercial buildings to gauge energy use.

The World Logistics Center, proposed by developer Iddo Benzeevi, would number of direct jobs it might create.

Estimating how many people warehouses will employ must take into account a range of factors, experts said.

If China's economy slows, there will be cobwebs at the port, for example, Springer said. What kind of business occupies the warehouse space can also determine how many employees will be required, he said.

Esmael Adibi, an economist with Chapman University and director of the school's Center for Economic Research, said there isn't really one good source for data that would portray industrial employment per square foot in the Inland region. National statistics wouldn't reflect the region's distinct situation, mainly the availability of cheaper land that allows industries to spread out employees, he said.

"You might put 30 people in a huge space," Adibi said.

The employment numbers are in flux, said Jordan Levine, economic research director at Beacon Economics.

Levine did a quick analysis of Inland jobs at the request of The Press-Enterprise and found that logistics and warehouse employment in the Inland region peaked in 2006, when 130,000 people worked in those sectors. At its worst, in 2009, the number dropped to 113,000. The number has climbed to 120,000 more recently as exports and trade have picked up.

John Wu is director of the Leonard Transportation Center, which teaches advanced skills in logistics and goods movement at Cal State San Bernardino. He said warehouse operators started automating their operations about six or seven years ago.

"They are not investing in people, but they are investing in technologies," Wu said. "The rule of thumb is around 4,000 square feet per job."

That number is likely to improve as the economy recovers, he said.

John J. Pitney Jr., a political science professor at Claremont-McKenna College, said cities and others that push for big projects such as sports arenas often succumb to a temptation to overstate the benefits and understate the costs.

"If all these job claims were true," he said, "the nation's unemployment rate would be zero."

Warehouse complex proposed

Developer Iddo Benzeevi wants to 41.6 million square feet of warehouses in eastern Moreno Valley.

Husing said the newspaper's focus on larger warehouses is off target.

"You are only talking to people who are in a non-peak season, in a recession, in one type of facility, with one kind of tenant, and trying to generalize for an economy that will ebb and flow and change over the next 20 years," he said in an email.

He further accused The Press-Enterprise of wanting "badly to wipe out a major project" that would benefit nearly half of Riverside County residents, many of them Hispanic, who don't have college degrees.

The newspaper has not taken a position on the project, but its editorial page has criticized some city officials for promoting the World Logistics Center before the required environmental reviews have been done.

SKECHERS EXAMPLE

Predicting warehouse jobs already has proven tricky for Moreno Valley.

The Skechers warehouse, which Benzeevi has held up as a model for buildings at the World Logistics Center, has not delivered on the 1,000 jobs that supporters were trumpeting as the project navigated city approval processes. A city survey in January found 600 jobs there — a rate of one job per 3,000 square feet.

Skechers also shed jobs last year, around the time its distribution operations moved from Ontario to Moreno Valley.

The shoe company had employed about 1,000 people in five smaller warehouses before consolidating and moving to Moreno Valley. Skechers notified state officials that it would terminate 339 people at four Ontario locations on Oct. 31.

Foster and Benzeevi both have said the move was good for Moreno Valley, which gained 600 jobs it didn't have before the warehouse was built. Both men have said they expect the number of employees to increase as the economy improves.

The Skechers workforce in Moreno Valley is in line with an analysis by Los Angeles-based Beacon Economics, which relied on 2012 data from the California Employment Development Department. Beacon found one job for every 3,000 to 3,250 square feet, including people employed in logistics, transportation and wholesale trades.

Those ratios would put the World Logistics Center jobs figure closer to, at most, 13,500 positions.

Predicting future jobs can be a murky endeavor.

Bruce Springer, senior vice president of Lee & Associates in Riverside and a planning commissioner with the city of Moreno Valley from 1993 to 2008, said the greater good of a project is its overall economic impact, not simply the friendly materials to name a few. The facility also makes extensive use of parabolic skylights to increase natural lighting in all areas, low water-use fixtures, and recycled water repurposed for irrigation.

LEED, administered by the United States Green Building Council, is a comprehensive system to define, measure and designate "green buildings." Certification in the national recognition program is based on strict standards in five key areas: site planning, water management, energy, material use and indoor environmental quality.

The Highland Fairview-Skechers Logistics Center has become a landmark in the area and is known for its design. With 1.8 million square feet of space, the global logistics center is the first building in a planned eco-friendly logistics campus that will add thousands of new jobs to the area over the coming years.

In other business, the council is to consider establishing a committee to increase Moreno Valley Unified School District's graduation rate, which is 69 percent, according to a city report. Council members repeatedly have discussed working with the school district to better prepare students for employment after graduation.

If approved, the four-year committee would mentor students and provide work and life skills. Schools superintendent Judy White would be the committee chairwoman. She and Owings would select at least four committee members. Moreno Valley residency would not be required for participation, the city report states.

Moreno Valley residents on Monday, Feb. 25, were told that the 41.6 million square-foot warehouse center that the city wants to develop could generate more than $2.4 billion annually and create more than 22,500 permanent jobs.

The figures were released during a forum that city officials hosted to release information about the draft environmental impact report for the project, known as the proposed World Logistics Center. More than 100 opponents and supporters gathered to learn more about the project, to be built by developer Iddo Benzeevi.

The forum, which lasted less than two hours, ended after Jordan Levine of Beacon Economics presented the proposed warehouse center's job and economic estimates.

Levine said the project could cost as much as $3.5 billion to construct. Employee wages could be $42,000 to $60,000 annually, he said.

Some people who attended expressed disappointment that they couldn't ask questions. They called the presentation a commercial for the city.

"It was just a propaganda piece for the city," said resident Eddy Sone, a retired banker. "I thought there would be questions and answers. This whole project is going to be nothing but traffic."

Others complimented Moreno Valley Mayor Tom Owings for holding the forum and said they supported the project because of the jobs it would bring. Owings moderated the forum, which also included presentations by Barry Foster, the city's community and economic development director, and Michael Brandman, of consulting group FirstCarbon Solutions.

Benzeevi attended the forum but didn't address the crowd.

The project's environmental impact report, released earlier this month, states what critics have suspected: the project probably will create more traffic, affect air quality and pose long-term health-care risks.

City officials and Benzeevi, who has said the environmental impacts will be addressed, have publicly advocated for the project for more than a year.

The project would be the nation's largest master-planned warehouse complex and equivalent to more than 700 regulation football fields, city officials have said.

Ti

No one addressed the proposed project's impacts described in the report. Foster reiterated the city's commitment to developing warehouse and health care jobs.

Brandman described the state's environmental laws and the process officials must follow before they can approve the proposed project.

"There is a lot more to come," he said. "There will be a lot more public involvement."

Residents, along with federal, state and local agencies, municipalities and organizations, have until April 8 to submit comments about the draft environmental impact report. Officials will examine the comments before submitting a final environmental impact report for approval.

The Moreno Valley City Council's agenda for Tuesday, Feb. 26, includes topics such as establishing committees to improve city graduation rates and exploring becoming a charter city.

The Moreno Valley City Council on Tuesday, Feb. 26, is to follow through on plans to determine whether to become a charter city.

The council is set to vote on whether to establish a charter exploratory subcommittee and appoint two council members to it. Mayor Tom Owings and Councilman Richard Stewart have expressed interest in serving on such a subcommittee.

Charter cities have "home rule" over municipal affairs, which trumps state rules governing the same topics. There are about 120 charter cities among California's 480 municipalities, including 14 in Riverside and San Bernardino counties. The rest, including Moreno Valley, are general law cities.

An elected charter commission or the City Council would draft a charter, according to the League of California Cities, which is made up of city officials throughout the state. A majority of voters would then have to ratify a charter before it could be adopted.

Residents critical of Moreno Valley becoming a charter city say they believe officials would create a charter that would allow for gifts of public funds to developers and business owners, plus make zoning and land-use provisions more favorable to development.

Owings announced plans in January for Moreno Valley to consider becoming a charter city. The council then discussed the issue at a day-long study session earlier this month.

The council on Tuesday also is set to consider extending a 45-day moratorium to prevent a rush for developers to get projects entitled before a proposed east side development strategy, known as the Highway 60 overlay, is approved. However, the city has yet to hire a consultant to prepare an overlay study, according to a staff report.

Last month, council members approved $50,000 to hire a consultant to prepare an overlay study. So far, the city has not received any proposals from 18 firms contacted to possibly provide the service.

The moratorium could be extended as long as 10 months and 15 days, a city report states.

council looking at a charter city's capacity to ignore prevailing wage rules on locally funded public projects, which can cut costs for taxpayers? Would a charter bring some other so far unmentioned economic advantage to Moreno Valley?

The mayor last week suggested another rationale, as well. Moreno Valley "needs to live up to its destiny," Owings said. The city's status as a general law city puts shackles on Moreno Valley that keeps the city from growing to its full potential, he said — though just how was not clear.

Civic improvement is a worthwhile goal for Moreno Valley, certainly. But residents should hold no illusions that a different governmental structure will somehow boost the city's reputation and performance. A city charter would not improve the quality of council representation, or result in better city decisions. A charter would not bolster public confidence in a council that often seems more interested in catering to a powerful developer than in representing residents' interests. The key to gaining credibility is changing the official attitudes and actions that erode public trust, not altering the form of government.

If a charter offers legitimate advantages for Moreno Valley, the council needs to make that case. But everyone should remember that a city charter is just a tool — and even the best-designed tool is only as good as the workers using it.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY: Sheriff concerned about higher retirement age

Today's Poll

Should California's three-strikes law impose a life term ONLY if the third conviction involves a serious or violent felony?

- Yes. Life sentences should be served only for the worst of the worst.
- No. Anyone who has reaches two-strike status knows the rules.
- Not sure. Throwing away the key is tempting, but the budget hit is huge.

Riverside County Sheriff Stan Sheriff is concerned that raising the retirement age for police officers will result in a surge of older, less physically capable deputies on the street.

Raising California police retirement age could lead to more... patrol duty, said Riverside County Sheriff Stan Sniff and law enforcement advocacy groups.

Patrol work "is a young man's and a young woman's game," said Sniff, who just turned 63. "It's very hard to be a front-line patrol officer at over 50 years of age."

The California Police Chiefs Association and the California Peace Officers Association gets, the more likely they are peace officers association st:

"The nature of police work is whatever savings will be achieved through whatever means, it, and whatever savings will be achieved will most likely be offset by an increase in disability, workers' compensation, and the possible unnecessary loss of an officer's life," the email read.

The job description for Riverside County deputy lists as recruiting guidelines the ability to "climb barriers, jump obstacles, and perform strenuous physical activities (and) control resisting subjects with a minimum of force necessary to effect an arrest."

Talks between Gov. Jerry Brown, Democratic leaders and public-employee unions led state lawmakers Friday, Aug. 31, to approve sweeping changes to the public pension system that are projected to save $52 billion to $72 billion in pension costs over the next 30 years. The state's pensions are underfunded by at least $150 billion.

The changes would apply to state and local governments alike, such as those enrolled in the California Public Employees' Retirement System or CalPERS, Riverside County among them. The changes also apply to counties with their own retirement systems covered by the 1937 Retirement Act, such as San Bernardino County.

University of California workers are exempt, as are charter cities and charter counties with their own retirement plans, such as San Diego.

The age at which police and firefighters hired after Jan. 1 can retire with full benefits goes from 50 to 57. Once they turn 57, retirees would be entitled to 2 percent of their salary multiplied by years of service.

For non-public safety employees, the formula for new hires is 2 percent at age 62. A 50-50 split of pension costs between employers and employees applies to everyone. The changes override anything negotiated between the county and its unions.

Pensions have been a source of concern for Sniff, an elected official who oversees a department of more than 3,000. Besides patrolling unincorporated areas, the department provides police services through contracts for 17 of the county's 28 cities.

In June, Sniff asked the county Board of Supervisors to delay an overhaul of county pensions until he could study how law enforcement would be affected. Supervisors moved forward with the changes, which followed lengthy negotiations with the county's labor unions, including the Riverside Sheriffs' Association.

With the county's pension debt exceeding $1 billion, supervisors wanted to prevent pension costs from consuming the entire budget. In general, the unions agreed to pay more toward their retirement, as well as smaller pensions for new hires, in exchange for pay raises.

Currently, deputies at age 50 are entitled to an annual pension equal to 3 percent of their pay times years of service, with pensions capped at 90 percent of the deputy's highest salary. The deal reached in May with the deputies' union cut the benefit for new deputies to 2 percent at age 50.

Sniff said the 2 percent at 50 formula put him at a disadvantage when competing for deputies with other agencies. Experienced officers would be reluctant to transfer to the county, while county deputies would be tempted to leave for departments with better retirement benefits, the sheriff said.

Applying the 2 percent at 57 formula for all cities and counties enrolled in CalPERS creates a more level playing field, Sniff said.

MORE NEEDED

The sheriff's concern about retirement benefits for new hires comes as his department expects to add as many as 800 deputies in the coming years, in part to oversee jail space being built to relieve crowding. It costs the county $750,000 over five years to train and equip each new deputy and investigate his or her background before hiring, Sniff said.

New deputies typically are 28 years old when hired and 50 when they retire, so they rarely get the maximum pension benefit, Sniff said.

From 2008 to Aug. 20 this year, the average public safety retiree in the county left after 22 years with a pension of roughly $68,000, according to data provided by the county human resources department. The average non-safety employee retired after 17.5 years with a $32,000 pension, figures show.

'PANDORA'S BOX'

Not all deputies can take desk jobs when they get older because there are not enough of those jobs to go around, Sniff said.

"Why make artificial make-work positions for public safety people?" he said.

"We either need the positions or we don't."

Letting deputies retire at 50 provides a graceful exit point, Sniff said, adding that more older deputies working patrol "opens up a Pandora's Box of workers' compensation issues."

Brown spokesman Gil Duran noted that the retirement age for public-safety personnel was 60 at one time.

"This is the biggest rollback of pension benefits in state history and will save California taxpayers billions of dollars," Duran said.

State Sen. Gloria Negrete McLeod, D-Chino, one of the leaders of the conference committee that produced the bill, said the Legislature could revisit retirement ages for public-safety personnel if there are problems.

"This is what the governor wanted," she said. The bill also reflects the input of public-safety labor and management, she said.

The sheriff's concerns are valid, according to Alison Moore, a professor of medicine and psychiatry at the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA. "Some are fine at 57 and beyond, and others will not be," she said.

The California chapter of the AARP does not have a position on the state pension changes, spokesman Charee Gillins wrote in an email. "What's important to keep in mind is that a person's ability to do their job comes down to competency and fitness, not age," she wrote.

The problem does not arise with the age of a patrol officer! It is the problem of not requiring police officers to remain in shape after graduating from the academy. As we all can see for ourselves, most cops DON'T stay in shape. Only specialized units like SWAT require routine physical fitness qualification (PFQ) tests as well as a PFQ test to obtain a position. PFQ tests should be routine so that cops can continue to do the job they were hired for, but for that to happen; a whole lot of other labor laws have to change. Patrol work is very tough and the men and women who do it NEED to stay in shape, regardless of age.

Sheriff Stan Sniff - I stand behind you on your ideas and thoughts. Thank you for the job you do.. People are quick to make opinions but there are not standing where you are.. Never judge a person til you walk in their shoes.

There are some depts that might be able to handle past 50- and that is great for them But I see alot that cannot.. and it is a given that they are more likely to get hurt and cost more to department.. and.... I have a lot more I can say but I am just going to end this with- SHERIFF SNIFF keep doing the fine job that you are doing.. And Thank you....for having your deputies in your thoughts....and actions.

Watch the exodus of law enforcement officers to states with cheaper living expenses and less chance of on-duty injury. If the benefits aren't going to be there, they will go where the work gives their families a better life.

Marc Simpson Why do you put it upon Emu Cat to solve this? Neither she nor I are in a position to give a cogent answer here... but that doesn't mean we're blind to the obvious.

The house is on fire, we're pointing it out... we aren't trained in the best ways to extinguish it.

But I have the solution anyway... let it burn down. Let the state crumble as long as no one disturbs pensions that are immorally out of line with reality... or, tell it straight. There isn't the money, sorry you retirees (and soon to retire) were told lies in the past... but I hope you all saved your money, because you won't been getting anything near what you were banking on.

By all means, retire at 50, but that doesn't mean it's time for you to sit on the porch in a rocking chair collecting a fat pension. At some point, reality has to be taken into account and you simply CANNOT give a guy 90% of what he made for 20 to 40 years. A pension is not there for you to live the sweet life... it's to keep you from being a burden. It's supposed to give you enough money to survive... if you want to thrive in old age, save your own money.

We can promise everyone everything, but thinking people know that is an untenable proposition.

actually most of the law enforcement pensions that are not PERS, are paid for by the employee and employer (some % by both) and the state does not pay a dime into it at all. So what is the difference to the state if my pension was money I set aside for 30 years?!!! That is like being told that the money you have been setting aside for 30 years cannot be used anymore because you saved TOO MUCH. LOL

I have to agree with the Sheriff on the age. Years of working patrol wear your body down. If you can't physically run, fight and perform, no matter what kind of shape you keep yourself in, it endangers the person and other officers. Same as the military, the front line is a young person's job. A better solution would be retire after 25 yrs, and age 50.

Food for Thought:

you wake up to some gangster-thug and his buddy high on meth with guns in their hands kicking your door to rob you in your home. You manage to dial 9-1-1 before being brought into the living room. You are praying for the cops to show up in force and save you and family. Only, reality sets in when a 65 year old grandfather shows up to the call by himself. While he is in GREAT shape and can run a marathon, his strength isn't what it was at 35 and now, instead of helping you, he now joins you as a victim and now the suspects have another gun.....all to save a couple of bucks? Yea thats worth it right? Great Job Jerry Brown. Mr "Sluff off my responsibility to the counties"

@Joseph Morabito, yes, there are other physically demanding jobs but a clogged toilet is not going to attack you and try to hurt or kill you, etc, etc. The concern is not so much that a cop won't have pleasant golden years, the concern is, is he going to be able to function without getting injured when having to fight with a 20year old or run a mile chasing that 20year old crook. Can the cop climb fences and come to the aid of another cop in danger or citizens needing help, etc. Imagine the rape suspect getting away because the 53 year old cop couldn't keep up at all. How would you feel if it were your house that the crook had just broken into?

You people have no clue what your public safety officers sacrifice for you the public.... All in the name of a better future for their families. These are but some of things they do.... Being on call 24/7/365, court appearances, missed birthdays, holidays, long hours each day, carry 25 pounds of equipment on your body all day long, run, stand, sit for long hours, exposure to human body fluids like blood, saliva, vomit, and lets not forget our friend Mr STRESS. Stress to your body, your mind, your family, your marriage. public safety officer have the highest rate of suicide and divorce then most profession in the country. These are but a few of the sacrifices they make for you but you people say they don't warrant the 3.0 factor@ 50. Not every officer will make it to retirement. Some will be injured, some will die by their own hand and God forbid while on duty but most will die that slow death from all they endure. You say we can't afford this. Well we sure can afford a bullet train to nowhere or raises for the legislative workers and CSU and UC administrators but we can't afford this any longer. Shame on all of us for asking everything and giving nothing in return.

Justin, my brother was retired by the OC sheriff's dept at age 33 because he hurt his knee. They have been giving him THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS A MONTH every month for the last 8 years (he only worked for them for about 30 months). He'll get that money for the rest of his life, though he's had a doctor clear him to go back to work.

If you think the job is too dangerous, don't take it.

Much respect to you and your brother but what happened to your brother is clearly a break down in the worker comp system. If he has been cleared by his doctor to return to work...I have to ask, does this mean he could go back and work as a deputy or to a job where he can work but not able to perform his duties as a deputy. Big difference in the world of workers comp. If he was cleared and was evaluated by a W/C QME doctor and cleared to return to work, then there is no way he should be collecting money or be retired. This does happen though sad to say. Morally and ethically it is wrong if you accept an offer to retire knowing you can still do the work. if there is a doubt about the case for your brother he should request a QME reevaluation of his knee and if cleared be reinstated back as a deputy if his department will take hi...See More

Two things.

First, please learn to break your comments into paragraphs. It's not a grammar thing it's just very difficult to wade through so much that is all mashed together.

Second, from what I understand, the 3% thing didn't come along until recently, I've heard after 9-11.

A guy with a family has no business considering retirement, ergo the issue of 1987 wages in 2012 is moot. Plus, that is the fact that the general pop is facing and the public employees, including public safety, don't deserve an edge.

We obviously have different views on what a pension should be. I do not view it as an investment that should pay fabulously, just enough to pay the bills. You are supposed to save your own money if you want to have the same spending powers after retirement as before it.

You were promised things that could never be delivered. Your beef is with lying politicians that were just trying to get the union vote, not with the overburdened public.

RIVERSIDE: Election changes expected to spike voter turnout

BY ALICIA ROBINSON | STAFF WRITER | May 25, 2012; 07:15 PM | Comments (0)

Riverside's mayoral election will enter a brave new world on June 5, the first time in at least half a century that it has been held along with a presidential election. The high visibility of the pres the first election with new sta legislative district boundaries bring more voters out for the which has often seen low turnout when held in odd years.

Seven candidates are running for mayor: former councilman Ed Adkison, Councilman William "Rusty" Bailey, nonprofit CEO Peter Benavidez, community volunteer Aurora Chavez, Councilman Mike Gardner, Councilman Andy Melendrez and teacher Dvonne Pitruzzello.

Riverside's November 2005 mayoral election drew a little more than 45 percent of city voters. Four years later, participation fell to nearly 19 percent, statistics from the Riverside County Registrar of Voters show.

"This is the first time that this race is consolidated with the presidential primary and all those congressional and state assembly races, so we should see an uptick (in turnout)," said Joan Donahue, president of Riverside's League of Women Voters.

A change voters made to the city charter in 2006 moved mayoral elections to presidential years starting this year. At the time, city officials said the switch would give all council members the opportunity to run for mayor without having to give up their council seat. Previously the mayor's race was on the same ballot as council elections for wards 2, 4 and 6.

With Riverside's usual odd-year elections, "There are a lot of people who don't even know that an election is going on," Donahue said.

Observers say that's not the case this year. The redrawing of assembly and congressional district boundaries has shaken up those races and gotten voters' attention, said Wendel Tucker, president of the Raincross Group, a civic organization that held a mayoral candidates forum last month.

Mayor Ron Loveridge said past mayoral elections have averaged 20 to 30 percent turnout, and he predicts as much as 35 percent on June 5. It's the first time since Loveridge became mayor in 1994 that he won't be on the ballot for that office, but Donahue said she hasn't heard enough excitement about the race to assume it's generating much attention on its own.

One potential wild card is participation by the city's Latino voters.

Census data show Latinos make up 49 percent of city residents and there have been recent pushes to get that community politically engaged, but "the voter registration statistics are dismal," said Francisco Sola, Riverside coordinator for the Latino Voter Registration Education Project.

"We are not a voting power base yet," he said.

Sola said traditional campaign methods don't always reach Latino voters because they don't fit the mold of the "traditional voter," which he described as being white, a homeowner and having a high level of education.

Recent voter registration efforts have been more fruitful than in the past, said Ofelia Valdez-Yeager, vice president of the Latino Network, a Riverside-based community group, but "whether the issues (on the June ballot) resonate specifically with the Latino community remains to be seen."

Whatever the participation in next week's election, everybody expects turnout in November to far surpass it.

Valdez-Yeager said the run-up to the June ballot will be important in the Latino community as preparation for November.

"I think it's getting everybody's feet wet and hearing the message about the importance of voting," she said.

Most observers agree that a runoff in the mayor's race is likely, because the large number of candidates may make it hard to get the 50 percent plus one

"What is different about this election is how the vote in November will have two to three times as many people voting, so it's a much different kind of campaign than we've had before," he said.

CHARTER CITY

By the turn of the century, Riverside had become an incorporated city of 8,000. In 1907, by a vote of the people, it became a charter city instituting a Mayor-Council form of government. This charter was modified in 1929 and further amended in 1934 and 1949.

In 1950, prompted by growth in population and operating problems, a community-wide effort developed to establish a new City Charter. A City Board of Freeholders was elected in August 1951 to address the problems. A new Charter implementing the Council-Manager form of government was adopted in 1952 and ratified by the State Legislature in 1953.

In 1981, 1986, 1996 and 2007, the Charter was clarified and updated, but still maintains the 1952 governmental framework. The Mayor and 7-member elected City Council formulate City policy and the City Manager executes the policy.

"We're trying to look at all the different aspects of what a community could be if it's sustainable," Gordon said.

She said the board works closely with the city's Chamber of Commerce, so there haven't been clashes with businesses that fear the environmental board will set new restrictions or cost them money. In some ways, having environmental goals has helped business, Gordon said.

"Some folks want to book their trip to places that are sustainable, they want to go to restaurants that are green," she said. "We're seeing this as a benefit."

Proponents of Riverside's Measure F have similar hopes. Stockton said creating the commission "sends a real positive message in terms of the kinds of businesses and people we want to attract."

The Greater Riverside Chambers of Commerce is opposing Measure F, not because members object to the commission's cause but because they don't think the commission belongs in the charter, said Brian Hawley, the group's chairman.

"City government today has the power to create a commission on sustainability," he said. "If it can be done already, our position is 'Why not just do it?'"

Stockton said it's important to have the commission in the charter because that would show that a majority of the city supports the effort, and would give everyone more of a stake in it.

"Could it be created by the council? Absolutely, but here's an opportunity for our community to vote on what is becoming a huge factor in terms of moving towards (improving) the quality of life," he said.

could write into its charter stronger protections for those, but that is something to be wary of. As is the general notion that there may be other weaknesses that city staff and the subcommittee have not come up with just yet.

I went into the discussion last night neutral on the issue of a charter city. I left the meeting last night leaning toward supporting it having some of my concerns assuaged. I think both Councilmember Heystek and Souza did a very good job of keeping the charter itself simple and easily understandable.

Where I am not 100 percent sold is that I would like a better accounting of possible pitfalls. Like Councilmember Saylor I would get a better understanding for why only 25 percent or so of cities have charters.

I hope these points are addressed in more detail at a future council meeting.

Finally on the issue of choice voting, I am not 100 percent on that issue as well. I appreciate that we had an advisory vote on Measure L. I think Ruth Asmundson in her dissent raised a good point that that vote was not necessarily a vote in support of creating choice voting but rather a vote in support of exploring the creation of a choice voting system. It is a subtle but important difference.

What I would like to see is a full public debate over it. The implication from this discussion was that it would probably require another ballot measure after the creation of the charter city. I completely agree with that approach as it will allow for a full vetting of the issue. One of my concerns with Measure L is that there was no organized opposition. Some might suggest that in itself indicates support for the concept, but in my view it also prevented there from being a true debate over the strengths and weaknesses of a system.

I am not opposed for choice voting by any means, but I would like to see a full debate where strengths and weaknesses are addressed, including and most specifically an accounting over whether the system has create voter confusion in other jurisdictions that have employed this form of voting.

That will be a discussion for another day. In the meantime, I was pleased with both the discussion and the outcome of this meeting and look forward to future discussions on the charter city proposal in the future.

---Doug Paul Davis reporting

In November of 2006, the voters of Davis passed an advisory vote to ask the city to look into creating choice voting. Choice voting, otherwise known as instant runoff asks voters to rank their preferences of candidates and office holders in order to determine the winner.

However, in order for a city in California to enact a choice voting system, the city must go from a general law city to a charter city. A charter gives the city more flexibility to enact any number of laws-- depending on what is contained within the charter.

"There are two types of cities in California – charter and general law. Charter cities follow the laws set forth in the state's constitution along with their own adopted "charter" document. General law cities follow the laws set forth by the state legislature. Charter cities still follow the laws of the state's constitution, which include constitutional amendments like Proposition 13 (cap on property taxes) and Proposition 218 (the right to vote on taxes), but a charter gives a city more local authority over municipal affairs in areas not considered to be statewide matters. Of California's 478 cities, 109 are charter cities."

By a 4-1 vote last night, Mayor Pro Tem Ruth Asmundson dissenting, the Davis city council directed city staff and the city attorney to complete an analysis of a draft charter and to return to the City Council by the end of March.

At that point, the City Council could place the charter measure on the ballot before the voters in November.

This particular charter is brief and broad. There are a number of specific elements that these charters can contain. However, the subcommittee of Lamar Heystek and Stephen Souza chose to continue current law and practices with one exception--granting a future city council the authority to create a choice voting system.

This is something important to stress. The charter does not itself create choice vote. The subcommittee had that option and could have written into the charter a choice voting system. Instead they have made such a system possible but have left that decision to future councils.

While much of the discussion has rightly focused on choice voting itself, I think a full discussion of charter cities is in order. There were good questions that were raised last night by both council and the public about them.

One of the keys arose from Councilmember Don Saylor--why are only one-fourth of the cities in California Charter Cities? Have there really only been four or five new Charter Cities since 1992? We have heard of the advantages of Charter Cities, but what are some of the disadvantages?

The last one in particular did not gain a lot of answers, but one thing that was pointed out was the ability of cities with charters to circumvent prevailing wage law and collective bargaining. The council

Opening statements began Wednesday, Jan. 30, in the rape, pimping and pandering trial of Moreno Valley Unified School Board Trustee Mike Rios.

Why should anyone care and why report it?

Because Moreno Valley voters elected Rios to represent them and the needs of their children on the school board. He took an oath of office and promised voters he could do their work.

People expect elected officials, including school board and city council members, to follow laws and regulations and to be held accountable when they do not. They have the right to know when the person they elected to represent them has been accused of raping women and girls or convicted of violating the city's code enforcement regulations.

Keeping information secret or not reporting it would be a disservice to residents who rely on elected officials and public agencies to conduct their business honestly and transparently. People need information to make decisions, hold elected officials and government accountable and demand change.

It's understandable how school district officials and parents would rather that "we please focus on the great stuff our schools and district are doing instead of this mess," according to the comment left on my Facebook page regarding Rios' trial.

Rios' "mess" might seem embarrassing or distracting to the school district, but it can't be ignored. After Rios' arrests last year, residents packed school board meetings and demanded that the school board do something to remove him from office. They were surprised that the school board had few legal options.

As a result, the school board censured Rios and changed its bylaws. Under the new rules, board members who are charged with crimes – including those that involve children – have limited access to schools and school activities.

That's how an informed community and open government are supposed to work.

Also, reporters routinely use blogs, Facebook and Twitter to engage readers and get news tips. Don't count on your school district or city council to release information.

Some of the best stories come from people like Tonna Dagenhart, a teacher who sent information about the Girls Love Math Club she started at Hendrick Ranch Elementary School.

We want you to tell us what's going on in your communities and schools. Please send pictures, too.

We Live above Nature

3 of 17

We thank thee, O God, for the spiritual nature of man. We are in nature but we live above nature. Help us never to let anybody or any condition to pull us so low as to cause us to hate. Give us strength to love our enemies and to do good to those who despitefully use us and persecute us. We thank thee for thy Church, founded upon thy Word, that challenges us to do more than sing and pray, but go out and work as though the very answer to our prayers depended on us and not upon thee. Then, finally, help us to realize that man was created to shine like stars and live on through all eternity. Keep us, we pray, in perfect peace; help us to walk together, pray together, sing together, and live together until that day when all God's children, Black, White, Red, and Yellow will rejoice in our common band of humanity in the kingdom of our Lord and of our God, we pray. Amen.

Topic:        General Law v. Charter City

Background:

- The California Constitution authorizes the adoption of a city charter and provides that such a charter has the force and effect of state law.
- Charter cities may have plenary control over "municipal affairs."
- A charter can only be adopted, amended or repealed by a majority vote of a city's voters.
- The primary advantage of a charter is that it allows greater authority for a city's governance than that provided by state law.
- A charter city is still subject to the state's general laws on affairs that are not municipal in nature and are of statewide concern.
- For a city to reserve for itself the greatest amount of power it can when it adopts a charter, the charter must include a declaration that it is the intention of the city to avail itself of the full power provided by the state constitution to charter cities.
- See attached memorandum and chart.
- Potential Process<sup>1</sup>:
  - Prepare a draft;
  - Input regarding the draft;
  - Conduct study on redistricting (if applicable);
  - Must hold at least two public hearings with at least 21 calendar days' notice. The second public hearing must be at least 30 days after the first hearing. At least 21 days must pass after the second public hearing before the Council can vote as to whether to place it on the ballot;
  - To place it on a ballot, Council must decide at least 95 days before the election;
  - Election;
  - Has to be filed and accepted by the Secretary of State;
  - Would go into effect on the date specified in the Charter (if the form of government were to change by the Charter, follow the new processes and election cycle specified in the Charter).

Discussion:

- Desire to pursue changing the form of government to charter city?
- Subjects to be included in charter(which may include but are not limited to):
  - At-large or district elections?
  - Term limits?
  - Number of districts?
- Start the charter process by preparing a draft?

<sup>1</sup> This is not intended to be all-encompassing as to the procedure necessary to enact a charter.

What is the Constitutional Framework for Charter Cities?

Article XI, section 3(a) of the California Constitution authorizes the adoption of a city charter and provides that a charter has the force and effect of state law.

Article XI, section 5(a), the "home rule" provision, affirmatively grants to charter cities supremacy over "municipal affairs." However, the California Constitution does not define the term "municipal affair."

What is a Charter?

A city charter is a unique document that, in many ways, acts like a constitution for the city adopting it. It can only be adopted, amended or repealed by a majority vote of a city's voters. The primary advantage of a charter is that it allows greater authority for a city's governance than that provided by state law. A city may tailor its organization and elective offices, taking into account the unique local conditions and needs of the community.

A charter transfers the power to adopt legislation affecting municipal affairs from the state legislature to the city adopting it. A city operating under a charter can acquire full control over its municipal affairs. These affairs are unaffected by the general laws passed by the state legislature on the same subject matters. This, in effect, gives the local voters more control over their local government and the affairs of the city. However, a city operating under a charter is still subject to the general laws, as passed by the state legislature, on affairs that are not municipal in nature, and are of statewide concern (e.g., California Vehicle Code).

What are "Municipal Affairs?"

It is the scope of the term "municipal affairs" that provides the opportunity for uncertainty. No easy analytical test exists. The threshold issue is whether there is a conflict between state law and a charter city enactment. The next issue is whether the state regulation addressed an issue of "state wide concern." Courts analyze these conflicts on a case-by-case basis.

What Activities Have the Courts Classified As Municipal Affairs?

There are some areas that the courts have consistently classified as municipal affairs. Examples include the following:

- Municipal Election Matters;
- Procedures for Initiative, Referendum and Recall;

- Procedures for Adopting Ordinances;
- Compensation of City Officers and Employees (labor relations is not a municipal affair; charter cities are subject to the Meyers-Milias Brown Act. Cal. Gov't Code § 3500);
- Term Limits for Council Members. See Cawdrey v. City of Redondo Beach, 15 Cal. App. 4th 1212 (1993); but see Cal. Gov't Code § 36502(b) (regulating term limits);
- Land Use and Zoning Decisions (with a few exceptions).

What Activities Have the Courts Classified as Statewide Concerns?

The following have consistently been classified by the courts as matters of statewide concern:

- Traffic and Vehicle Regulation;
- Licensing of Members of a Trade or Profession;
- Tort Claims against a Governmental Entity;
- Open and Public Meetings;
- Exercise of the Power of Eminent Domain.

What is in a Charter?

While a city charter is not required to have any particular provisions in it, a city will often reserve for itself the greatest amount of power it can when it adopts a charter. To accomplish this goal, the charter must include a declaration that it is the intention of the city to avail itself of the full power provided by the state constitution to charter cities. However, the city is not required to extend the breadth of its charter any further than it wishes.

Some of the common areas that are explicitly regulated in a charter are:

- The date and conduct of city elections;
- Form of government;
- Sub-government procedures in all or part of the city.

What is the (General) Procedure to Adopt a Charter?

There are two ways to adopt a charter. One way is to elect a charter commission. The commission then has the responsibility of debating over the provisions and the drafting of the charter. The other alternative allows the governing board of the city, on its own motion, to draft the charter. In either case, the charter is not adopted by the city until it is ratified by a majority vote of the city's voters. Prior to approving the submission to the voters of a proposal to adopt a charter, the Council would have to hold at least two public hearings on the matter of the proposed charter. Notice of the public hearings shall be given by publication in a newspaper at least 21 calendar days prior to the date of each public hearing. The second hearing shall be held at least 30 days after the first public hearing. The Council shall not conduct a vote on whether to approve the submission to the voters of the proposal to adopt a charter until 21 days after the second public hearing.

If the Charter measure passes, it would not go into effect until it has been filed and accepted by the Secretary of State. If there were a change in the form of government included in the Charter, the Charter provisions about those topics would control.

Gov't Code § 3500) apply, but note, "[T]here is a clear distinction between the substance of a public employee labor issue and the procedure by which it is resolved. Thus there is no question that 'salaries of local employees of a charter city constitute municipal affairs and are not subject to general laws.'" Voters for Responsible Retirement v. Code § 1771.	Historically, charter cities have not been bound by state law prevailing-wage requirements so long as the project is a municipal affair, and not one funded by state or federal grants. The California Supreme Court decided that Vista, a charter city, could avoid paying prevailing wages on public works projects not built with state or federal monies.

Council/Staff Workshop
Council Chamber, February 2, 2013

Topic:        Directly Elected Mayor

Background:

- The Office of Mayor in a general law city has the powers granted and conferred by state law (signing official documents, administering oaths, ceremonial functions, presiding over meetings of the agency, and appointments of members of boards and commissions) plus all other powers and duties of a council member.
- To change from the current method of the City Council selecting a Mayor to election of the Mayor by the voters, certain ballot questions and an ordinance must be submitted to the voters for their approval.
- At a general or special election, the electors of the City may determine whether to have a directly elected Mayor and may also determine the length of the term of office of such elected Mayor.
- A general law city proposing to have an elected Mayor must also choose whether to have four, six, or eight City Council districts.
- At the same election, the City Council must also submit an ordinance to the voters for approval. That ordinance "shall state the number of legislative districts, describe the boundaries of each, number them, and state whether members of the legislative body shall be elected ... by or from districts except for an elective mayor", who shall be elected at large.
- See attached memorandum.

Discussion:

- Should the City move towards preparing a ballot measure to create the office of a directly elected mayor?
- If so, should the City be divided into four, six, or eight City Council Districts to submit to the voters if the City remains a general law city?
- Or should the issue of directly elected Mayor be presented as part of a Charter adoption?

(These discussion points are not intended to be all-encompassing as to the procedure necessary to effectuate placing the measure(s) on the ballot).

History

In 1984 the Riverside County Board of Supervisors submitted Measures F and G to the voters for the incorporation of Moreno Valley with a five member City Council, and for the formation of the Moreno Valley Community Services District. That ballot asked voters in Measure G to decide whether future members of the City Council would be elected by or from districts. Election "by districts" means that Council Members must reside in that district and are elected by voters who only reside within that district. Election "from districts" means that Council Members must reside in that district, but they are elected by all voters in the City. Measure G passed with a majority of voters deciding that all future City Council Members would be elected by districts.

Pursuant to Government Code section 36801, all Moreno Valley City Councils have selected the Mayor from amongst themselves.

In 2010, the City Council placed two advisory ballot measures before the voters. The first advisory ballot measure asked "Do you support changing to an elected Mayor rather than one appointed by the City Council?" The second advisory ballot measure asked "Whether or not you support changing to an elected Mayor, should the City Council call a binding election for voters to decide the issue?" Both measures received a majority "yes" vote.

What Power Does A Mayor Have?

The Office of Mayor in a general law city has only those powers granted and conferred by state law. The powers of the Office of Mayor in a general law city are signing official documents, administering oaths, ceremonial functions, presiding over meetings of the agency, and appointments of members of boards and commissions. In addition, the Office of Mayor has all other powers and duties of a council member. Therefore, in general law cities, an elected Mayor has no greater power than an appointed Mayor.

Charter cities, on the other hand, can expand or contract the powers and duties of the Office of Mayor in the charter. A few large cities, such as Los Angeles and Oakland, have expanded the powers and duties of the Office of Mayor. That form of government is the Mayor-Council form of government and is commonly referred to as a "strong mayor." Only charter cities could adopt the Mayor-

Council form of government and expand the powers and duties of the Office of Mayor.

What is the Procedure to Change to a Directly Elected Mayor in a General Law City?

To change from the current method of the City Council selecting a Mayor to election of the Mayor by the voters, certain ballot questions and an ordinance must be submitted to the voters for their approval. Govt. Code §34871, §34900. At a general or special election, the electors of the City may determine whether to have a directly elected Mayor and may also determine the length of the term of office of such elected Mayor. Govt. Code §34900. General law cities proposing to have an elected Mayor must also choose whether to have four, six, or eight City Council districts. Govt. Code §34871. The ballot measures for the election on the issue would be in substantially the following form:

- Shall the electors elect a Mayor and ____ City Council Members? Yes or No
- Shall the term of office of Mayor be two years? Yes or No
- Shall the term of office of Mayor be four years? Yes or No

At the same election, the City Council must also submit an ordinance to the voters for approval. That ordinance "shall state the number of legislative districts, describe the boundaries of each, number them, and state whether members of the legislative body shall be elected ... by or from districts except for an elective mayor", who shall be elected at large. Govt. Code §§34871-34872. Pursuant to Government Code section 34877, the ballot measure for the ordinance must be in substantially the following form:

- Shall members of the legislative body of the City of Moreno Valley be elected by (or from) districts described in Ordinance No. _____, and the Mayor of the City of Moreno Valley be elected on a citywide basis by the voters of the entire city? Yes or No

Before being submitted to the voters for approval, the proposed ordinance must first be submitted to the Planning Commission to make findings. Following the action by the Planning Commission, the proposed ordinance would be brought to the City Council, along with proposed ballot measures, for direction to submit the measures to the Riverside County Registrar of Voters to be included in the next municipal general election, or special election held for that purpose at least no later than 88 days prior to the date of the election. Govt. Code §34871; §34901.

If the City is going to elect a Mayor and the election of the remaining Council Members for four-year terms are not evenly staggered in the election cycle, the City Council may, on a one time basis only and prior to the first day for circulating nomination papers for the municipal general election, designate one of the Council Member seats appearing on the municipal general election, other than the office of Mayor, to serve a two-year term until the next municipal general election. At all subsequent elections, that Council District seat shall serve a four-year term. For example, if the City Council directs that the City should have eight City Council districts, then one of the City Council districts (probably a newly created City Council district) will have to be designated as a two-year term by the City Council prior to the first day for the circulation of nomination papers for the next municipal general election for that City Council district. At the next succeeding municipal general election and thereafter, the Council Member from the City Council district so designated shall serve a four-year term.

What Compensation Would An Elected Mayor Receive?

An elected Mayor is a member of the City Council and would receive the same compensation as any other member of the City Council. An elected Mayor may, but is not required to, receive compensation in addition to the compensation established for Council Members. Govt. Code §36516.1. Such additional compensation may be provided by an ordinance adopted by the City Council or by a majority vote of the electors voting on the proposition at a municipal election. Additional compensation established by ordinance of the City Council may be increased or decreased by ordinance of the City Council. Additional compensation established by a vote of the electors can only be changed by a vote of the electors.

Council/Staff Workshop
Council Chamber, February 2, 2013

Topic:        Term Limits and Campaign Finance Reform

Term Limits

Background:

- CA Govt. Code section 36502(b) states that voters can establish term limits for the city council or an elected mayor.
- A term limit measure may be placed on a ballot as a City Council proposed measure or as an initiative measure.
- Term limits can only be applied prospectively (may only apply to terms served after the effective date of the measure).
- A 2011 City of Lompoc survey indicates that, of the 481 California cities that existed at that time, 98 had term limits (survey attached).
- The majority of the term limits established for California Mayors and/or Council Members is 2 consecutive 4-Year Terms with a minimum 2-year break before they can seek reelection again. Some impose lifetime bans once the terms have been served.

Discussion

- Timing: If approved by voters in 2014 would apply to Council Members elected in 2016
- How many consecutive terms?
- Should a "break" or lifetime ban be imposed once terms are served?

Campaign Finance Reform

Background:

- The Political Reform Act imposes contribution limits for state candidates and requires all candidates and committees to disclose campaign contributions and expenditures.
- The Act leaves contribution limits for local candidates up to local governments. Numerous cities have passed ordinances creating contribution limits and other requirements (list attached). Limitations may also be enacted via ballot measure.

Discussion

- Expenditure limits
  - Involuntary expenditure limits are never allowed
  - Voluntary expenditure limits cannot be coercive
- Contribution limits
  - Cannot be too low (candidates must be able to conduct an effective campaign)
  - Should have a cost of living adjustment

Council/Staff Workshop

- Contribution limits (continued)
  - Must be supported by a factual record demonstrating the need to prevent corruption or the appearance of corruption (for example, be prepared if challenged to cite specific instances of campaign violations, demonstrate voter approval of limits, etc.)
  - Differing contribution limits for the same office are highly suspect (for example, a city shouldn't allow candidates who accept voluntary expenditure limits to receive higher contributions than candidates who do not voluntarily limit their spending)
  - Cannot limit contributions to independent expenditure committees
- Sample ordinance attached: City of Murrieta Campaign Contributions and Voluntary Expenditure Limits

Topic:        Municipal Regulation of Local Campaigns

Background:

- Contribution limits (restricting contributions to city council candidates to $100-$500 appears to be defensible).
- Expenditures by non-candidates (there is a long and growing line of Supreme Court cases concluding that limitations on independent expenditures are unconstitutional).
- Restrictions on Corporate Contributions (cities might be able prohibit all non-political party, corporate contributions to candidates when the restrictiveness of the regulatory scheme as a whole is considered).
- Contributions to Independent Expenditure Committees (Restrictions on contributions to independent expenditure committees that are not closely linked to a candidate, such as through a political party, have recently been deemed unconstitutional absent special findings on corrupting influence of such contributions).
- Timing of Contributions
- Reporting & Disclosure Requirements
- Ethics Commissions
- See attached memorandum.

Discussion:

- Contribution limits.
- Expenditures by non-candidates.
- Restrictions on Corporate Contributions.

Chapter 2.05 CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTION AND VOLUNTARY EXPENDITURE LIMITS

2.05.010 Purpose and intent.

High costs and large campaign contributions associated with campaigns for local elective office can undermine the public's trust and confidence in the electoral process and lead to unfair competition between candidates. It is the intent of this chapter to promote the small town atmosphere of local elections consistent with community values and to end the fundraising "race" by lowering campaign costs and slowing the increase in campaign spending by implementing comprehensive campaign finance reforms including a voluntary expenditure ceiling, mandatory contribution limits and an effective enforcement mechanism.

In furtherance of those goals, a reasonable campaign contribution limitation and a voluntary campaign expenditure limitation are hereby enacted that are similar to those enacted by other communities. In those communities, such limitations have not inhibited city council candidates' ability to conduct meaningful and effective campaigns, but they have limited the appearance and incidents of corruption that have been experienced.

The council finds that the city may enact an ordinance limiting campaign contributions in municipal elections as provided by Section 10202 of the Elections Code of the state. Further, pursuant to Section 81013 of the Government Code of the state, it is determined that the additional requirements imposed by this chapter do not preclude any person from complying with the Political Reform Act of 1974, being California Government Code Sections 81000 - 81016.

(Ord. 231 § 1 (part), 2001)

2.05.020 Relation to Political Reform Act of 1974.

This chapter is intended to be a supplement to and in no way to conflict with the Political Reform Act of 1974, being California Government Code Sections 81000 - 81016, which is codified in Title 9 of the California Government Code and its implementing regulations. Unless otherwise defined in this chapter, words and phrases have the same meanings here as those given to them by Title 9 of the California Government Code, and as the same may be amended from time to time, and its implementing regulations, and with the interpretations of these provisions by the California Fair Political Practices Commission.

(Ord. 231 § 1 (part), 2001)

2.05.030 Definitions.

As used in this chapter:

"City council candidate" means an individual who is listed on the ballot or who has qualified to have write-in votes on his or her behalf counted by election officials, for nomination for or election to the Murrieta city council, or who receives a contribution or makes an expenditure or gives his or her consent for any other person to receive a contribution or make an expenditure with a view to bringing about his or her nomination or election to the Murrieta city council, whether or not he or she has announced his or her candidacy or filed a declaration of candidacy at such time. "Candidate" also includes any city council member who is the subject of a recall election. An individual who becomes a candidate for the Murrieta city council shall retain his or her status as a candidate until such time as that status is terminated pursuant to Section 84214 of the Government Code.

"Contribution" means any payment made for political purposes for which full and adequate consideration is not made to the donor.

1. A "contribution" includes:

a. Any goods or services received by or requested by a city council candidate at no charge or at a discount from the fair market value, unless the discount is given in the regular course of business to members of the public;

b. Cash;

c. A loan or an extension of credit for more than thirty (30) days, other than loans from financial institutions given in the normal course of business.

2. A "payment made for political purposes" is a payment made:

a. For the purpose of influencing or attempting to influence the action of the voters for or against the nomination or election of a city council candidate; or

b. Received by or made at the request of a city council candidate.

(Ord. 231 § 1 (part), 2001)

2.05.040 Limitations on campaign contributions.

A. Declaration of Candidacy. No person may make, and no candidate for city of Murrieta elective office and the controlled committee of that candidate may solicit, accept or receive, any campaign contribution until a FPPC Form 501, Candidate Intention Statement, has been filed. However, Form 501 is not required if no contributions are received and the only expenditure is from personal funds for the candidates statement in the sample ballot.

B. Contribution Limits.

1. Candidates or controlled committees who agree to limit their campaign expenditures pursuant to Section 2.05.050 may accept contributions of up to one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) from any single source in any single election. This contribution will be adjusted annually following the November, 2006 election in accordance with Section 2.05.040B.3.

2. Candidates or controlled committees who do not agree to limit their campaign expenditures pursuant to Section 2.05.050 may accept contributions of up to five hundred dollars ($500.00) from any single source in any single election. This contribution will be adjusted annually following the November, 2006 election in accordance with Section 2.05.040B.3.

3. The contribution limits established in this subsection shall be automatically adjusted annually, following the November, 2001 election, based on the Consumer Price Index for "all urban consumers" from April to April among U.S. West and/or Los Angeles, Long Beach, Anaheim metropolitan area. Such adjustments shall be rounded to the nearest ten and no/100ths dollar ($10.00) amount.

C. Return of Contributions. A contribution will not be considered to be received or accepted if it is not cashed, negotiated, or deposited, and is returned to the donor before the closing date of the campaign statement on which the contribution would otherwise be reported.

D. Family Contributions. Contributions by a husband and wife shall be treated as contributions by separate persons and shall not be aggregated. Contributions by children under eighteen (18) years of age are presumed to be a contribution from the parent or guardian of the child.

E. Personal Funds. The limitations of this subsection shall not apply to contributions of a candidate's personal funds to his or her controlled campaign committee on behalf of his or her own candidacy, but shall apply to contributions from the candidate's spouse.

(Ord. 301 § 1-3, 2004; Ord. 231 § 1 (part), 2001)

2.05.050 Voluntary expenditure ceiling.

A. Amount Per Registered Voter. No candidate or controlled committee who voluntarily accepts expenditure ceilings shall make campaign expenditures in excess of an amount equal to one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per registered voter of the city of Murrieta. The number of registered voters for such calculation shall be determined by the city clerk from the last available certification of registered voters to the California Secretary of State on the first day of the nomination campaign period.

B. Statement of Acceptance or Rejection. Each candidate for city elective office must file with the city clerk a statement of acceptance or rejection of the voluntary expenditure ceiling prior to accepting any contributions.

C. Relationship to Contribution Limits. Any candidate for city elective office who accepts the voluntary expenditure ceiling or any controlled campaign committee of that candidate may not make campaign expenditures cumulatively in excess of the voluntary expenditure ceiling.

1. If a candidate accepts such campaign expenditure limits, the candidate shall be subject to the campaign contribution limit set forth in Section 2.05.040(B)(1).

2. If a candidate rejects such campaign expenditure limits, the candidate shall be subject to the campaign contribution limits set forth in Section 2.05.040(B)(2).

D. Committee Expenditures. Expenditures by a candidate's controlled committee shall be deemed expenditures by the candidate for the purposes of this chapter.

(Ord. 301 § 4, 2004; Ord. 231 § 1 (part), 2001)

2.05.060 Violation and penalty.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 1.32.010 et seq. of the Murrieta Municipal Code, violations of this chapter shall be prosecuted as misdemeanors.

(Ord. 231 § 1 (part), 2001)

Council/Staff Workshop
Council Chamber, February 2, 2013

Topic: Municipal Regulation of Local Campaigns

Background:

- Contribution limits (restricting contributions to city council candidates to $100-$500 appears to be defensible).
- Expenditures by non-candidates (there is a long and growing line of Supreme Court cases concluding that limitations on independent expenditures are unconstitutional).
- Restrictions on Corporate Contributions (cities might be able prohibit all non-political party, corporate contributions to candidates when the restrictiveness of the regulatory scheme as a whole is considered).
- Contributions to Independent Expenditure Committees (Restrictions on contributions to independent expenditure committees that are not closely linked to a candidate, such as through a political party, have recently been deemed unconstitutional absent special findings on corrupting influence of such contributions).
- Timing of Contributions
- Reporting & Disclosure Requirements
- Ethics Commissions
- See attached memorandum.

Discussion:

- Contribution limits.
- Expenditures by non-candidates.
- Restrictions on Corporate Contributions.
- Contributions to Independent Expenditure Committees.
- Timing of Contributions.
- Reporting & Disclosure Requirements.
- Ethics Commission.

Establishment of Term Limits

Under current law, a city council may not unilaterally alter term limits. In both a general law and charter city, any proposed term limit “shall apply prospectively only and shall not become operative unless it is submitted to the electors of the city at a regularly scheduled election and a majority of the votes cast on the question favor the adoption of the proposal.” Gov. Code § 36502(b).

Municipal Regulation of Local Campaigns

Under California law, both general law and charter cities have broad and near-equivalent authority to regulate campaigns and campaign contributions for local elective office if they do not impair compliance with the Political Reform Act (“the Act”). Govt. Code § 82008; 35 Ops. Cal. Atty. Gen. 230 (1960). The Act establishes disclosure requirements but does not limit contributions to candidates for local office. This area is left to local jurisdictions. But any such regulations must not impinge on the free speech and associative rights of the First Amendment.

Under the United States Supreme Court case Buckley v. Valeo, and its progeny, cities may restrict contributions to candidates, their controlled committees and expenditures coordinated with candidates in order to protect against corruption or the perception of corruption by “means closely drawn to avoid unnecessary abridgement of associational freedoms.” (1976) 424 U.S. 1, 25, 45.

“[P]reventing corruption or the appearance of corruption are the only legitimate and compelling government interests thus far identified for restricting campaign finances.” Long Beach Area Chamber of Commerce v. City of Long Beach (9th Cir. 2010) 603 F.3d 684, 694;<sup>1</sup> see also Thalheimer v. City of San Diego (9th Cir. 2011) 645 F.3d 1109, 1119 (internal quotation omitted); Club's Freedom Club PAC v. Bennett (2011) 131 S. Ct. 2806 (no compelling state interest in leveling the playing field by providing matching funds to candidates who accept campaign restrictions against candidates who do not). More recently in Citizens United v. Federal Election Commission (2010) 558 U.S. 310, the Supreme Court has "narrowed the scope of the anti-corruption rationale to cover quid pro quo corruption only, as opposed to money spent to obtain 'influence over or access to elected officials.'"

Contribution Limits

The Supreme Court has upheld a contribution limit of $275 for state-level candidates representing fewer than 100,000 people, explaining that it "rejected the contention that $1,000, or any other amount, was a constitutional minimum below which legislatures could not regulate[]" and instead considered whether "the contribution limitation is so radical in effect as to render political association ineffective, drive the sound of a candidate's voice below the level of notice, and render contributions pointless." Nixon v. Shrink Missouri Govt. PAC (2000) 528 U.S. 377, 397.

In a 2005 opinion, however, the Court struck down Vermont's candidate contribution limits of $400 per two-year election cycle, which included both a primary and general election, for the office of governor and lower limits for other statewide offices. Randall v. Sorrell (2005) 548 U.S. 230, 254. The Court applied a five-factor test (lack of distinction between political parties and individuals, extremely low dollar figures, inclusion of volunteer expenses as contributions, lack of inflation adjustment and no special justification for low figures based on the funds necessary to adequately compete) to determine that the contribution limit was not "closely drawn."

Based on Nixon and Randall, restricting contributions to city council candidates to $100-$500 appears to be defensible. The court in Major v. Silna (2005) 134 Cal. App. 4th 1485, 1502-03, accepted that the general law city of Malibu could prohibit contributions over $100. See City of Malibu Municipal Code, Chapter 2.20; Govt. Code § 84300 (prohibiting $100 cash contributions).

Expenditures by Non-Candidates

Limits on contributions by voters or corporations pertaining to ballot initiatives are subject to strict scrutiny and generally unconstitutional. Citizens Against Rent Control v. City of Berkeley (1981) 454 U.S. 290, 297-299. Additionally, a "[c]ity may not impose financial limits on [a] PACs' independent expenditures. This conclusion is compelled by the long and growing line of Supreme Court cases concluding that limitations on independent expenditures are unconstitutional.” Long Beach Area Chamber of Commerce v. City of Long Beach (9th Cir. 2010) 603 F.3d 684, 695.

Restrictions on Corporate Contributions

Despite the court’s holding in Long Beach Area Chamber of Commerce, and the Supreme Court’s recent expansion of First Amendment rights to corporations in Citizens United v. Federal Election Commission (2010) 558 U.S. 310, 330, if an anti-corruption justification is provided, cities may prohibit all non-political party, corporate contributions (including from PACs) to candidates. Thalheimer v. City of San Diego (9th Cir. 2011) 645 F.3d 1109, 1126. The Ninth Circuit accepted prohibiting corporate contributions as a valid means of preventing illegal circumventing of campaign restrictions. Id. at 1124. However, the court predicated its acceptance of this ban on other avenues of expression, such as direct expenditures and unlimited individual contributions. Id. at 1125. While the implication is that bans on corporate contributions will be upheld even if individual contributions are limited, courts will also consider the restrictiveness of the regulatory scheme as a whole.

Contributions to Independent Expenditure Committees

Restrictions on contributions to independent expenditure committees (i.e. committees that advocate or oppose the election of a candidate without any coordination with the candidate) that are not closely linked to a candidate, such as through a political party, have recently been deemed unconstitutional absent special findings on corrupting influence of such contributions. Long Beach Area Chamber of Commerce, 603 F.3d at 697-98 (“We are not told whether the candidate ever had any contact with the IEC, whether the money received or spent by the IEC had any corrupting influence on City politics, whether the voters suspected the IEC of corrupting the political process, or even whether the candidate won the race.”)(This calls into question traditional restrictions: see e.g. Govt. Code § 85303 (yearly $5,000 cap for independent expenditure committees making contributions to candidates)).

Timing of Contributions

In Thalheimer v. City of San Diego, the Ninth Circuit upheld the City of San Diego’s ban on contributions outside of the twelve-month pre-election window on the basis of the City’s argument that the temporal ban “reduces actual and perceived corruption because those contributions made near an election are clearer expressions of political speech, whereas off-year contributions are more likely linked to business the donor has before the city, thus creating the appearance of quid pro quo 'corruption by the sale of influence.'" 645 F.3d at 1121. The City of San Jose restricts contributions to 180 days before the election.

Reporting & Disclosure Requirements

Cities have discretion to impose disclosure and reporting requirements beyond those provided in Government Code section 84300 et seq. Cities that establish local disclosure standards must file their rules with the Fair Political Practices Commission. Govt. Code § 81009.5(a).

Ethics Commissions

Los Angeles, San Jose, San Diego, San Francisco and Oakland have ethics commission to administratively enforce campaign laws which arguably ensure a higher rate of oversight than under state law alone. However, city staff might have to referee candidate disputes.

Voters consider term limits for council

An initiative asking Buellton voters to limit City Council members to three consecutive four-year terms is on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Called "Measure C 2012," it would restrict council members to 12 years of continuous service. However, an incumbent being termed out could seek a fourth consecutive term if no challengers qualify for the election. Also, after a dozen years, by election or appointment, the person terming out must take a two-year break before running again for City Council.

If the person is re-elected or re-appointed, a new limit of three consecutive terms of office would begin again.

The measure will need a simple majority of the vote to pass and term limits would apply to members beginning with those elected in 2014.

California law allows general law cities, such as Buellton, to set term limits for members of their legislative bodies, according to City Attorney Ralph Hanson, who wrote the impartial analysis of the measure.

In the argument in favor of the measure in the sample ballot, Mayor Holly Sierra, who is in her first term and seeking re-election this year, said "Term limits for council members would allow others to run for office and encourage alternative opinions and decision making."

"There is an abundant supply of qualified candidates in our city who are willing to give their time and effort to being a council member. Buellton needs to value and encourage new candidates and new perspectives and term limits would ensure that there are always vacancies on the City Council for new candidates to pursue," she said.

Elected in November 2008, Sierra began a one-year term as mayor in December 2011. The mayor and vice mayor positions rotate each year among the council members.

Her four-year term on the council expires this December along with Vice Mayor Dave King's.

A "no" vote would allow council members to serve without term limits.

No argument against the measure was submitted to the county for inclusion in the sample ballot and there has been no apparent opposition.

Frequently Asked Questions

What does it mean to become a charter city?

Since 1888 Escondido has been a General Law City. A General Law City is bound by California's General Law whether the issue is a municipal affair or not. A Charter City has supreme authority over municipal affairs. The California Constitution does not define the term 'municipal affair.'

Becoming a charter city could be a good step for Escondido—but this charter is a bad step.

There are two main ways that a city can become a charter city. First, the city's voters can elect, or the city council can appoint, a charter commission of citizens to draft the charter. San Diego had such a commission that drew up its current charter in 1931. The commission had input from citizens, and over a year to develop the charter, and it is a comprehensive body of fifteen articles.

Second—the way this charter was proposed—is to have the city council draft its own charter. The proposed Escondido charter is a slight variation on Oceanside's Charter that was drafted by out-of-town building lobbyists, with no citizen input, has four articles written on as many pages.

Why is becoming a charter city not a good thing for Escondido?

The definition of whether an issue is a municipal affair or an issue of statewide concern is unresolved. So, the definition of a particular issue is decided on a case by case basis, in court. LOTS OF POTENTIAL LEGAL EXPENSES!

Courts have determined that municipal affairs include:

Yes, but is that a good thing? Do you really want to turn over decisions about how and when elections are held, and requirements for voting, to three out of five people? Do you want three of those five to be able to make all "land use and zoning decisions?"

The proposed city charter includes a major change in city elections from four at-large council members to four district-elected council members. The charter assigns the task of drawing up those districts to the sitting city council. Do you see a problem here?

Will the charter allow "no-bid" contracts?

Yes. Land use and zoning decisions are considered a municipal affair. There are no provisions in place to prevent a decision to award such a contract.

Unfinished Business
Agenda Item 11

DATE: December 5, 2012

TO: THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL

FROM: PAUL L. TALBOT, CITY MANAGER
MARK D. HENSLEY, CITY ATTORNEY

SUBJECT: CITY COUNCIL TERM LIMITS

BACKGROUND:

At its November 21, 2012 meeting, the City Council requested that the City Manager and City Attorney prepare appropriate documents for placing an initiative on the ballot regarding term limits. During that meeting, the City Council was undecided as to whether serving one or two years would count toward calculating whether an official served a full term or not. The Council also decided at that time that all elected officials – councilmembers, the treasurer, and city clerk – should be subject to term limits.

Attached for your consideration are two separate initiatives regarding term limits. The first imposes term limits only on councilmembers; the second is for all elected public officials. In both draft initiatives, the City Council may choose whether one or two years should be used when determining whether an official served a full term.

The City Attorney's office drafted two initiatives for this reason: there is no definitive statutory authority allowing the voters to impose term limits on elected officials other than the City Council. Moreover, there are no published cases regarding the ability of general law cities to impose term limits on elected city treasurers and clerks.

The Government Code identifies public officials for a general law city (Government Code § 36501); establishes the qualifications for such officials (Government Code § 36502(A)); and very specifically states that the voters can establish term limits for the city council or an elected mayor (Government Code § 36502(B)).

There is authority allowing voters to change the status of a city treasurer or city clerk from being elected to being appointed (Government Code §§ 36508 and 36509). However, there is no provision in the Government Code regarding imposing term limits on the city treasurer or city clerk.

It is apparent that, for charter cities, the issue of term limits is a municipal affair<sup>1</sup> and it is therefore likely that a charter city could impose term limits upon all elected officials. However, Monterey Park is not a charter city.

Notably, however, there is no prohibition set forth in the Government Code preventing the voters in general law cities from adopting term limits for all elected officials.

Accordingly, a court could uphold a ballot initiative that imposed such term limits since courts give great deference to voters' will in such matters. But, the outcome of any challenge to this type of ballot initiative is not clear.<sup>2</sup>

Based upon the foregoing, the City Attorney's office thought it prudent to offer the City Council two different choices: term limits on just the City Council or upon all elected officials.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the City Council consider:

1. the wording of the two draft initiatives and make appropriate changes;
2. adopting a resolution placing an initiative on the previously called March 5, 2013 Municipal Election pursuant to Elections Code § 9222 regarding term limits;
3. adopting Resolution No. _____ directing the City Attorney to prepare an impartial analysis of the ballot measure regarding city council term limits;
4. adopting Resolution No. _____ establishing requirements for ballot arguments filed with the City Clerk to be included with voter information for the previously called municipal election on March 5, 2012; and
5. take such addition, related, action that may be desirable.

<sup>2</sup> Although there is case law that predates the term limit authority in Government Code § 36502 (which was enacted in 1995) holding that voters in general law cities are preempted by the Government Code from establishing term limits for city councilmembers (Polis v. City of La Palma (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 25, 29).

EXHIBIT "A"

INITIATIVE MEASURE TO BE SUBMITTED DIRECTLY TO THE VOTERS

The People of the City of Monterey Park do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1: *Title. This initiative measure (this "Initiative") is entitled the "City Council Term Limit Initiative."

SECTION 2: *Purpose and Findings. The purpose of this Initiative is to impose term limits upon persons serving on the Monterey Park City Council pursuant to Government Code § 36502(b).

SECTION 3: *Amendment of Monterey Park Municipal Code. A new § 2.04.040 is added to the Monterey Park Municipal Code to read as follows:

"§ 2.04.040 Term Limits. Pursuant to Government Code § 36502(b), term limits are imposed upon persons serving on the City Council as follows:

- A. No person may serve more than two consecutive terms as a member of the Monterey Park City Council, whether by election or appointment. Other than as provided by this Section, persons are ineligible to be a member of the City Council more than two consecutive terms.
- B. Any person who is ineligible to be a member of the City Council due to the limitations set forth in this Section, will again become eligible to hold office as a member of the City Council provided not less than two years have or will have elapsed between the most recent date of such person's previous service as a City Council member and the effective date of such person's most recent election or appointment to such office. After such a two year absence, a new two consecutive term limit applies.
- C. Any person, who, whether by appointment or election, serves a partial term of office as a member of the City Council for more than ONE OR TWO years is deemed, for the purpose of this Section, to have served a full four-year term.
- D. The City Clerk must reject, refuse to accept for filing, and otherwise refuse to process any nominating papers or other equivalent declaration of candidacy as required or authorized by law for persons if they are ineligible to hold office pursuant to this Section.
- E. This Section applies prospectively only, so that any City Councilmember beginning a term of office on or after the effective date of this Section may serve up to two consecutive terms from and after that date.

- F. Only the voters may amend or repeal this Section at an election duly certified under the Elections Code.”

SECTION 4: Implementation of this Initiative. Upon the effective date of this Initiative, the City is directed to promptly take appropriate actions needed to implement this Initiative.

SECTION 5: Miscellaneous.

- A. This Initiative must be interpreted so as to be consistent with all federal and state laws, rules, and regulations. If any section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion of this Initiative is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, such decision does not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Initiative. The voters declare that this Initiative, and each section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion thereof, would have been adopted or passed irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sub-sections, sentences, clauses, phrases, part, or portion is found to be invalid. If any provision of this Initiative is held invalid as applied to any person or circumstance, such invalidity does not affect any application of this Initiative that can be given effect without the invalid application.
- B. If any portion of this Initiative is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, we the People indicate our strong desire that: (i) the City Council use its best efforts to sustain and reenact that portion, and (ii) the City Council implement this Initiative by taking all steps possible to cure any inadequacies or deficiencies identified by the court in a manner consistent with the express and implied intent of this Initiative, and then adopting or reenacting such portion as necessary or desirable to permit the planning and development of the Project.
- C. This Initiative must be broadly construed in order to achieve the purposes stated in this Initiative. It is the intent of the voters that the provisions of this Initiative be interpreted or implemented by the City and others in a manner that facilitates the purposes set forth in this Initiative.

SECTION 6: Attestation. The Mayor will sign this Initiative and the City Clerk will attest and certify to the passage and adoption of this Ordinance if a majority of the voters voting in the City’s general election on March 5, 2013 approve the proposition asking whether the voters approve this Initiative.

SECTION 7: Effective Date. This Ordinance will impose term limits in accordance with Government Code § 36502(b). Accordingly, it will be submitted to a general election on March 5, 2013 for voter approval. If a majority of voters vote in favor of this Ordinance, it will become valid and binding on the date that the City Council certifies the election

The Government Code identifies public officials for a general law city (Government Code § 36501); establishes the qualifications for such officials (Government Code § 36502(A)); and very specifically states that the voters can establish term limits for the city council or an elected mayor (Government Code § 36502(B)).

There is authority allowing voters to change the status of a city treasurer or city clerk from being elected to being appointed (Government Code §§ 36508 and 36509). However, there is no provision in the Government Code regarding imposing term limits on the city treasurer or city clerk.

It is apparent that, for charter cities, the issue of term limits is a municipal affair<sup>1</sup> and it is therefore likely that a charter city could impose term limits upon all elected officials. However, Monterey Park is not a charter city.

Notably, however, there is no prohibition set forth in the Government Code preventing the voters in general law cities from adopting term limits for all elected officials.

Accordingly, a court could uphold a ballot initiative that imposed such term limits since courts give great deference to voters' will in such matters. But, the outcome of any challenge to this type of ballot initiative is not clear.<sup>2</sup>

Based upon the foregoing, the City Attorney's office thought it prudent to offer the City Council two different choices: term limits on just the City Council or upon all elected officials.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the City Council consider:

1. the wording of the two draft initiatives and make appropriate changes;
2. adopting a resolution placing an initiative on the previously called March 5, 2013 Municipal Election pursuant to Elections Code § 9222 regarding term limits;
3. adopting Resolution No. _____ directing the City Attorney to prepare an impartial analysis of the ballot measure regarding city council term limits;
4. adopting Resolution No. _____ establishing requirements for ballot arguments filed with the City Clerk to be included with voter information for the previously called municipal election on March 5, 2012; and
5. take such addition, related, action that may be desirable.

<sup>2</sup> Although there is case law that predates the term limit authority in Government Code § 36502 (which was enacted in 1995) holding that voters in general law cities are preempted by the Government Code from establishing term limits for city councilmembers (*Polis v. After such a two year absence, a new two consecutive term limit applies.

If any section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion of this Initiative is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, such decision does not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Initiative. The voters declare that this Initiative, and each section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion thereof, would have been adopted or passed irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sub-sections, sentences, clauses, phrases, part, or portion is found to be invalid. If any provision of this Initiative is held invalid as applied to any person or circumstance, such invalidity does not affect any application of this Initiative that can be given effect without the invalid application.
- B. If any portion of this Initiative is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, we the People indicate our strong desire that: (i) the City Council use its best efforts to sustain and reenact that portion, and (ii) the City Council implement this Initiative by taking all steps possible to cure any inadequacies or deficiencies identified by the court in a manner consistent with the express and implied intent of this Initiative, and then adopting or reenacting such portion as necessary or desirable to permit the planning and development of the Project.

Unfinished Business
Agenda Item 11

DATE: December 5, 2012

TO: THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL

FROM: PAUL L. TALBOT, CITY MANAGER
MARK D. HENSLEY, CITY ATTORNEY

SUBJECT: CITY COUNCIL TERM LIMITS

BACKGROUND:

At its November 21, 2012 meeting, the City Council requested that the City Manager and City Attorney prepare appropriate documents for placing an initiative on the ballot regarding term limits. During that meeting, the City Council was undecided as to whether serving one or two years would count toward calculating whether an official served a full term or not. The Council also decided at that time that all elected officials – councilmembers, the treasurer, and city clerk – should be subject to term limits.

Attached for your consideration are two separate initiatives regarding term limits. The first imposes term limits only on councilmembers; the second is for all elected public officials. In both draft initiatives, the City Council may choose whether one or two years should be used when determining whether an official served a full term.

The City Attorney's office drafted two initiatives for this reason: there is no definitive statutory authority allowing the voters to impose term limits on elected officials other than the City Council. Moreover, there are no published cases regarding the ability of general law cities to impose term limits on elected city treasurers and clerks.

The Government Code identifies public officials for a general law city (Government Code § 36501); establishes the qualifications for such officials (Government Code § 36502(A)); and very specifically states that the voters can establish term limits for the city council or an elected mayor (Government Code § 36502(B)).

There is authority allowing voters to change the status of a city treasurer or city clerk from being elected to being appointed (Government Code §§ 36508 and 36509). However, there is no provision in the Government Code regarding imposing term limits on the city treasurer or city clerk.

It is apparent that, for charter cities, the issue of term limits is a municipal affair<sup>1</sup> and it is therefore likely that a charter city could impose term limits upon all elected officials. However, Monterey Park is not a charter city.

Notably, however, there is no prohibition set forth in the Government Code preventing the voters in general law cities from adopting term limits for all elected officials.

Accordingly, a court could uphold a ballot initiative that imposed such term limits since courts give great deference to voters' will in such matters. But, the outcome of any challenge to this type of ballot initiative is not clear.<sup>2</sup>

Based upon the foregoing, the City Attorney's office thought it prudent to offer the City Council two different choices: term limits on just the City Council or upon all elected officials.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the City Council consider:

1. the wording of the two draft initiatives and make appropriate changes;
2. adopting a resolution placing an initiative on the previously called March 5, 2013 Municipal Election pursuant to Elections Code § 9222 regarding term limits;
3. adopting Resolution No. _____ directing the City Attorney to prepare an impartial analysis of the ballot measure regarding city council term limits;
4. adopting Resolution No. _____ establishing requirements for ballot arguments filed with the City Clerk to be included with voter information for the previously called municipal election on March 5, 2012; and
5. take such addition, related, action that may be desirable.

If any provision of this Initiative is held invalid as applied to any person or circumstance, such invalidity does not affect any application of this Initiative that can be given effect without the invalid application.

A. This Initiative must be interpreted so as to be consistent with all federal and state laws, rules, and regulations. If any section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion of this Initiative is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, such decision does not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Initiative. The voters declare that this Initiative, and each section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion thereof, would have been adopted or passed irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sub-sections, sentences, clauses, phrases, part, or portion is found to be invalid. If any provision of this Initiative is held invalid as applied to any person or circumstance, such invalidity does not affect any application of this Initiative that can be given effect without the invalid application.

B. If any portion of this Initiative is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, we the People indicate our strong desire that: (i) the City Council use its best efforts to sustain and reenact that portion, and (ii) the City Council implement this Initiative by taking all steps possible to cure any inadequacies or deficiencies identified by the court in a manner consistent with the express and implied intent of this Initiative, and then adopting or reenacting such portion as necessary or desirable to permit the planning and development of the Project.

C. This Initiative must be broadly construed in order to achieve the purposes stated in this Initiative. It is the intent of the voters that the provisions of this Initiative be interpreted or implemented by the City and others in a manner that facilitates the purposes set forth in this Initiative.

SECTION 6: Attestation. The Mayor will sign this Initiative and the City Clerk will attest and certify to the passage and adoption of this Ordinance if a majority of the voters voting in the City's general election on March 5, 2013 approve the proposition asking whether the voters approve this Initiative.

SECTION 7: Effective Date. This Ordinance will impose term limits in accordance with Government Code § 36502(b). Accordingly, it will be submitted to a general election on March 5, 2013 for voter approval. If a majority of voters vote in favor of this Ordinance, it will become valid and binding on the date that the City Council certifies the election results in accordance with Elections Code § 9217.

Unfinished Business
Agenda Item 11

DATE: December 5, 2012

TO: THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL
FROM: PAUL L. TALBOT, CITY MANAGER
MARK D. HENSLEY, CITY ATTORNEY
SUBJECT: CITY COUNCIL TERM LIMITS

BACKGROUND:

At its November 21, 2012 meeting, the City Council requested that the City Manager and City Attorney prepare appropriate documents for placing an initiative on the ballot regarding term limits. During that meeting, the City Council was undecided as to whether serving one or two years would count toward calculating whether an official served a full term or not. The Council also decided at that time that all elected officials – councilmembers, the treasurer, and city clerk – should be subject to term limits.

Attached for your consideration are two separate initiatives regarding term limits. The first imposes term limits only on councilmembers; the second is for all elected public officials. In both draft initiatives, the City Council may choose whether one or two years should be used when determining whether an official served a full term.

The City Attorney's office drafted two initiatives for this reason: there is no definitive statutory authority allowing the voters to impose term limits on elected officials other than the City Council. Moreover, there are no published cases regarding the ability of general law cities to impose term limits on elected city treasurers and clerks.

The Government Code identifies public officials for a general law city (Government Code § 36501); establishes the qualifications for such officials (Government Code § 36502(A)); and very specifically states that the voters can establish term limits for the city council or an elected mayor (Government Code § 36502(B)).

There is authority allowing voters to change the status of a city treasurer or city clerk from being elected to being appointed (Government Code §§ 36508 and 36509). However, there is no provision in the Government Code regarding imposing term limits on the city treasurer or city clerk.

It is apparent that, for charter cities, the issue of term limits is a municipal affair<sup>1</sup> and it is therefore likely that a charter city could impose term limits upon all elected officials. However, Monterey Park is not a charter city.

Notably, however, there is no prohibition set forth in the Government Code preventing the voters in general law cities from adopting term limits for all elected officials.

Accordingly, a court could uphold a ballot initiative that imposed such term limits since courts give great deference to voters' will in such matters. But, the outcome of any challenge to this type of ballot initiative is not clear.<sup>2</sup>

Based upon the foregoing, the City Attorney's office thought it prudent to offer the City Council two different choices: term limits on just the City Council or upon all elected officials.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the City Council consider:

1. the wording of the two draft initiatives and make appropriate changes;
2. adopting a resolution placing an initiative on the previously called March 5, 2013 Municipal Election pursuant to Elections Code § 9222 regarding term limits;
3. adopting Resolution No. _____ directing the City Attorney to prepare an impartial analysis of the ballot measure regarding city council term limits;
4. adopting Resolution No. _____ establishing requirements for ballot arguments filed with the City Clerk to be included with voter information for the previously called municipal election on March 5, 2012; and
5. take such addition, related, action that may be desirable.

<sup>2</sup> Although there is case law that predates the term limit authority in Government Code § 36502 (which was enacted in 1995) holding that voters in general law cities are preempted by the Government Code from establishing term limits for city councilmembers (Polis v. City of La Palma (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 25, 29).

INITIATIVE MEASURE TO BE SUBMITTED DIRECTLY TO THE VOTERS

The People of the City of Monterey Park do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1: *Title. This initiative measure (this "Initiative") is entitled the "City Council Term Limit Initiative."

SECTION 2: *Purpose and Findings. The purpose of this Initiative is to impose term limits upon persons serving on the Monterey Park City Council pursuant to Government Code § 36502(b).

SECTION 3: *Amendment of Monterey Park Municipal Code. A new § 2.04.040 is added to the Monterey Park Municipal Code to read as follows:

"§ 2.04.040 Term Limits. Pursuant to Government Code § 36502(b), term limits are imposed upon persons serving on the City Council as follows:

- A. No person may serve more than two consecutive terms as a member of the Monterey Park City Council, whether by election or appointment. Other than as provided by this Section, persons are ineligible to be a member of the City Council more than two consecutive terms.
- B. Any person who is ineligible to be a member of the City Council due to the limitations set forth in this Section, will again become eligible to hold office as a member of the City Council provided not less than two years have or will have elapsed between the most recent date of such person's previous service as a City Council member and the effective date of such person's most recent election or appointment to such office. After such a two year absence, a new two consecutive term limit applies.
- C. Any person, who, whether by appointment or election, serves a partial term of office as a member of the City Council for more than ONE OR TWO years is deemed, for the purpose of this Section, to have served a full four-year term.

SECTION 4: Implementation of this Initiative. Upon the effective date of this Initiative, the City is directed to promptly take appropriate actions needed to implement this Initiative.

SECTION 5: Miscellaneous.

- A. This Initiative must be interpreted so as to be consistent with all federal and state laws, rules, and regulations. If any section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion of this Initiative is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, such decision does not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Initiative. The voters declare that this Initiative, and each section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion thereof, would have been adopted or passed irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sub-sections, sentences, clauses, phrases, part, or portion is found to be invalid. If any provision of this Initiative is held invalid as applied to any person or circumstance, such invalidity does not affect any application of this Initiative that can be given effect without the invalid application.
- B. If any portion of this Initiative is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, we the People indicate our strong desire that: (i) the City Council use its best efforts to sustain and reenact that portion, and (ii) the City Council implement this Initiative by taking all steps possible to cure any inadequacies or deficiencies identified by the court in a manner consistent with the express and implied intent of this Initiative, and then adopting or reenacting such portion as necessary or desirable to permit the planning and development of the Project.
- C. This Initiative must be broadly construed in order to achieve the purposes stated in this Initiative. It is the intent of the voters that the provisions of this Initiative be interpreted or implemented by the City and others in a manner that facilitates the purposes set forth in this Initiative.

SECTION 7: Effective Date. This Ordinance will impose term limits in accordance with Government Code § 36502(b). Agenda Item 11

DATE: December 5, 2012

TO: THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL
FROM: PAUL L. TALBOT, CITY MANAGER
MARK D. HENSLEY, CITY ATTORNEY
SUBJECT: CITY COUNCIL TERM LIMITS

BACKGROUND:

At its November 21, 2012 meeting, the City Council requested that the City Manager and City Attorney prepare appropriate documents for placing an initiative on the ballot regarding term limits. During that meeting, the City Council was undecided as to whether serving one or two years would count toward calculating whether an official served a full term or not. The Council also decided at that time that all elected officials – councilmembers, the treasurer, and city clerk – should be subject to term limits.

Attached for your consideration are two separate initiatives regarding term limits. The first imposes term limits only on councilmembers; the second is for all elected public officials. In both draft initiatives, the City Council may choose whether one or two years should be used when determining whether an official served a full term.

The City Attorney's office drafted two initiatives for this reason: there is no definitive statutory authority allowing the voters to impose term limits on elected officials other than the City Council. Moreover, there are no published cases regarding the ability of general law cities to impose term limits on elected city treasurers and clerks.

The Government Code identifies public officials for a general law city (Government Code § 36501); establishes the qualifications for such officials (Government Code § 36502(A)); and very specifically states that the voters can establish term limits for the city council or an elected mayor (Government Code § 36502(B)).

There is authority allowing voters to change the status of a city treasurer or city clerk from being elected to being appointed (Government Code §§ 36508 and 36509). However, there is no provision in the Government Code regarding imposing term limits on the city treasurer or city clerk.

It is apparent that, for charter cities, the issue of term limits is a municipal affair<sup>1</sup> and it is therefore likely that a charter city could impose term limits upon all elected officials. However, Monterey Park is not a charter city.

Notably, however, there is no prohibition set forth in the Government Code preventing the voters in general law cities from adopting term limits for all elected officials.

Accordingly, a court could uphold a ballot initiative that imposed such term limits since courts give great deference to voters' will in such matters. But, the outcome of any challenge to this type of ballot initiative is not clear.<sup>2</sup>

Based upon the foregoing, the City Attorney's office thought it prudent to offer the City Council two different choices: term limits on just the City Council or upon all elected officials.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the City Council consider:

1. the wording of the two draft initiatives and make appropriate changes;
2. adopting a resolution placing an initiative on the previously called March 5, 2013 Municipal Election pursuant to Elections Code § 9222 regarding term limits;
3. adopting Resolution No. _____ directing the City Attorney to prepare an impartial analysis of the ballot measure regarding city council term limits;
4. adopting Resolution No. _____ establishing requirements for ballot arguments filed with the City Clerk to be included with voter information for the previously called municipal election on March 5, 2012; and
5. take such addition, related, action that may be desirable.

<sup>2</sup> Although there is case law that predates the term limit authority in Government Code § 36502 (which was enacted in 1995) holding that voters in general law cities are preempted by the Government Code from establishing term limits for city councilmembers (Polis v. City of La Palma (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 25, 29).

INITIATIVE MEASURE TO BE SUBMITTED DIRECTLY TO THE VOTERS

The People of the City of Monterey Park do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1: *Title. This initiative measure (this "Initiative") is entitled the "City Council Term Limit Initiative."

SECTION 2: *Purpose and Findings. The purpose of this Initiative is to impose term limits upon persons serving on the Monterey Park City Council pursuant to Government Code § 36502(b).

SECTION 3: *Amendment of Monterey Park Municipal Code. A new § 2.04.040 is added to the Monterey Park Municipal Code to read as follows:

"§ 2.04.040 Term Limits. Pursuant to Government Code § 36502(b), term limits are imposed upon persons serving on the City Council as follows:

- A. No person may serve more than two consecutive terms as a member of the Monterey Park City Council, whether by election or appointment. Other than as provided by this Section, persons are ineligible to be a member of the City Council more than two consecutive terms.
- B. Any person who is ineligible to be a member of the City Council due to the limitations set forth in this Section, will again become eligible to hold office as a member of the City Council provided not less than two years have or will have elapsed between the most recent date of such person's previous service as a City Council member and the effective date of such person's most recent election or appointment to such office. After such a two year absence, a new two consecutive term limit applies.
- C. Any person, who, whether by appointment or election, serves a partial term of office as a member of the City Council for more than ONE OR TWO years is deemed, for the purpose of this Section, to have served a full four-year term.
- D. The City Clerk must reject, refuse to accept for filing, and otherwise refuse to process any nominating papers or other equivalent declaration of candidacy as required or authorized by law for persons if they are ineligible to hold office pursuant to this Section.
- E. This Section applies prospectively only, so that any City Councilmember beginning a term of office on or after the effective date of this Section may serve up to two consecutive terms from and after that date.

- F. Only the voters may amend or repeal this Section at an election duly certified under the Elections Code."

SECTION 4: Implementation of this Initiative. Upon the effective date of this Initiative, the City is directed to promptly take appropriate actions needed to implement this Initiative.

SECTION 5: Miscellaneous.

- A. This Initiative must be interpreted so as to be consistent with all federal and state laws, rules, and regulations. If any section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion of this Initiative is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, such decision does not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Initiative. The voters declare that this Initiative, and each section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion thereof, would have been adopted or passed irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sub-sections, sentences, clauses, phrases, part, or portion is found to be invalid. If any provision of this Initiative is held invalid as applied to any person or circumstance, such invalidity does not affect any application of this Initiative that can be given effect without the invalid application.
- B. If any portion of this Initiative is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, we the People indicate our strong desire that: (i) the City Council use its best efforts to sustain and reenact that portion, and (ii) the City Council implement this Initiative by taking all steps possible to cure any inadequacies or deficiencies identified by the court in a manner consistent with the express and implied intent of this Initiative, and then adopting or reenacting such portion as necessary or desirable to permit the planning and development of the Project.
- C. This Initiative must be broadly construed in order to achieve the purposes stated in this Initiative. It is the intent of the voters that the provisions of this Initiative be interpreted or implemented by the City and others in a manner that facilitates the purposes set forth in this Initiative.

SECTION 6: Attestation. The Mayor will sign this Initiative and the City Clerk will attest and certify to the passage and adoption of this Ordinance if a majority of the voters voting in the City's general election on March 5, 2013 approve the proposition asking whether the voters approve this Initiative.

SECTION 7: Effective Date. This Ordinance will impose term limits in accordance with Government Code § 36502(b). Accordingly, it will be submitted to a general election on March 5, 2013 for voter approval. If a majority of voters vote in favor of this Ordinance, it will become valid and binding on the date that the City Council certifies the election results in accordance with Elections Code § 9217.

The People of the City of Monterey Park do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1: Title. This initiative measure (this "Initiative") is entitled the "Term Limit Initiative."

SECTION 2: Purpose and Findings. The purpose of this Initiative is to impose term limits upon persons serving on the Monterey Park City Council pursuant to Government Code § 36502(b).

SECTION 3: Amendment of Monterey Park Municipal Code. A new § 2.04.040 is added to the Monterey Park Municipal Code to read as follows:

"§ 2.04.040 Term Limits. Pursuant to Government Code § 36502(b), term limits are imposed upon persons serving on the city council, the city treasurer, and city clerk as follows:

A. For purposes of this section, the terms "city councilmember, city treasurer, and city clerk" are collectively referred to as "public official." As used in this Section, a "public office" means either the office of city clerk; office of city treasurer; or the city council.

B. No person may serve more than two consecutive terms as a public official in a particular public office, whether by election or appointment. Other than as provided by this Section, persons are ineligible to be a public official more than two consecutive terms.

C. Any person who is ineligible to be a public official due to the limitations set forth in this Section, will again become eligible to hold public office as a public official provided not less than two years have or will have elapsed between the most recent date of such person's previous service as a public official and the effective date of such person's most recent election or appointment to public office. After such a two year absence, a new two consecutive term limit applies.

D. Any person, who, whether by appointment or election, serves a partial term in public office for more than ONE OR TWO years is deemed, for the purpose of this Section, to have served a full four-year term.

E. The City Clerk must reject, refuse to accept for filing, and otherwise refuse to process any nominating papers or other equivalent declaration of candidacy as required or authorized by law for persons if they are ineligible to hold public office pursuant to this Section.

F. This Section applies prospectively only, so that any public official beginning a term of office on or after the effective date of this Section may serve up to two consecutive terms from and after that date.

G. Only the voters may amend or repeal this Section at an election duly certified under the Elections Code.”

SECTION 4:     Implementation of this Initiative. Upon the effective date of this Initiative, the City is directed to promptly take appropriate actions needed to implement this Initiative.

SECTION 5:     Miscellaneous.

A. This Initiative must be interpreted so as to be consistent with all federal and state laws, rules, and regulations. If any section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion of this Initiative is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, such decision does not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Initiative. The voters declare that this Initiative, and each section, sub-section, sentence, clause, phrase, part, or portion thereof, would have been adopted or passed irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sub-sections, sentences, clauses, phrases, part, or portion is found to be invalid. If any provision of this Initiative is held invalid as applied to any person or circumstance, such invalidity does not affect any application of this Initiative that can be given effect without the invalid application.

B. If any portion of this Initiative is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, we the People indicate our strong desire that: (i) the City Council use its best efforts to sustain and reenact that portion, and (ii) the City Council implement this Initiative by taking all steps possible to cure any inadequacies or deficiencies identified by the court in a manner consistent with the express and implied intent of this Initiative, and then adopting or reenacting such portion as necessary or desirable to permit the planning and development of the Project.

C. This Initiative must be broadly construed in order to achieve the purposes stated in this Initiative. It is the intent of the voters that the provisions of this Initiative be interpreted or implemented by the City and others in a manner that facilitates the purposes set forth in this Initiative.

SECTION 6: Attestation. The Mayor will sign this Initiative and the City Clerk will attest and certify to the passage and adoption of this Ordinance if a majority of the voters voting in the City's general election on March 5, 2013 approve the proposition asking whether the voters approve this Initiative.

SECTION 7: Effective Date. This Ordinance will impose term limits in accordance with Government Code § 36502(b). Accordingly, it will be submitted to a general election on March 5, 2013 for voter approval. If a majority of voters vote in favor of this Ordinance, it will become valid and binding on the date that the City Council certifies the election results in accordance with Elections Code § 9217.

Unfinished Business
Agenda Item 11

DATE: December 5, 2012

TO: THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL
FROM: PAUL L. TALBOT, CITY MANAGER
MARK D. HENSLEY, CITY ATTORNEY
SUBJECT: CITY COUNCIL TERM LIMITS

BACKGROUND:

At its November 21, 2012 meeting, the City Council requested that the City Manager and City Attorney prepare appropriate documents for placing an initiative on the ballot regarding term limits. During that meeting, the City Council was undecided as to whether serving one or two years would count toward calculating whether an official served a full term or not. The Council also decided at that time that all elected officials – councilmembers, the treasurer, and city clerk – should be subject to term limits.

Attached for your consideration are two separate initiatives regarding term limits. The first imposes term limits only on councilmembers; the second is for all elected public officials. In both draft initiatives, the City Council may choose whether one or two years should be used when determining whether an official served a full term.

The City Attorney's office drafted two initiatives for this reason: there is no definitive statutory authority allowing the voters to impose term limits on elected officials other than the City Council. Moreover, there are no published cases regarding the ability of general law cities to impose term limits on elected city treasurers and clerks.

The Government Code identifies public officials for a general law city (Government Code § 36501); establishes the qualifications for such officials (Government Code § 36502(A)); and very specifically states that the voters can establish term limits for the city council or an elected mayor (Government Code § 36502(B)).

There is authority allowing voters to change the status of a city treasurer or city clerk from being elected to being appointed (Government Code §§ 36508 and 36509). However, there is no provision in the Government Code regarding imposing term limits on the city treasurer or city clerk.

It is apparent that, for charter cities, the issue of term limits is a municipal affair<sup>1</sup> and it is therefore likely that a charter city could impose term limits upon all elected officials. However, Monterey Park is not a charter city.

Notably, however, there is no prohibition set forth in the Government Code preventing the voters in general law cities from adopting term limits for all elected officials.

Accordingly, a court could uphold a ballot initiative that imposed such term limits since courts give great deference to voters' will in such matters. But, the outcome of any challenge to this type of ballot initiative is not clear.<sup>2</sup>

Based upon the foregoing, the City Attorney's office thought it prudent to offer the City Council two different choices: term limits on just the City Council or upon all elected officials.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the City Council consider:

1. the wording of the two draft initiatives and make appropriate changes;
2. adopting a resolution placing an initiative on the previously called March 5, 2013 Municipal Election pursuant to Elections Code § 9222 regarding term limits;
3. adopting Resolution No. _____ directing the City Attorney to prepare an impartial analysis of the ballot measure regarding city council term limits;
4. adopting Resolution No. _____ establishing requirements for ballot arguments filed with the City Clerk to be included with voter information for the previously called municipal election on March 5, 2012; and
5. take such addition, related, action that may be desirable.

<sup>2</sup> Although there is case law that predates the term limit authority in Government Code § 36502 (which was enacted in 1995) holding that voters in general law cities are preempted by the Government Code from establishing term limits for city councilmembers (Polis v. City of La Palma (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 25, 29).

Santa Rosa City Code Chapter 10-34

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTION LIMITS

10-34.010 Intent and purpose.

The purpose of this chapter is to avoid corruption and the appearance of corruption by ensuring that the financial strength of individuals or organizations does not permit them to exercise a disproportionate or controlling influence on the election of Santa Rosa City Council candidates. To achieve such purpose, this chapter is designed to reduce the influence of large contributions, to ensure that individuals and interest groups continue to have a fair and equal opportunity to participate in electing City Council candidates, and to maintain public trust in governmental institutions and the electoral process. (Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.020 Relation to Political Reform Act of 1974.

This chapter is intended to supplement the Political Reform Act of 1974. Unless a word or term is specifically defined in this chapter, or the contrary is stated or clearly appears from the context, words and terms used herein shall have the same meaning as defined or used in Title 9 of the California Government Code, in which the Political Reform Act of 1974 is codified, and as supplemented by the Regulations of the Fair Political Practices Commission as set forth in Title 2, Division 6 of the California Code of Regulation, as the same may be, from time to time, amended. (C) If a City Council member or indebted former candidate, or a controlled committee of any such officer or candidate, receives contributions for the purpose of retiring outstanding debt from a prior City election and the amount of the contributions exceeds the amount of the debt, the excess funds may be used for any other campaign or officeholder expense and shall not be subject to the aggregation requirements set forth in Section 10-34.070 in the election cycle in which the excess funds are expended. (Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.060 Election cycles.

(A) General Elections. The intent of this section is to limit each campaign donor to $500.00 for any candidate or ballot measure at any election. For purposes of any general election for City Council, "election cycle" as used in this chapter means a period beginning three calendar years preceding the year of the election for which a candidate designates he or she is filing and ending on December 31st of the year of the election.

(B) Special Elections. For purposes of any special election for any City office, the term election cycle as used this chapter shall mean the period commencing on the date a special election is called by the City Council and ending on the thirtieth day following said special election.

(1) The time provided by law for the gathering of signatures on recall petitions expires without sufficient recall petition signatures having been filed with the City Clerk to require a recall election;

(2) All committees formed in support of the recall have been terminated pursuant to the provisions of the Political Reform Act;

(3) The date the recall election is held.

(D) Nothing in this chapter shall prohibit indebted candidates and/or their controlled campaign committee, from soliciting and receiving funds to pay off their campaign debt in accordance with the provisions of Section 10-34.050, after the end of the election cycles defined above. Consistent with the definition and use of the terms "sponsored committee" and "sponsor" in the Political Reform Act, the term "sponsor" shall not include individuals.

(B) Contributions received from the following combinations of individuals and entities must be aggregated to determine the cumulative amount of contributions received from a contributor:

(D) Contributions by children under 18 years of age shall be treated as contributions by their parent(s) or legal guardian(s), one-half to each parent or guardian unless only one parent or guardian has legal custody of such child in which event any such contributions shall be attributed solely to the custodial parent. Contributions received from any contributor during a reporting period which have a cumulative total of $100.00 or more when added to all other contributions received from such contributor during the same election cycle shall be itemized and reported, both as to individual contribution amounts received during the reporting period and the total cumulative amount received during the election cycle. Such amounts shall be reported on Schedule A of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission, if the candidate or controlled committee is required to use such form, or shall be reported on a separate schedule appended to the required campaign statement. 10-34.120 Notice of independent expenditures.

Any person or entity who makes independent expenditures which aggregate to $500.00 or more during an election cycle shall deliver notice in writing of such independent expenditure in support of or in opposition to any City issue or City Council candidate, as well as the amount of such expenditure, and a detailed description of the use of such independent expenditure. Such notice shall be filed with the City Clerk on a form prepared by the City Clerk for such purpose. The notice shall specifically state the name of the candidate or candidates whom the independent expenditure is intended to support or oppose and shall also include the information required to be provided in the Campaign Disclosure Statement (Form 465 or any successor form thereto) as provided by the California Fair Political Practices Commission and shall also provide the email address, if any, of the person or entity making the independent expenditure. Each independent expenditure shall require delivery of a new notice. Such notice shall be filed for the same reporting periods and be the same deadlines as are expenditures by candidates pursuant to the California Political Reform Act and by Section 10-32.016. (Ord. 3938 § 2, 2010; Ord. 3624 § 8, 2003; Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

(A) Any person or entity making an independent expenditure of $500.00 or more shall disclose in any political message produced by the expenditure, the full name, address, and phone number of the person or organization, the name of the registered agent, the amount of the expenditure, and the specific statement that the advertisement of materials is not authorized by any candidate. Persons or organizations who make independent expenditures for or against a candidate or committee shall indicate clearly on any material published, displayed or broadcast that it was not authorized by a candidate or committee controlled by a candidate. Such disclosure shall be printed in 12-point type or larger in any printed materials, and prominently displayed in any non-printed materials or message.

Notwithstanding the above, if a contribution does not designate the requisite information, the candidate or the candidate's committee may hold the contribution without returning it or depositing it into a campaign account for a period of up to 14 days while the requisite information is obtained. The required information shall be reported on Schedule A of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission. (C) Extensions of credit (other than loans pursuant to subsection (B)) for a period of more than 30 days are subject to the contribution limitations of this chapter.

contributors to the committee at the time the mailing is being prepared. This required disclosure shall be in substantially the following form: "This information is provided by [Name of Independent Expenditure Committee] and has been supported by [names of top three contributors]."

(C) Disclosure of name, address, and occupation and employer of contributor. If either the name, address, occupation and employer of an individual contributor (or if such individual is self-employed, the name of the business, if any, under which the individual is operating) is not on file in the records of the recipient of the contribution by the end of the reporting period in which the contribution was accepted, the contribution shall then be returned to the individual, or to the City's general fund, by the end of that reporting period. Notwithstanding the above, if a contribution does not designate the requisite information, the candidate or the candidate's committee may hold the contribution without returning it or depositing it into a campaign account for a period of up to 14 days while the requisite information is obtained. The required information shall be reported on Schedule A of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission. Both the receipt and return of any such contribution shall be disclosed on the appropriate schedules of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission. (1) For the making or accepting of any contribution in excess of the applicable contribution limits specified in this chapter, a sum equal to three times the amount by which the contribution exceeds the applicable contribution limit, or the sum of $2,500.00, whichever is greater, for each violation.

(2) For any other violation of this chapter, the sum of $1,000.00 for each violation.

(C) Right to Cure Unknowing Violation. In the event a candidate accepts a contribution and then becomes aware

(D) Debt Owing to City. Any amount due from any person pursuant to subsection (B) above shall be a debt due and owing upon demand to the general fund of the City of Santa Rosa.

(E) Civil Action to Collect Debt and Obtain Other Relief. The District Attorney of the County of Sonoma shall file and prosecute a civil action in superior court, to recover any amount(s) due and owing to the City of Santa Rosa by any person pursuant to this section, or to enjoin any violation or otherwise compel compliance with the requirements of this chapter.

Such remedial measures may, but need not necessarily, include the payment of a civil fine to the City. Nothing contained herein shall be deemed to require the District Attorney to offer remedial measures to any target party. In the event the target party is offered and timely performs such remedial measures to the satisfaction of the District Attorney, the District Attorney shall advise the target party (and any person who, in writing, informed or complained to the District Attorney concerning any such violation), in writing, that the alleged violation has been resolved (the "letter of resolution") and, in such event, no civil action shall thereafter be filed or maintained relating to such alleged violation of this chapter. (C) If a City Council member or indebted former candidate, or a controlled committee of any such officer or candidate, receives contributions for the purpose of retiring outstanding debt from a prior City election and the amount of the contributions exceeds the amount of the debt, the excess funds may be used for any other campaign or officeholder expense and shall not be subject to the aggregation requirements set forth in Section 10-34.070 in the election cycle in which the excess funds are expended. (Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

(3) Contributions from any number of entities or committees if the same person or a majority of the same persons in fact directs and controls the contributions each entity makes. This subdivision shall not apply to treasurers of committees if these treasurers do not participate in or control in any way a decision on whether the candidate or candidates received contributions.

(C) Contributions by a married person shall be treated as the separate contributions of such person and shall not be aggregated with any contributions of the spouse of such person.

(D) Contributions by children under 18 years of age shall be treated as contributions by their parent(s) or legal guardian(s), one-half to each parent or guardian unless only one parent or guardian has legal custody of such child in which event any such contributions shall be attributed solely to the custodial parent. 10-34.090 Multiple campaign committees.

(A) A City Council candidate shall have no more than one controlled committee and such controlled committee shall have only one bank account out of which all qualified campaign and officeholder expenses related to that office shall be made.

(B) This section does not prevent a City Council candidate or a City Council member from establishing another controlled committee solely for the purpose of running for a state, federal, county or other elective office, or for opposing his or her recall. (Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.100 Disclosure of name, address, occupation and employer of contributor.

If either the name, address, occupation and employer of an individual contributor (or if such individual is self-employed, the name of the business, if any, under which the individual is operating) is not on file in the records of the recipient of the contribution by the end of the reporting period in which the contribution was accepted, the contribution shall then be returned to the individual, or to the City's general fund, by the end of that reporting period. Notwithstanding the above, if a contribution does not designate the requisite information, the candidate or the candidate's committee may hold the contribution without returning it or depositing it into a campaign account for a period of up to 14 days while the requisite information is obtained. The required information shall be reported on Schedule A of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission. Both the receipt and return of any such contribution shall be disclosed on the appropriate schedules of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission. Contributions received from any contributor during a reporting period which have a cumulative total of $100.00 or more when added to all other contributions received from such contributor during the same election cycle shall be itemized and reported, both as to individual contribution amounts received during the reporting period and the total cumulative amount received during the election cycle. Such amounts shall be reported on Schedule A of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission, if the candidate or controlled committee is required to use such form, or shall be reported on a separate schedule appended to the required campaign statement. (B) Disclosure of Major Contributors. Any mailing financially supported by an independent expenditure committee shall indicate on the envelope containing the mailing, and on the mailing itself, the name of the committee, and the names of the top three financial

(A) City Council Candidates. Except as provided in subsection (B) of this section, no person shall make, and no City Council candidate or treasurer of any controlled committee of any city council candidate shall solicit or accept, any contributions which would cause the total amount contributed by such person to such candidate or to his or her controlled committee, to exceed $500.00 during any election cycle. Contributions accepted for campaign expenses and for officeholder expenses shall be aggregated for purposes of the limitation set forth in this section.

(B) Elective Council Members and Candidates With Outstanding Debt From Prior Election. No person shall make, and no City Council member or indebted former candidate, or treasurer of any controlled committee of any City Council member or indebted former candidate, shall solicit or accept, any contributions for the purpose of retiring outstanding debt from a prior City election which would cause the total amount contributed by such person to such Council member or indebted former candidate or to his or her controlled committee, to exceed $500.00 for the election in which the outstanding debt was incurred, regardless of when the contribution(s) is made or received.

(C) Recall Elections. The contribution limitations set forth in subsection (A) above shall also apply to any committee which collects contributions for the purpose of making expenditures in support of or opposition to the recall of a City Council member, and to contributions received by such City Council member, during a recall election cycle as defined in Section 10-34.060.

(D) Candidates Personal Funds. The provisions of this section shall not apply to a City Council candidate's contribution of his or her personal funds to his or her own controlled committee. Contributions by the spouse of a City Council candidate from such spouse's separate property shall be subject to the contribution limitations set forth in subsection (A). (Ord. 3624 § 6, 2003; Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.050 Outstanding debt retirement and reporting.

(A) Any City Council member or indebted former candidate, or any controlled committee of any such officer or candidate, accepting any contribution(s) for the purpose of retiring outstanding debt from a prior City election and required by state law to report such contributions on Schedule A of Fair Political Practices Commission Form 460, or any successor form thereto, shall, at the time required for the reporting of such contributions on Schedule A and in addition to any other reporting requirements under state law, clearly designate on said Schedule A which contributions were received for the purpose of retiring outstanding debt and for which prior City election such contributions were received.

(B) Any contribution accepted for the purpose of retiring outstanding debt from a prior City election shall be applied to reduce or retire said outstanding debt in the same reporting period in which such contribution was accepted. The application of any contribution to retire outstanding debt from a prior City election (i.e., repayment of outstanding loans and payment of accrued expenses) shall be itemized and identified on the appropriate schedules and on the summary page of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, provided by the Fair Political Practices Commission.

(C) If a City Council member or indebted former candidate, or a controlled committee of any such officer or candidate, receives contributions for the purpose of retiring outstanding debt from a prior City election and the amount of the contributions exceeds the amount of the debt, the excess funds may be used for any other campaign or officeholder expense and shall not be subject to the aggregation requirements set forth in Section 10-34.070 in the election cycle in which the excess funds are expended. (Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.060 Election cycles.

(A) General Elections. The intent of this section is to limit each campaign donor to $500.00 for any candidate or ballot measure at any election. For purposes of any general election for City Council, "election cycle" as used in this chapter means a period beginning three calendar years preceding the year of the election for which a candidate designates he or she is filing and ending on December 31st of the year of the election.

(B) Special Elections. For purposes of any special election for any City office, the term election cycle as used this chapter shall mean the period commencing on the date a special election is called by the City Council and ending on the thirtieth day following said special election.

(C) Recall Elections. For purposes of any recall election of any City Council member, the term election cycle as used in this chapter shall mean the period commencing on either the date a committee is formed pursuant to the Political Reform Act in support of a recall election or the date the City Clerk approves a recall petition for circulation and gathering of signatures, whichever occurs earlier, and ending on the thirtieth day following the first to occur of any of the following:

(1) The time provided by law for the gathering of signatures on recall petitions expires without sufficient recall petition signatures having been filed with the City Clerk to require a recall election;

(2) All committees formed in support of the recall have been terminated pursuant to the provisions of the Political Reform Act;

(3) The date the recall election is held.

(D) Nothing in this chapter shall prohibit indebted candidates and/or their controlled campaign committee, from soliciting and receiving funds to pay off their campaign debt in accordance with the provisions of Section 10-34.050, after the end of the election cycles defined above. (Ord. 3624 § 7, 2003; Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.070 Aggregation of contributions.

For purposes of the contribution limitations contained in this chapter, the following provisions shall apply:

(A) All contributions made by a sponsored committee to a City Council candidate (or to a committee controlled by such candidate) shall be combined with those contributions made during the same election cycle by the sponsor(s) of the committee. Consistent with the definition and use of the terms "sponsored committee" and "sponsor" in the Political Reform Act, the term "sponsor" shall not include individuals.

(B) Contributions received from the following combinations of individuals and entities must be aggregated to determine the cumulative amount of contributions received from a contributor:

(1) Contributions from an individual who makes contributions from personal funds and who also has sole authority to direct and control contributions made from other funds;

(2) Contributions from business entities in a parent-subsidiary relationship and business entities with the same controlling owner (more than 50 percent), unless the entities act completely independently in their decisions to make contributions;

(3) Contributions from any number of entities or committees if the same person or a majority of the same persons in fact directs and controls the contributions each entity makes. This subdivision shall not apply to treasurers of committees if these treasurers do not participate in or control in any way a decision on whether the candidate or candidates received contributions.

(C) Contributions by a married person shall be treated as the separate contributions of such person and shall not be aggregated with any contributions of the spouse of such person.

(D) Contributions by children under 18 years of age shall be treated as contributions by their parent(s) or legal guardian(s), one-half to each parent or guardian unless only one parent or guardian has legal custody of such child in which event any such contributions shall be attributed solely to the custodial parent. (Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.080 Loans to City candidates and their controlled committees.

(A) A loan shall be considered a contribution from the maker and the guarantor of the loan and shall be subject to the contribution limitations of this chapter.

(B) The proceeds of a loan made to a City candidate by a commercial lending institution in the regular course of business on the same terms available to members of the public shall not be subject to the contribution limitations of this chapter if the loan is made directly to the candidate. The guarantors of such a loan shall remain subject to the contribution limits of this chapter.

(C) Extensions of credit (other than loans pursuant to subsection (B)) for a period of more than 30 days are subject to the contribution limitations of this chapter.

(D) This section shall apply only to loans and extensions of credit used or intended for use for campaign purposes or which are otherwise connected with the holding of public office. (Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.090 Multiple campaign committees.

(A) A City Council candidate shall have no more than one controlled committee and such controlled committee shall have only one bank account out of which all qualified campaign and officeholder expenses related to that office shall be made.

(B) This section does not prevent a City Council candidate or a City Council member from establishing another controlled committee solely for the purpose of running for a state, federal, county or other elective office, or for opposing his or her recall. (Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.100 Disclosure of name, address, occupation and employer of contributor.

If either the name, address, occupation and employer of an individual contributor (or if such individual is self-employed, the name of the business, if any, under which the individual is operating) is not on file in the records of the recipient of the contribution by the end of the reporting period in which the contribution was accepted, the contribution shall then be returned to the individual, or to the City's general fund, by the end of that reporting period. Notwithstanding the above, if a contribution does not designate the requisite information, the candidate or the candidate's committee may hold the contribution without returning it or depositing it into a campaign account for a period of up to 14 days while the requisite information is obtained. The required information shall be reported on Schedule A of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission. Both the receipt and return of any such contribution shall be disclosed on the appropriate schedules of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission. (Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.110 Reporting of cumulative contributions.

Contributions received from any contributor during a reporting period which have a cumulative total of $100.00 or more when added to all other contributions received from such contributor during the same election cycle shall be itemized and reported, both as to individual contribution amounts received during the reporting period and the total cumulative amount received during the election cycle. Such amounts shall be reported on Schedule A of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission, if the candidate or controlled committee is required to use such form, or shall be reported on a separate schedule appended to the required campaign statement. The term election cycle as used in this section shall mean the period described in Section 10-34.060. (Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.120 Notice of independent expenditures.

Any person or entity who makes independent expenditures which aggregate to $500.00 or more during an election cycle shall deliver notice in writing of such independent expenditure in support of or in opposition to any City issue or City Council candidate, as well as the amount of such expenditure, and a detailed description of the use of such independent expenditure. Such notice shall be filed with the City Clerk on a form prepared by the City Clerk for such purpose. The notice shall specifically state the name of the candidate or candidates whom the independent expenditure is intended to support or oppose and shall also include the information required to be provided in the Campaign Disclosure Statement (Form 465 or any successor form thereto) as provided by the California Fair Political Practices Commission and shall also provide the email address, if any, of the person or entity making the independent expenditure. Each independent expenditure shall require delivery of a new notice. Such notice shall be filed for the same reporting periods and be the same deadlines as are expenditures by candidates pursuant to the California Political Reform Act and by Section 10-32.016. (Ord. 3938 § 2, 2010; Ord. 3624 § 8, 2003; Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

10-34.130 Disclosure requirements.

(A) Any person or entity making an independent expenditure of $500.00 or more shall disclose in any political message produced by the expenditure, the full name, address, and phone number of the person or organization, the name of the registered agent, the amount of the expenditure, and the specific statement that the advertisement of materials is not authorized by any candidate. Persons or organizations who make independent expenditures for or against a candidate or committee shall indicate clearly on any material published, displayed or broadcast that it was not authorized by a candidate or committee controlled by a candidate. Such disclosure shall be printed in 12-point type or larger in any printed materials, and prominently displayed in any non-printed materials or message.

(B) Disclosure of Major Contributors. Any mailing financially supported by an independent expenditure committee shall indicate on the envelope containing the mailing, and on the mailing itself, the name of the committee, and the names of the top three financial contributors to the committee at the time the mailing is being prepared. This required disclosure shall be in substantially the following form: "This information is provided by [Name of Independent Expenditure Committee] and has been supported by [names of top three contributors]."

(C) Disclosure of name, address, and occupation and employer of contributor. If either the name, address, occupation and employer of an individual contributor (or if such individual is self-employed, the name of the business, if any, under which the individual is operating) is not on file in the records of the recipient of the contribution by the end of the reporting period in which the contribution was accepted, the contribution shall then be returned to the individual, or to the City's general fund, by the end of that reporting period. Notwithstanding the above, if a contribution does not designate the requisite information, the candidate or the candidate's committee may hold the contribution without returning it or depositing it into a campaign account for a period of up to 14 days while the requisite information is obtained. The required information shall be reported on Schedule A of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission. Both the receipt and return of any such contribution shall be disclosed on the appropriate schedules of Form 460, or any successor form thereto, as prepared by the Fair Political Practices Commission. (Ord. 3938 § 3, 2010)

10-34.140 Enforcement of chapter.

(A) No Criminal Penalties. Notwithstanding any other provision of the Santa Rosa City Code, any violation of any provision of this chapter shall be enforceable solely as provided in this section.

(B) Civil Liability. Any person who fails to comply with any provision or requirement of this chapter shall be strictly liable to the City of Santa Rosa in a sum not to exceed the following amount for each such violation:

(1) For the making or accepting of any contribution in excess of the applicable contribution limits specified in this chapter, a sum equal to three times the amount by which the contribution exceeds the applicable contribution limit, or the sum of $2,500.00, whichever is greater, for each violation.

(2) For any other violation of this chapter, the sum of $1,000.00 for each violation.

(C) Right to Cure Unknowing Violation. In the event a candidate accepts a contribution and then becomes aware it is in violation of the contribution limit, that violation by the candidate may be excused if the candidate returns the contribution or contributes it to the City general fund within 14 days of becoming aware of the violation.

(D) Debt Owing to City. Any amount due from any person pursuant to subsection (B) above shall be a debt due and owing upon demand to the general fund of the City of Santa Rosa.

(E) Civil Action to Collect Debt and Obtain Other Relief. The District Attorney of the County of Sonoma shall file and prosecute a civil action in superior court, to recover any amount(s) due and owing to the City of Santa Rosa by any person pursuant to this section, or to enjoin any violation or otherwise compel compliance with the requirements of this chapter.

(F) Limitations of Actions. No civil action shall be brought under the provisions of this section unless said action is filed within two years following the date of such violation.

(G) Remedial Measures. If the District Attorney determines or believes that any person (the target party) has violated any provision of this chapter, the District Attorney may, at his or her sole discretion, advise the target party of remedial measures which may be taken by the target party to avoid possible civil action (the "remedial measures"). Such remedial measures may, but need not necessarily, include the payment of a civil fine to the City. Nothing contained herein shall be deemed to require the District Attorney to offer remedial measures to any target party. In the event the target party is offered and timely performs such remedial measures to the satisfaction of the District Attorney, the District Attorney shall advise the target party (and any person who, in writing, informed or complained to the District Attorney concerning any such violation), in writing, that the alleged violation has been resolved (the "letter of resolution") and, in such event, no civil action shall thereafter be filed or maintained relating to such alleged violation of this chapter. (Ord. 3938 § 4, 2010; Ord. 3499 § 1 (part), 2000)

Chapter 6 ELECTION CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTION CONTROL

- 1-6.120 Violation—Penalty.

1-6.010 Purpose.

- (a) Local government should serve the needs and respond to the wishes of all citizens equally, without regard to their wealth.
- (b) Public officials should perform their duties in an impartial manner, free from bias caused by their own financial interests or the financial interests of persons who have supported them.
- (c) Large sums of money have been contributed and spent to finance recent election campaigns. Costs of conducting election campaigns have increased greatly in recent years, and candidates have been forced to finance their campaigns by seeking or accepting large contributions from lobbyists and organizations who then expect and seek to gain disproportionate influence over governmental decisions. Inherent in the high cost of election campaigning is the problem of excessive or improper influence, real or perceived, exercised by campaign contributors over elected officials, and over the electoral process itself. It is the purpose and intent of the City Council, in enacting this chapter, to place realistic and enforceable limits on the amount that individual persons may contribute to political campaigns in City elections; and to require appropriate reporting, so as to assure these limitations will in fact be enforced; and otherwise to provide for fair and full enforcement of all the provisions of this chapter.
- (d) This chapter is enacted in accordance with the terms of Section 7 of Article XI of the Constitution of this state, Section 10003 of the Elections Code, Section 81013 of the Government Code, and Section 200 of the Watsonville City Charter and may be cited as the "Watsonville Election Campaign Contribution Control Ordinance."

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.020 Definitions.

The definitions of words and phrases provided in Government Code Sections 81000 et seq. apply when those same words are used in this chapter, except:

(a) "Business or labor committee" shall mean a committee created or-sponsored by a corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other for-profit or not-for-profit business entity for the sole purpose of using the voluntary donations of its members or employees for public purposes.

(b) "Candidate" shall mean any individual listed on the ballot for nomination for and for election to City Council, or who otherwise has taken affirmative action to seek nomination or election to City Council, or who receives a contribution or makes an expenditure, or who gives his or her consent for any other person to receive a contribution or make an expenditure with a view to bring about his or her nomination or election to City Council. "Candidate" also means an officeholder in connection with a recall election relating to such officeholder.

(c) "Committee" shall mean any person or combination of two (2) or more persons acting in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or in support of or in opposition to the qualification for the ballot of any recall petition, or which seeks or plans to seek to influence the outcome of any election of a candidate, or which supports or opposes the qualification of any recall petition for the ballot.

(d) "Corporation" shall mean a corporation organized under the laws of California or any other state or nation.

(e) "City Council" shall mean the office of City Council of the City of Watsonville.

(f) "Election," "election of a candidate," and "City election" shall mean any primary, general or special City election held within the City, including a recall election, which involves the election of any person to City Council. For the purpose of this chapter, a primary election shall be considered a separate election from a general election.

(g) "Enforcement authority" shall mean the district attorney of Santa Cruz County, except as such authority is vested in the California Fair Political Practices Commission by state law. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as limiting the authority of any law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney or other person to enforce the provisions of this chapter under any circumstances where such law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney or other person has lawful authority to do so.

(h) "Individual" shall mean an individual person, and shall not include a partnership, corporation, association, firm, business entity, committee, club, other organization, or a group of persons however organized.

(i) "Measure" shall mean a local proposition submitted to a popular vote at an election by initiative, referendum, or as an advisory measure.

(j) "Proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot" shall mean the attempt by any person or persons to qualify a recall petition for submission of the same to a popular vote at any election, whether or not such recall is ultimately qualified for the ballot.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.030 Interpretation.

This chapter shall be construed liberally in order to effectuate its purposes. No error, irregularity, informality, neglect or omission of any officer in any procedure taken under this chapter which does not directly affect the jurisdiction of the City to control campaign contributions shall avoid the effect of this chapter.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.040 Campaign contribution limits.

The following campaign contribution limits shall apply in any City election, and in any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot:

(a) Elections of a Candidate. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person, candidate or committee, any contribution in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person in either support of or in opposition to such candidate and to any and all committees in support of or in opposition to such candidate, with respect to any single City election, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars.

(b) Proceedings to Qualify a Recall Election for the Ballot. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person or committee, any contribution either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars. Nothing in this section shall prevent a person from contributing up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter in connection with proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, and further making an additional contribution, up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter, in connection with any subsequent recall election, if such recall in fact qualifies for the ballot and is submitted to a popular vote.

(c) No candidate, campaign treasurer or other person shall utilize for campaign purposes any contribution from any person or committee without first determining that the acceptance of such contribution will not, on a cumulative basis, or on any other basis, cause the person making such contribution, or any other person, to violate any campaign contribution limit established by this chapter. A person who has received a contribution and who has utilized such contribution for campaign purposes shall not be held criminally liable for a failure to properly determine that the acceptance of such contribution will not cause the person making such contribution to violate any contribution limit established by this chapter if the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person has first received a written statement from the person making the contribution, stating that the contribution does not violate any such campaign contribution limit.

(d) If a candidate, campaign treasurer or other person is offered a contribution which would be in excess of the limitations set forth in this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person must refuse the contribution. If, however, a contribution is accepted which is in violation of this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person accepting such contribution shall report in writing within ten (10) days of the acceptance of the contribution to the enforcement authority the facts surrounding such payment or contribution. The amount of any such payment or contribution accepted which is in excess of the amount permitted by this section shall be paid to the City Finance Director, at the time such written report is made, for deposit in the general fund of the City, and shall not be used to benefit any candidate or committee. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(e) If any person is found by a court to be in violation of this section, each campaign treasurer or other person who received part or all of the contribution or contributions which constitute the violation shall pay promptly the amount received from such person in excess of the amount permitted by this section to the City Finance Director, for deposit in the general fund of the City. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.050 Business and labor union contribution limitations.

(a) No corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity shall make a contribution to any candidate, to any committee organized to support or oppose the nomination or election of any candidate, or, any person or committee in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 1-6.040 and subsection (a) of this section, a business or labor committee created for or sponsored by a corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity for the sole purpose of using the voluntary donations of its individual members or employees for political purposes may make contributions from such accumulated voluntary donations to one (1) or more candidates or committees; provided, that:

(1) Such contributions shall not exceed a total of One Thousand and no/100ths ($1,000.00) Dollars in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or in support of or in opposition to a recall;

(2) No contribution to any business or labor committee from an individual member or employee shall exceed the limitations established in this chapter for total contributions to candidates or committees;

(3) Contributions to any business or labor committee by an individual member or employee shall be reported by the recipient committee pursuant to any provisions of this chapter and any applicable provisions of state law.

(c) If a candidate, campaign treasurer or other person is offered a contribution which would be in excess of the limitations set forth in this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person must refuse the contribution. If, however, a contribution is accepted which is in violation of this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person accepting such contribution shall report in writing within ten (10) days of the acceptance of the contribution to the enforcement authority the facts surrounding such payment or contribution. The amount of any such payment or contribution accepted which is in excess of the amount permitted by this section shall be paid to the City Finance Director, at the time such written report is made, for deposit in the general fund of the City, and shall not be used to benefit any candidate or committee. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(d) Any corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity found by a court to be in violation of this section shall pay promptly the amount contributed in excess of the amount permitted by this section to the City Finance Director, for deposit in the general fund of the City. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

1-6.060 Reporting requirements generally.

(a) In order to make certain that the campaign contribution limitations established by this chapter will in fact be enforceable and enforced, the City Council determines that the reporting requirements contained in this section are necessary; the City Council further determines that the requirements of this section and this chapter do not prevent any person from complying with the requirements of the California Political Reform Act or other provisions of state law relating to campaign disclosure.

(b) Checking Account Required. Every candidate, committee or other person who accepts any campaign contribution, or who makes any expenditure to influence the outcome of any City election, including any expenditure directly or indirectly in aid of or in opposition to the nomination or election of one (1) or more candidates or in aid of or in opposition to the qualification of any recall petition for the ballot, shall, before accepting any contributions or making such expenditure, establish a checking account at a recognized financial institution. All monetary contributions accepted by such candidate, committee or other person, and the proceeds from the sale or transfer of any nonmonetary contributions accepted shall be placed in the account established pursuant to this section. All expenditures made by such candidate, committee or other person to influence the outcome of any election, or in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, shall be made by drawing a check on such account.

(c) Upon the establishment of a campaign contribution account, the name of the financial institution, the specific location, and the account number shall be filed with the City Clerk within twenty-four (24) hours, or prior to the close of business on the first working day following the establishment of such an account.

(d) The City Council may adopt, from time to time, specific forms to be used for complying with the reporting requirements established by this chapter.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.070 Reporting requirements—Organizational statement.

(a) Every committee which seeks or intends to seek to influence the outcome of any City election, or which seeks or intends to seek to influence any proceeding to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, shall file an organizational statement with the City Clerk.

(b) The organizational statement required by this section shall be filed at the earliest of the following times:

(1) Within thirty (30) days after the effective date of the ordinance codified in this chapter;

(2) Within ten (10) days after the formation of any such committee;

(3) When more than One Thousand and no/100ths ($1,000.00) Dollars in total campaign contributions has been received, or more than One Thousand and no/100ths ($1,000.00) Dollars expended with the intent of influencing the outcome of any election, or any proceedings to qualify a recall election for the ballot.

(c) The organizational statement required by this section shall contain the same information as required by Government Code Section 84102 and be on the same form as required by the California Fair Political Practices Commission.

(d) Whenever there is a change in any of the information required to be filed in an organizational statement, an amendment to the organizational statement shall be filed with the City Clerk within ten (10) days to reflect the change.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.080 Reporting requirements—Campaign statements.

The semiannual campaign statements required by this section shall be filed no later than July 31st for the period ending June 30th, and no later than January 31st for the period ending December 31st.

(b) In addition to the semiannual campaign statements required to be filed by this section, any candidate, committee or other person who accepts any campaign contribution, or who makes any expenditure in aid of or in opposition to the qualification for the ballot of any recall petition, shall file the following campaign statements at the following times:

Chapter 6 ELECTION CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTION CONTROL

Sections:

- 1-6.010 Purpose.

- 1-6.120 Violation—Penalty.

1-6.010 Purpose.

- (a) Local government should serve the needs and respond to the wishes of all citizens equally, without regard to their wealth.
- (b) Public officials should perform their duties in an impartial manner, free from bias caused by their own financial interests or the financial interests of persons who have supported them.
- (c) Large sums of money have been contributed and spent to finance recent election campaigns. Costs of conducting election campaigns have increased greatly in recent years, and candidates have been forced to finance their campaigns by seeking or accepting large contributions from lobbyists and organizations who then expect and seek to gain disproportionate influence over governmental decisions. Inherent in the high cost of election campaigning is the problem of excessive or improper influence, real or perceived, exercised by campaign contributors over elected officials, and over the electoral process itself. It is the purpose and intent of the City Council, in enacting this chapter, to place realistic and enforceable limits on the amount that individual persons may contribute to political campaigns in City elections; and to require appropriate reporting, so as to assure these limitations will in fact be enforced; and otherwise to provide for fair and full enforcement of all the provisions of this chapter.
- (d) This chapter is enacted in accordance with the terms of Section 7 of Article XI of the Constitution of this state, Section 10003 of the Elections Code, Section 81013 of the Government Code, and Section 200 of the Watsonville City Charter and may be cited as the "Watsonville Election Campaign Contribution Control Ordinance."

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.020 Definitions.

The definitions of words and phrases provided in Government Code Sections 81000 et seq. apply when those same words are used in this chapter, except:

- (a) "Business or labor committee" shall mean a committee created or-sponsored by a corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other for-profit or not-for-profit business entity for the sole purpose of using the voluntary donations of its members or employees for public purposes.
- (b) "Candidate" shall mean any individual listed on the ballot for nomination for and for election to City Council, or who otherwise has taken affirmative action to seek nomination or election to City Council, or who receives a contribution or makes an expenditure, or who gives his or her consent for any other person to receive a contribution or make an expenditure with a view to bring about his or her nomination or election to City Council. "Candidate" also means an officeholder in connection with a recall election relating to such officeholder.
- (c) "Committee" shall mean any person or combination of two (2) or more persons acting in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or in support of or in opposition to the qualification for the ballot of any recall petition, or which seeks or plans to seek to influence the outcome of any election of a candidate, or which supports or opposes the qualification of any recall petition for the ballot.
- (d) "Corporation" shall mean a corporation organized under the laws of California or any other state or nation.
- (e) "City Council" shall mean the office of City Council of the City of Watsonville.
- (f) "Election," "election of a candidate," and "City election" shall mean any primary, general or special City election held within the City, including a recall election, which involves the election of any person to City Council. For the purpose of this chapter, a primary election shall be considered a separate election from a general election.
- (g) "Enforcement authority" shall mean the district attorney of Santa Cruz County, except as such authority is vested in the California Fair Political Practices Commission by state law. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as limiting the authority of any law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney or other person to enforce the provisions of this chapter under any circumstances where such law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney or other person has lawful authority to do so.
- (h) "Individual" shall mean an individual person, and shall not include a partnership, corporation, association, firm, business entity, committee, club, other organization, or a group of persons however organized.
- (i) "Measure" shall mean a local proposition submitted to a popular vote at an election by initiative, referendum, or as an advisory measure.

(j) "Proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot" shall mean the attempt by any person or persons to qualify a recall petition for submission of the same to a popular vote at any election, whether or not such recall is ultimately qualified for the ballot.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.030 Interpretation.

This chapter shall be construed liberally in order to effectuate its purposes. No error, irregularity, informality, neglect or omission of any officer in any procedure taken under this chapter which does not directly affect the jurisdiction of the City to control campaign contributions shall avoid the effect of this chapter.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.040 Campaign contribution limits.

The following campaign contribution limits shall apply in any City election, and in any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot:

(a) Elections of a Candidate. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person, candidate or committee, any contribution in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person in either support of or in opposition to such candidate and to any and all committees in support of or in opposition to such candidate, with respect to any single City election, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars.

(b) Proceedings to Qualify a Recall Election for the Ballot. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person or committee, any contribution either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars. Nothing in this section shall prevent a person from contributing up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter in connection with proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, and further making an additional contribution, up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter, in connection with any subsequent recall election, if such recall in fact qualifies for the ballot and is submitted to a popular vote.

(c) No candidate, campaign treasurer or other person shall utilize for campaign purposes any contribution from any person or committee without first determining that the acceptance of such contribution will not, on a cumulative basis, or on any other basis, cause the person making such contribution, or any other person, to violate any campaign contribution limit established by this chapter. A person who has received a contribution and who has utilized such contribution for campaign purposes shall not be held criminally liable for a failure to properly determine that the acceptance of such contribution will not cause the person making such contribution to violate any contribution limit established by this chapter if the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person has first received a written statement from the person making the contribution, stating that the contribution does not violate any such campaign contribution limit.

(d) If a candidate, campaign treasurer or other person is offered a contribution which would be in excess of the limitations set forth in this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person must refuse the contribution. If, however, a contribution is accepted which is in violation of this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person accepting such contribution shall report in writing within ten (10) days of the acceptance of the contribution to the enforcement authority the facts surrounding such payment or contribution. The amount of any such payment or contribution accepted which is in excess of the amount permitted by this section shall be paid to the City Finance Director, at the time such written report is made, for deposit in the general fund of the City, and shall not be used to benefit any candidate or committee. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(e) If any person is found by a court to be in violation of this section, each campaign treasurer or other person who received part or all of the contribution or contributions which constitute the violation shall pay promptly the amount received from such person in excess of the amount permitted by this section to the City Finance Director, for deposit in the general fund of the City. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.050 Business and labor union contribution limitations.

(a) No corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity shall make a contribution to any candidate, to any committee organized to support or oppose the nomination or election of any candidate, or, any person or committee in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 1-6.040 and subsection (a) of this section, a business or labor committee created for or sponsored by a corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity for the sole purpose of using the voluntary donations of its individual members or employees for political purposes may make contributions from such accumulated voluntary donations to one (1) or more candidates or committees; provided, that:

(1) Such contributions shall not exceed a total of One Thousand and no/100ths ($1,000.00) Dollars in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or in support of or in opposition to a recall;

(2) No contribution to any business or labor committee from an individual member or employee shall exceed the limitations established in this chapter for total contributions to candidates or committees;

(3) Contributions to any business or labor committee by an individual member or employee shall be reported by the recipient committee pursuant to any provisions of this chapter and any applicable provisions of state law.

(c) If a candidate, campaign treasurer or other person is offered a contribution which would be in excess of the limitations set forth in this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person must refuse the contribution. If, however, a contribution is accepted which is in violation of this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person accepting such contribution shall report in writing within ten (10) days of the acceptance of the contribution to the enforcement authority the facts surrounding such payment or contribution. The amount of any such payment or contribution accepted which is in excess of the amount permitted by this section shall be paid to the City Finance Director, at the time such written report is made, for deposit in the general fund of the City, and shall not be used to benefit any candidate or committee. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(d) Any corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity found by a court to be in violation of this section shall pay promptly the amount contributed in excess of the amount permitted by this section to the City Finance Director, for deposit in the general fund of the City. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

1-6.060 Reporting requirements generally.

(a) In order to make certain that the campaign contribution limitations established by this chapter will in fact be enforceable and enforced, the City Council determines that the reporting requirements contained in this section are necessary; the City Council further determines that the requirements of this section and this chapter do not prevent any person from complying with the requirements of the California Political Reform Act or other provisions of state law relating to campaign disclosure.

(b) Checking Account Required. Every candidate, committee or other person who accepts any campaign contribution, or who makes any expenditure to influence the outcome of any City election, including any expenditure directly or indirectly in aid of or in opposition to the nomination or election of one (1) or more candidates or in aid of or in opposition to the qualification of any recall petition for the ballot, shall, before accepting any contributions or making such expenditure, establish a checking account at a recognized financial institution. All monetary contributions accepted by such candidate, committee or other person, and the proceeds from the sale or transfer of any nonmonetary contributions accepted shall be placed in the account established pursuant to this section. All expenditures made by such candidate, committee or other person to influence the outcome of any election, or in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, shall be made by drawing a check on such account.

(c) Upon the establishment of a campaign contribution account, the name of the financial institution, the specific location, and the account number shall be filed with the City Clerk within twenty-four (24) hours, or prior to the close of business on the first working day following the establishment of such an account.

(d) The City Council may adopt, from time to time, specific forms to be used for complying with the reporting requirements established by this chapter.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

(1) Within thirty (30) days after the effective date of the ordinance codified in this chapter;

1-6.010 Purpose.

- (a) Local government should serve the needs and respond to the wishes of all citizens equally, without regard to their wealth.
- (b) Public officials should perform their duties in an impartial manner, free from bias caused by their own financial interests or the financial interests of persons who have supported them.
- (c) Large sums of money have been contributed and spent to finance recent election campaigns. Costs of conducting election campaigns have increased greatly in recent years, and candidates have been forced to finance their campaigns by seeking or accepting large contributions from lobbyists and organizations who then expect and seek to gain disproportionate influence over governmental decisions. Inherent in the high cost of election campaigning is the problem of excessive or improper influence, real or perceived, exercised by campaign contributors over elected officials, and over the electoral process itself. It is the purpose and intent of the City Council, in enacting this chapter, to place realistic and enforceable limits on the amount that individual persons may contribute to political campaigns in City elections; and to require appropriate reporting, so as to assure these limitations will in fact be enforced; and otherwise to provide for fair and full enforcement of all the provisions of this chapter.
- (d) This chapter is enacted in accordance with the terms of Section 7 of Article XI of the Constitution of this state, Section 10003 of the Elections Code, Section 81013 of the Government Code, and Section 200 of the Watsonville City Charter and may be cited as the "Watsonville Election Campaign Contribution Control Ordinance."

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

"Candidate" also means an officeholder in connection with a recall election relating to such officeholder.
- (c) "Committee" shall mean any person or combination of two (2) or more persons acting in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or in support of or in opposition to the qualification for the ballot of any recall petition, or which seeks or plans to seek to influence the outcome of any election of a candidate, or which supports or opposes the qualification of any recall petition for the ballot.
- (d) "Corporation" shall mean a corporation organized under the laws of California or any other state or nation.

- (f) "Election," "election of a candidate," and "City election" shall mean any primary, general or special City election held within the City, including a recall election, which involves the election of any person to City Council. For the purpose of this chapter, a primary election shall be considered a separate election from a general election.
- (g) "Enforcement authority" shall mean the district attorney of Santa Cruz County, except as such authority is vested in the California Fair Political Practices Commission by state law. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as limiting the authority of any law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney or other person to enforce the provisions of this chapter under any circumstances where such law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney or other person has lawful authority to do so.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.030 Interpretation.

This chapter shall be construed liberally in order to effectuate its purposes. No error, irregularity, informality, neglect or omission of any officer in any procedure taken under this chapter which does not directly affect the jurisdiction of the City to control campaign contributions shall avoid the effect of this chapter.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.040 Campaign contribution limits.

The following campaign contribution limits shall apply in any City election, and in any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot:

(a) Elections of a Candidate. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person, candidate or committee, any contribution in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person in either support of or in opposition to such candidate and to any and all committees in support of or in opposition to such candidate, with respect to any single City election, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars.

(b) Proceedings to Qualify a Recall Election for the Ballot. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person or committee, any contribution either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars. Nothing in this section shall prevent a person from contributing up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter in connection with proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, and further making an additional contribution, up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter, in connection with any subsequent recall election, if such recall in fact qualifies for the ballot and is submitted to a popular vote.

(c) No candidate, campaign treasurer or other person shall utilize for campaign purposes any contribution from any person or committee without first determining that the acceptance of such contribution will not, on a cumulative basis, or on any other basis, cause the person making such contribution, or any other person, to violate any campaign contribution limit established by this chapter. A person who has received a contribution and who has utilized such contribution for campaign purposes shall not be held criminally liable for a failure to properly determine that the acceptance of such contribution will not cause the person making such contribution to violate any contribution limit established by this chapter if the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person has first received a written statement from the person making the contribution, stating that the contribution does not violate any such campaign contribution limit.

(d) If a candidate, campaign treasurer or other person is offered a contribution which would be in excess of the limitations set forth in this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person must refuse the contribution. If, however, a contribution is accepted which is in violation of this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person accepting such contribution shall report in writing within ten (10) days of the acceptance of the contribution to the enforcement authority the facts surrounding such payment or contribution. The amount of any such payment or contribution accepted which is in excess of the amount permitted by this section shall be paid to the City Finance Director, at the time such written report is made, for deposit in the general fund of the City, and shall not be used to benefit any candidate or committee. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(e) If any person is found by a court to be in violation of this section, each campaign treasurer or other person who received part or all of the contribution or contributions which constitute the violation shall pay promptly the amount received from such person in excess of the amount permitted by this section to the City Finance Director, for deposit in the general fund of the City. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.050 Business and labor union contribution limitations.

(a) No corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity shall make a contribution to any candidate, to any committee organized to support or oppose the nomination or election of any candidate, or, any person or committee in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 1-6.040 and subsection (a) of this section, a business or labor committee created for or sponsored by a corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity for the sole purpose of using the voluntary donations of its individual members or employees for political purposes may make contributions from such accumulated voluntary donations to one (1) or more candidates or committees; provided, that:

(1) Such contributions shall not exceed a total of One Thousand and no/100ths ($1,000.00) Dollars in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or in support of or in opposition to a recall;

(2) No contribution to any business or labor committee from an individual member or employee shall exceed the limitations established in this chapter for total contributions to candidates or committees;

(3) Contributions to any business or labor committee by an individual member or employee shall be reported by the recipient committee pursuant to any provisions of this chapter and any applicable provisions of state law.

(c) If a candidate, campaign treasurer or other person is offered a contribution which would be in excess of the limitations set forth in this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person must refuse the contribution. If, however, a contribution is accepted which is in violation of this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person accepting such contribution shall report in writing within ten (10) days of the acceptance of the contribution to the enforcement authority the facts surrounding such payment or contribution. The amount of any such payment or contribution accepted which is in excess of the amount permitted by this section shall be paid to the City Finance Director, at the time such written report is made, for deposit in the general fund of the City, and shall not be used to benefit any candidate or committee. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(d) Any corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity found by a court to be in violation of this section shall pay promptly the amount contributed in excess of the amount permitted by this section to the City Finance Director, for deposit in the general fund of the City. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

1-6.060 Reporting requirements generally.

(a) In order to make certain that the campaign contribution limitations established by this chapter will in fact be enforceable and enforced, the City Council determines that the reporting requirements contained in this section are necessary; the City Council further determines that the requirements of this section and this chapter do not prevent any person from complying with the requirements of the California Political Reform Act or other provisions of state law relating to campaign disclosure.

(b) Checking Account Required. Every candidate, committee or other person who accepts any campaign contribution, or who makes any expenditure to influence the outcome of any City election, including any expenditure directly or indirectly in aid of or in opposition to the nomination or election of one (1) or more candidates or in aid of or in opposition to the qualification of any recall petition for the ballot, shall, before accepting any contributions or making such expenditure, establish a checking account at a recognized financial institution. All monetary contributions accepted by such candidate, committee or other person, and the proceeds from the sale or transfer of any nonmonetary contributions accepted shall be placed in the account established pursuant to this section. All expenditures made by such candidate, committee or other person to influence the outcome of any election, or in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, shall be made by drawing a check on such account.

(c) Upon the establishment of a campaign contribution account, the name of the financial institution, the specific location, and the account number shall be filed with the City Clerk within twenty-four (24) hours, or prior to the close of business on the first working day following the establishment of such an account.

(d) The City Council may adopt, from time to time, specific forms to be used for complying with the reporting requirements established by this chapter.

(a) Elections of a Candidate. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person, candidate or committee, any contribution in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person in either support of or in opposition to such candidate and to any and all committees in support of or in opposition to such candidate, with respect to any single City election, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars.

(b) Proceedings to Qualify a Recall Election for the Ballot. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person or committee, any contribution either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars. Nothing in this section shall prevent a person from contributing up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter in connection with proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, and further making an additional contribution, up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter, in connection with any subsequent recall election, if such recall in fact qualifies for the ballot and is submitted to a popular vote.

(c) No candidate, campaign treasurer or other person shall utilize for campaign purposes any contribution from any person or committee without first determining that the acceptance of such contribution will not, on a cumulative basis, or on any other basis, cause the person making such contribution, or any other person, to violate any campaign contribution limit established by this chapter. A person who has received a contribution and who has utilized such contribution for campaign purposes shall not be held criminally liable for a failure to properly determine that the acceptance of such contribution will not cause the person making such contribution to violate any contribution limit established by this chapter if the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person has first received a written statement from the person making the contribution, stating that the contribution does not violate any such campaign contribution limit.

(d) If a candidate, campaign treasurer or other person is offered a contribution which would be in excess of the limitations set forth in this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person must refuse the contribution. If, however, a contribution is accepted which is in violation of this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person accepting such contribution shall report in writing within ten (10) days of the acceptance of the contribution to the enforcement authority the facts surrounding such payment or contribution. The amount of any such payment or contribution accepted which is in excess of the amount permitted by this section shall be paid to the City Finance Director, at the time such written report is made, for deposit in the general fund of the City, and shall not be used to benefit any candidate or committee. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(e) If any person is found by a court to be in violation of this section, each campaign treasurer or other person who received part or all of the contribution or contributions which constitute the violation shall pay promptly the amount received from such person in excess of the amount permitted by this section to the City Finance Director, for deposit in the general fund of the City. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

- 1-6.120 Violation—Penalty.

1-6.010 Purpose.

(a) Local government should serve the needs and respond to the wishes of all citizens equally, without regard to their wealth.

(b) Public officials should perform their duties in an impartial manner, free from bias caused by their own financial interests or the financial interests of persons who have supported them.

(c) Large sums of money have been contributed and spent to finance recent election campaigns. Costs of conducting election campaigns have increased greatly in recent years, and candidates have been forced to finance their campaigns by seeking or accepting large contributions from lobbyists and organizations who then expect and seek to gain disproportionate influence over governmental decisions. Inherent in the high cost of election campaigning is the problem of excessive or improper influence, real or perceived, exercised by campaign contributors over elected officials, and over the electoral process itself. It is the purpose and intent of the City Council, in enacting this chapter, to place realistic and enforceable limits on the amount that individual persons may contribute to political campaigns in City elections; and to require appropriate reporting, so as to assure these limitations will in fact be enforced; and otherwise to provide for fair and full enforcement of all the provisions of this chapter.

(d) This chapter is enacted in accordance with the terms of Section 7 of Article XI of the Constitution of this state, Section 10003 of the Elections Code, Section 81013 of the Government Code, and Section 200 of the Watsonville City Charter and may be cited as the "Watsonville Election Campaign Contribution Control Ordinance."

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

"Candidate" also means an officeholder in connection with a recall election relating to such officeholder.

- (d) "Corporation" shall mean a corporation organized under the laws of California or any other state or nation.
- (e) "City Council" shall mean the office of City Council of the City of Watsonville.
- (f) "Election," "election of a candidate," and "City election" shall mean any primary, general or special City election held within the City, including a recall election, which involves the election of any person to City Council. For the purpose of this chapter, a primary election shall be considered a separate election from a general election.
- (g) "Enforcement authority" shall mean the district attorney of Santa Cruz County, except as such authority is vested in the California Fair Political Practices Commission by state law. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as limiting the authority of any law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney or other person to enforce the provisions of this chapter under any circumstances where such law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney or other person has lawful authority to do so.
- (h) "Individual" shall mean an individual person, and shall not include a partnership, corporation, association, firm, business entity, committee, club, other organization, or a group of persons however organized.
- (i) "Measure" shall mean a local proposition submitted to a popular vote at an election by initiative, referendum, or as an advisory measure.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.030 Interpretation.

This chapter shall be construed liberally in order to effectuate its purposes. No error, irregularity, informality, neglect or omission of any officer in any procedure taken under this chapter which does not directly affect the jurisdiction of the City to control campaign contributions shall avoid the effect of this chapter.

1-6.040 Campaign contribution limits.

The following campaign contribution limits shall apply in any City election, and in any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot:

(a) Elections of a Candidate. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person, candidate or committee, any contribution in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person in either support of or in opposition to such candidate and to any and all committees in support of or in opposition to such candidate, with respect to any single City election, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars.

No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person or committee, any contribution either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars. Nothing in this section shall prevent a person from contributing up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter in connection with proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, and further making an additional contribution, up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter, in connection with any subsequent recall election, if such recall in fact qualifies for the ballot and is submitted to a popular vote.

(c) No candidate, campaign treasurer or other person shall utilize for campaign purposes any contribution from any person or committee without first determining that the acceptance of such contribution will not, on a cumulative basis, or on any other basis, cause the person making such contribution, or any other person, to violate any campaign contribution limit established by this chapter. A person who has received a contribution and who has utilized such contribution for campaign purposes shall not be held criminally liable for a failure to properly determine that the acceptance of such contribution will not cause the person making such contribution to violate any contribution limit established by this chapter if the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person has first received a written statement from the person making the contribution, stating that the contribution does not violate any such campaign contribution limit.

(d) If a candidate, campaign treasurer or other person is offered a contribution which would be in excess of the limitations set forth in this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person must refuse the contribution. If, however, a contribution is accepted which is in violation of this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person accepting such contribution shall report in writing within ten (10) days of the acceptance of the contribution to the enforcement authority the facts surrounding such payment or contribution. The amount of any such payment or contribution accepted which is in excess of the amount permitted by this section shall be paid to the City Finance Director, at the time such written report is made, for deposit in the general fund of the City, and shall not be used to benefit any candidate or committee. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(e) If any person is found by a court to be in violation of this section, each campaign treasurer or other person who received part or all of the contribution or contributions which constitute the violation shall pay promptly the amount received from such person in excess of the amount permitted by this section to the City Finance Director, for deposit in the general fund of the City. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 1-6.040 and subsection (a) of this section, a business or labor committee created for or sponsored by a corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity for the sole purpose of using the voluntary donations of its individual members or employees for political purposes may make contributions from such accumulated voluntary donations to one (1) or more candidates or committees; provided, that:

In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(b) Checking Account Required. Every candidate, committee or other person who accepts any campaign contribution, or who makes any expenditure to influence the outcome of any City election, including any expenditure directly or indirectly in aid of or in opposition to the nomination or election of one (1) or more candidates or in aid of or in opposition to the qualification of any recall petition for the ballot, shall, before accepting any contributions or making such expenditure, establish a checking account at a recognized financial institution. ## Chapter 6 ELECTION CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTION CONTROL

Sections:

- 1-6.010 Purpose.
- 1-6.020 Definitions.
- 1-6.030 Interpretation.
- 1-6.040 Campaign contribution limits.
- 1-6.050 Business and labor union contribution limitations.

- 1-6.110 Enforcement authority—Complaints, legal action, investigatory powers.
- 1-6.120 Violation—Penalty.

1-6.010 Purpose.

- (a) Local government should serve the needs and respond to the wishes of all citizens equally, without regard to their wealth.
- (b) Public officials should perform their duties in an impartial manner, free from bias caused by their own financial interests or the financial interests of persons who have supported them.
- (c) Large sums of money have been contributed and spent to finance recent election campaigns. Costs of conducting election campaigns have increased greatly in recent years, and candidates have been forced to finance their campaigns by seeking or accepting large contributions from lobbyists and organizations who then expect and seek to gain disproportionate influence over governmental decisions. Inherent in the high cost of election campaigning is the problem of excessive or improper influence, real or perceived, exercised by campaign contributors over elected officials, and over the electoral process itself. It is the purpose and intent of the City Council, in enacting this chapter, to place realistic and enforceable limits on the amount that individual persons may contribute to political campaigns in City elections; and to require appropriate reporting, so as to assure these limitations will in fact be enforced; and otherwise to provide for fair and full enforcement of all the provisions of this chapter.
- (d) This chapter is enacted in accordance with the terms of Section 7 of Article XI of the Constitution of this state, Section 10003 of the Elections Code, Section 81013 of the Government Code, and Section 200 of the Watsonville City Charter and may be cited as the "Watsonville Election Campaign Contribution Control Ordinance."

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.020 Definitions.

The definitions of words and phrases provided in Government Code Sections 81000 et seq. apply when those same words are used in this chapter, except:

- (a) "Business or labor committee" shall mean a committee created or-sponsored by a corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other for-profit or not-for-profit business entity for the sole purpose of using the voluntary donations of its members or employees for public purposes.
- (b) "Candidate" shall mean any individual listed on the ballot for nomination for and for election to City Council, or who otherwise has taken affirmative action to seek nomination or election to City Council, or who receives a contribution or makes an expenditure, or who gives his or her consent for any other person to receive a contribution or make an expenditure with a view to bring about his or her nomination or election to City Council. "Candidate" also means an officeholder in connection with a recall election relating to such officeholder.
- (c) "Committee" shall mean any person or combination of two (2) or more persons acting in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or in support of or in opposition to the qualification for the ballot of any recall petition, or which seeks or plans to seek to influence the outcome of any election of a candidate, or which supports or opposes the qualification of any recall petition for the ballot.
- (d) "Corporation" shall mean a corporation organized under the laws of California or any other state or nation.
- (e) "City Council" shall mean the office of City Council of the City of Watsonville.
- (f) "Election," "election of a candidate," and "City election" shall mean any primary, general or special City election held within the City, including a recall election, which involves the election of any person to City Council. For the purpose of this chapter, a primary election shall be considered a separate election from a general election.
- (g) "Enforcement authority" shall mean the district attorney of Santa Cruz County, except as such authority is vested in the California Fair Political Practices Commission by state law. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as limiting the authority of any law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney or other person to enforce the provisions of this chapter under any circumstances where such law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney or other person has lawful authority to do so.
- (h) "Individual" shall mean an individual person, and shall not include a partnership, corporation, association, firm, business entity, committee, club, other organization, or a group of persons however organized.
- (i) "Measure" shall mean a local proposition submitted to a popular vote at an election by initiative, referendum, or as an advisory measure.

(j) "Proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot" shall mean the attempt by any person or persons to qualify a recall petition for submission of the same to a popular vote at any election, whether or not such recall is ultimately qualified for the ballot.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.030 Interpretation.

This chapter shall be construed liberally in order to effectuate its purposes. No error, irregularity, informality, neglect or omission of any officer in any procedure taken under this chapter which does not directly affect the jurisdiction of the City to control campaign contributions shall avoid the effect of this chapter.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.040 Campaign contribution limits.

The following campaign contribution limits shall apply in any City election, and in any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot:

(a) Elections of a Candidate. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person, candidate or committee, any contribution in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person in either support of or in opposition to such candidate and to any and all committees in support of or in opposition to such candidate, with respect to any single City election, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars.

(b) Proceedings to Qualify a Recall Election for the Ballot. No person shall make, and no campaign treasurer, committee chairperson or other person shall solicit or accept from any person or committee, any contribution either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, or any contribution to any committee, which will cause the total amount contributed by any person either in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, to exceed Four Hundred and no/100ths ($400.00) Dollars. Nothing in this section shall prevent a person from contributing up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter in connection with proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, and further making an additional contribution, up to the maximum amount permitted by this chapter, in connection with any subsequent recall election, if such recall in fact qualifies for the ballot and is submitted to a popular vote.

(c) No candidate, campaign treasurer or other person shall utilize for campaign purposes any contribution from any person or committee without first determining that the acceptance of such contribution will not, on a cumulative basis, or on any other basis, cause the person making such contribution, or any other person, to violate any campaign contribution limit established by this chapter. A person who has received a contribution and who has utilized such contribution for campaign purposes shall not be held criminally liable for a failure to properly determine that the acceptance of such contribution will not cause the person making such contribution to violate any contribution limit established by this chapter if the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person has first received a written statement from the person making the contribution, stating that the contribution does not violate any such campaign contribution limit.

(d) If a candidate, campaign treasurer or other person is offered a contribution which would be in excess of the limitations set forth in this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person must refuse the contribution. If, however, a contribution is accepted which is in violation of this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person accepting such contribution shall report in writing within ten (10) days of the acceptance of the contribution to the enforcement authority the facts surrounding such payment or contribution. The amount of any such payment or contribution accepted which is in excess of the amount permitted by this section shall be paid to the City Finance Director, at the time such written report is made, for deposit in the general fund of the City, and shall not be used to benefit any candidate or committee. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(e) If any person is found by a court to be in violation of this section, each campaign treasurer or other person who received part or all of the contribution or contributions which constitute the violation shall pay promptly the amount received from such person in excess of the amount permitted by this section to the City Finance Director, for deposit in the general fund of the City. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

1-6.050 Business and labor union contribution limitations.

(a) No corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity shall make a contribution to any candidate, to any committee organized to support or oppose the nomination or election of any candidate, or, any person or committee in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 1-6.040 and subsection (a) of this section, a business or labor committee created for or sponsored by a corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity for the sole purpose of using the voluntary donations of its individual members or employees for political purposes may make contributions from such accumulated voluntary donations to one (1) or more candidates or committees; provided, that:

(1) Such contributions shall not exceed a total of One Thousand and no/100ths ($1,000.00) Dollars in support of or in opposition to a candidate, or in support of or in opposition to a recall;

(2) No contribution to any business or labor committee from an individual member or employee shall exceed the limitations established in this chapter for total contributions to candidates or committees;

(3) Contributions to any business or labor committee by an individual member or employee shall be reported by the recipient committee pursuant to any provisions of this chapter and any applicable provisions of state law.

(c) If a candidate, campaign treasurer or other person is offered a contribution which would be in excess of the limitations set forth in this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person must refuse the contribution. If, however, a contribution is accepted which is in violation of this section, the candidate, campaign treasurer or other person accepting such contribution shall report in writing within ten (10) days of the acceptance of the contribution to the enforcement authority the facts surrounding such payment or contribution. The amount of any such payment or contribution accepted which is in excess of the amount permitted by this section shall be paid to the City Finance Director, at the time such written report is made, for deposit in the general fund of the City, and shall not be used to benefit any candidate or committee. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(d) Any corporation, partnership, labor union, labor organization or other business entity found by a court to be in violation of this section shall pay promptly the amount contributed in excess of the amount permitted by this section to the City Finance Director, for deposit in the general fund of the City. In addition and at the same time that the excess amount is paid to the City Finance Director, the same amount shall be paid to the person or entity making the payment or contribution.

(§ 1, Ord. 1265-10 (CM), eff. November 25, 2010)

(a) In order to make certain that the campaign contribution limitations established by this chapter will in fact be enforceable and enforced, the City Council determines that the reporting requirements contained in this section are necessary; the City Council further determines that the requirements of this section and this chapter do not prevent any person from complying with the requirements of the California Political Reform Act or other provisions of state law relating to campaign disclosure.

(b) Checking Account Required. Every candidate, committee or other person who accepts any campaign contribution, or who makes any expenditure to influence the outcome of any City election, including any expenditure directly or indirectly in aid of or in opposition to the nomination or election of one (1) or more candidates or in aid of or in opposition to the qualification of any recall petition for the ballot, shall, before accepting any contributions or making such expenditure, establish a checking account at a recognized financial institution. All monetary contributions accepted by such candidate, committee or other person, and the proceeds from the sale or transfer of any nonmonetary contributions accepted shall be placed in the account established pursuant to this section. All expenditures made by such candidate, committee or other person to influence the outcome of any election, or in support of or in opposition to any proceedings to qualify a recall petition for the ballot, shall be made by drawing a check on such account.

(c) Upon the establishment of a campaign contribution account, the name of the financial institution, the specific location, and the account number shall be filed with the City Clerk within twenty-four (24) hours, or prior to the close of business on the first working day following the establishment of such an account.

(d) The City Council may adopt, from time to time, specific forms to be used for complying with the reporting requirements established by this chapter.

ARTICLE I. INCORPORATION AND SUCCESSION.

Sec. 100. Name and boundaries.

The City of Riverside, hereinafter termed the City, shall continue to be a municipal corporation under its present name of "City of Riverside." The boundaries of the City shall be the boundaries as established at the time this Charter takes effect, or as such boundaries may be changed thereafter in the manner authorized by law.

Sec. 101. Succession to rights and liabilities.

The City of Riverside shall continue to own, possess and control all rights and property of every kind and nature owned, possessed or controlled by it at the time this Charter takes effect and shall be subject to all its debts, obligations, liabilities and contracts.

Sec. 102. Continuance of ordinances, rules and regulations.

All lawful comprehensive codes, ordinances, resolutions, rules and regulations, or portions thereof, in force at the time this Charter takes effect, and not in conflict or inconsistent herewith, are hereby continued in force until the same shall have been duly repealed, amended, changed or superseded by proper authority.

Sec. 103. Continuance of present officers and employees.

The occupants of offices provided for in this Charter and employees, at the time this Charter takes effect, shall continue to perform the duties of their respective offices and employments without interruption and for the same compensations and under the same conditions until the appointment or election, and qualification, of their successors, but subject to the provisions of this Charter.

Sec. 104. Effective date of Charter.

This Charter shall take effect upon its acceptance and filing by the Secretary of State.

Editor's Note: The Charter was filed with the Secretary of State on October 23, 2012. Under present law, October 23, 2012, is therefore the effective date.

ARTICLE II. GENERAL POWERS OF CITY.

Sec. 200. Generally.

The City shall have the power to make and enforce all laws and regulations in respect to municipal affairs, subject only to such restrictions and limitations as may be provided in this Charter and in the Constitution of the State of California. It shall also have the power to exercise, or act pursuant to any and all rights, powers, privileges or procedures, heretofore or hereafter established, granted or prescribed by any law of the State, by this Charter, or by other lawful authority, or which a municipal corporation might or could exercise, or act pursuant to, under the Constitution of the State of California. The enumeration in this Charter of any particular power shall not be held to be exclusive of, or any limitation upon, the generality of the foregoing provisions.

Sec. 201. Access to public meetings and public records.

City agencies, boards, commissions, committees, officials, staff and officers, including the Mayor and members of the City Council, exist to conduct the people's business. It is fundamental that the people have full access to information, not to just what decisions have been made in their name but how those decisions were reached and how they were deliberated. The people insist on remaining informed so that they may retain control over the instruments they have created. The people do not give their agencies or public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know.

Our values lie in a government that helps its citizens in a timely way to obtain information. Our values lie in a broadening base of public participation, involvement and interest, providing new ideas and energy.

Our values lie not in hiding embarrassment and unpleasant occurrences. Our values lie not in preventing dissent.

To carry out the purposes set forth in this section, the provisions of the Ralph M. Brown Act (California Government Code Section 54950 et seq.) and the Public Records Act (California Government Code Section 6250 et seq.) shall apply to the City Council, and any commission, committee, board or other body created by Charter, ordinance, resolution or formal action of the City Council, or the Mayor.

Special circumstances dictate that there must be exceptions to access. But those exceptions should be narrowly drawn and narrowly exercised. Public employees must be protected from unwarranted invasions of privacy while the public's right to fundamental information must be protected. Citizen right to privacy must be protected with the knowledge that involvement in government matters necessarily reduces an expectation of privacy.

In general, the value of access should be given a strong presumption of public benefit. (Effective 1/18/2005)

Sec. 202. Adoption of ethics code.

The City of Riverside shall adopt a Code of Ethics and Conduct for elected officials and members of appointed boards, commissions, and committees to assure public confidence in the integrity of local government and its effective and fair operation. The City Council shall adopt the Code of Ethics and Conduct by ordinance or resolution within six months of the effective date of this Charter section. (Effective 1/18/2005)

ARTICLE III. FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

Sec. 300. Designated.

The municipal government established by this Charter shall be known as the "Council-manager" form of government.

ARTICLE IV. CITY COUNCIL AND MAYOR.

Sec. 400. Enumerated; number, term and manner of election; wards.

(a) The elective officers of the City shall consist of a City Council of seven members, elected from wards, and a Mayor elected from the City at large, at the times and in the manner provided in this Charter, who shall serve for a term of four years and until their respective successors qualify. The terms of all officials, so elected, shall be deemed to have commenced on the fifth Tuesday following the general municipal election.

(b) The members of the City Council shall be elected by wards by the registered voters of the respective wards only. One member of the City Council shall be elected by each ward, and only the registered voters of each ward shall vote for the member of the City Council to be elected by that ward. In those wards where there are more than two candidates, only a candidate receiving a majority of the total votes cast for the office shall be declared elected.

(c) If in an election for a member of the City Council for any ward, or for the office of Mayor, no candidate receives a majority of the total votes cast for the office, the City Council shall immediately upon the determination of that fact, call a special election to be held on the first Tuesday following the first Monday of November of that same year. The two candidates receiving the highest number of votes for the office in the general municipal election shall be declared the candidates for the special election. (Effective 1/5/2007)

(d) Officials elected at the general municipal election shall take office on the second Tuesday following completion of the canvass, but in no event later than the fifth Tuesday following the general municipal election. Officials elected at any other election shall take office on the second Tuesday following completion of the canvass, but in no event later than the fifth Tuesday following the election.

(e) The qualifications of candidates and electors and the procedure governing general municipal elections shall apply to any special election called pursuant to this section and the notice of election shall be published at least thirty days prior to the date of such special election. (Effective 1/6/2003)

(f) Notwithstanding the above, an election shall be held on June 5, 2007, for the purpose of electing members of the City Council from Wards 1, 3, 5, and 7 for terms expiring in June 2011, or until their successors are elected and seated. (Effective 1/5/2007)

(g) Notwithstanding the above, an election shall be held on June 2, 2009, for the purpose of electing members of the City Council from Wards 2, 4, and 6 for terms expiring June 2013, or until their successors are elected and seated. (Effective 1/5/2007)

(h) Notwithstanding the above, an election shall be held on November 3, 2009, for the purpose of electing the Mayor for a term expiring June 2012 or until their successor is elected and seated. (Effective 1/5/2007)

Sec. 401. Eligibility to hold the office; member of the City Council; Mayor.

(a) A person is not eligible to hold the office of a member of the City Council of the City of Riverside unless such person is a qualified elector within the territory comprising the ward by which such person is elected or for which such person is appointed at the time of such election or appointment and continues to be a qualified elector of said ward.

If the residence of any member of the City Council is changed to a place outside the boundaries of the ward from which such member was elected or for which such member was appointed, the office of such member shall become vacant. The existence of the vacancy shall be declared and filled as provided by Section 404 of this Charter.

(b) A person is not eligible to hold the office of Mayor unless such person is a qualified elector of the City at the time of such election or appointment and continues to be a qualified elector of the City.

If the residence of the Mayor changes to a place outside the boundaries of the City, the office of the Mayor shall become vacant. The existence of the vacancy shall be declared and filled as provided by Section 404 of this Charter.

Sec. 402. Wards established.

The City of Riverside is hereby and by ordinance shall be divided into seven wards, designated as first ward, second ward, third ward, fourth ward, fifth ward, sixth ward, and seventh ward.

The boundaries of wards shall be reviewed at least every ten years upon the completion of the federal decennial census or more frequently as may be determined necessary upon receipt of official census data; and the boundaries of such wards shall be adjusted by the City Council as necessary to provide for substantially equal numbers of residents in each ward. Such boundary adjustment during a Councilmember's term shall not result in disqualification for membership on the Council during such term.

Sec. 403. Compensation.

The Mayor and members of the City Council shall receive compensation for their services as such, and in addition, when on official duty, shall receive reimbursement for their necessary expenses on order of the City Council. In January of every odd-numbered year, the City Council shall review the compensation including salary and benefits, of the Mayor and members of the City Council, and shall establish any increase in compensation of the Mayor and/or the members of the City Council. No increase in salary shall exceed 5 percent of their then-existing salary. Compensation shall be fixed by ordinance, adopted by not fewer than five affirmative votes of the City Council, after a noticed, public hearing, notice of which has been given by publication at least fourteen days prior to such hearing.

Once a level of compensation for City Council members and the Mayor is established, such level will not be permitted to change automatically by linking such compensation to internal or external factors. (Effective 1/18/2005)

Sec. 404. Vacancies.

A vacancy in an elective office, from whatever cause arising, except in the event of a successful recall, shall be filled by appointment by the City Council, such appointee to hold office until the first Tuesday following the next general municipal election and until his successor qualifies. At the next general municipal election following any vacancy, a successor shall be elected to serve for the remainder of any unexpired term.

If a member of the City Council or the Mayor is absent from three consecutive regular meetings of the City Council, unless by permission of the City Council expressed in its official minutes, or is convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude, the office of such person shall become vacant.

The City Council shall declare the existence of any vacancy. In the event it shall fail to fill a vacancy by appointment within sixty days after such office shall have been so declared vacant, it shall cause an election to be held forthwith to fill such vacancy.

Sec. 405. Duties of Mayor; Mayor Pro Tempore; Council tie--Mayor's vote.

The Mayor shall be the presiding officer at all meetings of the City Council and shall have a voice in all its proceedings but shall not vote except to break a City Council tie-vote which exists for any cause. The Mayor shall be the official head of the City for all ceremonial purposes. The Mayor shall have the primary but not exclusive responsibility for interpreting the policies, programs and needs of the City government to the people, and of informing the people of any major change in policy or program. The Mayor shall advise the City Council on all matters of policy and public relations and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by this Charter. During the months of January or February, the Mayor shall deliver a State of the City message at any location within the City that the Mayor deems appropriate at which the Mayor will present the Mayor's programs, objectives and priorities.

The City Council shall designate one of its members as Mayor Pro Tempore, who shall serve in such capacity at the pleasure of the City Council. In the absence of the Mayor, the Mayor Pro Tempore shall assume the duties of the Mayor. The Mayor Pro Tempore shall conduct the Council meetings and shall vote only as a member of the Council, not as Mayor Pro Tempore. In the event of a tie vote, the Mayor Pro Tempore shall not have a tie-breaking vote and Council vote shall be recorded as a negative or "nay" vote. With regards to the veto power, the Mayor Pro Tempore shall not have the power to veto acts of the City Council.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Charter, when a tie-vote exists for any cause, in order to break that tie, the Mayor shall have the same voting right as a member of the City Council for or against the item before the City Council. The Mayor's vote shall be deemed a City Council member's vote for all purposes, including the introduction or adoption of both ordinances and resolutions. (Effective 12/27/1995 and 12/11/1986)

Sec. 406. City powers vested in Council; exceptions.

All powers of the City shall be vested in the City Council except as otherwise provided in this Charter.

Sec. 407. Interference in administrative service.

Neither the Mayor nor the City Council nor any of its members shall interfere with the execution by the City Manager of his/her powers and duties, or order, directly or indirectly, the appointment by the City Manager or by any of the department heads in the administrative service of the City, of any person to an office or employment or their removal therefrom. Except for purpose of inquiry, the Mayor, the City Council and its members shall deal with the administrative service under the City Manager solely through the City Manager and neither the Mayor nor the City Council nor any member thereof shall give orders to any subordinates of the City Manager, either publicly or privately. (Effective 12/27/1995)

Sec. 408. Meetings.

The City Council shall hold regular meetings at least twice each month at such times as it shall fix by ordinance or resolution and may adjourn or readjourn any regular meeting to a date and hour certain which shall be specified in the order of adjournment and when so adjourned each adjourned meeting shall be a regular meeting for all purposes. If the hour to which a meeting is adjourned is not stated in the order of adjournment such meeting shall be held at the hour for holding regular meetings. If at any time any regular meeting falls on a holiday such regular meeting shall be held on the next business day.

Special meetings may be called in accordance with State law.

Meetings of City Council-appointed and Mayoral-appointed standing and ad hoc Council committees, regardless of the number of City Council members who might be on such committees, shall be open to the public and the time and place of such meetings shall be publicly announced at the City Council meetings prior to such committee meetings.

All meetings of the City Council conducted in closed session under the Ralph M. Brown Act (California Government Code Sections 54950 et. seq.) shall be audio recorded. The recording shall be confidential and shall be available for inspection only as permitted by state law. The recording shall be retained for a period of at least two years. (Effective 1/18/2005)

Sec. 409. Same--Location.

All meetings shall be held in the Council chambers in City Hall, or in such place to which any such meeting may be adjourned, and shall be open to the public. If, by reason of fire, flood or other emergency, it shall be unsafe to meet in the place designated, the meetings may be held for the duration of the emergency at such place as is designated by the Mayor, or, if the Mayor should fail to act, by four members of the City Council. (Effective 12/27/1995)

Sec. 410. Same--Quorum; proceedings.

A majority of the members of the City Council shall constitute a quorum to do business but a lesser number may adjourn from time to time. In the absence of all the members of the City Council from any regular meeting or adjourned regular meeting, the City Clerk may declare the same adjourned to a stated day and hour. Notice of a meeting adjourned by less than a quorum or by the clerk shall be given in the manner provided by State law.

Sec. 411. Same--Citizen participation.

Each citizen shall have the right, personally or through counsel, to present comments at any regular meeting of the Council, or a Council standing or ad hoc committee, or offer suggestions with respect to municipal affairs. (Effective 1/18/2005)

Sec. 412. Powers of Council and Mayor; additional.

The City Council shall judge the qualifications of its members as set forth by the Charter. It shall judge all election returns. It may establish, and uniformly apply rules for the conduct of its proceedings and evict any member or other person for disorderly conduct at any of its meetings.

The Mayor and each member of the City Council shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations in any investigation or proceeding pending before the City Council. The City Council shall have the power and authority to compel the attendance of witnesses, to examine them under oath and to compel the production of evidence before it. Subpoenas shall be issued in the name of the City and be attested by the City Clerk. Disobedience of such subpoenas, or the refusal to testify (upon other than constitutional grounds), shall constitute a misdemeanor, and shall be punishable in the same manner as violations of this Charter are punishable.

All votes of the City Council shall be by recorded call vote and entered in the minutes of the meeting.

Sec. 413. Adoption of ordinances and resolutions.

With the sole exception of ordinances which take effect upon adoption, referred to in this Article, no ordinance shall be adopted by the City Council on the day of its introduction, nor within five days thereafter nor at any time other than at a regular or adjourned regular meeting. At the time of its introduction an ordinance shall become a part of the proceedings of such meeting in the custody of the City Clerk. At the time of adoption of an ordinance or resolution it shall be read in full, unless after the reading of the title thereof, the further reading thereof is waived by unanimous consent of the Council members present. In the event that any ordinance is altered after its introduction, the same shall not be finally adopted except at a regular or adjourned regular meeting held not less than five days after the date upon which such ordinance was so altered. The correction of typographical or clerical errors shall not constitute the making of an alteration within the meaning of the foregoing sentence.

Unless a higher vote is required by other provisions of this Charter, the affirmative votes of at least four members of the City Council shall be required for the adoption of any ordinance or resolution.

Any ordinance declared by the City Council to be necessary as an emergency measure for preserving the public peace, health or safety, and containing a statement of the reasons for its urgency, may be introduced and adopted at one and the same meeting if passed by at least five affirmative votes.

At any time before the adjournment of a meeting, the Mayor may, by public declaration spread upon the minutes of the meeting, veto any formal action taken by vote of the City Council including any ordinance or resolution, except an emergency ordinance, the annual budget or an ordinance proposed by initiative petition. Thereupon, pending the vote to override the veto as herein provided, such ordinance, resolution or action shall be deemed neither approved nor adopted. The Mayor shall, no more than twenty days following the veto, provide to Council members, in writing, reasons for the Mayor's veto. If the Mayor fails to provide a written veto message within the time allotted, the original action of the Council shall stand. At any regular or adjourned meeting held not less than thirty days, nor more than sixty days after veto the City Council shall reconsider such ordinance, resolution or action and vote on the question of overriding the veto. Five affirmative votes shall be required for its adoption or approval. The Mayor shall have no right to veto the veto override of any ordinance, resolution or action.

All ordinances and resolutions shall be signed by the Mayor and attested by the City Clerk. (Effective 12/27/1995)

Sec. 414. Publication of ordinances.

The City Clerk shall cause to be published at least once in a newspaper of general circulation within fifteen days after its adoption the number, a title, a brief synopsis of the content of each ordinance and the Statement that a full copy of the ordinance is available in the office of the City Clerk.

Sec. 415. Codification of ordinances; adoption by reference.

Any or all ordinances of the City which have been enacted and published in the manner required at the time of their adoption, and which have not been repealed, may be compiled, consolidated, revised, indexed and arranged in a comprehensive ordinance code, and such code may be adopted by reference, with the same effect as an ordinance, by the passage of an ordinance for such purpose. Such code need not be published in the manner required for other ordinances, but not less than three copies thereof shall be filed for use and examination by the public in the office of the City Clerk prior to the adoption thereof. Ordinances codified in a separate action from their adoption shall be repealed as of the effective date of their inclusion in the code. Amendments to the code shall be enacted in the same manner as ordinances.

Detailed regulations pertaining to the construction of buildings, plumbing and wiring, when arranged as a comprehensive code, may likewise be adopted by reference in the manner provided in this section. Maps, charts and diagrams also may be adopted by reference in the same manner.

Sec. 416. Effective date of ordinances.

No ordinance shall become effective until thirty days from and after the date of its adoption, except the following, which shall take effect upon adoption:

(a) An ordinance calling or otherwise relating to an election.

(b) An ordinance adopted under some law or procedural ordinance providing for a different effective date.

(c) An ordinance declaring the amount of money necessary to be raised by taxation, or fixing the rate of taxation, or levying the annual tax upon property.

(d) An emergency ordinance adopted in the manner provided for in this Article.

Sec. 417. Violation of ordinances and penalty therefor.

A violation of any City ordinance shall constitute a misdemeanor unless by ordinance it is made an infraction, and may be prosecuted in the name of the People of the State of California or may be redressed by civil action. The maximum fine or penalty for any violation of a City ordinance shall be the sum of one thousand dollars, or a term of imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, or both such fine and imprisonment.

The City Council, without advertising for bids, or after rejecting bids, or if no bids are received, may declare and determine that, in its opinion, based on estimates approved by the City Manager, the work in question may be performed better or more economically by the City with its own employees or the supplies or materials may be purchased more economically on the open market, and after the adoption of a resolution to that effect by at least five affirmative votes of the City Council may proceed to have said work done or said supplies or materials purchased in the manner stated, without further observance of the provisions of this section. Such contracts likewise may be let without advertising for bids if such work or supplies or materials shall be deemed by the City Council to be of urgent necessity for the preservation of life, health or property, and shall be authorized by resolution passed by at least five affirmative votes of the City Council and containing a declaration of the facts constituting such urgency.

Projects for the construction and/or improvement of any public utility operated by the City or for the purchase of supplies or equipment for any such utility may be excepted from the requirements of this section, provided the City Council so determines by at least five affirmative votes. (Effective 1/18/2005 and 1/6/2003)

Sec. 1110. Cash management.

Adequate cash shall be maintained to meet lawful demands of the City. Transfers and loans may be made by the City Council from one fund to another as may be required. (Effective

1/18/2005 and 12/27/1995)

Sec. 1111. Capital projects funds.

(a) Funds for capital projects are hereby created. Capital projects initiated by the City Council which only require approval by the City Council are provided for in subsection (b). Capital projects initiated by the City Council which also require approval by the voters are provided for in subsection (c).

(b) A City Council approved capital project fund shall remain for the established purpose and the appropriations therein shall carry over to the completion of each project, as set forth in Section 1104. When a capital project has been completed, the City Council may transfer any unexpended or unencumbered budget to any account similarly restricted.

To the extent permitted by law, the City Council may levy and collect taxes for capital projects and may include in the annual tax levy a levy for such purposes in which event it must apportion and appropriate to any such account or accounts the moneys derived from such levy. It may not, in making such levy, exceed the maximum tax rate provided for in this Charter, unless authorized by the affirmative votes of two-thirds of the electors voting on the proposition at any election at which such question is submitted.

(c) An account for a voter approved capital project shall remain inviolate for the purpose for which it was created unless the use of such funds for other capital project purposes was authorized by the electors voting on such proposition at the general or special election at which such proposition was submitted. The majority or super-majority for passage of a voter approved capital project will depend on the enabling legislation under which it is proposed. Notwithstanding the above, the proposition approving a capital project may be amended as provided in the proposition or the enabling legislation. (Effective 10/23/2012; 1/18/2005; 12/27/1995)

Sec. 1112. Registering warrants.

Warrants on the City Treasurer which are not paid for lack of funds shall be registered. All registered warrants shall be paid in the order of their registration when funds therefor are available and shall bear interest from the date of registration at such rate as shall be fixed by the City Council by resolution. (Effective 12/27/1995)

Sec. 1113. Independent audit.

The City Council shall employ, at the beginning of each fiscal year, a qualified public accountant who shall, at such time or times as may be specified by the City Council, and at such times as such accountant shall determine, examine the books, records, inventories and reports of all officers and employees who receive, handle or disburse public funds and of such other officers, employees or departments as the City Council may direct. As soon as practicable after the end of the fiscal year, a final audit and report shall be submitted by such accountant to the City Council, with copies to be placed on file in the Office of the City Clerk and on the City's accessible website where they shall be available for inspection by the general public. At least every five years, the City Council shall employ a qualified public accountant different from the qualified public accountant who submitted the immediately preceding year's audit report. (Effective 10/23/2012 and 1/18/2005)

Sec. 1114. Use of design-build procurement for public works projects.

Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in the California Public Contracts Code, in Charter Section 1109, or any other law or regulation of the City of Riverside, the use of design-build procurement by competitive negotiation is authorized. The City Council shall establish by ordinance regulations for the award, use and evaluation of such design-build contracts, in which the design and construction of public works project are procured from a single entity. (Effective 1/18/2005)

ARTICLE XII. DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC UTILITIES.

Sec. 1200. Created; management and control.

There shall be a Department of Public Utilities, which shall be under the management and control of the City Manager subject, however, to the powers and duties of the Board of Public Utilities as hereafter set forth in this Article. Said department shall be responsible for electric and water supplies, services and conservation and any other utility as determined by ordinance of the City Council, and shall include all works owned, controlled, operated, leased or contracted for by the City for supplying the City and its inhabitants with such utilities. (Effective 12/27/1995)

Sec. 1201. Board of Public Utilities--Composition; applicability of Article VIII of Charter.

There shall be a Board of Public Utilities. All of the provisions of Article VIII of this Charter relating to boards and commissions generally, to the organization, meetings, conduct of proceedings, and expenses thereof, and to the appointment, qualifications, term of office, removal, compensation and powers of members thereof, where not inconsistent with the provisions of this Article, shall apply to the Board of Public Utilities. (Effective 12/27/1995)

Sec. 1202. Same--Powers and duties.

The Board of Public Utilities shall have the power and duty to:

(a) Consider the annual budget for the Department of Public Utilities during the process of its preparation and make recommendations with respect thereto to the City Council and the City Manager.

(b) Authorize, and let public works contracts in compliance with Section 1109, within the limits of the budget of the Department of Public Utilities, any purchase of equipment, materials, supplies, goods or services, or any acquisition, construction, improvement, extension, enlargement, diminution, or curtailment of all or any part of any public utility system when the amount exceeds $50,000, and authorize the City Manager, or his designee, to execute contracts or issue purchase orders for the same. This amount may be increased in $1,000 increments by ordinance to account for inflation whenever the cumulative increase in the consumer price index exceeds $2,000 from the last increase. No such purchase, or acquisition, construction, improvement, extension, enlargement, diminution or curtailment shall be made without such prior authorization.

Notwithstanding the above, such a purchase, or acquisition, construction, extension, enlargement, diminution or curtailment may be made without prior approval (1) for work done at the request of and at the expense of a customer, pursuant to rules established by the Board of Public Utilities and approved by the City Council, or (2) if there is an urgent necessity to preserve life, health or property (i) as determined by the Director of Public Utilities or, (ii) if the amount exceeds $100,000 by the Director of Public Utilities and the City Manager. As soon as practicable thereafter, the Director of Public Utilities shall take the matter under Section 1202(b)(2) to the Board of Public Utilities for ratification.

(c) Within the limits of the budget of the Department of Public Utilities, make appropriations from the contingency reserve fund for capital expenditures directly related to the appropriate utility function.

(d) Require of the City Manager monthly reports of receipts and expenditures of the Department of Public Utilities, segregated as to each separate utility, and monthly statements of the general condition of the department and its facilities.

(e) Establish rates for all utility operations as provided under Section 1200 including but not limited to water and electrical revenue producing utilities owned, controlled or operated by the City, but subject to the approval of the City Council.

(f) Authorize the Director of Public Utilities to negotiate and execute contracts with individual retail customers for water, electric and any other utility service as provided under Section 1200, consistent with rates for such individualized service established pursuant to Section 1202(e).

(g) Approve or disapprove the appointment of the Director of Public Utilities, who shall be the department head.

(h) Designate its own secretary.

(i) Make such reports and recommendations in writing to the City Council regarding the Department of Public Utilities as the City Council shall deem advisable.

(j) Exercise such other powers and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by ordinance not inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Charter. (Effective 1/18/2005 and 1/6/2003)

Sec. 1203. Purchases and expenditures generally; exemption from centralized purchasing system.

The purchase of equipment, materials and supplies peculiar to the needs of the Department of Public Utilities need not be made through the centralized purchasing system. The expenditure and disbursement of funds of the Department of Public Utilities shall be made and approved as elsewhere in this Charter provided.

Sec. 1204. Use of revenue.

The revenue of each public utility for each fiscal year shall be kept separate and apart from all other moneys of the City by deposit in the appropriate revenue fund and shall be used for the purposes and in the order as follows:

(a) For the payment of the operating and maintenance expenses of such utility, including any necessary contribution to retirement of its employees.

(b) For the payment of interest on the revenue bonded debt of such utility. As used in this section "revenue bonded debt of such utility" means the debt evidenced by revenue bonds, revenue notes or other evidences of indebtedness payable only out of the revenues pertaining to the utility involved, whether the same are issued under the provisions of this Charter or under the provisions of any general law of the State of California.

(c) For the payment, or provision for the payment of the principal of said debt as it may become due, and of premiums, if any, due upon the redemption of any thereof prior to maturity.

(d) For the establishment and maintenance of any reserves for B and C above.

(e) For capital expenditures of such utility.

(f) For the annual payment by each utility into the general fund in twelve equal monthly installments during each fiscal year, an amount not to exceed 11.5 percent of the gross operating revenues, exclusive of surcharges, of each specific utility for the last fiscal year ended and reported upon by independent public auditors.

Sec. 1205. Sale of public utility.

No public utility now or hereafter owned or controlled by the City shall be sold, leased or otherwise transferred unless authorized by the affirmative votes of at least two-thirds of the voters on such proposition at a general or special municipal election at which such proposition is submitted.

ARTICLE XIII. FRANCHISES.

Sec. 1300. Requiring; granting generally; applicability to City-owned utility.

Any person, firm or corporation furnishing the City or its inhabitants with transportation, communication, terminal facilities, water, light, heat, electricity, gas, power, refrigeration, storage or any other public utility or service, or using the public streets, ways, alleys or places for the operation of plants, works or equipment for the furnishing thereof, or traversing any portion of the City for the transmitting or conveying of any such service elsewhere, may be required by ordinance to have a valid and existing franchise therefor. The City Council is empowered to grant such franchise or not, and to prescribe the terms and conditions of any such grant. It may also provide, by procedural ordinance, the method of practice and additional terms and conditions of such grants, or the making thereof, all subject to the provisions of this Charter.

Nothing in this section, or elsewhere in this Article, shall apply to the City, or to any department thereof, when furnishing any such utility or service.

Sec. 1301. Resolution of intention to grant; notice and public hearing.

Before granting any franchise, the City Council shall pass a resolution declaring its intention to grant the same, stating the name of the proposed grantee, the character of the franchise and the terms and conditions upon which it is proposed to be granted. Such resolution shall fix and set forth the day, hour and place when and where any persons having any interest therein or any objection to the granting thereof may appear before the City Council and be heard thereon. It shall direct the City Clerk to publish said resolution at least once, within fifteen days of the passage thereof, in a newspaper of general circulation within the City. Said resolution shall be published at least ten days prior to the date of hearing.

At the time set for the hearing, or at any adjournment thereof, the City Council shall proceed to hear and pass upon all protests and its decision thereon shall be final and conclusive. Thereafter it may by ordinance grant the franchise on the terms and conditions specified in the resolution of intention to grant the same, subject to the right of referendum of the people, or it may deny the same. If the City Council shall determine that any substantive change should be made in the terms and conditions upon which the franchise is proposed to be granted, a new resolution of intention shall be adopted and like proceedings had thereon.

Sec. 1302. Term of franchise.

Every franchise shall state the term for which it is granted, which shall not exceed thirty-five years.

Sec. 1303. Eminent domain.

No franchise grant shall in any way, or to any extent, impair or affect the right of the City to acquire the property of the grantee thereof either by purchase or through exercise of the right of eminent domain, and nothing therein contained shall be construed to contract away or to modify or to abridge, either for a term or in perpetuity, the City's right of eminent domain with respect to any public utility.

ARTICLE XIV. MISCELLANEOUS

for a period not exceeding six months or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 1402. Severability.

If any provision of this Charter, or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the Charter, and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances, shall not be affected thereby.

Sec. 1403. Charter Review Committee.

In February 2019, and in February every eight years thereafter, the City Council shall appoint and appropriate adequate funds for a Charter Review Committee. The Charter Review Committee shall have the power and duty to:

(a) Recommend to the City Council which, if any, Charter amendments should be placed on the ballot at the next regular municipal election for Mayor.

(b) Hold public meetings to receive input on proposed Charter amendments.

(c) Present a final report with its recommendations to the City Council by the last Tuesday in May preceding the next regular municipal election for Mayor. It may, in its discretion, make interim reports to the City Council.

The City Council shall act upon the recommendations of the Charter Review Committee prior to the last day to place measures on the ballot for the next regular municipal election for Mayor.

Charter Cities: A Quick Summary for the Press and Researchers

The following summary was drafted by the League of California Cities' legal staff, in an attempt to give the press and research communities a primer on some frequently asked questions regarding charter cities.

Charter Cities vs. General Law Cities – The Basics

The California Constitution gives cities the power to become charter cities.<sup>1</sup> The benefit of becoming a charter city is that charter cities have supreme authority over “municipal affairs.”<sup>2</sup> In other words, a charter city’s law concerning a municipal affair will trump a state law governing the same topic.<sup>3</sup>

Cities that have not adopted a charter are general law cities. General law cities are bound by the state’s general law, even with respect to municipal affairs. Of California’s 478 cities, 108 of them are charter cities.

The charter city provision of the State Constitution, commonly referred to as the “home-rule” provision, is based on the principle that a city, rather than the state, is in the best position to know what it needs and how to satisfy those needs.<sup>4</sup> The home-rule provision allows charter cities to conduct their own business and control their own affairs.<sup>5</sup> A charter maximizes local control.

A city charter, in effect a city’s constitution, need not set out every municipal affair the city would like to govern. So long as the charter contains a declaration that the city intends to avail itself of the full power provided by the California Constitution, any city ordinance that regulates a municipal affair will govern over a general law of the state.<sup>6</sup>

Defining ‘Municipal Affairs’

Determining what is and is not a “municipal affair” is not always straightforward. The California Constitution does not define “municipal affair.” It does, however, set out a nonexclusive list of four “core” categories that are, by definition, municipal affairs.<sup>7</sup>

These categories are 1) regulation of the “city police force”; 2) “subgovernment in all or part of a city”; 3) “conduct of city elections”; and 4) “the manner in which . . . municipal officers [are] elected.”<sup>8</sup> Beyond this list, it is up to the courts to determine what is and is not a municipal affair.

To determine if a matter is a municipal affair, a court will ask whether there are good reasons, grounded on statewide interests, for the state law to preempt a local law.<sup>9</sup> In other words, courts will ask whether there is a need for "paramount state control" in the particular area of law.<sup>10</sup> The Legislature's intent when enacting a specific law is not determinative.<sup>11</sup>

<sup>6</sup> There are some exceptions to this rule. For example, a charter city is bound by the Public Contract Code unless the city’s charter expressly exempts the city from the Code’s provisions or a city ordinance conflicts with a provision in the Code. See Cal. Pub. Cont. Code § 1100.7.

The concept of "municipal affairs" is fluid and may change over time.<sup>12</sup> Issues that are municipal affairs today could become areas of statewide concern in the future.<sup>13</sup> Nonetheless, there are some areas that courts have consistently classified as municipal affairs. These include:

- Municipal election matters<sup>14</sup>
- Land use and zoning decisions (with some exceptions)<sup>15</sup>
- How a city spends its tax dollars<sup>16</sup>
- Municipal contracts, provided the charter or a city ordinance exempts the city from the Public Contract Code, and the subject matter of the bid constitutes a municipal affair.<sup>17</sup> Thus, a charter may exempt a city from the State's competitive bidding statutes.

Likewise, there are some areas that courts have consistently classified as areas of statewide concern, including:

- Traffic and vehicle regulation<sup>18</sup>
- Tort claims against a governmental entity<sup>19</sup>
- Regulation of school systems<sup>20</sup>

How to Become a Charter City

To become a charter city, a city must adopt a charter. There are two ways to adopt a charter:

- The city's voters elect a charter commission.<sup>21</sup> The commission has the responsibility of drafting and debating the charter.
- The governing board of the city, on its own motion, drafts the charter.<sup>22</sup>

In either case, the charter is not adopted by the city until it is ratified by a majority vote of the city's voters.<sup>23</sup>

Foundational Aspects of Charter Cities

What is the Constitutional Framework for Charter Cities?

Article XI, section 3(a) of the California Constitution authorizes the adoption of a city charter and provides such a charter has the force and effect of state law. Article XI, section 5(a), the "home rule" provision, affirmatively grants to charter cities supremacy over "municipal affairs." However, the California Constitution does not define the term "municipal affair."

What are "Municipal Affairs?"

The home rule provision of the California Constitution authorizes a charter city to exercise plenary authority over municipal affairs, free from any constraint imposed by the general law and subject only to constitutional limitations. See Cal. Const. art. XI § 5(a); Ex Parte Braun, 141 Cal. 204, 209 (1903); Bishop v. City of San Jose, 1 Cal. 3d 56, 61 (1969); Comm. of Seven Thousand v. Super. Ct. (City of Irvine), 45 Cal.3d 491 (1988).

How Do the Courts Distinguish Between Municipal and Statewide Concerns?

Whether a given activity is a municipal affair over which a city has sovereignty, or a statewide concern, over which the legislature has authority, is a legal determination for the courts to resolve. Thus, the determination of whether a given activity is a municipal affair or statewide concern is done on a case-by-case basis. The court's determination will depend on the particular facts and circumstances of each case. See In Re Hubbard, 62 Cal. 2d 119, 128 (1964). Keep in mind that the concept of "municipal affairs" is a fluid one that changes over time as local issues become statewide concerns. See Issac v. City of Los Angeles, 66 Cal. App. 4th 586 (1998).

What Activities Have the Courts Classified As Municipal Affairs?

There are some areas that the courts have consistently classified as municipal affairs. Examples include the following:

- Municipal Election Matters. See Mackey v. Thiel, 262 Cal. App. 2d 362 (1968).
- Procedures for Initiative, Referendum and Recall. See Lawing v. Faul, 227 Cal. App. 2d 23, 29 (1964).
- Procedures for Adopting Ordinances. See Brougher v. Board of Public Works, 205 Cal. 426 (1928).
- Compensation of City Officers and Employees. Cal. Const. art. XI, § 5(b); See Sonoma County Organization of Public Employees v. County of Sonoma, 23 Cal. 3d 296 (1979); but see San Leandro Police Officers Association v. City of San Leandro, 55 Cal. App. 3d 553 (1976) (labor relations is not a municipal affair; Charter cities are subject to the Meyers-Milias Brown Act. Cal. Gov't Code § 3500).
- Processes Associated with City Contracts. See First Street Plaza Partners v. City of Los Angeles, 65 Cal. App. 4th 650 (1998); but see Domar Electric, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles, 41 Cal. App. 4th 810 (1995) (state law establishing employment policy may preempt local regulation of bidding criteria).

- Financing Public Improvements. See City of Santa Monica v. Grubb, 245 Cal. App. 2d 718 (1996).
- Making Charitable Gifts of Public Funds for Public Purposes. See Cal. Const. art. XVI, § 6; Tevis v. City and County of San Francisco, 43 Cal. 2d 190 (1954).
- Term Limits for Council Members. See Cawdrey v. City of Redondo Beach, 15 Cal. App. 4th 1212 (1993); but see Cal. Gov't Code § 36502(b) (regulating term limits).
- Land Use and Zoning Decisions (with a few exceptions). See Brougher v. Bd. of Pub. Works, 205 Cal. 426 (1928).

What Activities Have the Courts Classified as Statewide Concerns?

The following have consistently been classified by the courts as matters of statewide concern:

- School Systems. Whisman v. San Francisco Unified Sch. Dist., 86 Cal. App. 3d 782, 789 (1978).
- Traffic and Vehicle Regulation. Cal. Veh. Code § 21.
- Licensing of Members of a Trade or Profession. City and County of San Francisco v. Boss, 83 Cal. App. 2d 445 (1948).
- Tort Claims Against a Governmental Entity. Helbach v. City of Long Beach, 50 Cal. App. 2d 242, 247 (1942).
- Open and Public Meetings. Ralph M. Brown Act. Cal. Gov't Code §§ 54951, 54953(a).
- Exercise of the Power of Eminent Domain. Wilson v Beville, 47 Cal. 2d 852, 856 (1957).

What is a Charter?

A city charter is a unique document that, in many ways, acts like a constitution for the city adopting it. It can only be adopted, amended or repealed by a majority vote of a city's voters. The primary advantage of a charter is that it allows greater authority for a city's governance than that provided by state law. For example, a city may tailor its organization and elective offices, taking into account the unique local conditions and needs of the community.

A charter transfers the power to adopt legislation affecting municipal affairs from the state legislature to the city adopting it. A city operating under a charter can acquire full control over its municipal affairs. These affairs are unaffected by the general laws passed by the state legislature on the same subject matters. This, in effect, gives the local voters more control over their local government and the affairs of the city. However, a city operating under a charter is still subject to the general laws, as passed by the state legislature, on affairs that are not municipal in nature, and are of statewide concern (e.g., California Vehicle Code).

It is the scope of the term "municipal affairs" that provides the opportunity for uncertainty. No easy analytical test exists. The threshold issue is whether there is a conflict between state law and a charter city enactment. The next issue is whether the state regulation addressed an issue of "state wide concern." Courts analyze these conflicts on a case-by-case basis.

What is in a Charter?

While a city charter is not required to have any particular provisions in it, a city will often reserve for itself the greatest amount of power it can when it adopts a charter. To accomplish this goal, the charter must include a declaration that it is the intention of the city to avail itself of the full power provided by the state constitution to charter cities. However, the city is not required to extend the breadth of its charter any further than it wishes.

Some of the common areas that are explicitly regulated in a charter are:

- The date and conduct of city elections;
- Regulations on the appointment of municipal officials;
- The terms and payment of municipal officials;
- The process for removal of municipal officials;
- Form of government;
- Budget adoption;
- The number, pay, qualifications, and appointment of deputies, clerks, and other employees that each municipal officer will have;
- Sub-government in all or part of the city;
- The tenure of office for deputies, clerks, and other employees;
- The process for removal of such deputies, clerks, and other employees; and
- The constitution, regulation, and government of the local police force.

A number of California cities' charters are available online. The National Civic League also has a model charter project.

Process Used to Adopt a Charter

There are two ways to draft and adopt a city charter. The first is to elect a charter commission. The commission then has the responsibility of debating over the provisions and the drafting of the charter. The other alternative allows the governing board of the city, on its own motion, to draft the charter. In either case, the charter is not adopted by the city until it is ratified by a majority vote of the city's voters.

When using the charter commission approach, the first step is to elect the commission. The vote to elect a charter commission is called for by either a majority vote of the city's governing body or by a petition signed by not less than fifteen percent of the registered voters within the city. If the formation of a charter commission is requested by a petition, the authority in charge of the city's registration records must verify the signatures on the petition. The expense of this verification must be paid for by the city's governing board. If the petition is verified, the city's governing board must call for an election in accordance with sections 1000 and 10403 of the California Elections Code. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34452.

Once it has been decided that a charter commission election will take place, candidates for commissioners must be nominated. Candidates for the office of charter commissioner are nominated either in the same manner as officers of the city or by petition. A candidate for charter commissioner must be a registered voter of the city. After the election of commissioners, any vacancy on the commission will be filled by a mayoral appointment. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34452.

At an election for charter commission members, the voters will vote first on the following question: "Shall a charter commission be elected to propose a new charter?" After voting on this question, the voters will then vote for the charter commission candidates. If a majority of the voters vote for the formation of a charter commission, then the top fifteen candidates for the office of charter commissioner will be organized as the city's charter commission. No commission will be formed if a majority of voters vote against the election of a charter commission. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34453.

Once formed, the charter commission will have the responsibility of developing the city's charter. After a simple majority of commissioners have decided that the proposed charter is appropriate, they file the charter with the city's clerk in preparation for a vote by the city's electorate. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34455. However, instead of sending the whole charter at once, periodically the commission may send portions of the charter to the city's electorate for a vote. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34462.

After the charter (or portions of it) has been filed, it must be copied in type greater than 10 point and either mailed to all the voters of the city or made available to those citizens who wish to review it before the election. The city may show the difference between existing provisions of law and the new charter through the use of distinguished type styles, but this is not required. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34456.

After the charter has been filed with the city clerk, the city's governing board must decide whether to call a special election or to wait until the next established municipal election to submit the charter to the voters. If the city's governing board determines that a special election should be held, then they must call for that special election within 14 days of the charter being filed. The special election must be set at least 95 days after the date from which the special election was called. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34457. In any case, the charter commission must send the charter to the voters within two years of the vote that formed the commission. Upon the expiration of the two-year time period, the commission is abolished. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34462.

The alternative to electing a charter commission is to have the city's governing board develop and draft the charter. An election to decide on the adoption of a charter may be called by initiative or the city council. See Cal. Const. art. XI, § 3. On its own motion, the city's governing board may propose a charter and submit it to the voters for adoption. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34458. With this option, the governing board can call a special election or allow the charter to be voted on at any established election date, as long as that election date is at least 88 days after the proposed charter was filed with the city clerk. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34458. As a practical matter, an election may have to be called sooner than 88 days before the election in order to meet certain notice and ballot printing deadlines.

In either case, the majority of voters must vote in favor of the proposed charter for it to be ratified. The charter will not go into effect until it has been filed and accepted by the Secretary of State. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34459. After a charter is approved by a majority vote of the voters, the mayor and city clerk shall certify that the charter was submitted to the voters of the city and that it was approved by a majority vote. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34460. One copy of the approved charter shall be filed with the County Recorder's office and one shall be kept in the City's archive. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34460. A third copy of the charter must be submitted to the Secretary of State with (1) copies of all publications and notices in connection with the calling of the election; (2) certified copies of any arguments for or against the charter proposal which were mailed to the voters; (3) a certified abstract of the vote at the election on the charter. See Cal. Gov't Code section 34460.

How to Amend/Repeal a Charter

If a citizens group, or the city's governing body, wishes to amend or repeal a portion of the city's charter, the steps remain largely the same as they are for drafting a charter. There are, however, two notable exceptions. First, the petition calling for the repeal or amendment needs only ten percent of the electorate's signatures, instead of the previous fifteen percent. See Cal. Elec. Code sections 9215 and 9255. The other notable difference has to do with the charter itself. A city charter may establish different rules for the municipal elections process than those laid out by the state legislature in the Elections Code. If this is the case, the city's charter will govern the elections process used to appeal or amend the city's charter, instead of the general laws laid out in the Elections Code.

California's 'Charter' Cities are Under the Microscope .

By TAMARA AUDI, BOBBY WHITE and MAX TAVES

The last three large California cities to seek bankruptcy protection or announce they plan to had seen their housing values, tax revenue and employment crumble. They also have something else in common: They all are so-called charter cities.

Now another California city, Compton, says it may have to file for bankruptcy by September. It, too, is a charter city. Some say that's no coincidence.

Of the state's 482 cities, 121 have their own constitutions, or charters. That gives them more leeway in governing their affairs, including the freedom to set their own rules about elections, salaries and contracts.

But that autonomy may be at the root of some of their problems, some say. Charter cities are exempt from state laws that mandate salary limits for elected officials. These cities also were free during good times to include generous pay and staffing agreements in their charters for workers that can be difficult to alter quickly during financial duress.

San Bernardino, Calif., officials have voted to seek bankruptcy protection

Perhaps the most infamous example is Bell, a tiny, working-class city outside Los Angeles. It gained notoriety in 2010 when it was revealed that it paid its city manager $800,000 a year, and some City Council members $100,000 a year. As a charter city, its officials didn't face state salary limits.

Last week, San Bernardino, a medium-size charter city 60 miles east of Los Angeles, voted to seek bankruptcy protection. In another step toward the Chapter 9 filing, its city council late Wednesday voted to declare a fiscal emergency, letting the city circumvent a state law that requires negotiating with creditors before filing for bankruptcy. The city plans to file within 30 days.

San Bernardino would join Stockton, in Northern California, which filed for bankruptcy last month, and Vallejo, also in Northern California, which emerged from bankruptcy last year. All three have city charters.

Economists say that simply being a charter city isn't an automatic signal of concern. Some of the state's largest cities are charters, including Los Angeles and San Francisco. While those cities have their share of economic challenges, their large populations, diverse economic bases and high property-tax revenue make them more stable.

And not all California cities facing difficulties are charter cities; noncharter cities are laying off employees and struggling to fund pensions.

Charter supporters say charters can give cities greater flexibility in cutting costs. This month, the California Supreme Court ruled that charter cities are exempt from paying prevailing union rates to contractors for municipal projects that are funded with local tax dollars.

"When you give a city more control, it can go one of two ways," said Jessica Levinson, a professor at Loyola Law School and a local-government expert. "One way is the leaders are very successful in running that city; the other way is, you get Bell, you get San Bernardino, you get Stockton."

Charter cities were established in the 1870s when, amid bad economic times and criticism of state interference, California rewrote its constitution to give municipalities that option.

States including New Jersey, Texas and Colorado and Ohio offer their cities greater independence under what generally is called home rule. It is unclear how many home-rule cities there are or whether they tend to show greater financial strains, said Bruce Calvin, a manager with the National League of Cities.

In other states, courts sometimes have limited the power of home-rule cities. But in California, the state Supreme Court has often sided with the cities when questions arise about how far city power extends.

Wednesday, Mayor Eric Perrodin of Compton, a medium-size city southeast of Los Angeles that faces a budget gap, said the municipality will have to decide within the next month whether it needs to file for bankruptcy protection—a step he hopes it can avoid by eliminating some city departments.

Mr. Perrodin said he fears the effects of a bankruptcy stigma on the city. "No businesses will come to the city. Property [values] will go down," he said.

Compton's charter, with its seniority rules and restrictions on using private contractors for administrative and maintenance workers, limits the city's ability to lay off employees and outsource services to cut costs.

In San Bernardino, a voter-approved amendment to the charter took the power to impose salary cuts on police and fire out of the hands of city officials. Instead, the salaries are based on police and fire pay in similar-sized cities, though city officials say those cities are more affluent than San Bernardino.

In Stockton, the charter allowed for binding arbitration with its fire department—meaning the city couldn't rely on a state law that gives cities ultimate authority to impose cuts on workers when the two parties cannot come to an agreement. In 2010, Stockton voters changed the charter to abolish binding arbitration for firefighters.

Financial difficulties in Vallejo, a city of 120,000 about 30 miles northeast of San Francisco, were exacerbated by a charter provision that mandated binding arbitration for all of its unions. The city filed for bankruptcy protection in 2008. In 2010, residents voted to remove mandatory arbitration from its charter.

At a packed city-council meeting Monday night, San Bernardino city employees and residents criticized the government for what several called mismanagement. Resident Jim Smith suggested that the city do away with its "broken" charter, and asked the council to put it to a vote this November. "We don't have any future as a charter city," said Mr. Smith.

Others say there is another side to city charters.

"People have thought that having a charter is part of the problem when it can also be part of the solution," said JoAnne Speers, executive director of the Institute for Local Government, a nonprofit that promotes good-government practices.

Costa Mesa, 40 miles south of Los Angeles, is looking to become a charter city to gain more control over its finances, said Jim Righeimer, mayor pro-tem. Under state law, the city must employ municipal workers for certain services such as printing and information technology, he said. But as a charter city it should be able to cut costs by outsourcing some of those services, he said.

Comments to Article

More liberal idiot spin. The non-charter cities are even more bankrupt - they're just outright hiding it by lying. Los Angeles was done for early in Villar's term.

The authors also forgot to mention the Bell officials were democrats. Not like anyone should be surprised by that.

Hey, here's an idea: How about not letting the union goons write the charter? Anybody ever think of that? "While [LA and SF] have their share of economic challenges, their large populations, diverse economic bases and high property-tax revenue make them more stable." Taco Tony has planted so many fiscal stinkbombs, LA will go under within 6 months after he leaves next July. "This month, the California Supreme Court ruled that charter cities are exempt from paying prevailing union rates to contractors for municipal projects that are funded with local tax dollars." ...and the union thug responsible for buying-off those supreme court justices is resting comfortably in a Pacoima landfill. The question is, Which is more advantageous, Local charter union democrat corruption or psychotic state legislature union democrat corruption? The answer is, this is California... The unions always get their money... and everyone else's.

Instead of asking if being a Charter City increases the risk for Municipal bond holders, perhaps it would be more germane to ask the question, why are most of the city bankruptcies happening in California?

I am not sure the Progressives in California would like that question, never the less most prospective purchasers of municipal bonds are smart enough to read the tea leaves.

It's not looking too good for the Progressives, they have finally run out of other peoples, money, and now it's time to pay the piper.

Good luck California.

You are right. The article raises the wrong issue and focuses on the form of government. It matters a bit the form of local government, but what matters a great deal more is the quality and integrity of an educated disciplined leadership. CA appears to have little or no quality or integrity, just make believe hopey changey thinking that has failed everywhere it has ever been tried.

The fact the state is so far gone over decades certainly calls into question the education system there. How is it that voters and the political class know so little about economics, history and basic math? How is it they keep doing the same process over and over again, each time expecting a better result? A question for another day, but there are clearly many things wrong in CA, and it isn't the water.

General Law City v. Charter City

Characteristic	General Law City	Charter City

For example, Government Code section 36501 authorizes general law cities be governed by a city council of five members, a city clerk, a city treasurer, a police chief, a fire chief and any subordinate officers or employees as required by law. City electors may adopt ordinance which provides for a different number of council members. Cal. Gov't section 34871. The Government Code also authorizes the "city manager" form of government. Cal. Gov't Code § 34851.	Charter can provide for any form of government including the "strong mayor," and "city manager" forms. See Cal. Const. art. XI, § 5(b); Cal. Gov't Code § 34450 et seq.

However, certain legislation requiring supermajority votes is applicable to charter cities. For example, see California Code of Civil Procedure section 1245.240 requiring a vote of two-thirds of all the members of the governing body unless a greater vote is required by charter.

Labor Code § 1771.5(a)-(c).	Historically, charter cities have not been bound by state law prevailing-wage requirements so long as the project is a municipal affair, and not one funded by state or federal grants. Vial v. City of San Diego, 122 Cal. App. 3d 346, 348 (1981). However, there is a growing trend on the part of the courts and the Legislature to expand the applicability of prevailing wages to charter cities under an analysis that argues that the payment of prevailing wages is a matter of statewide concern. The California Supreme Court currently has before them a case that will provide the opportunity to decide whether prevailing wage is a municipal affair or whether it has become a matter of statewide concern.

“HOME RULE” IS CHARTERING A CITY A GOOD IDEA?

SYNOPSIS

The Grand Jury studied the issue of charter cities under its watchdog responsibility for the purpose of investigating methods to improve the organization and efficiency of city government operation within San Diego County.

In California, the law recognizes two kinds of cities—charter cities and general law cities. Of the 475 incorporated cities in the state, 102 operate under their own charter. The other cities, general law cities, operate under the requirements of California statutory law. One major advantage of a general law city is that many of the general state laws have been subjected to judicial scrutiny and tested over the years, so there is relatively little confusion about their application. City charters, by contrast, can be much more complicated and can raise many more questions about what can and cannot be done under State law. However, the greatly enhanced local authority and control over its “municipal affairs” which are afforded a charter city provide compelling arguments for chartering. Chartering a city is sometimes referred to as implementing “home rule.”

The Grand Jury concluded that the cost of chartering a city can be minimal compared to the potential benefits and recommends that the 14 non-chartered cities within San Diego County study chartering their cities.

ISSUES

The San Diego County Grand Jury addressed the following:

1. What are the present advantages and disadvantages of becoming a chartered city?
2. Can chartered cities perform their responsibilities more efficiently for their citizens than general law cities?
3. What should a charter contain and what is the best way to gain voter approval?

BACKGROUND

Per the recent census, approximately 85% of the population of San Diego County lives inside the boundaries of one of the 18 incorporated cities. Local voters have formed cities to exercise greater local control over land-use decisions and to obtain a higher level of municipal services. When a city is first created in California, it must be incorporated as a general law city, using the structure and procedures that have been developed under California municipal law statutes.

The State Constitution, Article XI, Section 3, allows any general law city to prepare its own charter to impart a local philosophy into the structure and methodology used to govern its particular city. City charters, which can vary in length from several hundred to just a few pages, must be adopted by a majority vote of the city's residents. Of California's 475 incorporated cities, 102 have chosen to convert from a general law city to a charter city. Four of San Diego County's 18 cities (San Diego, Chula Vista, Del Mar and San Marcos) have converted from being a general law city to a chartered city.

Historically, the primary advantage of the charter form of government has been the potential breadth of local authority which may be exercised. Since the powers of a charter city are not restricted only to those expressed in or necessarily implied from state statutory law, a city can adopt a charter and custom-tailor its organization and elective offices to accommodate unique local conditions and needs. On the reverse side, many city charters have been modified by reformers as the result of abuses of power by a chartered city government. Such charters have served to restrict the powers of a city, rather than broaden them.

Recently, cities have been chartered based primarily upon potential financial benefits. For example, San Marcos, as part of its 1994 chartering election, stated that if San Marcos were to become a chartered city, the following financial benefits would occur<sup>1</sup>:

1. Reduce the cost of City government and save millions of dollars in the cost of public improvements;
2. Ensure that more local taxpayers' dollars would remain in the City of San Marcos for police and fire protection services; and
3. Help defend the City against State-mandated programs that do not provide the necessary funding to implement those programs.

The Grand Jury reviewed information on chartering provided by the League of California Cities and interviewed City Managers of three chartered cities and three non-chartered cities in San Diego County. The Grand Jury found that the chartered cities were satisfied that chartering has been the right approach for their communities. The City Manager and City Attorney of Chula Vista believe that the extensive use of citizen advisory committees dictated by the Chula Vista City Charter has resulted in more informed and involved citizens. San Marcos officials cite savings of over a million dollars over the past eight years as a result of not having to use "prevailing wages"<sup>2</sup> in some of their construction contracts. San Marcos has also taken an aggressive approach to involving the City directly in power generation and distribution, as delineated in its charter. This approach has apparently brought SDG&E to the bargaining table to the potential benefit of San Marcos residents.

City Managers of non-chartered cities interviewed by the Grand Jury do not believe that chartering their cities is in the best interests of their communities. They cite that chartering only gains the support of the voters if it addresses a particular problem, such as rent control, that is presently occurring in the community. They also note that chartering can be divisive in a community and that charter amendments can be used by reformers to limit the role of the city.

The advantages and disadvantages of becoming a chartered city have changed significantly over the past 100 years. As the laws defining a general law city have been liberalized and the power of a charter city has been restricted by court decisions, many of the differences between the two city types have disappeared.

PROCEDURES EMPLOYED

The investigation consisted of a review of documents submitted by the League of California Cities and the charters of the cities of San Diego, Chula Vista, Del Mar, and San Marcos in San Diego County. Additionally, documents were obtained from the cities of San Ramon and La Quinta<sup>3</sup> regarding their recent studies of the charter city issue. Finally, the City of Oceanside provided a recording of a 2001 study session of the City Council on this issue.

In addition to published material, personal interviews were held with City Managers of selected San Diego County cities—the chartered cities of San Diego, Chula Vista, and San Marcos; and the general law cities of El Cajon, Vista, and Coronado.

<sup>2</sup> "Prevailing wages" are set by the State of California based primarily upon union wages throughout the State.

<sup>3</sup> Citizen groups in both of these cities recently studied chartering their cities. Their studies reflect the current pros and cons of chartering a city. Both cities approved chartering their cities by a public vote.

During the study, a citizen complaint was received by the Grand Jury alleging the improper use by the City of San Marcos of its City Charter to enter the power generation and distribution business. In addition to interviewing the complainant, the Grand Jury interviewed the City Manager and Mayor of San Marcos. The complaint was resolved when the City of San Marcos decided to put this issue on the November 2002 ballot. Also in reviewing this complaint, the Grand Jury obtained a letter from SDG&E to the City of San Marcos offering to create a joint program on energy production and distribution.<sup>4</sup> Such a program, as outlined by SDG&E, would benefit the residents of San Marcos. SDG&E indicated it would help the City of San Marcos (1) study sites for a new power plant in San Marcos, (2) develop a methodology for sharing savings from remote power generation facilities, and (3) implement a City-wide energy conservation program.

FACTS

- A. San Diego County has 18 incorporated cities of which four (San Diego, Chula Vista, Del Mar, and San Marcos) are charter cities and the remaining 14 are general law cities.<sup>5</sup>
- B. General law cities are organized and operate under Title 4 (commencing with Section 34000) of the California Government Code. The advantage of being a general law city is that many of the laws they operate under have been tested over the years and there is little confusion about the application of these laws.<sup>6</sup>
- C. The authority provided in the State Constitution to organize as a charter city is extended only to an existing city. A charter can only be adopted or changed by a simple majority vote of city residents—not by a vote of the city council.<sup>7</sup>
- D. The potential advantages of being a charter city include<sup>8</sup>:
  - Greater opportunity to impart a local philosophy into the structure and methodology of local city government;
  - Protection from State legislative changes impacting “municipal affairs”; and

- Enhanced local authority and control over “municipal affairs,” enabling a city to consider
    - streamlining procedures in public financing,
    - enhancing economic development support activities,
    - revenue enhancement tools, and
    - revising election rules and procedures.
- E. The disadvantages of being a charter city include<sup>9</sup>:
- Exposure to legal challenges with respect to what constitutes a “municipal affair” vs. a statewide concern;
  - Limited case law, in comparison to general law cities, from which to evaluate legal exposure when applying charter language;
  - Costs associated with charter amendments; and
  - Limitations contained within some detailed charter documents restricting local authority beyond that experienced by general law cities.
- F. Matters of municipal concern, not of statewide interest, may be controlled by charter cities, unless restricted by the State Constitution. The power to enact ordinances in areas defined as “municipal affairs” comes to a city from the State Constitution when a city adopts a charter—such powers do not need to be enumerated in the charter. This allows city charters to be relatively simple documents.<sup>10</sup>
- G. The tax levying ability for both charter and general law cities is now the same, with the exception that a property transfer tax can be levied by a charter city and not by a general law city.<sup>11</sup>
- H. General law cities have to follow the procurement methods outlined in the State municipal code for all contracts above $5,000. Charter cities can set up alternative competitive bidding processes for contracts, which can significantly reduce a city’s contracting costs.<sup>12</sup>
- I. Charter cities are not bound by the requirement to pay “prevailing wages” for public works construction contracts. The State Auditor-General, in a 1988 study, estimated these savings at 10% of the value of the contract. The calculation of “prevailing wage” by the State of California results in the “prevailing wage” being higher than an average local wage. This is caused by the calculation methodology used by the State which gives great significance to union wages. While these savings can be considerable, they can only be achieved on contracts that do not utilize Federal or State funding.<sup>13</sup>

- J. Recent charter city proposals have utilized a short, simplified charter document, which reduces the cost of chartering a medium-sized city (population of 25,000 to 100,000) to less than $100,000.<sup>14</sup>
- K. City Managers of non-chartered cities who were interviewed believe that the benefits of becoming a chartered city do not justify the effort. They said<sup>15</sup>:
  - a. Chartering could become a divisive issue among citizen groups who oppose stronger city government;
  - b. City charters require continual updating;
  - c. Chartering no longer provides significant ways to improve city finances; and
  - d. Chartering will only be approved by citizens if there is a particular problem that can be solved by chartering.
- L. A recent study of a proposed city-provided utility service in San Marcos estimated that an average household in that city could save $120-$180 a year on electricity and $108 a year on natural gas over current rates being charged by SDG&E. The City of San Marcos Charter specifically allows the City to provide utilities. General law cities are not specifically prohibited from providing these types of utility services, although existing legislation is much less specific than that in the San Marcos Charter.<sup>16</sup>
- M. SDG&E offered to cooperate with the City of San Marcos on energy programs after San Marcos began pursuing an independent role in electrical generation and distribution.<sup>17</sup>

FINDINGS

- I. A charter city has several significant advantages for its citizens over a general law city.
- II. The cost of chartering a city using a simplified charter is minimal, compared to the benefits.

- III. There appears to be little interest by the city managers of non-chartered cities in starting an effort to charter their cities, unless there is some compelling local issue.
- IV. Although there is no requirement that a city be chartered to provide electrical power and distribution, San Marcos' aggressive approach to these issues apparently encouraged SDG&E to suggest a cooperative program for the residents of San Marcos.

By TAMARA AUDI, BOBBY WHITE and MAX TAVES

The last three large California cities to seek bankruptcy protection or announce they plan to had seen their housing values, tax revenue and employment crumble. They also have something else in common: They all are so-called charter cities.

Now another California city, Compton, says it may have to file for bankruptcy by September. It, too, is a charter city. Some say that's no coincidence.

Of the state's 482 cities, 121 have their own constitutions, or charters. That gives them more leeway in governing their affairs, including the freedom to set their own rules about elections, salaries and contracts.

But that autonomy may be at the root of some of their problems, some say. Charter cities are exempt from state laws that mandate salary limits for elected officials. These cities also were free during good times to include generous pay and staffing agreements in their charters for workers that can be difficult to alter quickly during financial duress.

Agence France-Presse/Getty Images

San Bernardino, Calif., officials have voted to seek bankruptcy protection.

Perhaps the most infamous example is Bell, a tiny, working-class city outside Los Angeles. It gained notoriety in 2010 when it was revealed that it paid its city manager $800,000 a year, and some City Council members $100,000 a year. As a charter city, its officials didn't face state salary limits.

Last week, San Bernardino, a medium-size charter city 60 miles east of Los Angeles, voted to seek bankruptcy protection. In another step toward the Chapter 9 filing, its city council late Wednesday voted to declare a fiscal emergency, letting the city circumvent a state law that requires negotiating with creditors before filing for bankruptcy. The city plans to file within 30 days.

San Bernardino would join Stockton, in Northern California, which filed for bankruptcy last month, and Vallejo, also in Northern California, which emerged from bankruptcy last year. All three have city charters.

Economists say that simply being a charter city isn't an automatic signal of concern. Some of the state's largest cities are charters, including Los Angeles and San Francisco. While those cities have their share of economic challenges, their large populations, diverse economic bases and high property-tax revenue make them more stable.

And not all California cities facing difficulties are charter cities; noncharter cities are laying off employees and struggling to fund pensions.

Charter supporters say charters can give cities greater flexibility in cutting costs. This month, the California Supreme Court ruled that charter cities are exempt from paying prevailing union rates to contractors for municipal projects that are funded with local tax dollars.

"When you give a city more control, it can go one of two ways," said Jessica Levinson, a professor at Loyola Law School and a local-government expert. "One way is the leaders are very successful in running that city; the other way is, you get Bell, you get San Bernardino, you get Stockton."

Charter cities were established in the 1870s when, amid bad economic times and criticism of state interference, California rewrote its constitution to give municipalities that option.

States including New Jersey, Texas and Colorado and Ohio offer their cities greater independence under what generally is called home rule. It is unclear how many home-rule cities there are or whether they tend to show greater financial strains, said Bruce Calvin, a manager with the National League of Cities.

In other states, courts sometimes have limited the power of home-rule cities. But in California, the state Supreme Court has often sided with the cities when questions arise about how far city power extends.

Wednesday, Mayor Eric Perrodin of Compton, a medium-size city southeast of Los Angeles that faces a budget gap, said the municipality will have to decide within the next month whether it needs to file for bankruptcy protection—a step he hopes it can avoid by eliminating some city departments.

Mr. Perrodin said he fears the effects of a bankruptcy stigma on the city. "No businesses will come to the city. Property [values] will go down," he said.

Compton's charter, with its seniority rules and restrictions on using private contractors for administrative and maintenance workers, limits the city's ability to lay off employees and outsource services to cut costs.

In San Bernardino, a voter-approved amendment to the charter took the power to impose salary cuts on police and fire out of the hands of city officials. Instead, the salaries are based on police and fire pay in similar-sized cities, though city officials say those cities are more affluent than San Bernardino.

In Stockton, the charter allowed for binding arbitration with its fire department—meaning the city couldn't rely on a state law that gives cities ultimate authority to impose cuts on workers when the two parties cannot come to an agreement. In 2010, Stockton voters changed the charter to abolish binding arbitration for firefighters.

Financial difficulties in Vallejo, a city of 120,000 about 30 miles northeast of San Francisco, were exacerbated by a charter provision that mandated binding arbitration for all of its unions. The city filed for bankruptcy protection in 2008. In 2010, residents voted to remove mandatory arbitration from its charter.

At a packed city-council meeting Monday night, San Bernardino city employees and residents criticized the government for what several called mismanagement. Resident Jim Smith suggested that the city do away with its "broken" charter, and asked the council to put it to a vote this November. "We don't have any future as a charter city," said Mr. Smith.

Others say there is another side to city charters.

"People have thought that having a charter is part of the problem when it can also be part of the solution," said JoAnne Speers, executive director of the Institute for Local Government, a nonprofit that promotes good-government practices.

Costa Mesa, 40 miles south of Los Angeles, is looking to become a charter city to gain more control over its finances, said Jim Righeimer, mayor pro-tem. Under state law, the city must employ municipal workers for certain services such as printing and information technology, he said. But as a charter city it should be able to cut costs by outsourcing some of those services, he said.

Analysis of Recent Challenges to Environmental Impact Reports

SUMMARY

This report analyzes 95 published opinions from 1997 to 2012 in which CEQA plaintiffs litigated the validity of an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) to the California Court of Appeal or Supreme Court. Among its findings:

- Of the cases which could be characterized as involving “greenfield” or “infill” projects, 59% involved infill development projects.
- More than a third of projects challenged (36%) were public projects rather than private development.
- Notwithstanding claims about CEQA’s importance as a tool in fighting industrial pollution, fewer than 11% of these cases involve industrial projects. The most commonly challenged types of projects were infrastructure projects (19% of cases) and mixed use developments (also 19%), followed by residential and commercial development.
- The vast majority of cases - 73% - were brought, at least in part, by local organizations as plaintiffs. State and regional-level organizations (e.g., environmental organizations such as the Sierra Club) were only involved in 26% of the cases, most of the time in tandem with a local organization plaintiff. 43% of the local organizations are unincorporated associations, which do not need to disclose their members, including potential economic or other interests, when filing CEQA lawsuits.
- In the cases in which courts found an EIR deficient, the adequacy of water supply (34%), traffic impacts (25%), and air quality impacts (25%), were the most likely to be identified as inadequately analyzed.<sup>1</sup>

BACKGROUND

This study was prompted as part of the ongoing debate about the future of CEQA, and a desire by many stakeholders to have better data about how CEQA works generally and how CEQA litigation and court decisions affect how CEQA works. This study builds on several earlier important evaluations of CEQA court decisions:

- In 2011 Clem Shute, a founding partner of the San Francisco law firm of Shute, Mihaly & Weinberger, reported that in 43% of published CEQA appellate and Supreme Court cases since CEQA was enacted, plaintiffs successfully challenged the adequacy of an agency’s

<sup>1</sup>In 2001, the Legislature stepped in with two significant bills designed to ensure that the CEQA environmental review and project approval process included adequate disclosure, analysis, and supplies of water. Notwithstanding this and follow-up legislation, the cases evaluated during the study period continued to involve litigation about the adequacy of water impacts analyses under CEQA.

CEQA compliance.<sup>2</sup> This statistic is a remarkable statistical anomaly in administrative law litigation both generally and in relation to other laws similar to CEQA:

- In lawsuits pursued under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), the national equivalent of (and model for) CEQA, the United States Supreme Court has upheld the adequacy of agency NEPA compliance in 100% of cases, nearly all the time in unanimous rulings (that is, there have been no successful Supreme Court challenges to NEPA compliance in the 44 years since NEPA was enacted).<sup>3</sup>
  - Under the New York State Environmental Quality Review Act, over a 16-year period challengers won just under 16% of the cases that challenged the adequacy of New York's equivalent of an EIR.<sup>4</sup>
  - A meta-study of eleven studies, including 5081 federal court cases from 1982 to 2009, indicates an overall agency validation rate of 69%.<sup>5</sup>
  - The National Taxpayer Advocate, which is required by federal law to track the ten most litigated tax issues in federal court, reported in a recent annual report that challengers prevailed against the IRS in whole or in part in only 22% of those cases.<sup>6</sup>
- Because Mr. Shute's results involved all types of reported CEQA cases dating back to CEQA's enactment more than 40 years ago, two subsequent studies were then completed to evaluate CEQA's more recent litigation track record, and to parse differences in CEQA lawsuits challenging each of CEQA's three compliance tracks: EIRs, Negative Declarations, and Categorical Exemptions.
    - Thomas Law Group's 2012 "CEQA Litigation History" report reviewed all California Court of Appeal and Supreme Court cases reviewing the adequacy of an EIR or Negative Declaration over a 15-year period from 1997 to February 17, 2011.<sup>7</sup> The report focused on "substantive" challenges to CEQA documents (i.e., where the court found fault with an agency's impacts analysis, mitigation or alternatives evaluation, and/or determination of whether an impact was "significant"). In those cases:
      - EIRs were successfully challenged about half of the time, even though CEQA provides the highest level of judicial deference to EIRs.

- Negative Declarations were even more vulnerable, with opponents successfully challenging Negative Declarations in just under 60% of published cases. (Negative Declarations are insufficient under CEQA if opponents make a “fair argument” based on substantial evidence that a project “may” cause even one significant adverse impact at a project or cumulative level.)
- Holland & Knight’s 2012 “CEQA Categorical Exemption Litigation History” reviewed lawsuits challenging categorical exemptions over the same time period considered in the Thomas Law Group study, and found that opponents successfully overturned categorical exemptions in court in 52% of the reported court cases.<sup>8</sup>

Methodology

Notwithstanding these remarkable litigation statistics, which demonstrate that opponents can expect to win CEQA challenges about the substantive adequacy of CEQA documentation more than half the time (50% for EIRs, 58% for Negative Declarations, and 52% for Categorical Exemptions), the debate about the extent to which CEQA litigation is a problem has continued, largely in the context of proponents and opponents of CEQA modernization providing anecdotal examples of particular projects.

To advance the debate about the need to modernize CEQA, this study focuses on the subset of 95 cases evaluated in the Thomas Law Group study which were subject to the greatest level of environmental scrutiny: Environmental Impact Reports (EIRs). Each case within this group was categorized in the following areas: the city and county in which the project was proposed, the type of project proposed, whether the project was a “public” project proposed by a public agency or a “private” project proposed by a private entity, whether the project could be considered an “infill” or “greenfield” development, the type of deficiency identified in the EIR, and the type of plaintiff challenging the EIR.

Location of Project: Based on the statement of facts in the opinion, the county in which the project was proposed to be located was identified, as well as the city or other local area.

Type of Project: Based on the statement of facts in the opinion, the type of project analyzed in the EIR was categorized as either residential, commercial, industrial, educational, mixed use, infrastructure, hospital, development-restricting plan amendment, or other. Commercial projects included retail establishments and hotels, as well as gas stations, wineries, and dairies. Infrastructure projects included water supply-related projects, waste storage and disposal facilities, and transportation initiatives.

Public or Private Project: Cases in which a public agency or government proposed the project were categorized as “public” projects. Cases in which the opinion characterized a private entity as the proponent of the project, or in which a private entity was listed as a real party in interest, were categorized as “private” projects. When a project was proposed by a public agency but appeared to be proposed for the benefit of a private entity or public utility, projects were characterized as “private.”

Greenfield or Infill: New residential, commercial, educational, hospital and mixed use development projects were categorized as either “greenfield” or “infill” projects based on their proposed location and that location’s proximity to nearby development and metropolitan area boundaries. Development projects that adaptively reused existing development, proposed new development in areas surrounded by other significant development, or proposed new development within the boundaries of established metropolitan areas or towns, were categorized as “infill.” Development projects in undeveloped areas, rural areas, or on the periphery of developed areas, were categorized as “greenfield” developments. Projects that do not fit neatly into either classification were listed as “other” in this category. If a project did not directly propose new residential, commercial, educational, hospital or mixed use development, it was classified as “other.”

EIR Deficiency: Opinions decided in the plaintiffs’ favor were analyzed to determine the type of impact that the court concluded was inadequately addressed in the EIR, either because the court held that the defendant’s impact conclusions in this area were not supported by substantial evidence, because the court held that the defendant’s proposals to mitigate this impact were inadequate, or because the court held that the defendant had failed to adequately analyze alternatives that might reduce this impact. If the opinion found deficiencies in the EIR’s project description, baseline determination, mitigation measures, or alternatives analysis, this was also noted. Many opinions emphasized failings in the EIR process (e.g., reliance on a previous EIR, inappropriate deferral of analysis), without stating that any particular impact conclusions or analyses were affected by these failings. Where the opinion and statement of facts indicated the primary impact areas on which the EIR focused, these cases were categorized by impact area. If only procedural concerns were noted, and the opinion did not undertake any discussion of specific impact areas, the cases were categorized as “procedural.”

Type of Plaintiff: This analysis characterizes plaintiffs who appealed a trial court decision or who defended a trial court decision on appeal. Most cases were brought by two or more different types of plaintiffs. Based on the description in the opinion, each plaintiff bringing a challenge was identified in the following categories: local organization, statewide or regional organization, government entity, business, individual, or Native American tribe. Plaintiffs were categorized as a “local organization” if they are a local homeowners organization or if their name reflects a specific local area of involvement. Environmental or other organizations with a broader than local scope were categorized as “state or regional organizations.” Based on a search of the California Secretary of State’s database of registered business associations, local organizations were also identified as either “incorporated” or “unincorporated” entities based on whether they had filed for incorporation at the time of the lawsuit. If their incorporation has since been suspended or dissolved, this was also noted. Governments, businesses, and Native American tribes were identified from their names and descriptions in the opinions.

FINDINGS<sup>9</sup>

Types of Projects Challenged:

- 18 infrastructure projects: 19% of projects
  - 12 water projects
  - 3 waste facilities
  - 2 transportation projects
  - 1 other
- 18 mixed use: 19%
- 15 residential: 16%
- 15 commercial (retail, hotel, gas station, etc.): 16%
- 10 industrial: 11%
- Eight “other” (a sale of city-owned property, a statewide pest control program, a logging project, a greenbelt expansion plan, a bay restoration program, a habitat conservation plan, a church, and the conversion of a mobile home park to day-use parkland): 8%
- Seven educational: 7%
- Two hospital expansions: 2%
- Two development-restricting general plan amendments: 2%

Public vs. Private:

- 61 private projects: 64% of projects
- 34 public projects: 36%

Greenfield vs. Infill:

In 59 cases, projects could be characterized as “greenfield” or “infill” projects. Of those cases:

- 35 were infill projects: 59% of projects
- 24 were greenfield: 41%

Types of Plaintiffs:<sup>10</sup>

- 69 of the cases were brought by local organizations: 73% of cases
  - Of the 94 local organizations joining lawsuits:

<sup>9</sup>Due to rounding, percentages may not add up to 100%.

<sup>10</sup>Because many cases had multiple types of plaintiffs, cases do not add up to 95, percentages do not add up to 100%, and the number of organizations bringing suit is larger than the number of cases.

Holland & Knight

- 54 are incorporated entities: 57% of local organizations (10 of these organizations have since had their incorporation suspended)
- 40 are unincorporated associations: 43%
- 25 of the cases were brought by state/regional organizations: 26%
- 23 cases were brought by named individuals: 24%
- 17 cases were brought by governments: 18%
- Nine cases were brought by businesses: 9%
- Three cases were brought by Native American tribal organizations: 3%
- One case was brought by a religious organization: 1%

EIR Deficiencies Identified by Courts:<sup>11</sup>

In the 44 cases in which courts found a deficiency in an EIR:

- 15 cases involved water supply issues (34%)
- 11 cases involved traffic impacts (25%)
- 11 cases involved air quality/pollutants (25%)
- Eight cases involved biological resources (18%)
- Five cases involved noise (11%)
- Four cases involved water quality (9%)
- Three cases involved historic resources (7%)
- Two cases involved waste water (5%)
- Two cases involved transit and transportation (5%)
- Two cases involved hydrology (5%)
- Two cases involved land use (5%)
- One case each involved the following:
  - Drainage
  - Fire services
  - General “growth inducement” impacts
  - Greenhouse gas emissions
  - Human health
  - Impact on the project

<sup>11</sup>Because cases involved multiple impact areas, cases do not add up to 44 and percentages do not add up to 100%.

- Mining contamination
- Parking
- Parks & open space
- Police services
- Urban decay
- Visual impacts
- Viticulture impacts

Three cases discussed essentially procedural failings without discussing specific impact areas of concern.

What are the Health Effects of Diesel Exhaust?

Good evening/morning Council member Stewart,

The City and/or the Developer should have supplied you with responses to the four Final EIR Centerpointe West warehouse comment letters attached below. The public should also have seen responses well before your meeting tonight on the project. The two page Caltrans letter was written on November 19, 2012 well before the Planning Commission as well as your meeting and should have been responded to for the Commissioners. Even the two page November 28th AQMD letter should have had some response prior to the Planning Commission meeting. They should have and still should result in changes to the Conditions of Approval on the Centerpointe West Warehouse project. These two agency are in place to protect the public on project similar to this. Your main role is to also protect the Health, Safety and Welfare of Moreno Valley Residents. You therefore should demand that these letters be thoroughly and completely responded to in writing prior to your vote.

The third of the four letters is what I quickly wrote down during the Planning Commission meeting and used it to address the Commissioners. These last two letters have been in the City's possession for almost two weeks and should also have been responded to in writing prior to your Council meeting. You as well as the public have a right to see the responses to all four letter prior to your vote and the City would be well served to incorporate many of the suggestions into the project prior to a vote on the project.

I still have hope that some Moreno Valley decision makers will represent the people and realize that toxic truck diesel exhaust impacts the health of those who must breath it in on a daily basis like warehouse workers. You might as well encourage our residents to smoke as to provide them jobs as warehouse workers. When time allows please read the above link.

Take care,

George Hague

Mr. Bradshaw,

We have received your request for review of the above mentioned proposal PA12-0019 is a 164,720 sf warehouse building on 7.6 acres at the northeast corner of Cactus Ave. and Fredrick St. PA12-0020 proposes adding 507,720 sf to an existing 779,016 sf warehouse building for a total of 1,286,736 sf on a 18.6 acre site located at the northwest corner of Cactus Ave. and Graham St. PA12-0021 proposes a new 607,920 sf warehouse facility on 30 acre located at the northwest corner of Graham St. and Brodiaea Ave. PA12-022 proposes a Zone Change from BPX to LI for the 7.6 acres located at the northeast corner of Cactus Ave. and Frederick St. in the City of Moreno Valley.

As the owner and operator of the State Highway System (SHS), it is our responsibility to coordinate and consult with local jurisdictions when proposed development may impact our facilities. As the responsible agency under the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), it is also our responsibility to make recommendations to offset associated impacts with the proposed project. Although the project is under the jurisdiction of the City of Moreno Valley due to the Project's potential impact to State facilities it is also subject to the policies and regulations that govern the SHS.

We recommend the following to be provided:

Traffic Study

- Per Table 1.8-1 (Summary of Significant and Unavoidable Impacts), the proposed project will have cumulatively considerable, significant and unavoidable traffic impacts to the I-215 southbound and northbound ramps at Cactus Avenue.
- Per Table 1.10-1 (Summary of Environmental Impacts and Mitigation Measure), a second westbound through lane at the I-215 southbound ramp and Cactus Avenue intersection is needed to mitigate Opening Year Cumulative traffic impacts. The project will pay the required TUMF share. The City of Moreno Valley must ensure that this mitigation measure is implemented before cumulative traffic impacts generated by this and other projects open.

- At the I-215 northbound ramp and Cactus Avenue intersection, the identified the following improvements per Table 1.10-1. The project will pay the required TUMF share. The City of Moreno Valley must ensure that these mitigation measures are implemented before cumulative traffic impacts generated by this and other projects open
  - Construct a second northbound left-turn lane
  - Re-stripe the existing eastbound shared through/right-turn lane as the third through lane.
  - Construct a dedicated eastbound right-turn lane.
  - Construct a third westbound through lane.
  - Construct a dedicated westbound right-turn lane.

- Appropriate encroachment permit must be obtained from Caltrans for our review and approval when these mitigation measures are constructed.

Response to Comments for the Final Environmental Impact Report (Final EIR) for the Proposed RPT Centerpointe West Prologis Eucalyptus Industrial Park Project
(SCH #2012081034)

On November 5, 2012, the AQMD staff commented on the Draft EIR for the proposed RPT Centerpointe West Prologis Eucalyptus Industrial Park Project. This letter addresses the lead agency's responses to our comments, which AQMD staff received on November 20, 2012.

Based on the lead agency's responses, the AQMD staff appreciates the lead agency's inclusion of operational mitigation measures in its building design that encourage bicycle and pedestrian usage to the site; includes the use of solar panel to reduce on-site energy consumption; and design and operational criteria under the Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) designed to reduce energy consumption that would benefit the region by also reducing the associated operational emissions.

The AQMD staff is concerned, however, that all feasible mitigation recommended to reduce the estimated significant regional mobile source emissions from trucks operating at the site were not included in the Final CEQA document thus missing the opportunity to reduce the project's truck tail-pipe emissions. The lead agency stated that many of the lead agency's proposed measures are already incorporated in the City Municipal Code Section 9.05.050 based on the Western Association of Governments (WRCOG) Good Neighbor Guidelines (Guidelines). Upon review of that portion of the code, measures directed to implementing a clean fuel goal from the Guidelines were not included in the Final EIR. Specifically, Goal Number 5 establishes a diesel minimization plan for on- and off-site diesel mobile sources to be implemented with new projects. Some of the benefits of this WRCOG goal include: 1) establishing a long-term goal for the facility to eliminate diesel emissions at the facility, and 2) reduce associated facility on- and off-road diesel emissions. Finally, the AQMD proposed measures are also consistent with the WRCOG Good Neighbor Guidelines Goal Number 5 recommendations: 1) Require all warehouse/distribution centers to operate the cleanest vehicles possible; 2) Provide incentives for warehouse/distribution centers and corporations which partner with trucking companies that operate the cleanest vehicles available; and 3) Encourage the installation of clean fuel fueling stations at facilities. The AQMD staff encourages the lead agency to reconsider implementation of known strategies now at the design stage in order to reduce the estimated long-term significant impacts to the region from trucks operating at the proposed site.

The AQMD staff further disagrees with the characterization that neither the lead agency nor the project applicant can require as part of the lease or as a condition of owner occupancy that heavy duty trucks meet engine emission standards, implement a phase-in schedule or other measures recommended in the AQMD letter. Although CARB regulates engine and fuel specifications, the recommended goals including Goal Number 5 in the WRCOG Guidelines are under the powers of the local jurisdiction through its lease and land use authority, which can mitigate the project truck impacts. Further, the recommended mitigation measures would not require development of new emission standards. Rather, it would require the lead agency to use its existing authority to mandate the kind of activity happening onsite.<sup>1</sup> If the proposed 2010 truck requirement is infeasible, then the lead agency and project applicant should evaluate a less stringent phase-in schedule for clean trucks to reduce significant air quality impacts.

The AQMD staff further disagrees that project mobile source emission impact are overestimated or double-counted for warehouse centers like the proposed project. Based on the lead agency's analysis based on a trip rate from warehouse truck studies, 996 daily truck trips are estimated to operate at the site based on the increased warehouse capacity. This is new activity to the project site and surrounding area. Since there isn't a fixed pool of heavy-duty trucks operating in the region that simply change their routes ending up at different locations, the increased capacity is based on increased demand from where the goods are manufactured, delivered to and/or transferred throughout the basin for delivery to local and/or out of basin markets. This increased goods-movement activity creates new heavy-duty truck trips and associated emissions from the increased trips and miles traveled created by the goods movement from these additional truck activities.

Pursuant to Public Resources Code Section 21092.5, please provide the AQMD with written responses to all comments contained herein prior to the adoption of the Final Environmental Impact Report. The AQMD staff is available to work with the Lead Agency to address these issues and any other air quality questions that may arise. Please contact Gordon Mize, Air Quality Specialist – CEQA Section, at (909) 396-3302, if you have any questions regarding these comments.

<sup>1</sup> Note that many other lead agencies in the region have included clean fleet requirements for some projects that go beyond existing regulations, including the Ports, Riverside County, the City of Banning, etc.

Planning Commission Public Hearing

Item 2 - PA12-0019, PA12-0020, PA12-0021 and PA12-0022

Date Nov 29, 2012

Dear Commissioners,

The Centerpointe west warehouse project will significantly impact SR 60 - especially when added to those projects which are in the planning pipeline that would result in more warehousing. The Sierra Club believes the FEIR is inadequate until the necessary cumulative impacts to SR 60 between Market Street in Riverside to the City of Beaumont are fully analyzed.

Traffic engineer Michael Lloyd knows of the Court decision on the Villages of Lakeview<sup>(VOL)</sup>. The County used a very small radius for traffic impacts related to the VOL project. The Court's ruling shot this down as well as related impacts like air quality/GHG. The City of Moreno Valley likewise required a small radius for traffic analysis and related impacts like air quality/GHG. While this project is smaller than VOL, but cumulative and with diesel trucks it is very significant and therefore impact from traffic needs to be fully analyzed as mentioned above about SR 60.

Thank you, George Hague Moreno Valley Group Sierra Club

RE: RPT Centerpointe West Project Final Environmental Impact Report (P12-057)

Greetings Planning Commissioners:

On behalf of the Sierra Club, Moreno Valley Group, and Residents for a Livable Moreno Valley, our firm hereby submits these comments after reviewing the Final Environmental Impact Report ("FEIR") on the RPT Centerpointe West Project. Johnson & Sedlack hereby incorporates all comments previously submitted.

We respectfully ask that you disapprove this project. As discussed in the comment letter dated November 5, 2012, and further explained herein, the EIR fails to comply with the requirements of the California Environmental Quality Act ("CEQA").

CEQA was adopted as a disclosure and transparency document. The theory is that by providing a document that adequately describes the environmental consequences of a project to decision-makers and the public, the decision-makers will make a rational decision based upon the true environmental consequences of the project and if they do not, the electorate can hold them accountable for their decisions. The core of this statutory structure is the adequacy of the document as an informational document.

Unfortunately, the EIR fails as an informational document. First, the EIR misleads the public and decision-makers as to the extent and severity of project impacts. Second, the EIR does not contain sufficient information to support its findings. ]

For example, Response to Comment JS-7 fails to address why impacts to Biological Resources, Cultural Resources, Geology and Soils, and Hydrology and Water Quality were not evaluated in the DEIR. Typical of the Responses to Comments, the response attempts to avoid the comment by referring to the commenter's statements as "opinions," even though the comment clearly refers to statutes.

In addition, the EIR is almost constantly conclusory, and does not provide the analysis or examination required by CEQA to inform the public and decision-makers of the analytical pathway taken from facts to conclusions.

Moreover, CEQA requires that where feasible mitigation exists which can substantially lessen the environmental impacts of a project, all feasible mitigation must be adopted. In this way, CEQA goes beyond its informational role to require that projects substantively lessen their negative effects on the environment. It is critical to proper drafting of an EIR that all feasible mitigation measures be required of a project. For this project, the EIR concludes that unavoidable adverse impacts will result to/from the following: air quality, noise, and traffic/transportation. Feasible mitigation measures exist which would reduce these impacts, and which have not been required of this project. This is contrary to the requirements of CEQA, and the additional feasible mitigation must be required of this project.

Findings of Fact and Statement of Overriding Considerations

Traffic/Transportation

Impacts to traffic were found to be significant and unavoidable. The traffic mitigation measures are stated to be infeasible to the extent that the implementation thereof is beyond the control of the applicant or within the jurisdiction of another agency. The lead agency under CEQA has an obligation to adopt feasible, certain, and enforceable mitigation. The lead agency cannot avoid its obligation to adopt certain and enforceable mitigation by declaring impacts to be significant and unavoidable.

There is no indication in the record as to when the traffic improvements will be implemented. Fee-based mitigation is inadequate where the improvements are tied to funds which are uncertain to occur. There is no timeline for the improvements or any showing that improvements will be made within a reasonable time-frame. In addition, there is no indication as to how much funding has already been collected, if any. The TUMF and DIF programs do not appear to be disclosed in the record. The fact that traffic impacts have been determined to be "significant" does not insulate the City from adopting certain and enforceable mitigation.

Furthermore, while "Opening Year" conditions were determined to be significant, it is probable that any future conditions will also be significant where there is no reasonable time-frame for the implementation of the necessary traffic improvement measures. To leave citizens to endure years of significant traffic impacts, without any assurance in the record as to when improvements will be made, is not an acceptable result under CEQA, regardless of whether the impacts are determined to be "significant and unavoidable."

Air Quality

As to air quality, both operational and cumulative, the City has not adopted all feasible mitigation to lessen significant impacts. Thus, the finding that these impacts are significant and unavoidable is improper under CEQA. (Pub. Res. C. § 21081 (a), (b); Guidelines § 15091 (a)(3).)

Noise

Again, the City has not adopted all feasible mitigation to lessen significant impacts and, therefore, a finding that significant short-term construction noise impacts are unavoidable is improper.

Statement of Overriding Considerations

As previously noted, the EIR still fails to evaluate a reasonable range of project alternatives, among other things, because the reduced density alternative appears to have the same significant impacts as the proposed project and it does not meet basic project objectives as required. (Guidelines § 15126.6 (a).) The “no project/existing alternative” is shown to make significant project impacts much worse. Together, this analysis does not constitute a reasonable range of project alternatives. Further, the purportedly environmentally superior reduced scale alternative has not been shown to be infeasible based on substantial evidence. (Guidelines § 15091 (a)(3), (b).) Without such adequate findings regarding project alternatives and/or mitigation measures, the Statement of Overriding Considerations cannot be adopted. (Pub. Res. C. § 21081 (a), (b).)

The Statement of Overriding Considerations (“SOC”) is not supported by the required substantial evidence. (Pub. Res. C. §§ 21081 (b), 21081.5) The SOC is also not based on overriding policy benefits of the project but rather improperly represents requirements of the project. First, the project is required to be consistent with the City’s General Plan; this cannot be said to be an overriding policy benefit of the project. Second, the fact that the project transitions the site into a “productive light industrial use” is merely a description of the project, not an overriding benefit. Third, the fact that the project is located near freeways and a major street “for the convenience of operations” is a help to the applicant but not to the citizens where traffic impacts to roadways and freeway ramps are shown to be significant and unmitigable. Fourth, the purported fact that the project creates employment “opportunities” for the City and surrounding communities is not supported by data, for example, the number and type of jobs created, and whether these are in fact local jobs. Indeed, whether the project will in fact create employment is highly uncertain (see Attachments A and B). Finally, the fact that the project provides “adequate” infrastructure, etc., is simply a necessity of the project, not overriding benefits to the community at large.

Cumulative Impacts

The EIR fails as an informational document by failing to consider the World Logistics Project and the Prologis Eucalyptus Project, among others.

Response to Comment JS-9 is unreasoned and conclusory. The response does not explain why the World Logistics Project and the Prologis Eucalyptus Project were not included in the cumulative analysis. The response merely states that those projects are accounted for in the ambient growth rate, without any supporting evidence.

Comment SC-5 notes that, in addition to the World Logistics Project and the Prologis Eucalyptus Project, the West Ridge Commerce Center and the VIP warehouse projects are also not included in the Cumulative Project List. The EIR is therefore inadequate. The Response to Comment SC-5 states that these projects are accounted for in the ambient growth rate, but does not provide any supporting evidence.

Aesthetics

The finding of less than significant impact remains unsupported in the FEIR. As noted in our prior comments, the EIR fails to provide sufficient information to make any finding with respect to aesthetics impacts. The EIR lacks information regarding parking, landscaping, building design, buffering, signs, lighting, etc.

The Responses to Comments unreasonably suggest that requiring the project to conform to city standards necessarily means the project will have a less than significant impact. Any project, in any city, would have to conform to the city's standards. Without any accompanying information, this statement of conformance to city standards is meaningless.

Response to Comment JS-6 is completely unresponsive. The response merely repeats the conclusory statement contained in the DEIR, the precise concern of the commenter. The response directs the commenter to Responses JS-1 through JS-3, neither of which respond to the comment.

Response to Comment JS-14 does not provide any insight into the project's impact on aesthetics. The response regurgitates the same vague information contained in the DEIR and relies on the same conclusory statements which the commenter expressed concern about.

Air Quality, Greenhouse Gases

The EIR fails as an informational document by misleading the public and decision-makers with respect to the project's impact on air quality. This issue was discussed in numerous comments, but remains unaddressed. To illustrate, Response to Comment JS-3 fails to address the commenter's concern regarding the misleading nature of referring to three years of construction as a single phase. In fact, the response exacerbates the commenter's concern by stating that "[t]he single phase of construction is comprised of multiple elements or stages." In addition, rather than responding to the commenter's concern regarding the relatively long-term nature of noise and traffic impacts, the response unreasonably states that because there is an expected cessation date, these impacts are temporary. The addition of a cessation date does not make impacts "temporary," as a cessation date could be set for 50 years from the start of a project.

The EIR also fails by not incorporating all feasible mitigation and/or failing to find such measures to be infeasible. Some examples of these instances, though not all by far, are listed below.

The FEIR concludes that in spite of the fact that the project's VOC and NOx operational emissions exceed SCAQMD thresholds, no mitigation is required. Responses to Comments state that there are no feasible means to reduce these emissions. This "finding" of infeasibility is not supported by any evidence, and is suspicious in light of the many seemingly feasible mitigation measures recommended by commenters. The Responses to Comments, rather than actually addressing why the mitigation measures were found infeasible, blanketly rejects, without any supporting evidence, or ignores them all together.

Response to Comment AQMD-2 fails to respond to the comment made with regard to consideration of the mitigation measures proposed in AQMD's attachment. The response merely discusses two additional mitigation measures, and ignores all other proposed measures. In addition, the response states that emissions thresholds for VOCs and NOx would persist without any supporting evidence.

Response to Comment AQMD-4 is a good example of several comments lumped together in which the bulk of the comments are ignored. The response fails to address any specific mitigation measure proposed in the comment. Moreover, the response unreasonably suggests that because most vehicle emissions associated with the project are outside the applicant's control, mitigation measures which would reduce emissions from vehicles within the applicant's control are not important.

Response to Comment JS-5 is unresponsive in that it does not explain how the DEIR accounts for impacts to nearby sensitive receptors. The response merely states that the March Lifecare Campus is "noted" in the DEIR and claims that the DEIR "presents and considers maximum impact scenarios regarding truck impacts at sensitive receptors," without any supporting evidence. Furthermore, the response completely ignores the commenter's concern regarding DEIR traffic assumptions. Instead of addressing the comment, the response refers to the fact that trucks using alternate routes will impact noise and traffic along those routes as an "opinion."

Response to Comment JS-30 does not respond to the comment made regarding the EIR's flawed assumption that truck traffic will only use a route to/from I-215. Johnson & Sedlack reiterate its concern that impacts to sensitive receptors have been improperly and inadequately evaluated.

Response to Comment SC-6 does not respond to the questions posed regarding ensuring the protection of sensitive receptors and on-site workers. Stating that an assessment of health risks to on-site workers is not required does not respond to the question asked. Moreover, noting that exposure is projected to be below the threshold does not respond to how the project will protect sensitive receptors from harmful pollutants.

Response to Comment SC-13 is completely unresponsive.

Response to Comment SC-16 only addresses LEED certification, but does not address the numerous proposed mitigation measures which would decrease greenhouse gas emissions.

Response to Comment WMD-4 does not respond to the comment made regarding implementation of an in-house recycling program.

Mitigation Measure 4.3.2, Mitigation Measure 4.3.5, and Mitigation Measure 4.4.6 only require that a sign be posted but do not require compliance with the measures delineated on the sign. These mitigation measures are therefore insufficient.

Biological Resources

The EIR fails in its informational role to sufficiently describe the project's impact on biological resources. The FEIR does not clarify the extent or likelihood of this impact.

Geology and Soils

The FEIR fails to address the major concern regarding impacts to geology and soils: no geotechnical report has been prepared for the project. The project is located on expansive soil, giving rise to potentially significant impacts.

Response to Comment JS-8 is unresponsive and conclusory. The response does not address why, or under what legal authority, the DEIR is deferring preparation of a geotechnical study for the project. Instead, the response cites to geotechnical studies prepared for other projects, does not discuss the findings of those studies, and concludes that impacts are less than significant.

Response to Comment JS-44 completely fails to respond to the comment regarding where the soils will be obtained from and/or removed to.

Response to Comment JS-45 does not address how potential mitigation measures for a non-existent geotechnical study can be certain.

Land Use/Planning

As discussed in Comment JS-53, this project does not discourage access through residential areas, and is thereby inconsistent with Policy 2.5.4 of the General Plan. Mere placement near I-215 does not itself discourage access, as I-215 can become extremely congested.

Noise

Response to Comment JS-60 is unresponsive as to why a permanent increase in ambient noise levels is not considered a significant impact.

Traffic/Transportation

Response to Comment WMD-2 fails to respond to the majority of issues raised in the comment. The response does not address the failure of the DEIR/TIA to account for the two driveways across from Building 2 along Frederick Street. Perhaps more egregiously, the response does not discuss any traffic safety or congestion issues associated with these driveways. The response merely dismisses the commenter's concerns by stating that the two driveways generate "nominal traffic volumes."

Response to Comment WMD-3 is unresponsive in that it summarily rejects consideration of alternate mitigation measures to reduce significant traffic impacts. The response states that impacts are beyond the applicant's control and fails to consider coordinating with the city or others in order to mitigate impacts.

Implementation of Mitigation Measure 4.2.2 is uncertain to occur. The improvement depends on the collection of funds through the TUMF Program, there is no timeline provided for the improvement, and there is no detail as to how much funding has already been collected, if any.

Mitigation Measure 4.2.3 is also uncertain to occur. The improvement depends on the collection of funds through the TUMF Program, there is no timeline provided for the improvement, and there is no detail as to how much funding has already been collected, if any.

Mitigation Measures 4.2.4, 4.2.5, and 4.2.6 are similarly uncertain to occur. The measures themselves do not even provide a certain source for funds, as funds will be collected from the "TUMF and/or DIF program(s)."

Alternatives

This project fails to make adequate findings based on substantial evidence that the environmentally superior alternative is infeasible. In fact, the environmentally superior alternative satisfies most, if not all, the project objectives and significantly reduces project impacts, particularly with regards to air quality in an area known to have some of the worst air quality in the nation. At the least, the environmentally superior alternative must be implemented in lieu of the project.

Desired Actions

For the above reasons and those previously submitted, we respectfully ask that you deny the project and deny certification of the FEIR.

Thank you for your consideration of the above comments.

Sincerely,

Raymond W. Johnson

MORENO VALLEY: Skechers' warehouse has caused net job loss

Now that Skechers has moved into its giant Moreno Valley hub, it's actually employing fewer Inland-area workers than before

/CONTRIBUTED IMAGE

BY JACK KATZANEK | STAFF WRITER | February 01, 2012; 08:23 PM | Comments \(0\)

Skechers' massive distribution center in Moreno Valley was supposed to provide a refreshing boost to the job market in a city that badly needed one.

But apparently the opening of the 1.8 million-square-foot facility four months ago created few, if any job opportunities for would-be workers in Moreno Valley and the surrounding area.

In fact, the closing of Skechers' five distribution centers in Ontario when the shoe manufacturer consolidated its distribution operations meant a net loss of as many as 400 jobs in Inland Southern California.

Skechers' managers in Moreno Valley did not return several phone calls seeking comment. A spokesperson for Michael Greenberg, the company's president, said all comment would come from executives in Moreno

The Moreno Valley distribution center, larger than 40 football fields and more than a half-mile from end-to-end, currently has about 600 people working there, said Barry Foster, Moreno Valley's economic development director.

"I know they transferred a lot of people from Ontario," Foster said. "The last time I talked to them they said 600 jobs, and said a lot are coming from Ontario."

Foster, Riverside County officials and others in Moreno Valley say they know of no local recruitment events by the company, meaning that few, if any, jobs for local workers were added.

"People called and I had to refer them to (Skechers') website," said Oscar Valdepeña, president and CEO of the Moreno Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Valdepeña added that Skechers' executives have not reached out to the chamber.

As many as 1,000 people worked at Skechers now-closed warehouses in Ontario, a number that fluctuated during seasonal shifts in demand for the company's products. That means now there are as many as 400 fewer Skechers employees in the Inland area.

When the company was preparing to relocate, it filed four notices under the California Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, or WARN Act, the law that mandates that large firms planning to lay off at least 50 people give workers 30 days notice of the layoffs. According to state records, Skechers said it would terminate 339 people at four Ontario locations on Oct. 31.

NEW HIRES PROMISED

This appears to contradict the public statements made when the distribution center in Moreno Valley was being planned and built. It was touted by its developer, elected officials and Skechers' executives as a big help to the city's economy.

Moreno Valley's unemployment was 14.4 percent in December, the highest of any of Riverside County's five largest cities, according to state data.

At the March 2010 groundbreaking attended by then-Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger, Greenberg, Skechers' president, said the warehouse would employ 1,000 people — including 500 new hires.

Marion Ashley, the Riverside County supervisor who represents Moreno Valley, echoed that prediction of 1,000 jobs in January 2011. Ashley did not return a call seeking comment.

Moreno Valley Mayor Richard Stewart said he knows of one Moreno Valley man who was hired for an engineering job, but he doesn't know about any organized local recruiting.

"I don't know if it was word of mouth or what," Stewart said.

Despite that, he said he still believes Skechers will create an economic boost for the city, from sales of food and fuel to workers and, possibly from people who might decide to move to Moreno Valley.

Iddo Benzeevi, president and CEO of Highland Fairview Properties, the project's developer, has suggested on several occasions that the project would yield 2,500 jobs.

Highland Fairview is leasing the property to Skechers for 20 years, a deal worth $240 million.

Benzeevi also is seeking to build more distribution facilities in the mostly undeveloped eastern area of Moreno could include many more distribution properties.

Benzeevi emphasized he doesn't speak for Skechers, but he said the shoe company came to Moreno Valley in good faith and never promised a specific number of jobs.

"Skechers came in goodwill to the community and made a substantial investment," Benzeevi said. "Yes, they might only have 600 employees, but I think they should be commended."

The distribution center is a fully modernized operation, and Benzeevi said that efficiency is critical.

"That may create different kinds of jobs, at the expense of some others. They require different skill sets for different people," Benzeevi said.

TECH TRUMPS JOBS

It isn't uncommon for a distribution center that invests heavily in automation to need fewer employees, said John Wu, director of the Leonard Transportation Center, which teaches advanced skills in logistics and goods movement at Cal State San Bernardino.

"In some places, you have workers who walk into trucks and carry goods out by hand," Wu said. "Some are so highly automated they can be run by 20 or 30 people, even if it's a million square feet."

Foster, the city economic development director, said that he's heard that Skechers is happy with the move to Moreno Valley. He said putting all its distribution operations under one roof could save the company several million dollars annually.

He added that Skechers has the capacity to expand and add workers.

However, financial conditions at Manhattan Beach-based Skechers do not seem to favor an expansion, at least in the short term. Sales for the shoe company declined 25 percent in the third quarter of 2011 from the same three-month period in 2010, which had been a record quarter for the company. The third quarter is the most recent reporting period for the publicly traded company.

Also, the company recorded a $30 million loss in the second quarter, mostly because of weak demand for the firm's toning shoes.

As California Warehouses Grow, Labor Issues Are a Concern

In Moreno Valley, Calif., where much of the state's logistics industry is based, a new distribution center is being built.

MORENO VALLEY, Calif. — As the freeway snakes toward this city an hour's drive east of Los Angeles, the strip malls gradually give way to the warehouses that supply their goods. There are dozens and dozens of them — in some places, the gray squat buildings are the only things visible from the road — a labyrinth of sprawling distribution centers

Skechers opened a warehouse in the city last year.

In the last decade or so, Moreno Valley and the rest of the Inland Empire have become the nation's largest hub of distribution warehouses, where workers sort the imported goods that come through Los Angeles ports. In the industry, known as logistics, those goods are prepared for and delivered to stores across the country.

By most estimates, Inland Empire, with its $300 billion piece of the industry, is the country's most bustling trade gateway. Lured by "cheap dirt," as many here put it, companies are only increasing their demands for large tracts of land in the region.

Still reeling from the economic downturn, many community leaders in the Inland Empire say they are desperate for jobs, particularly for low-skilled workers, many of whom lost their jobs in construction after the housing collapse. They see the region's warehouses and related delivery industries — which now employ an estimated 200,000 people, more than Salt Lake City's population — as the best way out of the doldrums, seeing salvation in the form of shipping containers.

"We know we face challenges, and these bring in jobs and pump up the economy right away," said Barry Foster, the director of economic development for Moreno Valley. Last year, the footwear company Skechers opened a worldwide distribution center here, and the city is also moving toward approving plans for a 40-million-square-foot warehouse complex.

"We need to get to the point where we have a job for every household," Mr. Foster said. "Right now we have half of that. These are good jobs that would keep people who are living here working here and have a foothold into the middle class."

Monica Almeida/The New York Times
Another view of the Sketchers warehouse in Moreno Valley.

But there are plenty of skeptics. Environmentalists say the parade of trucks has a dangerous impact on the air in the area, contributing to an already high rate of asthma in children. Labor advocates say a vast majority of the jobs provide just minimum wage, often without benefits.

In some warehouses, workers are paid based on how much work they complete, like the number of trucks they empty. In October, a state investigation found that two staffing agencies that supply workers to Wal-Mart distribution centers failed to provide workers with proper information about their wages, making it unclear how much they were earning on the job. The state fined the two staffing agencies more than $1 million.

Julie A. Su, the California labor commissioner, has heard many complaints about the industry since taking office last year. But she said investigations were often stymied because so many warehouses use staffing agencies, which classify workers as temporary, even though they may work for years in the same building.

There are frequent complaints that workers are told to show up each morning — often with the reminder that the first to arrive will be the most likely to get work — only to be informed that there is no work for them that day. Under state law, in those cases, workers are to be paid for two hours, but many say they rarely are.

“There seems to be an unfortunate model of subcontracting used to cut costs and really depress the working conditions,” Ms. Su said. “It really reflects the economy moving to this kind of day-labor system in a way that really can destabilize the economy.”

After the state investigation, Warehouse Workers United, a union-backed advocacy group, filed a lawsuit in federal court against the agencies in October, saying workers were “forced to work long hours under oppressive conditions for legally inadequate pay” that was below the state minimum wage of $8 an hour.

The criticism has done little to slow the growth so far. As of now, there are more than 400 million square feet of warehouses and distribution centers spread through the Inland Empire, roughly the amount of office space in Midtown Manhattan. Dozens more large buildings are being built on speculation, with investors confident that companies will eagerly come in.

For higher-skilled jobs, annual salaries do reach into the middle class, with workers bringing in an average of $46,000. In this area, where unemployment reaches above 15 percent in several cities, such jobs are sorely needed.

“Construction is obviously in great trouble, and here is a place where we can just keep adding jobs — it is the only industry adding thousands of jobs,” said John Husing, a local economist who has enthusiastically endorsed the growth of the industry. “You can have people come here and find a robust blue-collar work force eager for employment.”

Workers in the warehouses frequently complain that it is difficult to know who is in charge at the distribution centers, where multiple subcontractors operate in the same building and workers receive different pay depending on which agency they work with, although the jobs are almost identical.

Limber Herrera, 28, has worked in the logistics industry in the area for more than five years. He now makes $12 an hour emptying shipping containers at a distribution center that processes goods for Wal-Mart. These days, his concerns are less about pay than basic safety at work.

“There’s nobody who cares about our health — there’s just pressure to empty cases at a fast pace,” said Mr. Herrera, who is part of a complaint that Warehouse Workers United filed last week with the state. “All the dust we inhale, all the heavy things we have to lift with all our strength and no support, it’s very hard.”

Over all, the warehouse and logistics industry accounts for roughly 10 percent of all jobs in the Inland Empire, more than any other private industry. But some economists have pointed out that earnings vary widely, with the median annual salary around $32,000. And even that figure does not take into account the thousands of workers who are employed by staffing agencies making minimum wage.

Iddo Benzeevi, the chief executive of Highland Fairview, which owns the 1.8-million-square-foot distribution center leased by Skechers, said that he planned to open several more facilities and that warehouses would increasingly rely on more skilled workers to operate computers.

“This is the center for all of the trade in the world,” he said. “You can get to much of the country with a drive of just a few hours.”

The Skechers warehouse is filled with machines that use sophisticated technologies to make basic processes move more quickly and often with little human assistance. Skechers executives said they employed 550 to 800 people in the warehouse depending on the season, but they declined to give any information about the kinds of jobs available and the salaries employees receive.

Some local critics have said the new center has done little to generate new jobs, since many of them were simply moved from six smaller warehouses the company had operated for several years in Ontario, about 20 miles to the west.

"It's attractive because it's something that governments can take advantage of now," said Jordan Levine, the director of economic research at Beacon Economics, a research and consulting firm. "There's no need to have to recruit an educated work-force base or have a lot of strategy around."

INSIDE 1

He added: "All that stuff takes time and money and decades to bear fruit. This is far more expedient."

Ms. Sue Gilchrist
29163 Highland Blvd.
Moreno Valley, CA 92555

Dear Ms. Gilchrist:

Per your request, I facilitated a meeting concerning the use of the City's Equestrian Center for mounted shooting events. In attendance were the City Manager, City Attorney, and the Parks and Community Services Department Director.

In reviewing the City of Moreno Valley's Municipal Code Ordinance 814 and CSD Ordinance 54, it was determined that mounted shooting is a permissible use. The change to the ordinances which made this use allowable was recommended by the Parks and Recreation Commission at a special meeting on June 3, 2010, and subsequently approved by City Council. Additionally, Chapter 11.40.040(E) (2) of the Moreno Valley Municipal Code creates an exemption for activities, such as mounted shooting, to take place at the Moreno Valley Equestrian Center.

Staff will continue to monitor all Equestrian Center uses to ensure that the best interests of our citizens are always a priority. As a team, we will also take under advisement your recommendation that adequate charges are being imposed for the use of this facility, including the possibility of charging for overnight camping.

Staff and I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for being a concerned citizen and actively involved over several years to make Moreno Valley a better place to live. We wish you nothing but the best on your new venture in Atlanta and hope you will keep in touch.

Sincerely,

Tom Owings
Mayor

c: Council Members
City Manager
Parks and Community Services Department Director

MV00227177

Each of you bases decisions on the advice of people paid to be knowledgeable in their areas. There isn't enough time to do your own research on funding, building codes, legal decisions or in this case, on the use of a City park. Three years ago the Moreno Valley City Council made a decision based on faulty and insufficient information from staff at Parks and Recreation. The previous Council agreed it would permit the carrying and firing of .45 caliber handguns at the Equestrian Center and Dog Park. Black powder would be used so liability concerning the shooters or the spectators was not an issue. Your staff was negligent in doing the required study. A responsible Parks Department should:

1. Conduct a sound study using ANSI certified equipment and a trained technician. This would have proved a Municipal Code Violation for impulse sounds. The City should abide by the same laws as its residents.
2. Protect other users of the Park when the shooting was occurring. One user cannot prevent the enjoyment of a public park by another user. ✓
3. Post signage with shooting dates and times on the pvc sign board on Redlands Blvd. Equestrians not willing to expose their horses to the sound of gunfire will drive to the park and turn away. It would be courteous to post a warning. This has never been done by Parks.
4. Look into the sound attenuation of outdoor shooting ranges. No effort was made by Parks to reduce the noise level and suggestions were blissfully ignored.
5. Make revenue a priority if money is needed to keep the park open. This would include revenue sharing from vendors, a charge for overnight camping, and a portion of money from trainers using the park. Not a dime has been collected.
6. Conduct a survey of residents and park users throughout Moreno Valley to see if they would approve of the sound of gunfire in their neighborhoods. What is allowed at one park should be allowed in all parks. Specialty parks such as skateboard, soccer, baseball and equestrian could all have users that would shoot .45 caliber guns with blanks. Our neighborhood should have the same protection as residents near other City parks.
7. Check with local realtors and California State disclosure requirements. When a home in our neighborhood is put up for sale, it is required by state law to disclose the sound of shooting on the sale documents. My guess is that the sound of 2,400 rounds of gunfire for 26 days a year will cause a buyer to look elsewhere. The loss of property value has been estimated by local realtors to be between 10-15%.

I am offended that a non-resident group dressing up like cowboys in a grade B western and shooting guns at balloons can cost me the enjoyment of my property. Their sport should be practiced at a gun range and not in a residential neighborhood.

Mike McCarty has cost me thousands of dollars by not doing the right thing and I hold him personally responsible for not doing the required research or for not using the data and sources I provided. It is one thing to make a mistake that hurts others and another to be so arrogant you cannot correct that mistake.

Prohibit the carrying and firing of guns at City Parks.

Realty Professional,

The City has changed Municipal Code 11.40.040 Section E to allow the carrying of .45 caliber handguns and shooting of blanks at the Moreno Valley Equestrian Center, 11150 Redlands Blvd., approximately 1/4 mile from my residence. The sound is equivalent to live fire and can be heard on the properties south of the arena. Kunzman Associates did a sound study which documents seven (7) City Municipal Code violations. One violation is permitting a use at a public park which produces over 100 impulse sounds in excess of 129 dBA within a 24-hour period. The City has made no effort to mitigate the sound as would be required at a licensed shooting range.

The City has permitted 1,600 rounds during practice and 2,400 rounds per day during competition. This means over 6,000 rounds may be fired during a three day event. A total of 26 days of shooting per year are allowed, so approximately every other weekend the park would be difficult for other equestrians to use.

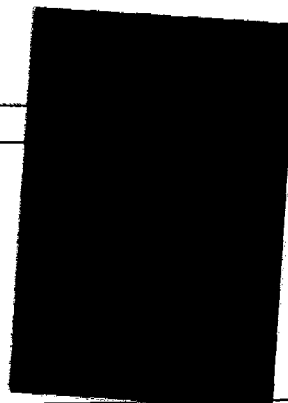

What effect would the sound of gunfire have on the value of my home?

Sincerely,
Susan Gilchrist

Title 11 PEACE, MORALS AND SAFETY
Chapter 11.80 NOISE REGULATION

11.80.050 Measurement or assessment of sound.

A. Measurement With Sound Meter.

1. The measurement of sound shall be made with a sound level meter meeting the standards prescribed by ANSI Section 1.4-1983 (R2006). The instruments shall be maintained in calibration and good working order. A calibration check shall be made of the system at the time of any sound level measurement. Measurements recorded shall be taken so as to provide a proper representation of the source of the sound. The microphone during measurement shall be positioned so as not to create any unnatural enhancement or diminution of the measured sound. A windscreen for the microphone shall be used at all times. However, a violation of this chapter may occur without the occasion of the measurements being made as otherwise provided.

2. The slow meter response of the sound level meter shall be used in order to best determine the average amplitude.

3. The measurement shall be made at any point on the property into which the sound is being transmitted and shall be made at least three feet away from any ground, wall, floor, ceiling, roof and other plane surface.

4. In case of multiple occupancy of a property, the measurement may be made at any point inside the premises to which any complainant has right of legal private occupancy; provided that the measurement shall not be made within three feet of any ground, wall, floor, ceiling, roof or other plane surface.

5. All measurements of sound provided for in this chapter will be made by qualified officials of the city who are designated by the city manager or designee to operate the apparatus used to make the measurements.

B. Assessment Without Sound Level Meter. Any police officer, code enforcement officer, or other official designated by the city manager or designee who hears a noise or sound that is plainly audible, as defined in Section 11.80.020, in violation of this chapter, may enforce this chapter and shall assess the noise or sound according to the following standards:

1. The primary means of detection shall be by means of the official's normal hearing faculties, not artificially enhanced.

2. The official shall first attempt to have a direct line of sight and hearing to the vehicle or real property from which the sound or noise emanates so that the official can readily identify the offending source of the sound or noise and the distance involved. If the official is unable to have a direct line of sight and hearing to the vehicle or real property from which the sound or noise emanates, then the official shall confirm the source of the sound or noise by approaching the suspected vehicle or real property until the official is able to obtain a direct line of sight and hearing, and confirm the source of the sound or noise that was heard at the place of the original assessment of the sound or noise.

3. The official need not be required to identify song titles, artists, or lyrics in order to establish a violation.

Friends of Northern San Jacinto Valley (San Jacinto Wildlife Area – Sierra Club)

Owings, Tom

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF RIVERSIDE

TITLE: FRIENDS OF THE NORTHERN SAN JACINTO VALLEY, et al., v. COUNTY OF RIVERSIDE, et al.	DATE & DEPT: 04/11/12      D10	MASTER NUMBER: RIC10007572  RELATED CASES: RIC10007574 RIC10007586
COUNSEL: NONE	REPORTER: NONE
PROCEEDING: PROPOSED STATEMENT OF DECISION

This is a consolidated matter in which Friends of Northern San Jacinto Valley, Sierra Club, Center for Biological Diversity, San Bernardino Valley Audubon Society, and the City of Riverside all challenge the approval of a project proposed by real party in interest Nuevo Development Company. The Project is the Villages of Lakeview extending over 2,800 acres consisting of 11,350 dwellings, a mixed use town center including some 500,000 square feet of retail, office and commercial uses, public facilities including four schools and a library, and nearly 1,000 acres of open space/conservation areas. Respondent County of Riverside approved the Project and certified the Environmental Impact Report on March 23, 2010. Petitioners filed a joint opening and reply brief. Respondents and real party also filed a joint opposition and will be referred to collectively as "Respondents."

DISCUSSION

I. The EIR failed to adequately evaluate GHG impacts and possible mitigation of these impacts.

Petitioners contend that the County failed to proceed in the manner required by CEQA in that the EIR improperly assessed the significance of the greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions by comparing them to a potentially unrealistic, unreasonable hypothetical scenario rather than to existing conditions as required by CBE vs. SCAQMD (2010) 48 Cal. 4th 310, 322.

Sharon Waters, Judge
L. Hall (cmg), Clerk

Respondents contend they first measured the Project's total GHG emissions against the baseline of existing conditions (zero emissions) to generate the Project's GHG inventory, quantified as 137,637 tons of CO<sub>2</sub>e annually and that this satisfied CEQA's mandate that project impacts be disclosed and compared to the existing physical environment which serves as a baseline for CEQA purposes. Next, the County exercised its discretion by utilizing compliance with AB 32 as the threshold against which to evaluate the impact on GHG, and compared the Project's GHG inventory against a business-as-usual (BAU) scenario to make its impact significance determination. This approach, according to respondents, provided an opportunity to evaluate the Project's emissions reduction strategy. According to respondents, the BAU hypothetical used represents the Project as proposed absent its voluntary design features, GHG reduction commitments and mitigation measures not required by existing mandates. Respondents contend that the analysis was reasonable and supported by substantial evidence in the record.<sup>1</sup>

It is true that agencies can exercise discretion in formulating and establishing thresholds of significance for each potentially adverse environmental effect (Guidelines §15064(b)), and may use performance standards or guidance documents adopted or issued by regulatory agencies as thresholds of significance (§15126.4(a)(1)(B)). It is also true that, at this time, no agency with particular expertise or jurisdiction over the Project's air quality and GHG emissions has established a quantitative or numeric threshold for determining when or to what extent emissions are significant for CEQA purposes in relation to GHG.

<sup>1</sup> In support of their contention that this BAU approach was proper, respondents ask the court to take judicial notice of a decision from a Kern County trial court proceeding and an appellant's opening brief. The request is denied.

Sharon Waters, Judge

Nevertheless, the hypothetical project proposed for the EIR does not accurately reflect business as usual because it uses an unrealistic scenario which ignores local planning and zoning laws, strips all vegetation from the project, and contemplates development on mountainous portions of the project site. In addition, the hypothetical scenario fails to account for the fact that project approval under CEQA contemplates a process whereby the adverse environmental effects of a project of this nature are identified and analyzed; alternatives are considered; and potential impacts are eliminated or mitigated. The hypothetical project, which ignores not only local planning and zoning laws as well as potential adverse impacts, is not one that could ever be expected to actually occur in the County let alone on the project site. It does not appear the EIR used a "business as usual" approach but instead adopted a "worst-case" scenario as it began its evaluation of the GHG emissions.

Respondents' reliance on Citizens for Responsible Equitable Environmental Development v. City of Chula Vista (2011) 197 Cal.App.4th 327 is misplaced. While the Chula Vista case did conclude that compliance with AB 32 was a proper threshold of significance and implicitly approved use of a "business as usual analysis" in assessing the significance of the impact, that case is factually distinguishable. In that case, business as usual was based on the existing store – not some hypothetical scenario like here.

Chula Vista simply does not support respondents' use of a hypothetical "BAU" that has no correlation to baseline conditions or to the project as proposed and is not even based on what could be realistically developed in this area in light of existing zoning and other land use regulations.

As the Supreme Court noted in CBE v. SCAQMD, supra, 48 Cal.4th 310 at p. 322: "An approach using hypothetical allowable conditions as the baseline results in 'illusory' comparisons that 'can only mislead the public as to the reality of the impacts and subvert full consideration of the actual environmental impacts,' a result at direct odds with CEQA's intent. [Internal Citation Omitted.] The District's use of the prior permits' maximum operating levels as a baseline appears to have had that effect here, providing an illusory basis for a finding of no significant adverse effect despite an acknowledged increase in NOx emissions exceeding the District's published significance threshold."

Notwithstanding that the Supreme Court was addressing the issue of baseline conditions whereas here we are discussing a proper BAU model, the concerns expressed in CBE are the same. The use of this hypothetical "BAU" here which is tied neither to existing conditions or reasonably likely conditions serves only to mislead the public and the decision-makers in their understanding of the actual significance of the GHG emissions, and their effect on the environment. Further, because the EIR improperly assessed the significance of GHG emissions, the EIR could not and did not properly analyze and evaluate feasible mitigation for GHG impacts.

II. The County was required to recirculate the EIR.

The Court finds that new information was added after the close of the public comment period that revealed a substantial increase in the severity of environmental impacts.

In response to comments to the DEIR, a transportation analysis was conducted which indicated an increase of 100 million additional vehicle-miles traveled (VMT) per year (50% increase), and PM<sub>2.5</sub> concentrations 300% greater than previously disclosed and 95 times higher than Air District's threshold for determining the significance of impacts. Petitioners contend that an agency is required to recirculate an EIR when it adds significant new information after the public comment period has closed, citing §21092.1 and American Canyon Community vs. City of American Canyon (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1062, 1075-76).

Sharon Waters, Judge

Respondents argue that substantial evidence supports the County's determination that the new information merely clarified, amplified, or made insignificant modifications to the general assumptions that were presented in the draft EIR. According to respondents, the new information did not change the severity of the Project's impacts on global climate changes (GCC) or air quality. They contend that even with the new VMT estimates, the Project would still reduce emissions consistent with AB 32. They conclude that the County's decision not to recirculate was proper, citing Silverado Modjeska Recreation and Parks vs. County of Orange (2011) 197 Cal.App.4th 282.

The Court finds that the new information did constitute a substantial increase in the severity of GCC and air quality impacts which required recirculation. (Guidelines §15088.5; Pub. Res. §21092.1, §21166.) The new analysis which revealed the substantial increase in GHG and fine particulates was conducted after the comment period. This new information did not merely supply additional requested details or merely explain the DEIR's analysis. Instead, the methodology used in connection with the DEIR was discarded. A new, more accurate methodology disclosed air quality impacts more severe than previously disclosed.

In addition, the County's reliance on its BAU hypothetical and analysis fails. The County cannot rely on alleged consistency with AB 32 as discussed above.

Petitioners did not have an adequate opportunity to comment on the newly disclosed impacts. The determination that the increased impacts did not warrant recirculation is not supported by substantial evidence.

III. The EIR did not adequately analyze the project's impacts on air quality and the related health impacts.

The Court finds that there is inadequate analysis in the EIR as to the Project's impacts on air quality and related health effects. In discussing significant environmental impacts, direct and indirect significant effects of the project should be clearly identified and described, giving due consideration to both the short-term and long-term effects on matters including health and safety problems caused by the physical changes. (Guidelines §15126.2(a).) Here, the EIR makes only general references to respiratory and pulmonary conditions and cancer health risks. However, it provides little information or analysis as to the specific impacts on the general population versus sensitive receptors, or as to the degree of impacts and the specific effects on the public's health. When the informational requirements of CEQA are not met, an agency has failed to proceed in a manner required by law. (Bakersfield Citizens for Local Control vs. City of Bakersfield (2004) 124 Cal. App. 4th 1184, 1220).

Sharon Waters, Judge

The County's reliance on the South Coast Air Basin region-wide Air Quality Management Plan does not relieve it of its obligation to provide a reasonable analysis of the Project's cumulative impacts. (Guidelines §15130(b).) Pursuant to Berkeley Keep Jets Over the Bay Committee vs. Bd. of Port Commissioners of the City of Oakland (2001) 91 Cal. App. 4th 1344, 1371, the County is required to use its best efforts to find out and disclose all that it reasonably can. Here, Petitioners provided the County with numerous studies addressing the health effects of particulate pollution, yet County's only response was to discredit one of the reports, and to continue to rely on the SCAQMD methodology. Absent any attempt to use its best efforts to find out and disclose all that it reasonably can, the County failed to meet its obligations.

IV. The EIR failed to conduct an adequate review of the project's impacts on regional traffic.

The Court finds that the EIR failed to conduct adequate environmental review of the Project's impacts on regional traffic. The record establishes that the Project will result in over 85,000 vehicle trips per day, and will add 17,000 new car trips to the I-215 each day. Many of the residents will be driving to Moreno Valley and Riverside via the I-215, and those commuting to Orange and Los Angeles Counties will contribute to the existing problems at the I-15/SR91 interchange.

Sharon Waters, Judge

The EIR failed to analyze the impacts on any of these freeways, and instead restricted its analysis based upon the Riverside County Traffic Impact Analysis Preparation Guide (TIA) and a supplemental analysis. In accordance with the TIA, County studied the area within a five-mile radius of the Project site and conducted a supplemental analysis including 17 additional intersections and 10 additional street segments. An EIR must include a description of the environment in the vicinity of the Project from both a local and regional perspective. (Bozung vs. Local Agency Formation Comm. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d 263, 283; Guidelines §15125.) By failing to analyze the Project impacts on the surrounding freeways, County failed to proceed as required by CEQA.

County also argues that it specifically noted there would be a need for subsequent environmental review related to potential traffic impacts and that significant changes with respect to development of regional transportation systems are expected to occur. CEQA, however, requires that the impacts of a proposed project are to be compared to the actual environmental conditions existing at the time of the analysis. (Sunnyvale West Neighborhood Assn. vs. City of Sunnyvale (2010) 190 Cal. App. 4th 1351, 1380-1384.) The EIR fails to provide any specific analysis as to the impacts of the Project on the existing freeways.

V. The EIR project description was adequate.

The question concerning which acts constitute the "whole of an action" for purposes of Guidelines §15738 is a question of law. (Tuolumne County Citizens for Responsible Growth, Inc. vs. City of Rancho Cordova (2007) 155 Cal. App. 4th 1214, 1224.) As such, it is to be determined by the trial court's independent judgment. In this case, the Court finds that the construction of the electrical substation and transmission lines, as well as the training dike, are not part of the Project.

Sharon Waters, Judge

The EIR does acknowledge that the new electric substation is necessary to the Project: the existing Nuevo substation only has the capacity to meet projected demands through 2012, after which additional substation capacity (and the extension of transmission lines) will be necessary to provide power to support the current and future growth. The construction of the off-site training dike is necessary to significantly reduce flooding within the Project. However, neither the substation nor the dike, are component parts of the Project and there has been no improper segmentation.

There are general principles used to determine whether a particular act is part of the activity that constitutes a CEQA project. One way is to evaluate how closely the related acts are to the overall objective of the project (the relationship being sufficiently close when the proposed act is among the "various steps which taken together obtain an objective"). (Tuolumne, supra, p. 1226.) Another is to consider how closely the act and project are related in time and physical location, and the entity undertaking the action. (Id., at p. 1227.)

In this case, both the substation and dike were planned independently of the Project, and will serve development in addition to the Project. The substation will be built by a separate entity, Southern California Edison to accommodate regional development growth beyond 2012. The dike is part of a previously approved County infrastructure plan to serve regional needs. As such, neither the substation and transmission lines nor the dike are component parts of the Project. (See Anderson First Coalition vs. City of Anderson (2005) 130 Cal. App. 4th 1173.)

VI. The EIR adequately addressed the project's noise impacts.

Petitioners contend that the EIR does not properly account for the already existing noise environment attributable to some of the roadways which will serve the Project. They argue that the EIR improperly uses thresholds of significance to avoid having to confront the possibility that any additional amount of noise might well be significant given the already existing problems. Petitioners contend that the EIR also fails to consider that the Project's incremental noise impacts might be cumulatively considerable. Petitioners conclude that the EIR avoids having to adopt feasible measures to mitigate the Project's contributions to noise.

Sharon Waters, Judge

On the contrary, the EIR acknowledges that because the cumulative noise without the Project is significant, any additional noise contributed by the Project would be significant. The EIR admits that the effect of the Project together with other cumulative impacts will result in significant area-wide cumulative noise impacts. Instead of refusing to examine mitigation for the noise impacts, the EIR considered the use of sound walls to mitigate the significant noise impacts. This mitigation was found not to be feasible, and the EIR concluded that the noise impacts were therefore significant and unavoidable. Petitioners do not dispute the finding that sound walls were not feasible. Nor do they suggest that there were other mitigation measures that could have been considered.

Petitioners also contend that the EIR fails to analyze specific noise impacts resulting from construction of the Project. However, the County was not required to speculate regarding construction activity for project buildup expected to take place over a 20-year period. (See Tracy First v. City of Tracy (2009) 177 Cal.App.4th 912, 932-933.) Instead, given the conceptual level of the Project, the County properly considered construction impacts to the extent possible and identified mitigation measures.

VII. EIR did not adequately address concerns raised with respect to the Habitat Conservation Plan.

CEQA requires the lead agency to respond to each significant environmental issue that is raised by commenters. (Pub. Res. C. §21091(d)(2).) Major environmental issues raised when

Sharon Waters, Judge

the lead agency's position is at variance with recommendations and objections should be addressed in detail with reasons why specific comments and suggestions were not accepted. (Guidelines §15088(c).) Responses to comments should at least demonstrate a good faith reasoned analysis. (Eureka Citizens for Responsible Government v. City of Eureka (2007) 147 Cal.App.4th 357, 378.)

Commenters pointed out that the Project's plan to construct "JJ Street" interferes with so-called "Constrained Linkage 20," a habitat block identified in the MSHCP. The Constrained Linkage allows space for migration, plant propagation, and increased mating opportunities between other habitat blocks. JJ Street will be constructed across the Constrained Linkage and will create another barrier to wildlife attempting to travel between the Wildlife Area and the Lakeview Mountains.

The County's responses to comments first maintained that JJ Street does not actually cross the wildlife corridor. But JJ Street is in fact perpendicular to the linkage and will be constructed directly across it.

The County also took the position that JJ Street should be considered part of the planned Mid-County Parkway, which includes the existing Ramona Expressway. This roadway also crosses the linkage and was already anticipated and contemplated by the MSHCP. Comment responses contend that the culvert/wildlife corridor under the Mid-County Parkway will be extended and will run under JJ Street. Petitioners point out that the MSHCP indicates that small mammals are not known to use culverts longer than 64 meters. With the addition of JJ Street, even if parallel to the Mid-County Parkway, the culvert will be at least 87 meters in length. The MSCHP anticipated a 67-meter wildlife crossing, and extending it an additional 20 meters for JJ Street may make the undercrossing unusable for the species and may compromise the integrity of the Constrained Linkage. The County's analysis failed to address the additional length of the culvert which will be required in order to extend the undercrossing under JJ Street.

VIII. The EIR failed to adequately address the project's growth-inducing impacts.

Petitioners argue that EIR's brief analysis of growth-inducing impacts fails to meet the requirements of Guidelines §15126.2(d). The Project includes improvements to roads, the extension of energy services, and the extension of water lines and sewer services to serve future projects and urbanization. Petitioners further argue that pursuant to Napa Citizens for Honest Government vs. Bd. of Supervisors (2001) 91 Cal. App. 4th 342, 370, the EIR should have disclosed information about the housing units the infrastructure will accommodate, and the effect of the additional growth on public services.

The Court agrees that additional information about the Project's growth-inducing impacts should have been provided and analyzed. Although the County submits that such would be speculative, the record indicates that existing information is available which makes such discussion viable. The County references the expansion of the Ramona Expressway and incremental roadway improvements; the construction of new roads; and water and sewer improvements and infrastructure sized to serve future urbanization within the area. It also references "developing communities," and states how the infrastructure improvements and expansions could eliminate potential constraints for future development in the area. Given the extent of vacant and unimproved land surrounding the Project, the County should have been able to provide additional information and analysis about growth-inducing impacts.

IX. The EIR's Discussion of Project Alternatives was adequate.

Petitioners first argue that the Project's objectives are so narrow that they preclude consideration of a reasonable range of alternatives, citing National Parks & Conservation Assn. vs. Bureau of Land Management (9th Cir. 2010) 606 F.3d 1058, 1072. The Court finds that argument unavailing. While certain Project objectives may be possible due to the existing circumstances (e.g., single ownership and location), the objectives overall reflect the County's goals as evidenced in Chapter 2 of the County's General Plan. This is distinguishable from National Parks, where only one of the four project objectives served the needs of the BLM. (National Parks, supra, at pp.1071-72.)

Sharon Waters, Judge

Petitioners then argue that the EIR improperly failed to analyze an off-site alternative, which is necessary given the significant amendments and zoning changes and the inconsistencies with the General Plan. (Citizens of Goleta Valley vs. Bd. of Supervisors ("Goleta I") (1988) 197 Cal. App. 3d 1167, 1179-80; Guidelines §15126.6.) Again, the Court disagrees and finds that the EIR properly considered and then rejected an alternate site. Guidelines §15126.6 requires the EIR identify alternatives that were considered and rejected as infeasible during the scoping process, and briefly explain the reasons underlying the determination. The factors that may be used to eliminate alternatives from detailed consideration in an EIR are failure to meet most of the project objectives, infeasibility, or inability to avoid significant environmental impacts. (§15126.6(c).) Here, the County included such discussion at AR 3403-04. The Court finds that discussion sufficient and distinguishable from that in Goleta I, supra.

X. The Project is inconsistent with the General Plan Circulation Element.

Petitioners argue that the Project is inconsistent with various General Plan policies: Land Use (L.U.) Policy 2.1(e) (to concentrate growth near or within existing urban and suburban areas to maintain the rural and open space character to the greatest extent possible); L.U. Policy 17.3 (to ensure development does not adversely impact the open space & rural character of the surrounding area); L.U. Policy 10.1 (to provide sufficient opportunities to increase local employment levels and minimize long-distance commuting); L.U. Policy 7.12 (to improve the relationship and ratio between jobs and housing); L.U. Policy 2.1(a) (to provide a land use mix at the countywide and area plan levels based on projected need); and Air Quality Policy 8.2 (to emphasize job creation and reductions in VMTs in job poor areas to improve air quality. Petitioners also contend the project is inconsistent with General Plan Circulation Element 2.1 which requires the County to maintain target Levels of Service: LOS "C" along all County-maintained roads and conventional state highways.

Sharon Waters, Judge

The question is whether the Project is compatible with and will not frustrate the General Plan's goals and policies. (Napa Citizens for Honest Government vs. Napa County Board of Supervisors (2001) 91 Cal. App. 4th 342, 379.) If the Project will frustrate the General Plan's goals and policies, it is inconsistent with the General Plan unless it also includes definite affirmative commitments to mitigate the adverse effect or effects. (Id.)

Here, the record establishes that the Project will frustrate the General Plan's policy of maintaining the County's Level of Service standards as described in the General Plan Circulation Element. The EIR admits that at full build-out of both the current General Plan roadway system and the Project, some roadway segments and intersections will not meet the required standards. The General Plan Circulation Element establishes definite standards regarding traffic congestion, not mere guidelines or flexible goals. The County cannot establish specific traffic requirements and at the same time approve a project that will cause unacceptable congestion without taking affirmative steps to handle that increased congestion. (Napa Citizens, supra, 91 Cal.App.4th, at p. 380; Endangered Habitats League v. County of Orange (2005) 131 Cal.App.4th 777, 782-783.) No such affirmative steps or mitigation measures have been developed. This is particularly unacceptable given the improper/inadequate analysis concerning traffic impacts from the Project discussed previously.

Sharon Waters, Judge

Otherwise, the Court accepts the Board's findings of consistency as being supported by substantial evidence despite some inconsistency with a handful of land use policies articulated in the General Plan. A given project need not be in conformity with each and every land use policy. It need only be compatible with the objectives, general land uses and programs set forth in the General Plan. (Families Unafraid To Uphold Rural El Dorado County v. Board of Supervisors (1988) 62 Cal.App.4th 1332, 1336.) The County's determination of consistency with its own General Plan is entitled to great deference. It has the unique competence to balance the plan's policies when applying them and has the broad discretion to construe its policies in light of the plan's purposes. (See Eureka Citizens for Responsible Government v. City of Eureka (2007) 147 Cal.App.4th 357, 373-374.)

XI. One of the County's findings in support of the extraordinary amendment to the general plan is inadequate.

The County's General Plan discourages amendments to the foundational elements of the Plan outside of the County's regular five-year amendment cycle. Foundational elements may not be amended outside of the five-year cycle unless specific findings are made that the amendment is justified as a result of extraordinary events. This "Extraordinary Amendment" procedure requires three particular findings to justify an Extraordinary Amendment. (General Plan, Ch. 10 at A-12; Riv. Co. Code §17.08.060(F)). These findings were necessary here because the Project included General Plan Amendment 720 which raised development densities in connections with existing foundational elements. As discussed below, the Court finds the second and third required findings were sufficient and are supported by substantial evidence.

The second required finding to support an extraordinary amendment is that a condition exists or an event has occurred that is "unusually compelling." The County's finding regarding the unusually compelling event cites "an opportunity that is presented by having 2,786 acres under the control of one entity...to pursue a comprehensive master plan.” This finding is sufficient and is supported by substantial evidence.

The third required finding is that a component change is necessary to facilitate implementation of open space or transportation corridor designations arising from MSHCP and CETAP programs that could not be accomplished by a lesser change in the General Plan. The County supports this finding with the real party’s commitment to widen the Ramona Expressway, the fact that real party has much of the land necessary for the expansion without the County having to condemn it, and the fact that the Project’s circulation system is designed to align with planned access points for the Expressway obviating the need for a frontage road. This third finding is sufficient and is supported by substantial evidence.

The first required finding is that new conditions or circumstances justify modifying the General plan, that the modifications do not conflict with the overall County Vision, and that the modifications would not create an internal inconsistency among the elements of the General plan. Unlike the second and third findings discussed above, when the board made this required finding it did so merely by quoting the language in the extraordinary amendment procedure. The “new conditions or circumstances” are not defined and there is no indication as to what evidence the board relied on to support this finding.

To be adequate, a finding must apprise the reviewing court of the basis for the board’s actions. In other words, the finding must “bridge the analytic gap between the raw evidence and the ultimate decision or order.” (Topanga Assn. for a Scenic Community vs. County of Los Angeles (1974) 11 Cal. 3d 506, 514.) It is not the responsibility of the reviewing court to comb the record to find some evidence that might have supported the board’s finding. (Id., at p. 516.) Here, because the board merely quoted the language of the required finding, this Court does not know and cannot determine the basis for the county's decision. This first finding is not sufficient.

CONCLUSION

Pursuant to California Rules of Court rule 3.1590(c), this tentative decision is the Court's proposed statement of decision with respect to the petitions for writ of mandate filed in RIC10007572, RIC10007574 and RIC10007586 subject to any party's objection under rule 3.1590(g). If timely objections are not filed and served within 15 days of service of this statement of decision, petitioners in RIC10007572 and RIC10007574 are hereby ordered to prepare, serve and submit proposed judgments and peremptory writs of mandate. In RIC10007586, this proposed statement of decision addressed only the first and second causes of action. Unless the City wishes to dismiss its third and fourth causes of action for declaratory relief and injunctive relief, respectively, a final judgment cannot be entered in that case at this time.

A hearing for receipt of proposed judgment in RIC10007572 and RIC10007574 and for status conference on the City's remaining causes of action in RIC10007586 is hereby set for April 30, 2012, at 8:30 a.m., in Dept. 10.

Re: Notice of Preparation of Draft Environmental Impact Report (DEIR) for the First Inland Logistics Center II (Plot Plan PA12-0023)

Dear Ms Descoteaux,

The Sierra Club appreciates this opportunity to give a few thoughts on another Moreno Valley warehouse. There will be several links and attachments, which will be part of this letter. We will expect these to be printed in full in the Draft EIR/Final EIR to allow the public and decision makers the opportunity to read them. I have been asking for more than one year that all of these documents be also done in Spanish. Based on the 2010 census Moreno Valley has 55% Latino population with about 25% speaking a foreign language.

The First Inland Logistics Center II warehouse is smaller than many the City has recently approved, but will still have negative impacts in several areas. The Project is less than five miles from SR 60 and the Sierra Club will expect you to analyze the cumulative impacts of this project with all others that have been approved, or in the planning process or it is foreseeable that the project will be go through planning. This specifically means that you include the World Logistic Center (WLC) and the West Ridge Commerce Center and the ProLogis Eucalyptus Industrial Park as wells as all those projects in southwest Moreno Valley, within the March Air Reserve Base area and the Cities of Perris and eastern Riverside. They will all impact SR-60 as they head east through the badlands. This project just adds to this cumulative impact to our road system and the DEIR will be inadequate unless it includes all of these projects not only in traffic, but air quality, Green House Gas and many other areas that should be addressed in this project's environmental documents. The City has a practice of selecting a distance for traffic studies, which if it does not include another project like the WLC then there is no addressing their combined traffic or other impacts. The City needs to study the distances from all warehouses and other land uses so it looks like a series of Venn Diagrams. Therefore if you study traffic within five miles of this project, you must also study the overlap from five miles of the WLC as well as all others. As I have mentioned on previous warehouse projects the City needs to read the Court's Statement of Decision (see additional attachments) from the Villages of Lakeview litigation and learn that five miles is not nearly enough distance to sturdy cumulative traffic impacts as well as related impacts like air quality.

The diesel trucks, which AQMD (see additional attachments) has been trying to educate the City of Moreno Valley about their cumulative lethal toxic emissions, need to be regulated either through conditions of approval or incentives.

The Press-Enterprise article about this explains much of our concerns about our City not paying attention to AQMD, which is only trying to protect our health.

<http://www.pe.com/local-news/topics/topics-environment-headlines/20121221-moreno-valley-air-district-raps-warehouse-plans.ece> as does their Editorial which follows:

<http://www.pe.com/opinion/editorials-headlines/20130106-editorial-restrict-air-pollution-from-moreno-valley-warehouses.ece>

The Sierra Club expects the recommendations (see additional attachments) expressed by AQMD on the last four warehouse projects to be implemented on the First Inland Logistic Center II warehouse project. Perhaps if the City will not do this for the health of the area residents, they will in order to not jeopardize billions of dollars in federal funding for highways and other infrastructure as mentioned in the following article on new EPA soot standards:

<http://www.pe.com/local-news/topics/topics-environment-headlines/20121214-region-tougher-pollution-standard-set-for-deadly-soot.ece>

AQMD explained in their letters on other Moreno Valley warehouse projects that they were willing to sit down and work with the City's staff to make their recommendations a reality as has been done in other jurisdictions. The Sierra Club looks forward to the City following-up on their offer.

The Sierra club will expect you to include Biological Resources in the Draft EIR. You have the smooth tarplant, a special status plant as well good habitat for Burrowing Owls, a California Species of Special Concern. You mention raptor foraging is available on site and you also mentioned that a California horned lark, a California Species of Special Concern, was observed on site. Our valley is known throughout the United States as well as parts of the world as a place, which is home to over twenty species raptors at various times of the year. The City's approval of these projects is cumulatively having a significant impact on their foraging opportunities.

Agricultural Resources are being diminished by this project. Farmlands of Local importance cannot just be written off without some mitigation. It goes together with raptor foraging. If you mitigate one, you would probably mitigate the other. No Local Farm Land = No Local Food. When we eliminate lands good for local food/grazing we are increasing Global warming and Green House Gas (GHG) as we increasingly need to import food into our area, which in some cases could have been grown locally. The cumulative impacts to the loss of Agricultural Resources needs to be addressed in the DEIR and its impact on GHG/Global warming.

The Sierra Club believes this warehouse project and all other warehouse projects must include an analysis of Hazards and Hazardous Materials in the Draft EIR because of the toxic diesel emissions. The Initial Study mentions that the proposed project has no potential to emit hazardous emissions "within one-quarter mile of an existing school." It doesn't say that it will not emit hazardous emissions to the workers or the nearby residents. Reread the above link to the article on EPA's new soot standards. This pollution affects asthma and strokes and the research links the fine particles to depression and slow thinking. "It causes about 5,000 premature deaths per year in Southern California alone, according to the state Air Resources Board." The Draft EIR needs to explain how the project will affect the warehouse workers who will be breathing in toxic diesel emissions their entire work day.

Both Planning Commissioners have committed recently that the design of warehouses coming before them are lacking. This project fits the mold of what has usually come before. The proponents of this project would be wise to upgrade the design and materials and landscaping they plan to present to the City's decision makers.

The email in which this letter is attached will have other attachments that are part of the Sierra Club's comments on this NOP for the First Inland Logistic Center II warehouse project. We look forward to reading the Draft EIR for this project and hope what we have written above will be reflected in the document. Please keep us notified of all future meetings, reports and environmental documents for this project by sending the information to the address below my name.

Subject: Update on Sunnymead Boulevard initiative

Good afternoon Colonel McCoy. We want to make sure we keep in touch with you regarding the businesses on Sunnymead Boulevard, including the hotels of course. Mayor Owings and District 1 Council Member Jesse Molina will be visiting the businesses on Sunnymead Boulevard next week to speak with the business owners and discuss issues that are impacting their activities. We are also scheduling a business community outreach meeting to provide the business owners with a chance to meet with staff from several departments including the City Manager's Office, Police, Code Enforcement, Building & Safety, Fire, and Planning. This is all part of a greater effort to improve the environment of this major thoroughfare in Moreno Valley to the betterment of the businesses and residents. We will keep you apprised of our progress in this shared effort.

As always, thanks so much for your cooperation and assistance,

SUBJECT: Request For Information RE: March RAFB Contract with MV Motel and Hotel Owners

Michelle,

Thank you for your time and your guidance during our meeting with the Police Chief and Councilman Molina last week. I was very impressed and encouraged by the Chief's level of commitment and his proactive approach regarding the matter. Please extend my sincere thanks to him for taking time to discuss the matter.

Subsequent to our meeting, I had a meeting with Maria and Johnson Lin, owners of the Best Western and I would like to share with you and the Chief our discussion sometime next week.

With the Lin's current level of capital investment (approximately $6M) and the further reduction in the already low occupancy rate as a result of the Air Force's action, it hard to see how they can remain in business.

Best Western's rate is down to 25% in November. This hotel alone employees 24 employees and if other area motels are in the same state as Best Western nearly 100 jobs could be lost and thousands of tax dollars migrate to Riverside. The La Quinta Inn and the Holiday Express Inn have undergone extensive renovation and capital investment and it hard to see how they cannot be in the same position assuming their occupancy is also suffering.

While the Ayres and Hampton Inn may be benefiting now from the AF's action the question should be: Without proactive action by the City, how long will it be before the same elements find their way to their doors? This problem is not just about a single motel owner this problem is an industry wide problems and potentially could affect all hotels and motels in our City. It is question of personal safety and reflects on our City's image of a safe City.

What is clear is that MV hotels and motels are not all equal. The chart below indicates the current online reviews and I have included any "safety" related comments by customers. I am sure these are not all the comments available.

This place is the worst!! front desk people are not so friendly, the room smells like bleach, we had to change our room because the lock on the door was not working (in a place where there are a lot of drug fiends) the parking lot is terrible no parking spaces, you can hear people slamming their doors and people talking outside... we had a terrible terrible time.

Jan 16, 2012 Reddredd

There was a party in a bottom floor guest room that flooded into the parking lot. They were loud, playing their car stereos and yelling in front of the other rooms. The hotel staff didn't do anything to resolve this until fights were breaking out and they were screaming about shooting one another and what gang they're from. The police broke up the party but several of them came back and continued to be loud and hanging out in the parking lot until 3am. When we complained the next morning they said it was a regular occurrence!

Terrible - 3

Sep 24, 2012 flyermontana, Perrysburg, OH | Trip type: Solo travel

An absolutely horrifying experience. I was woken up at 3:30 a.m. by loud banging on my door. I didn't see anyone through the window so I poked my head out the door and saw two tall, muscular woman who were dressed like prostitutes striding toward me. One of them demanded to know if "Steven" was in my room. I said no but before I could close the door she tried to force her way into my room. I was terrified and just barely managed to get the door shut and lock it on them. They continued to yell and bang on my door for quite a while. I called the front desk right away and the woman there said she would call the police. However, as far as I know, the police never came. (The next day she said that they did not come.) I felt extremely unsafe for the rest of the night and really did not sleep at all. Loud voices had me incredibly anxious and the experience of being practically assaulted in my motel room was not something I expected from my stay.

9. Travelers Inn $

23120 Sunnymead Blvd

Moreno Valley, CA 92553

Extremely rude staff, filthy rooms with zeros amenities. I would not recommend this hotel to anyone. The bullet proof glass at the reception desk should tell you what kind of clients this place is used to dealing with. If you have kids definitely stay away, very unsafe

My son and his girlfriend stayed there for a week starting on new years eve day. Out of the week that they paid for, they stayed there 4 nights. The room smelled of cigarettes and pot (that was being smoked outside). There were loud parties and fights regularly. My son and his girlfriend were too afraid to call and complain because of the paper thin walls. I have tried repeatedly to get a hold of the manager, but that is impossible. Someone keeps answering the phone and giving a name of Josh or Jack. The managers name has also changed 3 different times (Josh, Jack and now Tony). Don't stay here. I would rather stay in the parking lot of the Chuck E Cheese next door. Let's see if the manger contacts me now!!!!

In order to make the right in initial analysis we will need, if possible, to do the following:

1. Schedule meetings with Councilman Baca, yourself, me if possible and the Chief to discuss the concern and the potential loss of City revenue and job loss if this problem is not addressed.
2. Gather relevant Crime statistics for all the hotels and motels below for the last 12 months (the report the Chief used only had 3 motels and they did not include the interesting ones). Maybe the others were never on the AF's list, however, they must be considered because what goes on there might be affecting their neighbors.
3. Gather occupancy rate statistics for the period August 2011 – November 2011 from all hotels & motels
4. Gather YOY occupancy rate statistics for the same period during 2012 for all hotels & motels
5. Gather the names of all private security companies employed by the hotels; Best Western has hired Progressive Security (951) 909-8156. Set up interviews with you and the Police Chief as method of fact finding.
6. We should draft a letter to AF to solicit a written response from them about what is happening, who is effected, how long will their contracts be suspended and what if anything can the City and/or the Motels & Hotels do to get deserving motels back in the rotation.
7. We should ask the Police Chief to give us a tentative plan to deal with the "Bad Players" and his plan to give any needed additional security to Hotels and Motels like the Ayres, Hampton Inn, Best Western, La Quinta, Hampton Inn and Holiday Inn. Also, what enforcement efforts he will make to ensure that all rules, regulations, and ordinances concerning motels, hotels and attractive nuisances are being followed.
8. Code enforcement should be required to give an action plan to make sure all city codes are being met by all hotels and motels in the affected area.
9. Finally, we should survey every Motel & Hotel to determine what security or other measures the City can do to improve business conditions for them, i.e., Best Western wanted a more secure fence adjacent the freeway.

Thanks again and I look forward to working with you in the future on this issue and please feel free to call me at time if you have questions or concerns.

As always,

Tom Owings

Ms. Chang stated she is the owner of the Comfort Inn on Sunnymead Blvd. Ms. Chang stated March ARB has cancelled all their reservations with them, the Holiday Inn Express, and she thinks the Best Western. She stated March also cancelled all of next years' reservations with them. She stated this will hurt the hotels on Sunnymead Blvd., and the revenue Moreno Valley gets from the hotels. Ms. Chang stated March did not tell them why they cancelled, but she feels it is because they feel as though the hotels aren't safe in their area. She stated she would like to talk to you as soon as possible.

Owings, Tom

2011 Riverside County State of Education Address

Riverside County Superintendent of Schools

Kenneth M. Young

Riverside Convention Center

February 17, 2011

It seems that we are constantly hearing two conflicting messages about our public schools today; they are either failing, or they are doing exceptionally well with little mention of those in between, and much of the attention being focused on those deemed as failures. Typically, there is negligible context provided for either message.

In the 1950's and 60's, Cold War rivalry between the United States and the former Soviet Union focused on attaining firsts in space exploration. This was viewed as a critical development for national security and symbolic of technological and ideological superiority. The seeds for the Space Race were planted at the end of World War II when both the Soviets and the U.S. captured advanced German rocket technology. The race sparked unprecedented increases in scientific advancements and led to numerous spin-off industries and technologies.

In President Obama's recent State of the Union message he noted that "Half a century ago, when the Soviets beat us into space with the launch of a satellite called Sputnik, we had no idea how we would beat them to the moon. The science was not even there yet and NASA did not exist. But after investing in better research and education, we did not just surpass the Soviets; we unleashed a wave of innovation that created new industries and millions of new jobs. This is our generation's Sputnik moment. Maintaining our leadership in research and technology is crucial to America's success. But if we want to win the future if we want innovation to produce jobs in America, rather than overseas we have to win the race to educate our kids."

With the Space Race, we knew who the competition was. World War II was still a fresh memory. We could easily imagine what would happen to the United States if we lost the Race. We certainly knew what the goal was and our nation rallied to the cause. If I stood here all day, there would not be enough time to tell you of the industries and modern technologies that came out of that period. But the microwave, the Internet and the cell phone are just three examples.

In 2009, the U.S. Department of Education introduced an initiative called Race to the Top, named after the Space Race. The initiative provided funds through the American Reinvestment and Recovery Act intended to reform our nation's public schools. The President is pushing to get many Race to the Top elements embedded permanently into law through the reauthorization of the 1964 Elementary and Secondary Education Act now before Congress. Regrettably, politics surrounding the promotion of Race to the Top make it appear as though all of the country's public schools were failing—waiting for someone or something to come in and "rescue them."

Last year, a documentary produced by David Guggenheim was released entitled "Waiting for Superman", capitalizing on that premise. He also produced "An Inconvenient Truth", the award winning documentary on global warming. But Waiting for Superman is not quite so global. It focuses on the plight of five families living in poverty, trying to help their children receive the best education possible. Unfortunately, the documentary depicts all public schools in America as failures and charter schools as the only viable solution. These types of hasty generalizations help to perpetuate misperceptions about our schools today.

The assumption that all charter schools are automatically higher performing than their public school counterparts is a myth which has grown to legendary proportions. The Center for Research on Educational Outcomes at Stanford University published the results of a study conducted in 16 states showing that charter schools and public schools actually perform about the same, with charters faring better 17% of the time and falling behind 35%.

I fully support the idea that parents should have options for the education of their children, and charter schools are viable options in many cases. But taking isolated results from an education system encumbered with an education code thicker than the dictionary and restrained by extensive labor law, and comparing it to a discriminate system that operates independent of either of those two elements in an attempt to discredit public education, is misleading.

Having spent over 20 years in the private sector, I am a believer that competition forces improvement. But, I also believe we have to compare apples to apples when trying to understand competitive performance data. I was reminded of this recently when U.S. Secretary of Education Arne Duncan labeled the international PISA scores released in December a "massive wake-up call" because they show American students holding relatively steady in the middle of the 34 industrialized countries taking the exam.

The Program for International Student Assessment, or PISA, is a collection of assessments that focuses on 15-year-old students' capabilities in reading, math, science and general competencies.

PISA is coordinated by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, an international agency. The PISA assessments are administered every 3 years, and include all three subjects, but assess only one of the subjects in-depth during each cycle. The most recent PISA focused on reading literacy. This age was considered to be representative of students' general accumulated educational attainment near the end of their compulsory education. Here is a sampling of the results. American students ranked in the middle of the 34 countries. China participated with four major city groupings. Of those, Shanghai had the highest score at 556. The highest score for an entire country was South Korea at 539. Mexico was on the other end at 425. The US came in 14th with a score of 500.

2009 PISA Results
Country	Score
1. South Korea	539
2. Finland	536
5. Japan	520
14. United States	500
20. United Kingdom	494
29. Israel	474
34. Mexico	425

But when you take comparable published international poverty rates and overlay them with the PISA results the picture looks very different. Finland had the 2nd lowest published poverty rate and a PISA score of 536, 2nd highest. The U.S. had a poverty rate of 21% the highest PISA score to published poverty ratio of any of the 34 countries! This should be front-page news for the Wall Street Journal! (Read more about poverty and public schools from the National Association of Secondary School Principals' The Principal Difference: http://nasspblogs.org/principaldifference/2010/12/pisa\_its\_poverty\_not\_stupid\_1.html)

2009 PISA Results

Country	Poverty	Score
1. United States	21.7%	500
2. New Zealand	16.3%	521
5. Portugal	15.7%	486
14. Germany	10.9%	497
20. Belgium	6.7%	503
22. Finland	3.4%	536

When we look at a map of the Poverty Indexes for the United States, with rare exception, you will see a direct correlation between low student academic outcomes and high degrees of poverty. And the inverse is also true. The darker the color on the map, the higher the level of poverty. When President Johnson declared the War on Poverty in 1964 the national poverty rate using an absolute value was around 19%. That rate has changed very little over the intervening 47 years and the U.S. population has increased by more than 123 million!

Now, let's bring what we see with the PISA scores down to the level of the schools in our county.

Van Buren Elementary School in the Desert Sands Unified School District has a poverty rate of 94% and 49% of their students are learning to speak the English language. When the California student Academic Performance Index, which looks at student scores in English, math, science and social studies, was first implemented in 1999 Van Buren's API score was 377 out of a possible 1,000. Today, their score is 840 a 463 point increase!

John Kelley Elementary in Coachella Valley Unified has a poverty rate of 100%, 71% of their students are English learners and 20% of their students have disabilities. Their API score climbed from 353 to 753, a 400 point increase. Edgemont Elementary in Moreno Valley Unified has 99% poverty, 62% English learners, and increased their school's API by 366 points. Manuel Real Elementary in Val Verde has 90% poverty, 60% English learners and their student academic achievement increased 363 points and Arlanza Elementary in Alvord increased 342 points with 94% poverty and 79% English learners.

Riverside County High Poverty-High Performing Schools

School	Poverty	EL	1999	2010	Increase
			API	API
Van Buren	94%	49%	377	840	463 points
John Kelley	100%	71%	353	753	400 points
Edgemont	99%	62%	396	762	366 points
Manuel Real	90%	60%	440	803	363 points
Arlanza	94%	79%	391	733	342 points

We also have comparable results in middle and high schools across the county. I could go on and on, but I think you get the idea. So let's be careful not to characterize all public schools as failures.

In 1980, there were approximately 4.1 million students in California's public school system. By 2009, that number had grown to over 6.2 million. That's a 2.1 million increase 52%.

California Student Enrollment

- 2009    6,252,000 students enrolled in California's public schools

California is educating 2 million more students— a 52% increase

In 1980, Riverside County had 115,000 students. As of 2010, that number has grown to over 431,000 a 316,000 or 275% increase.

- 2010    431,373 students enrolled in Riverside County's public schools

In 1999, the first statewide average school API score was 631. In 2010, that number has grown to 771, a 140 point increase. Over that same period Riverside County's API score went from 591 to 767, a 176 point gain, the 2nd highest in the state!

In 1999, 31% of the schools in the state were in the top 30% on the state's API scoring system. By 2009, that number has increased to 77%.

Please join me in congratulating our students, our schools and our school districts for these outstanding academic results on our state's assessments!

Our county's student demographics continue to change each year. Our Hispanic and Latino student enrollment depicted by the blue line on the chart has increased by 14% since 1999 and now makes up approximately 58% of our county's total enrollment. Our white student population, shown in the red, has declined by almost 20% since 1999, today comprising about 24% of the total. African-American students account for roughly 7%, and our Asian student population is close to 3%—both holding fairly level. Our remaining students are comprised of a handful of other nationalities.

When we look at our county's students, it is important that we also think of preschool age children, or Pre-K. Pre-K is a term we use to identify efforts to get young children ready for Kindergarten. In the education community we tend to think of this as pre-school, and it is, but Pre-K also begins at home. Parents and caregivers have the primary responsibility to learn what will be expected of their children when they enter public schools and then help them to meet those expectations. We also recognize that in varying degrees and for a variety of reasons, some parents and caregivers are unable to fulfill this important responsibility. Our public schools, along with our county office of education, provide a significant outreach and support in this area.

With over 42,000 four-year old children in Riverside County, high quality Pre-k educational programs like the Head Start grouping, State Preschool as well as a number of private preschools are typically operating at maximum capacity with a waiting list. This places more and more students at risk of coming into the public school system ill-prepared for kindergarten. The advantages of early childhood education are substantial to the quality of life these youngsters will enjoy.

Speaking of this young age group, I would like to highlight one of the most outstanding teachers who has ever taught in public education. Her name is Ruth Prystash, and she is a Special Education Teacher of autistic preschool-age students for the Riverside County Office of Education. Her talents, abilities, and vision have served as a foundation for the high quality autism programs that Riverside County has become known for. Her life is a testament to her beliefs in assisting special needs students. Roughly 30% of the students from her classes end up attending regular education kindergarten, an unheard of statistic across the nation. Last year, Ruth was selected as a Teacher of the Year for the Riverside County Office of Education. She was also selected as one of three Riverside County Teachers of the Year. Teachers of the Year from each of California's 58 counties then competed for the five State Teacher of the Year honors. Ruth was selected as one of 12 State semi-finalists from across the state by the California Department of Education.

Since 1999, state and federal accountability have become the primary lenses that much of the education community uses to view our schools. When all of the students in all of the schools in a school district are unable to meet all of the federal No Child Left Behind academic targets, the district is identified as being in Program Improvement, a label no school district wants. In 2007, the Romoland School District received this distinction. After prolonged, diligent effort, they recently received official word that all of their students met all of those targets for two years in a row and they are no longer considered a PI district. To many of you this may not seem like a big deal but it is, to our school districts it is a really big deal.

While the education community has its eye on state and federal accountability systems, for the most part, that's not how the outside world tends to view student success. What we keep hearing over and over again from our stakeholders has to do with educational outcomes. They ask questions like; What percentage of our students are graduating from high school?, How are they doing in their college-prep classes?, How are they scoring on the SAT and ACT tests?, and, are students getting the trade skills or technical education they need to prepare them for the workforce? In summary, the outside world is most interested in educational outcomes that have relevance to the world the students will enter when they leave school. To our stakeholders, high school graduation is number one, linked with college preparedness and workforce or career readiness.

As we continually strive to meet state and federal compliance requirements, our larger emphasis must be on these three long-term outcomes that have life-long relevance to students, parents and communities. They help everyone to realize a higher quality of life. This should provide the overarching strategic objective for all of our efforts in preschool, in elementary school and in secondary grades.

Of the 58 counties in California, 16 have a student enrollment between 80,000 and 1.6 million. These 16 counties are used for comparison and statewide ranking for the educational results of Riverside County's students. As we look at available data for our county's results in this triad we see that our county's high school graduation rate in the blue dropped by 1/2 % last year to 80%. That puts us 6th out of our 16 comparison counties, up from 8th last year.

It may seem odd that we dropped 1/2 of a percentage point in the rate but still moved up to 6th place. There appears to be a statewide data problem this year as the California Department of Education implemented new software for tracking dropout rates that are a component of the graduation rates. You will note in the yellow that the statewide high school graduation rate actually dropped 1.6%. Our long-term goal is to have the highest graduation rate of our comparable counties, but we don't want to get there by going down-hill slower than the rest!

In 2010, Riverside County had approximately 25,400 high school graduates. Of those, about 29.4% completed the course requirements for entrance to a California public university. In this area our students are ranked 9th in the state.

Unfortunately, this follows a trend noticed in many parts of the state, causing the statewide average to fall 7.7%. Early indications are the economy as well as tuition rates and school capacities are impacting college enrollment. But college is an important option for students. It opens the door to many careers. Our long-term goal is to be in the top five in the state in this area.

I want to take a minute and highlight two of the outstanding efforts taking place around the county to prepare students for college. In our region, the college-going rate has historically lagged behind the rest of the state. It is important that our youth think of college not just as something that is possible, but as something that will be part of their future.

In 2004, the No Excuses University program was launched in San Diego County to help schools create an early expectation of college among all students and their parents, even kindergartners. In 2006, TurnAround Schools was formed to provide the training and support necessary to successfully implement the No Excuses U program.

Parent involvement is a key element of the program. But the most recognizable feature is the look of the schools. They adopt colleges and prominently hang college banners around school grounds. Elementary students come to school in college t-shirts and shout college chants together. Sometimes they invite a guest speaker from the alumni of their college. It is all designed to foster the expectation that college is just part of the natural progression of their education.

To date, 96 schools in 15 states have undergone training and joined the No Excuses U network. 10 schools in Riverside County are now No Excuses University schools. TurnAround Schools will be conducting a two-day training institute in the desert region of the county this summer to help strengthen the program.

Arguably, the single most effective strategy to get students graduated from high school and degreed in college is known as Advancement Via Individual Determination, or AVID. AVID targets students who are capable of completing more rigorous curriculum but are falling short of their potential. Often, they'll be the first in their families to attend college, and many are from low-income or minority homes. It takes these students out of their unchallenging courses and puts them on a college-bound pathway and helps them stay on it.

In an age like this, when countries half-way around the globe are providing the factory jobs that once sustained America's working class, and when businesses and industry are so heavily dependent on emerging and futuristic technology, what could be more important than ensuring today's students get a solid and well-rounded education? Success in a global society demands a renewed commitment to higher educational goals, and an earlier commitment.

When students are in AVID in middle school, they have an unmatched success rate: 99.5% will graduate from high school and 87% will be accepted to a four-year university when they graduate. I commend those school districts that have extended the AVID program from high school down into their middle schools. Particular recognition goes to those middle school programs that have won AVID National Model Demonstration School standing. Those include Arizona Middle School in the Alvord School District, John Glenn Middle in Desert Sands Unified, Diamond Valley in Hemet and both Earhart and Sierra Middle Schools in Riverside Unified. These middle schools join the seven Riverside County high schools that are AVID National Model Demonstration Schools as well, with special mention of Ramona High in Riverside Unified, the largest and most successful AVID program in the country. Not that these two initiatives are the end all, but I am confident that when school districts create a K-12 system of college continuum utilizing proven approaches like No Excuses U and AVID, the results will be absolutely extraordinary.

The third outcome area is workforce readiness. Career Technical Education and ROP classes are a great asset to both college and non-college bound students. Those intending to go directly into postsecondary education out of high school will benefit from having some career-ready training under their belt. We also acknowledge that over 60% of our high school graduates are not currently going on to postsecondary education. We want them to have the best employment opportunities possible so they can become self-reliant, contributing members of society. Studies show that CTE and ROP classes help students stay engaged in school, graduate on time, and prepares them with the fundamental skills they will need to be successful in the workforce, whether they go to college or not.

Over 72,600 high school students take CTE and ROP classes each semester in Riverside County. Of those, approximately 18½% complete the sequence of classes necessary to become certified as work ready. Our students are ranked 4th in the state in this area. 4th is not bad, but 18½% leaves a lot of room for improvement. Our long-term goal for our students in this area is to be among the top counties in the state.

The CTE and ROP leadership of the Riverside County Office of Education have been working with the county's Workforce Investment Board to develop meaningful workforce preparation criteria in order to receive a special level of industry certification, certification that, along with their high school diploma, will enable them to have a hiring advantage over other job applicants who otherwise would be their equals. This new certification of work readiness, through the efforts of the Workforce Investment Board and the County Office of Education, will be issued to students completing the requirements at the end of the current school year. We realize the new certification needs private and public sector acknowledgement and acceptance to be of full value to recipients. Having the Workforce Investment Board backing is a big plus, and a major effort to realize that objective will continue across the county.

The economic downturn has pressed many Americans to keep working when once they might have retired. Beyond that, there are the separate pressures to have more American workers stay on the job until age 68 to relieve the strain on the Social Security Trust Fund. The American workforce is already changing under these metamorphic pressures. The U.S. Department of Labor reports that 28 million people in our workforce are now 55 or older. That is 17% of the work force, the most ever. Meanwhile, only 17 million workers are age 24 or younger. That is 12%, the lowest ever. Consequently, our young people are not just competing with foreign workers for jobs. Regardless, the solution to the problem is the same: more education and training, and more postsecondary education.

As County Superintendent, I have been working to forge new ties, on a broader, regional level, with business organizations. In the desert, we are engaged with the Coachella Valley Economic Partnership. We support the current CVEP drive to increase applications for college financial aid among high school seniors in the desert. We should have similar efforts going on in the rest of the county. In the western county, we've joined with the Greater Riverside Chambers of Commerce to support an ambitious role for the chambers' Business Education Partnership. We are staking out common policy ground and strategic initiatives.

And at the grassroots level, we have a small army of allies, 2,000 businesses from around the county, both small and large, that partner with us in practical ways year-round. These are the employers who participate with us to provide on-the-job internships for our Career Technical Education students and those who take part in our Summer Work Experience Program. These business owners, as they work to adjust to the leaner economy, are learning to be adaptable to a new reality. That is another lesson that will benefit the young people we send them to work, and to learn.

With over 553 classes serving 33,000 students in 50 career areas, the County Office of Education brings to this challenge the leaders and educators of our Career Technical Education unit. Our program is highly successful because it dependably delivers not just what students want, but what they need. The courses are constantly evolving to meet the needs of a changing economy, they are widely available across the county, and what's more, they are affordable. They are also fully accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. Our teachers have working experience in the subjects they teach. And the courses are articulated with community colleges to provide clear paths to vocational growth.

Shifting gears for a moment, when you look at the common denominators of successful students in schools across the country, parental support and engagement in their child's life and education, coupled with high expectations, is among the top. And when we look at those students who are failing in school, this support and engagement, and especially those expectations are most consistently absent. Last year, I announced a partnership between the 23rd District PTA and the County Office of Education to deploy high quality parent engagement classes at schools across the county. I am pleased to report that initiative is in full swing. The trainings are moving forward in many schools and we held our first annual Parent Involvement Summit last October with over 250 people in attendance. We are off to a very good start, but we still have a million-mile journey ahead of us.

Now, I want to close with some comments about the state's seemingly never-ending financial predicament and the effect it is having on public education. After years of budget ploys and multi-billion dollar deficits, California has a new governor. Well, not exactly new, but a governor who appears to be taking a little different approach to solving the problem than his predecessors, and the problem is monumental.

Governor Brown proposes to balance the budget's $25 billion deficit through a combination of cuts, tax extensions and other financial maneuvers. It is a major political gamble, but he has little choice. The state he inherited has obligated itself into a position between a rock and a hard spot, a very hard spot. And public education is part of that rock. Since the 1970's, public education has found itself legally dependent on the state budget for most of its funding. Not a great place to be during a recession, and not even a great place to be during times of prosperity. California's funding for schools has fallen from among the highest per student in the nation to the lowest over the past 30 years.

The first part of the governor's budget solution is about $12 billion in cuts to a budget that has legal restrictions already protecting a significant portion of it. It will be very difficult to find $12 billion in whatever is left over, let alone get the legislature to agree on what to cut. Assuming they can agree, their proposal has to be acceptable to the governor. If the first miracle occurs, then the governor has to find a way to get his five-year tax extension proposal onto the ballot. Given the partisan politics in Sacramento that would be the political maneuver of the century. But if that second miracle takes place, he would need the voting public to consent to the very thing many warned of back when they agreed to the current temporary increased taxes, that the legislature really meant permanent when they said temporary. Those are tough, tough odds.

K-12 education consumes about 40% of the state budget. Whenever the state has to cut its budget, it almost always means cutting public education. School funding has been cut around $18 billion over the last 3½ years. But even after making those cuts the state has been unable to pay schools roughly $10 billion of what they are owed. So the state is delaying, or deferring, as they call it, the money it owes education until the following year. Now this deferral has become a rolling $10 billion annual IOU, and school districts across the state have to borrow that money, plus pay interest on it, just to stay afloat.

To add insult to injury, state law requires school districts to adopt their annual budgets by June 30th, yet to do so they can only guess as to the outcome of the $12 billion budget cuts and the highly risky multi-billion dollar ballot measure. Depending on the outcome of each element within each component of this complex budget strategy, school funding could be cut anywhere from $19 per student to over $1,000 per student.

If the voters say no to protecting schools by rejecting the tax extensions, the question is, will the legislature feel empowered to cut education with impunity? Would policy leaders say the public has spoken, or would they stand by their constituents who demand protection? Will legislative leaders demand the use of the budgetary gimmicks of the past, dismissing the governor's call for a truly balanced budget? And finally, will the governor hold firm on his view that school districts have already borne the brunt of state budget reductions, or will he say the voters have spoken, and ask for more and deep cuts? What a mess. In fact, this is no way to run a public education system. If the state does not have the ability or desire to fund the operation of our public schools at a respectable level, which the last 30 years have demonstrated they do not, then they need to give local communities the ability to provide their added support as they do in the building of our schools.

The educational objectives for our county are lofty, but there is a moral imperative placed upon all of us to ensure they are achieved. The future quality of life for millions of young people depends on us. We have to work together as stakeholders in a county-wide educational community in order to accomplish these goals. We are much stronger working together than when we are operating individually.

As I see so many dedicated people across our county giving their all and then some, to help the children of the rising generation have a bright future, it motivates me to do more. Certainly the future holds great promise in the hands of today's youth. I pledge my full efforts to the work of helping all of them realize that potential. Thank you!

Dropout rate spurs calls to action

Alarmed by high dropout and low graduation rates for the Class of 2010, some Moreno Valley educators are scrambling to work out a strategy to reverse those trends.

At the school board's Sept. 13 meeting, administrators will discuss possible causes for the problem and how to fix it, said Superintendent Judy D. White.

The principals of the district's four comprehensive high schools did not return calls Monday seeking comment.

Moreno Valley Unified fared the worst among the districts in western and southern Riverside County, according to data released last week by the state education department.

Moreno Valley had the highest dropout rate, 24.1 percent and the lowest graduation rate, 64.8 percent. With 35,000 students, the district is the third largest in Riverside County.

Moreno Valley's dropout rate dipped slightly from 26.7 percent for the Class of 2009, but so did its graduation rate, down from 67.7 percent that same year.

"This is just awful," said school board member Tracey Vacker of the most recent statistics. "We have to hold ourselves accountable. We're failing our kids."

POSSIBLE DOUBLE COUNT

She also blames housing foreclosures for creating a huge transient student population and a new district coding system that might be inflating the dropout rate by double counting students who move away.

Board President Rick Sayre said he favors catching at-risk kids in elementary school and encouraging more parental involvement.

"It's not all the district's fault," trustee Mike Rios said, calling the dropout and graduate rates "unacceptable. But if anyone can turn things around, it's our new superintendent."

In her first five months on the job, White has conducted town hall meetings and reached out to every family with back-to school automated phone calls.

Among her goals, she wants to provide students the chance to make up credits through more independent study, virtual classes and daytime enrollment in the adult school.

White plans to analyze the reasons for every dropout, increase career and technology courses, forge business and school partnerships and engage tutors and mentors through church and community volunteers.

Riverside and San Bernardino counties continue to improve on-time graduation rates among high school students. Both counties made bigger gains than California overall. San Bernardino County also is closing the gap between its rate and the state average. Riverside County continues to exceed the state mark.

Inland high school graduation rates are rising faster than the state average, but educators say they must continue to do more to ensure that students are successful in high school and beyond.

Riverside County's on-time graduation rate climbed from 80 percent in 2011 to 82.3 percent in 2012, according to data released Tuesday, April 9, by the California Department of Education. The 2012 rate is nearly 4 percentage points higher than the statewide average of 78.5 percent.

San Bernardino County's graduation rate increased from 74.3 percent to 77.1, helping the district close the gap between its rate and the state average.

Nearly 8 out of 10 California students who started high school in 2008-09 graduated with their class in 2012, a 1.4 percentage point increase from the year before.

"There are great things happening in California schools every day, and the graduation rates bear that out," California Superintendent of Public Instruction Tom Torlakson said in a telephone news conference Tuesday morning. "Obviously we have a long way to go. We'd like to see the statewide average move up."

The graduation rates released Tuesday use four years of student information collected through the California Longitudinal Pupil Achievement Data System. This is the third straight year the state has used the new data system to calculate the rates.

The graduation rates now will help determine whether schools have met their targets under the federal school accountability system.

The rates are based on ninthgraders who earn a diploma within four years of starting high school. Dropout rates reflect those students who leave high school without a diploma. Other students may stay in high school longer than four years, earn a GED or receive a special education certificate of completion.

“Our first and foremost goal in public education from preschool through 12th grade must be to have every student complete high school,” Riverside County Superintendent of Schools Kenneth M. Young said in a news release. “A diploma is the basic indicator of each student’s preparedness for their future.”

If students do not complete high school, “statistics overwhelmingly show that they will not have much of a chance at experiencing a good quality of life in the future,” he said.

Among the strongest performers between Inland schools were Corona’s Santiago High School, which had the region’s best graduation rate of 98.7 percent, and Murrieta Mesa High School, where 98 percent of the school’s first four-year class of students graduated on time.

The Temecula Valley Unified School District had the highest districtwide graduation rate, with 93.1 percent of students earning diplomas in four years. A concentrated focus on early intervention has helped boost graduation rates, said Jodi McClay, assistant superintendent for educational services.

When a Temecula Valley Unified student is struggling, a teacher works quickly to identify the problem and get the student help so he or she doesn't fall behind, she said. If a student fails a quiz, the teacher looks at which problems were missed and why, then provides assistance — which can include a small group lesson with another teacher — right away, McClay said.

“We used to intervene at the end of the school year,” she said. “Our mentality now is, ‘That’s way too late.’ ”

In Riverside Unified, educators also stress teaching classroom lessons so students are successful the first time, said Assistant Superintendent William Ermert. Riverside reduced its dropout rate by 70 students, from 562 in the Class of 2011 to 492 in the Class of 2012, he said.

“If there’s even one dropout, we’re really unhappy about that, so the district also offers more alternative education programs to help students at risk of dropping out,” he said.

Some Inland districts continue to lag behind state averages.

San Jacinto Unified’s graduation rate dropped nearly 3 points to 76.5 this year. To help improve those rates, the district is planning to add a new ninth-grade “school within a school” at San Jacinto High next year, said Assistant Superintendent Marianna Vinson.

The program will start with a ninth-grade transitional summer school, offered to all eighth-graders, with a focus on preparing students for college and careers. The district also is stepping up counseling for all middle and high school students, emphasizing the relevance of their education for their college and career plans.

The biggest drop in graduation rates was at San Jacinto Unified's independent study school, Mountain Heights Academy, where Vinson said most students take longer to complete graduation requirements, although some take advantage of the independent study program for accelerated learning.

Some school districts posted big gains, helping them close the gap to the state average. San Bernardino City Unified's graduation rates rose more than six points, to 73.2, and Moreno Valley Unified's graduation rates climbed nearly five points, to 74.8.

"We're not at the bottom anymore," said Assistant Superintendent Martinrex Kedziora of Moreno Valley's ranking in Riverside County.

Principals at each of Moreno Valley's four comprehensive high schools send Kedziora a monthly action plan outlining steps they are taking to increase graduation rates and lower dropouts. For instance, Valley View High's plan for November included a report of meetings the principal had with each teacher whose classes had failure rates of more than 40 percent. That month, the principal also met with failing students and met separately with their parents.

In March, Valley View counselors set up lunchtime counseling sessions with students who need to make up classes to graduate and developed a plan, such as attending summer school or alternative education programs.

Valley View High's graduation rate improved the most — 12.5 percentage points — to 84.2 percent, and every comprehensive high school in Moreno Valley met goals for both graduation and dropout rates, Kedziora said.

“We're continuously looking at ways to offer options to kids,” he said, adding that Superintendent Judy White is bringing in community resources and mentors to schools. “Everyone has come together because they have realized this is critical for our community and our nation.”

Mayor Owings

Kenn Young asked me to send you some information concerning AVID.

I have included a power point that explains AVID and gives all the success we have had region wide. Our region contains, San Bernardino, Riverside, Inyo and Mono county.

Below is a website that explains elementary AVID. Keep in mind, currently Kenn is financially supporting three elementary AVID programs in MVUSD but our office does not support the school with our personnel. These schools are directly supported by the AVID Center in San Diego. http://www.avid.org/ele\_overview.html

Below you will find a list of Moreno Valley schools and how many AVID students were at each site last year.

My Unit is in charge of the AVID program in Riverside County. Mike Horton, AVID Administrator, would be happy to answer any other questions you might have about AVID at each of the Moreno Valley schools.

Let me know if you would like any other information.

that, when given academic rigor and support, students can be academically successful.

AVID Center's vision for the future is to provide entire feeder patterns—elementary, secondary, higher education—a comprehensive model to focus on success for all students.

AVID Elementary is based on the same learning foundation that underlies the AVID Elective. However, whereas the AVID Secondary site is a combined effort of a dedicated elective class and core content area classes to create a schoolwide impact in middle and high school, AVID Elementary is designed to be embedded into the daily instruction of all elementary classrooms across entire grade levels to impact schoolwide structures. AVID Elementary is not intended to be taught in isolation or within an elective setting.

AVID Elementary takes a systemic approach through Beginnings, Foundations and Bridges implementation resources for different levels and settings in order to support all students on their journey to college readiness.

AVID Elementary is a foundational component of the AVID College Readiness System and supports AVID Center's mission to close the achievement gap by preparing all students for college readiness and success in a global society.

Stages of AVID Elementary

AVID Elementary (AE) spans K-8 in three stages, Beginnings, Foundations and Bridges. Each stage is designed to meet the needs of students within that range of development.

- AVID Elementary Beginnings

Addresses the beginning years of education, when students are emerging as learners, students are learning to read, learning to write and learning to learn.

AE Beginnings classrooms are designed to promote learning to WICOR

(Writing Inquiry, Collaboration, Organization, Reading), or L-WICOR, throughout the academic day.

- AVID Elementary Foundations

Addresses the foundational years of education, when students are becoming independent learners, students are reading to learn, writing to learn and learning to reflect on their own learning.

AE Foundations classrooms are designed to promote WICOR throughout the academic day.

- AVID Elementary Bridges

Addresses the transitional years of education, when students are becoming independent thinkers, students are thinking about thinking and learning about their own learning.

AE Bridges classrooms are designed to promote WICOR throughout the academic day.

AVID Elementary Essentials

Essential One: Instruction

Writing to learn, Inquiry, Collaboration, Organization, Reading to Learn (WICOR) as well as Learning to WICOR (L-WICOR) are the foundation for instruction in the AVID Elementary classroom.

Essential Two: Culture

AVID Elementary sites incorporate rigorous, relevant, differentiated opportunities for all students in an environment that promotes college readiness.

Essential Three: Leadership

AVID Elementary Leaders support, guide and facilitate AVID Elementary implementation for all students.

Essential Four: Systems

AVID Elementary sites align their systems through the use of the 4 Pillars of Excellence (accountability, articulation, assessment, calibration) to ensure the fidelity of AVID Elementary implementation across the site.

AVID Elementary Certification Process

The 2013-2014 academic year, will begin the inaugural certification process for eligible AVID Elementary sites. This process will enhance the work of AE educators as they align their work to the 4 AVID Elementary Essentials and collect data to inform their instruction for all students.

Research Connections

AVID Elementary (AE) is immersed in the research of Dr. Carol Dweck, one of the world's leading researchers in the field of motivation and is the Lewis and Virginia Eaton Professor of Psychology at Stanford University. The AVID Elementary implementation resources, trainings and philosophy are all grounded in the idea that the growth mindset can be taught to students and that it is through the growth mindset that AVID students succeed in following their dreams and fulfilling their aspirations.

In the growth mindset, people believe that their talents and abilities can be developed through passion, education, and persistence. For them, it's not about looking smart or grooming their image. It's about a commitment to learning—taking informed risks and learning from the results, surrounding yourself with people who will challenge you to

Dr. Carol Dweck, Mindset: The New Psychology of Success

AVID Elementary also uses the "best teaching practices" and research findings of Marzano, Gaddy and Dean, What Works in Classroom Instruction (Mid-continent Research for Education and Learning), which has become critical to the entire AVID System. This research identified nine instructional strategies that have the highest probability of enhancing student achievement for all students in all subjects at all grade levels, including:

- Identifying similarities and differences
- Reinforcing effort and providing recognition
- Nonlinguistic representations
- Setting goals and providing feedback
- Activating prior knowledge
- Summarizing and note-taking
- Homework and practice
- Cooperative Learning
- Generating and testing hypothesis

AVID Elementary Certification is grounded in the work of Albert Bandura's Social Cognitive Theory. This theory focuses on the power of individuals to influence and educate one another through imitation and reciprocal determinism. Through this lens, the academic environment, educator's perspective and the student's perspective merge together within the AVID Elementary grade levels and ultimately the entire site. The AVID Elementary Essentials (instruction, culture, leadership, systems) provide a clear roadmap for AVID Elementary sites as they move through their levels of implementation.

Report to City Council

Graduation rates

TO: Mayor and City Council

FROM: Michelle Dawson, Assistant City Manager

AGENDA DATE: February 26, 2013

TITLE: APPROVE RESOLUTION NO. 2013-15 ESTABLISHING THE MAYOR'S AD HOC COMMITTEE ON INCREASING GRADUATION RATES

RECOMMENDED ACTION

Recommendation: That the City Council:

1. Approve Resolution No. 2013-15 establishing a Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Increasing Graduation Rates. Resolution No. 2013-15 - A Resolution of the City Council of the City of Moreno Valley, California, Establishing A Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Increasing Graduation Rates

BACKGROUND

According to the California Department of Education, the high school graduation rate for Moreno Valley Unified School District's Class of 2010-11 was 69%*. This is lower than both the national and state averages (the graduation rate in California for 2010-11 was 76%).

DISCUSSION

Too many Moreno Valley high school students are leaving school without graduating. While the leadership of MVUSD is making every effort to remediate the various factors that contribute to low graduation rates, schools are just one part of what needs to be a community-wide effort.

At their workshop conducted on February 2, 2013, the City Council agreed to support a partnership among the City, Moreno Valley Unified School District (MVUSD) and the business community to make increasing our graduation rate a top priority. Mayor Owings is proposing the formation of a Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Increasing Graduation Rates. The goal of this committee will be to increase graduation rates through the implementation of a focused partnership among the City of Moreno Valley, the Moreno Valley Unified School District and the business community. It is necessary to focus efforts on students throughout their time in our school system, teaching them and their families the importance of good study habits while in elementary school, supporting programs such as AVID that increase schoolwide learning and performance, expanding the successful vocational training programs currently in place, and establishing partnerships within the community for job training and internship opportunities.

*This statistic represents the cohort graduation rate which is the percentage of students who enter ninth grade together that then graduated within four years.

The Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Increasing Graduation Rates is proposed to identify talented, purposeful and generous community members with a desire to make a positive impact on our youth. The proposed resolution will establish the committee as a four-year ad hoc committee tasked with mentoring students and providing them with meaningful work and life skills that will translate to higher graduation rates. Ad Hoc Committees are temporary committees established by the City Council to achieve a purported goal. As proposed, the Ad Hoc Committee on Increasing Graduation Rates will terminate on June, 30, 2017 but may be extended by the City Council following a review of the Committee's achievements. Should the Mayor and City Council choose to extend the term of the Committee after June 30, 2017 it may consider establishing a standing commission or board through adoption of an ordinance.

Mayor Owings has approached MVUSD Superintendent Dr. Judy White and requested that she accept the role of Chairperson of the Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Increasing Graduation Rates. As proposed in the attached resolution, the Committee will consist of the Chairperson and at least four other members selected by the Mayor and Chairperson. Additional members may be appointed at the discretion of the Chair. The membership of the committee as proposed would deviate from other City-established boards and commissions in that residency in Moreno Valley would not be a requirement. The intent is to create partnerships with as many dedicated people and businesses as we can to achieve the goal of the committee, therefore limiting membership strictly to city residents would be too constricting. An application process will be used in accordance with standards established by City boards and commissions. One membership appointment may be reserved for a youth member at the discretion of the Chair. As stated in the resolution, the Committee will have the following powers and duties:

- a. Develop and implement programs and/or services that will further the goal of increasing graduation rates in Moreno Valley.
- b. Recruit students, businesses, and volunteers from the community to assist in this effort.
- c. Solicit funds from governmental agencies, private contributions, grants, sponsorships or participate in other fundraising opportunities.
- d. Submit periodic status reports to the Mayor and City Council.

Following discussion with the Mayor and in anticipation of the formation of the Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Increasing Graduation Rates, Superintendent White has already discussed with City staff a potential program to move toward the stated goal of the committee. The concept for this is a summer internship program linking the classrooms with the business community. The program would combine one week of specialized instruction on professional development followed by several weeks of on-the-job training through an internship. The student interns would be paid a small stipend at the end of the program. Mayor Owings has also met with Riverside County Superintendent of Schools Kenneth Young about the success of AVID programs in closing the achievement gap and the desire to expand these programs as well. While these are just two ideas, they are examples of the type of programs that the Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Increasing Graduation Rates would develop, support and/or implement.

ALTERNATIVES

1. Approve the proposed Resolution establishing a Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Increasing Graduation Rates. Staff recommends this alternative as it promotes the City Council's stated desire to partner with the Moreno Valley Unified School District and the business community to focus efforts on increasing high school graduation rates.

2. Do not approve the proposed Resolution establishing a Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Increasing Graduation Rates. Staff does not recommend this alternative as it would not promote the City Council's stated desire to partner with the Moreno Valley Unified School District and the business community to focus efforts on increasing high school graduation rates.

FISCAL IMPACT

There is no fiscal impact.

CITY COUNCIL GOALS

Positive Environment: Create a positive environment for the development of Moreno Valley's future.

Mayor Owings

Kenn Young asked me to send you some information concerning AVID.

I have included a power point that explains AVID and gives all the success we have had region wide. Our region contains, San Bernardino, Riverside, Inyo and Mono county.

Below is a website that explains elementary AVID. Keep in mind, currently Kenn is financially supporting three elementary AVID programs in MVUSD but our office does not support the school with our personnel. These schools are directly supported by the AVID Center in San Diego. http://www.avid.org/ele\_overview.html

Below you will find a list of Moreno Valley schools and how many AVID students were at each site last year.

High Schools:

Valley View HS	449
Vista Del Lago HS	243

Middle Schools:

My Unit is in charge of the AVID program in Riverside County. Mike Horton, AVID Administrator, would be happy to answer any other questions you might have about AVID at each of the Moreno Valley schools.

Let me know if you would like any other information.

that, when given academic rigor and support, students can be academically successful.

AVID Center's vision for the future is to provide entire feeder patterns - elementary, secondary, higher education - a comprehensive model to focus on success for all students.

AVID Elementary is based on the same learning foundation that underlies the AVID Elective. However, whereas the AVID Secondary site is a combined effort of a dedicated elective class and core content area classes to create a schoolwide impact in middle and high school. AVID Elementary is designed to be embedded into the daily instruction of all elementary classrooms across entire grade levels to impact schoolwide structures. AVID Elementary is not intended to be taught in isolation or within an elective setting.

AVID Elementary takes a systemic approach through Beginnings, Foundations and Bridges implementation resources for different levels and settings in order to support all students on their journey to college readiness.

AVID Elementary is a foundational component of the AVID College Readiness System and supports AVID Center's mission to close the achievement gap by preparing all students for college readiness and success in a global society.

Stages of AVID Elementary

AVID Elementary (AE) spans K-8 in three stages, Beginnings, Foundations and Bridges. Each stage is designed to meet the needs of students within that range of development.

- AVID Elementary Beginnings

Addresses the beginning years of education, when students are emerging as learners, students are learning to read, learning to write and learning to learn.

AE Beginnings classrooms are designed to promote learning to WICOR

(Writing Inquiry, Collaboration, Organization, Reading), or L-WICOR, throughout the academic day.

- AVID Elementary Foundations

Addresses the foundational years of education, when students are becoming independent learners, students are reading to learn, writing to learn and learning to reflect on their own learning.

AE Foundations classrooms are designed to promote WICOR throughout the academic day.

- AVID Elementary Bridges

Addresses the transitional years of education, when students are becoming independent thinkers, students are thinking about thinking and learning about their own learning.

AE Bridges classrooms are designed to promote WICOR throughout the academic day.

AVID Elementary Essentials

Essential One: Instruction

Writing to learn, Inquiry, Collaboration, Organization, Reading to Learn (WICOR) as well as Learning to WICOR (L-WICOR) are the foundation for instruction in the AVID Elementary classroom.

Essential Two: Culture

AVID Elementary sites incorporate rigorous, relevant, differentiated opportunities for all students in an environment that promotes college readiness.

Essential Three: Leadership

AVID Elementary Leaders support, guide and facilitate AVID Elementary implementation for all students.

Essential Four: Systems

AVID Elementary sites align their systems through the use of the 4 Pillars of Excellence (accountability, articulation, assessment, calibration) to ensure the fidelity of AVID Elementary implementation across the site.

AVID Elementary Certification Process

The 2013-2014 academic year, will begin the inaugural certification process for eligible AVID Elementary sites. This process will enhance the work of AE educators as they align their work to the 4 AVID Elementary Essentials and collect data to inform their instruction for all students.

Research Connections

AVID Elementary (AE) is immersed in the research of Dr. Carol Dweck, one of the world's leading researchers in the field of motivation and is the Lewis and Virginia Eaton Professor of Psychology at Stanford University. The AVID Elementary implementation resources, trainings and philosophy are all grounded in the idea that the growth mindset can be taught to students and that it is through the growth mindset that AVID students succeed in following their dreams and fulfilling their aspirations.

In the growth mindset, people believe that their talents and abilities can be developed through passion, education, and persistence. For them, it's not about looking smart or grooming their image. It's about a commitment to learning—taking informed risks and learning from the results, surrounding yourself with people who will challenge you to

Dr. Carol Dweck, Mindset: The New Psychology of Success

AVID Elementary also uses the "best teaching practices" and research findings of Marzano, Gaddy and Dean, What Works in Classroom Instruction (Mid-continent Research for Education and Learning), which has become critical to the entire AVID System. This research identified nine instructional strategies that have the highest probability of enhancing student achievement for all students in all subjects at all grade levels, including:

- Identifying similarities and differences
- Reinforcing effort and providing recognition
- Nonlinguistic representations
- Setting goals and providing feedback
- Activating prior knowledge
- Summarizing and note-taking
- Homework and practice
- Cooperative Learning
- Generating and testing hypothesis

AVID Elementary Certification is grounded in the work of Albert Bandura's Social Cognitive Theory. This theory focuses on the power of individuals to influence and educate one another through imitation and reciprocal determinism. Through this lens, the academic environment, educator's perspective and the student's perspective merge together within the AVID Elementary grade levels and ultimately the entire site. The AVID Elementary Essentials (instruction, culture, leadership, systems) provide a clear roadmap for AVID Elementary sites as they move through their levels of implementation.

Report to City Council

TO: Mayor and City Council

FROM: Michelle Dawson, Assistant City Manager

AGENDA DATE: February 26, 2013

TITLE: APPROVE A RESOLUTION ESTABLISHING THE MAYOR'S AD HOC COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION SPECIFIC —

---

RECOMMENDED ACTION

Recommendation: That the City Council:

1. Approve Resolution No. 2013- establishing a Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Education.

BACKGROUND

According to the California Department of Education, the high school graduation rate for Moreno Valley Unified School District's Class of 2010-11 was 69%*. This is lower than both the national and state averages (the graduation rate in California for 2010-11 was 76%).

DISCUSSION

Too many Moreno Valley high school students are leaving school without graduating. While the leadership of MVUSD is making every effort to remediate the various factors that contribute to low graduation rates, schools are just one part of what needs to be a community-wide effort.

At their workshop conducted on February 2, 2013, the City Council agreed to support a partnership among the City, Moreno Valley Unified School District (MVUSD) and the business community to make increasing our graduation rate a top priority. Mayor Owings is proposing the formation of a Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Education. The goal of this committee will be to increase graduation rates through the implementation of a focused partnership among the City of Moreno Valley, the Moreno Valley Unified School District and the business community.

The Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Education is proposed to identify talented, purposeful and generous community members with a desire to make a positive impact on our youth. The proposed resolution will establish the committee as a two-year ad hoc committee tasked with mentoring students and providing them with meaningful work and life skills that will translate to higher graduation rates. Ad Hoc Committees are temporary committees established by the City Council to achieve a purported goal. As proposed, the Ad Hoc Committee on Education will terminate on June, 30, 2015 but may be extended by the City Council following a review of the Committee's achievements. Should the Mayor and City Council choose to extend the term of the Committee after June 30, 2015 it may consider establishing a standing commission or board through adoption of an ordinance.

begin at elementary level

Mayor Owings has approached MVUSD Superintendent Dr. Judy White and requested that she accept the role of Chairperson of the Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Education. As proposed in the attached resolution, the Committee will consist of the Chairperson and six other members selected by the Mayor and Chairperson. An application process will be used in accordance with standards established by City boards and commissions. One membership appointment will be reserved for a youth member. As stated in the resolution, the Committee will have the following powers and duties:

- a. Develop and implement programs and/or services that will further the goal of increasing graduation rates in Moreno Valley.
- b. Recruit students, businesses, and volunteers from the community to assist in this effort.
- c. Solicit funds from private contributions, grants, sponsorships or participate in other fundraising opportunities.
- d. Submit periodic status reports to the Mayor and City Council.

c. also government.

Following discussion with the Mayor and in anticipation of the formation of the Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Education, Superintendent White has already discussed with City staff a potential program to move toward the stated goal of the committee. The concept for this is a summer internship program linking the classrooms with the business community. The program would combine one week of specialized instruction on professional development followed by several weeks of on-the-job training through an internship. The student interns would be paid a small stipend at the end of the program. While this is just one concept, it is an example of the type of program that the Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Education would develop and implement.

ALTERNATIVES

1. Approve Resolution No. 2013- establishing a Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Education. Staff recommends this alternative as it promotes the City Council's stated desire to partner with the Moreno Valley Unified School District and the business community to focus efforts on increasing high school graduation rates.
2. Not approve Resolution No. 2013- establishing a Mayor's Ad Hoc Committee on Education. Staff does not recommend this alternative as it would not promote the City Council's stated desire to partner with the Moreno Valley Unified School District and the business community to focus efforts on increasing high school graduation rates.

There is no fiscal impact.
